The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

ROAD CESS.

Dated Calcutta, the 5th April 1907.

RESOLUTION.

Receipts and Expenditure of the District Road Funds in the districts of Darjeeling, Singhbhum and Sonthal Parganas during 1905-1906.

READ—

Annual Reports and Accounts of the District Road Funds in the districts of Darjeeling, Singhbhum and Sonthal Parganas for the year 1905-1906, received from the Commissioners of Divisions concerned.

Read again—

Annual Reports and Accounts of the District Road Funds in Bengal for the previous year and the review thereof.

REMARKS.—The Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 was in force in 1905-1906 in all the districts of the Province except the following:—

Darjeeling. | Singhbhum.
Sonthal Parganas.

In the Darjeeling district and in the Dhalbhum and Porahat parganas of the Singhbhum district, the Cess Act of 1880 was in force during the year under review. It was also in force in certain tracts of the Sonthal Parganas from 1st September 1901, while the other Parganas of the Singhbhum district and other tracts of the Sonthal Parganas district were not under the operation of either of the above Acts.

RECEIPTS.

2. In the Darjeeling district, and in the Dhalbhum and Porahat parganas of the Singhbhum district in which the Cess Act was in force, the cess was levied at the maximum rate allowed by law. In the tracts of the Sonthal Parganas, however, in which the Cess Act was introduced, there were cess collections for the first time during the year. For the portions of the Sonthal Parganas and Singhbhum districts which were not under the operation of the Act, and in which therefore there were no cess collections, funds were provided by grants-in-aid. The receipts for the year 1905-1906, compared with those of the previous year, are shown below :—

3. In the Darjeeling district the increase under the head "VI—Provincial Rates" under "Cess on lands" was due to the valuation and revaluation of certain estates. The increase under the head "Grant from Government" was mainly due to the crediting during the year of (1) certain amount of grant due for the year 1904-1905, and (2) Rs. 2,400 on account of grant from Government for the construction of buildings for primary schools.

4. In the Sonthal Parganas the increase in the total receipts was mainly due to—

(1) Collection of cess in the district for the first time ;

(2) receipt of donation of Rs. 1,000 from the zamindar of Dumka estate for constructing the Dhanbassa bridge ;

(3) increase in the grant from Government, which again was due to the receipt of (a) a special grant of Rs. 6,000 for improving the communications in the district, and (b) Rs. 8,160 for construction of primary school buildings.

5. The following table shows the outlay incurred in 1905-1906, compared with that of the previous year:—

6. In the Darjeeling district the increase in expenditure under Communications—Repairs was due to the increased provision for certain roads and adjustment of certain accounts of previous years during the year. In this district the year opened with a balance of Rs. 20,283, but closed with a balance of Rs. 25,777. This closing balance was more than one quarter of the year's receipts of the Committee, that is, above the limit prescribed in paragraph 9 of the Resolution No. 4228R.C., dated 18th December 1885; but this is allowed in Bengal Government No. 5105R.C., dated 26th September 1892, as a special case.

7. In the Singhbhum district the year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 14,975, but closed with a balance of Rs. 23,189, which was excessive.

8. In the Sonthal Parganas district also the year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 69,940, but it closed with a balance of Rs 93,542, which was excessive. The cause of this heavy closing balance was mainly due to—

(a) the non-utilization of Rs. 30,000 set apart for improving the Bhagaya-Shahabad, Banji-Sahebganj and Tinpahar-Borio roads, out of which Rs. 750 could only be spent on the first-mentioned work, as sanction to the projects was received very late in the year; and

(b) the Committee being without a District Engineer for practically half the year, the present incumbent having joined his duties on the 14th August 1905.

9. Of the total expenditure incurred during the year, Rs. 1,11,116 was devoted to Civil Works, while the outlay under other sub-heads, exclusive of "Suspense Accounts" was Rs. 29,418 in the aggregate. The distribution of the outlay on Civil Works is as follows:—

11. Repairs.—The total expenditure under this head was Rs. 60,884 as detailed in the table below :—

13. Establishment.—The expenditure under this head amounted to Rs. 23,588, thus:—

	Rs.	Rs.
Darjeeling ...	19,655	1,047	5·33

Sonthal Parganas ...	60,086	19,175	31·91
Total ...	1,01,863	23,588	23·15

In the Darjeeling district the very low percentage is due to the fact that no Engineer was employed: all the works and repairs in the hills of the district and most of those in the Terai were executed by the members of the Committee and other private gentlemen to whom the thanks of Government are due for their assistance. The sum of Rs. 1,047 spent under this head was for the public works establishment in the Terai subdivision only. The percentage in the district of Sonthal Parganas is high. In this district the charges for establishment during the year were Rs. 19,175 against Rs. 16,856 of the previous year.

[Vide letter No. 150 R.—F., dated 18th August 1906, from C. H. Bompas, ESQ., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee, Darjeeling, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

The total amount of Rs. 63,191-3-4, excluding Rs. 2,400 on account of Government grant for construction of buildings for primary schools to be repaid to the Deputy Commissioner, was available for expenditure during the year. The actual expenditure during the year was Rs. 31,478-15-1, excluding Rs. 8,334-13-8, the advances outstanding at the close of the year. The balance on the 31st March 1906, was Rs. 34,112-4-3, including the outstanding advances of Rs. 8,334-13-8. The closing balance was more than one quarter's kist which is allowed by the Government as per No. 5106 R. C., dated 26th September 1892.

RECEIPTS.

3. Provincial Rates.—The road cess was levied at the maximum rate of six pies in the rupee, in the district during the year 1905-1906. The sum of Rs. 22,530-15-8 was collected during the year on account of cess on lands against Rs. 21,213-15-11 of the previous year. The increase is due to the valuation and revaluation of certain estates in the district.

4. CONTRIBUTIONS—(a) Grant from Government.—A sum of Rs. 5,805-3-4 was received under this head against Rs. 1,812-15 of the preceding year. The increase is due to the fact that certain amount due for the year 1904-1905 was credited during the year and a sum of Rs. 2,400 on account of grant from Government for the construction of buildings for primary schools, which are directly under the Deputy Commissioner, was credited to this fund. The amount will be repaid to the Deputy Commissioner when required.

(b) Contribution from Darjeeling Improvement Fund.—Rupees 7,000 and Rs. 98 were received as usual from the above fund on account of contribution towards communication and as its share of the cost of the joint Cess and Tauzi establishment respectively.

EXPENDITURE.

5. Original works.—A sum of Rs. 5,037-11-5 out of the advances made to the Executive Engineer, Darjeeling Division, for construction of a suspension bridge over the Rongbong jhora above Namsu, was adjusted during the year.

6. Repairs.—Rupees 14,617-0-1 as per details below against Rs. 11,782-4-11 of the preceding year was spent under this head. The increase was due to the increased provisions for certain roads and adjustment of certain accounts of previous years during the year:—

7. A total of 297 miles of unmetalled district roads, including bridges thereon, was repaired at a cost of Rs. 14,203-12-1, or 47·8 per mile, and 10 miles of village roads at a cost of Rs. 413-4, or 41·3 per mile. Rupees. 2,312-13-9 out of Rs. 14,617-0-1 was spent for the maintenance of certain bridges under the Darjeeling District and Kurseong Branch Road Committees. The increase in the cost per mile of the district roads is due to the circumstances stated in paragraph 6 above, and the decrease in the cost per mile of the village roads is due to the extra cost for special repairs done to road No. 5 (Pulbazar below Dhuteria to Namsu through Dhojea) during 1904-1905.

8. List of Roads.—The total number of district roads was 49 and that of the village roads 6.

9. Arboriculture.—As there are no Road Fund lands by the sides of the roads, the owners of the lands were asked to plant trees by the road-sides at their own cost. Hence there was no expenditure under this head.

10. Water-supply.—There was no expenditure under this head, as this is attended to by the Darjeeling Improvement Fund and Government.

11. Loan.—A sum of Rs. 3,997-6-10 principal and Rs. 3,313-10-10 interest was paid during the year towards the loans granted by Government in 1900 and 1901 for reconstruction and repairs of the road cess bridges destroyed and damaged by the cyclone in September 1899. No fresh loan was taken during 1905-06.

12. Public Work Establishments.—There was no District Engineer under the Committee during 1905-1906. All the works and repairs in the hills and most of those in the Terai of the district were executed by the members of the Committees and the managers of tea gardens. The thanks of the Committee are due to them for their valuable assistance. The important bridges under the Committee were repaired by the Public Works Department at the cost of the Road Fund. The sum of Rs. 1,047-6 was spent for the entertainment of an overseer and a peon under the Terai Branch Road Committee at Siliguri. The pay of the overseer was Rs. 60 with a fixed horse allowance of Rs. 20 and that of the peon was Rs. 7 per mensem.

13. Administration.—There were two Branch Road Committees under the District Road Committee, viz, Kurseong and Terai. J. H. E. Garrett, Esq., I.C.S., the then Deputy Commissioner, was the ex-officio Chairman of the District and Terai Branch Road Committees, and J. D. Gwilt, Esq., was the Vice-Chairman of the District Road Committee throughout the year. H. R. T. S. Parrott, Esq., I. C. S., the then Subdivisional Officer of Kurseong, was the ex-officio Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Kurseong and Terai Branch Road Committees, respectively. The post of Vice-Chairman of the Kurseong Branch Road Committee was vacant throughout the year 1905-1906.

14. Audit of Accounts.—The members of the Audit Sub-Committee have audited the whole year's accounts. The accounts since August 1905 have not been audited by the Examiner of Local Accounts, Bengal.

(Vide letter No. 61R.C., dated 31st May 1906, from R. C. HAMILTON, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman, District Road Committee, Singhbhum, to the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division.)

1. Working of the Committee.—The Road Committee held eight meetings during the year, in all of which quorums were obtained.

2. The accounts were, as usual, audited by the Finance Committee appointed under section 174 of the Act. The Local Auditor inspected the accounts for the period from 1st February 1904 to 31st May 1905.

RECEIPTS.

3. The cess was levied at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee. There was no difficulty in collecting it at head-quarters. The demand on account of cess on lands, mines, &c., during the year, including the arrears of the preceding year, amounted to Rs. 12,480. Of this, Rs. 12,152 has been realised within the year, leaving a balance of Rs. 328 only outstanding on 31st March 1906. Including a few small miscellaneous receipts, special and annual Government grants, and opening balance of Rs. 14,974-8-9, the income available for expenditure in the year was Rs. 49,927-7.

EXPENDITURE.

4. Original works—During the year a sum of Rs. 9,439-10 was spent for new works under head "Communications" against a budget allotment of Rs. 7,314. The excess expenditure incurred was partly met from the special Government grant and the opening balance for the year.

5. Repairs—Civil Buildings.—The Road Cess building at Chaibassa was repaired at a cost of Rs. 239-12-3, the sanctioned allotment being Rs. 250.

6. Repairs—Communications.—Twenty-seven roads were repaired during the year at a cost of Rs. 12,249-4-1, against an allotment of Rs. 10,417, the excess being met by reduction of the allotment of Rs. 1,800 under head "Communications—New works" against Chaibassa-Bend road. The works chiefly consisted of the annual maintenance of these roads, including repairs to road surfaces, bridges, and culverts, and easing down the steep approaches to beds of unbridged streams and rivers.

7. The following statement shows the length of district roads (metalled and unmetalled) and village roads, the amount spent on the maintenance of roads, and the cost per mile :—

No roads are maintained by the District Road Committee from Public Works Funds.

8. Arboriculture.—Three hundred and nineteen new trees were planted during the year. These, together with 1,329 unestablished plants of the preceding year, were maintained at a cost of Rs. 349-10-9, the allotment being Rs. 350. The existing trees were reported to be in fair condition.

9. Nursery.—There are four nursery gardens as reported in the previous year. The garden at Chaibassa on the south bank of the 'Jubilee Tank' contains 300 plants. The garden at Boea contains 70 plants; that at Jorapokar contains 25 plants; and that at Gamaria contains 200 plants. The plants were reported to be thriving well.

10 The following statement compares the cost of maintenance during the year of the several classes of roads with that of previous year and the average cost per mile:—

11. No famine-relief works were done during the year. A sum of Rs. 539-11-6 was, however, spent during the year for the preparation of projects for famine-relief operations. It is expected that the projects will be ready by the middle of 1906-07.

12. The following table compares the revenue of the District Road Committee (excluding opening balance and suspense account), the expenditure incurred on original and repair works, and the establishment employed on these works, as also the percentage of total expenditure on works including establishment calculated on the revenue, with those of the two previous years:—

14. Water-supply.—Eleven new bandhs (reservoirs) and 4 new wells were constructed and 10 old wells repaired in the Kolhan Government Estate from the Estates Improvement Fund during the year. Twelve old wells were repaired by the District Road Cess Committee at a cost of Rs. 193 in the said estate. A sum of Rs. 1,000 was received from Government in March 1905 for the supply of water in the villages. Endeavour was made to spend the amount within the year, but the information as to the real want of water being gathered very late in the year, nothing could be spent out of the amount. The District Engineer has been directed to inspect the places personally and make all necessary arrangements for construction of wells at once. Considering the number of rivers, streams, and springs, the sources of water-supply, as a whole, are not insufficient for the population of this district. The statement of water-supply is given below:—

ASHUTOSH DE,
Accountant and Head Clerk,
Singhbhum Road Cess-Office.

MOHINI MOHAN GHOSE,
Vice-Chairman, District Road Committee, Singhbhum.

R. C. HAMILTON,
Chairman, District Road Committee, Singhbhum

Extract from letter No. 457L., dated the 10th August 1906, from D. J. MACPHERSON, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith a copy of the annual accounts and of the report on the administration of the District Road Committee of the Sonthal Parganas for the year 1905-1906.

2. The average attendance of the members of the Road Committee has decreased from 4 in 1903-1904 and 3½ in 1904-1905 to only 3 in 1905-1906. The percentage of average attendance fell from 40·00 and 35·55 in the preceding two years to only 33·33. The Chairman repeats his usual complaint of the apathy of the non-official members, as in the previous years. * * * * * * *

3. The Committee began the year with an opening balance of Rs. 69,940. The income of the Committee from all sources amounted to Rs. 1,23,838, and the expenditure to Rs. 1,00,236, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 93,542 at the end of the year. This balance includes Rs. 3,286 on account of outstanding deposits, and Rs. 8,160 allotted out of the Government grant of Rs. 61,000 made to the Bhagalpur Division in Bengal Government General Department Circular No. 6, dated the 31st January 1906, for the construction of the primary school buildings. The heavy closing balance is explained by the Chairman to be due (1) to the non-utilization of Rs. 30,000 set apart for improving Bhagaya-Sahabad, Banji-Sahebganj, and Tinpahar-Borio Roads, out of which Rs. 730 could only be spent on the first-mentioned work, as sanction to the projects was received very late in the year; and (2) to the Committee being without a District Engineer for practically half the year, the present incumbent having joined his duties on the 14th August 1905. For the latter reason work in Sonthal Parganas suffered grievously both in the previous year and in the year under report. Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing a suitable Engineer, more than one candidate having withdrawn after or on the eve of being selected.

* * * * * * *

7. On agriculture improvements, only Rs. 749 was spent, out of an allotment of Rs. 1,929. * * * * * *

8. The expenditure on communications amounted to Rs. 42,418, against Rs. 41,375 of the previous year, that on original works having increased by Rs. 2,261 and on repairs having diminished by Rs. 1,218. * * *

9. The expenditure of the Committee on establishment has increased from Rs. 15,846 in 1903-04 and Rs. 16,856 in 1904-05 to Rs. 19,175, and consequently the percentage cost of establishment on the expenditure on Civil works rose from 28·85 in 1904-05 to 31·91. The total cost is, however, within the limit prescribed in the Cess Act, namely, one fourth of the year's receipts, excluding the opening balance. The high percentage is due to the failure to utilise a large portion of the income. * * * *

10. The two dispensaries at Barhait and Amrapara * * * were opened during the year. They are in class I, and have been put under the management of the Subdivisional Officers of Rajmahal and Pakour respectively under Government orders No. 761Medl., dated the 20th February 1906. The District Road Committee was concerned only with the construction or improvement of the buildings.

11. From the water-supply statement for the Rajmahal subdivision, it appears that the number of tanks and wells fell from 1,204 and 1,124 in 1904-05 to 1,100 and 998 respectively in the year under report. The number of villages shown in each thana is also much less than that shown in the previous year's statement. * * * * *

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of the Sonthal Parganas on the operations of the District Road Fund of the District for the year 1905-1906.

[Vide letter No. 214P.W., dated 4th June 1906, from H. W. P. SCROOPE, ESQ., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee of Sonthal Parganas, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

THE Local Self-Government Act was not in force in this district. The provisions of the Bengal Cess Act IX of 1880 were extended to some selected portions of the district under Government Notification No. 4489R.P., dated the 20th August 1901, but the actual collection of the cesses did not take place till the year 1905-06, when a beginning was made with the notified estates borne on the tauzi roll of this district.

2. Working of the Committee.—There was no change in the constitution of the Committee, which consisted of 9 members, of which 3 were ex-officio and the rest non-official. The Committee held 20 meetings during the year, against 18 in the previous year, of which 9 were special and the rest ordinary. In two meetings no quorum could be obtained, against one in the year before. The average attendance of members was 3·00, against 3·55 in the previous year, and the percentage of average attendance was 33·33, against 35·55. As mentioned in the report for 1904-05, the attendance of the non-official members was anything but satisfactory.

RECEIPTS.

3. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 69,940 and the income of the Committee from all available sources amounted to Rs. 1,23,838 and the expenditure to Rs. 1,00,236, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 93,542 at the end of the year. This balance includes Rs. 3,286 on account of outstanding deposits and Rs. 8,160, being Government grant for construction of primary school buildings, which are not at the disposal of the Committee. The heavy closing balance was mainly due to the following causes:—

(1) Rupees 30,000 was set apart for improving Bhagaya-Sahabad, Banji Sahebganj, and Tinpahar-Borio Roads, out of which Rs. 750 could only be spent on the first-mentioned work, as sanction to the projects was received very late in the year.

(2) The Committee was without a District Engineer practically for half the year. The present incumbent entered into his duties on the 14th August 1905.

4. The receipts of the year consisted mainly of the Government grants-in-aid. The following table compares the receipts under several heads of the year with those of the previous year:—

5. VI.—Provincial Rates.—Cess was collected for the first time in the district during the year. The total demand for the year was Rs. 3,950, out of which Rs. 3,491 (including Rs. 3 as advance collection) was collected, leaving a balance of Rs. 462 only outstanding on the 31st March 1906. The cess was levied at the maximum rate allowed by the law.

6. XXV.—Miscellaneous.—The sum of Rs. 160 shown against "Fees, fines, and forfeitures" represents the amount of deposits forfeited by some of the contractors for non-completion of works within the contracted time. The increase under "Miscellaneous" is due to the amount received from sale of stamped tender forms introduced for the first time having been credited to this head.

7. XXXII.—Civil Works.—The increase under "Receipts from staging bungalows" is purely incidental and is due to the large number of coolie recruiters visiting the district during the year. Rupees 1,000 shown under "Contribution from private persons" represents the amount of donation paid by Mr. Maling Grant, zamindar of Dumka estate, towards the construction of the Dhanbasa bridge in the road leading from Dumka to Ashanbani, which has already been completed. The income under "Miscellaneous" fell off to a large extent owing to the sale of fruits not fetching more than Rs. 25, against Rs. 247 in the previous year.

8. The increase under Government grant is due to—

(a) The receipt of Rs. 6,000 as a special grant from the Commissioner for improvement of communications in the district,

(b) The receipt of Rs. 8,160 for construction of primary school buildings, an item entirely new and non-recurring.

EXPENDITURE.

9. The following table shows the outlay incurred in 1905-06 compared with that of the previous year:—

10. The total expenditure under "Land Revenue" was Rs. 17,655, against Rs. 16,572 in the year before. The increase was appreciably large under "New works," "Repairs," and "Agricultural improvements," with a corresponding decrease under "Miscellaneous" and "Sanitary improvements." The rise under the first two heads and the fall under "Miscellaneous" is mainly due to the expenditure incurred on the construction or repair of Damin bungalows, hitherto charged to the latter head, having been debited to either of the former, as the case may be, with effect from the year 1905-06.

11. Agricultural Improvements.— Rupees 725 was spent in deepening tanks and improving bundhs in the Damin for the storage of water for the purpose of irrigating rice fields, besides Rs. 24 spent on agricultural experiments. The experiment with ground nut in the Damin, tried in the year before, continued to yield satisfactory results. During the year experiments were tried in the Godda Damin with potato, Patna peas, sonamoong, bringals, and radishes, but they did not prove successful.

12. Sanitary Improvements.—In addition to Rs. 88 spent on two vaccinators in the Godda Damin, Rs. 1,144 was expended in constructing, repairing, and improving tanks, wells, and bandhs in the Damin.

13. Provincial Rates.—Rupees 11 was spent for cost of the certificate procedure for realising the arrears of the road and Public Works cesses and Rs. 214 on valuation work.

14. The excess under "Miscellaneous" under the head "32 Miscellaneous" is due to the cost of stamping 200 tender forms charged to this head as a temporary measure, the value of which will gradually be recovered by sale to contractors, and to the costs of defending a suit for settlement of dues filed by the late contractor, Bromhananda Ray, which had been decreed in favour of the Committee.

15. Civil Buildings.—Rupees 13 shown against "Repairs" represents the amount of the municipal taxes paid for the Road Office buildings.

16. Communications—(a) New works.—The expenditure was largely in excess of that of the previous year. This is due to the receipt of a special grant of Rs. 6,000 from the Commissioner, Sonthal Parganas, for the first time for improvement of communications in the district.

17. Communications.—(b) Repairs.—The expenditure fell off from Rs. 27,779 in the year 1904-05 to Rs. 26,561 during the year. The decrease is mainly due to the advance drawn for repairs of certain roads in the Rajmahal subdivision not having been adjusted before the year closed.

18. Establishment.—The expenditure was largely in excess of that of the previous year. The increase is attributable to the following main causes:—

(1) The entertainment of a temporary establishment, including a supervisor and famine estimator at a cost Rs. 1,800, against Rs. 1,249 in the previous year.

(2) An increase of about Rs. 1,400 under the head "Travelling allowance." This is due to the payment of travelling allowance to Messrs. Bonnar and Fraud, nominees for the post of District Engineer, an unusual charge, and to the Public Works Department Overseer for touring done by him on the work of the Committee with arrears of the previous year, and to the fact that the District Engineer earned more travelling allowance than his predecessor.

19. The decrease under the head "Petty Establishment" is due to the transfer of charges for furniture, crockery, and municipal tax from this head to "Communications" under instructions from the Accountant-General, Bengal.

20. The increase under "Tools and plant" is owing to the cost of tools purchased for the Dhoboi bridge and formerly charged to that work having been written back to this head, and also to the purchase of certain mathematical instruments for the famine estimator and of a pile driver for the restoration of the Bhandora bridge.

21. The important works carried out during the year were—

(16) Constructing Gumra bridge	1,370

22. There was no change in the classification of the scheduled roads and village roads under charge of the Road Committee, but there was a reduction in the total mileage from 848½ to 832½ miles in case of the district roads and 34 to 33 miles in the village roads. The reduction in the former case is due to the transfer of 15 miles 3 furlongs of the Dumka station road to the Dumka Municipality and 1 mile 1 furlong of the Deoghur to Railway Station Road to the Deoghur Municipality and the increase of the length of Hansdiha-Godda Road from 20 miles to 20 miles 6 furlongs on re-measurement, and that in case of the village roads to the transfer of about one mile of Deoghur village roads to the Deoghar Municipality. A new road, Kotalpukur to Durgapur, with a mileage of about 7½ miles, has been taken on to the schedule, but nothing was spent on it during the year. The expenditure on repairs is classified in the following table:—

23. During the year, 42 scheduled roads with a total milage of 832½ miles were maintained at a total cost of Rs. 25,456, against Rs. 27,007 in the previous year. Of the total length, 15½ miles were metalled and the rest unmetalled, and of the total cost, Rs. 389 was spent on the former and Rs. 25,067 on the latter class. The cost per mile of metalled road was thus 25·1 and of unmetalled roads 30·4. Several important roads were improved during the year by the construction of pucka bridges and culverts and gravelling some of the kutcha portions. It is proposed to metal gradually the Dumka-Rampur Hât Road over which the bulk of the traffic in the district passes.

The last 10 miles of this road have already been metalled with indigenous stone-metal and a beginning was made during the year to deal similarly with the other worst portions of the road, such as 5th mile, 21st to 25th miles, where good gravel is not available for annual repairs. The Dumka-Madhupur Road has been provided with an inspection bungalow at a cost of about Rs. 2,600, well furnished with furniture and crockery and a pucka well.

24. The total number of scheduled village roads was the same as in the previous year. Four roads with a total mileage of 33 miles were maintained at a cost of Rs. 472, the cost per mile being 14·3. No improvement was effected in the present condition of the village roads, except that the work of gravelling the Deoghur village road was completed during the year at a cost of Rs. 854.

25. Railway feeder roads.—The construction of new feeder roads was not taken up during the year, but the existing ones were improved and maintained in proper condition for general traffic. The sanction to improve the Mirjachowki to Sahabad Road, so as to make it passable for all manner of traffic throughout the year, at an estimated cost of Rs. 16,155 was received during the year, but little was done before the close of the year.

26. Famine relief.—No famine relief operations were carried out during the year, but a sum of Rs. 63 was, however, spent in preparing projects for famine relief works.

27. The receipts and the expenditure of the three dâk bungalows under the Committee are compared with those of the previous year in the following table :—

Name of dâk bungalow.	Receipts.		Expenditure.		Remarks.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

Rajmahal	144	316	325	228
Sahebganj ...	155	187	405	559	Thorough repairs were done to this building.

28. Medical.—There are no medical institutions under the Committee and there was thus no expenditure under this head. A sum of Rs. 1,290 was spent towards the construction of new Barhait Dispensary buildings and the Hospital Assistant's quarters and Rs. 50 for the addition and alteration of the Amrapara Dispensary buildings, out of the Estate Improvement grant. Rupees 171 was also spent in supplying furniture for the two dispensaries named above.

29. Village Sanitation.—The scheme promulgated by Government in Circular No. 10T.—M., dated the 30th May 1903, for the improvement of sanitation of villages and rural towns was not tried in this district during the year 1905-06.

30. Arboriculture.—The progress in roadside planting has not been satisfactory owing to the want of a definite working scheme. Steps are being taken to have one prepared in pursuance of the recent orders of the Government of India on the subject. During the year 1905-06 a sum of Rs. 595 was spent in the tree-planting on roadsides and in the compound of inspection bungalows and in laying out several nurseries to grow young seedlings for transplantation, against Rs. 98 in the previous year, besides Rs. 1,420 expended towards the wages of road malis entertained throughout the year. It is reported that 1,953 new plants were planted during the year, against 985 in the preceding year. In the year each Damin bungalow has been provided with a mali-chaukidar, whose main charge will be tree-planting, and it is expected that material progress will be made in future in connection therewith as far as the Damin roads are concerned.

31. The following table shows the amount spent on establishment and the percentage of its cost on expenditure in civil works:—

YEAR.	Outlay on works and repairs.	Outlay on establishment employed on works.	Percentage.	REMARKS
1	2	3	4	5
1904-05 ...	58,425	16,856	28·85	(a) Consist of— Rs.
1905-06 ...	60,086(a)	19,175	31·91	Land revenue 17,655
				Civil buildings 13
				Communications 42,418
			Total ...	60,086

The percentage is high owing (a) to the accumulation of funds from the lapses of allotments set apart for the big projects, for which a special supervisor is being entertained since 1903-04; (b, to the debit to establishment of the charges on account of such petty establishment as malis, chaukidars, etc., which is properly chargeable to work. The total cost of establishment is, however, within the limit prescribed in the Cess Act, i.e., one-fourth of the year's receipts, excluding the opening balance, thus:—

	Rs.
Valuation	214
Administration	1,770
Civil Works	19,175

which is less than one-fourth of Rs. 1,07,890, being the year's receipts.

32. Water-supply.—There was no outlay incurred on water-supply from the District Road Fund, except sinking a pucka well in the compound of the newly constructed inspection bungalow at Chorekata on Dumka-Madhupur Road. A sum of Rs. 1,869 was, however, spent out of the Estate Improvement Fund in sinking wells and excavating tanks and bundhs in the Damin. It is reported that the supply of water was adequate throughout the district, except in a few places in the sadar subdivision, and that the existing sources were enough for ordinary purposes.

A statement showing the thana totals of Form I, prescribed in Government Circular No. 8T.—M., dated the 15th May 1896, for several subdivisions, is appended below.

FORECAST OF THE RABI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1906-07.

THE following note is published for general information.

E. A. GAIT,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 4th April 1907.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

FORECAST OF THE RABI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1906-07.

[On an average of the five years ending 1904-05, the area under summer rice, which is included in this forecast, in the territory to which it relates, has represented some 0·3 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.]

Explanatory.—The crops dealt with in this forecast are the spring crops, such as rice, barley, gram, tobacco, poppy and other food and non-food crops, which are harvested between February and April. In these food and non-food crops are included rahar, kalai, mung, peas, lentils, khesari, kulthi, buck-wheat, china, potatoes, yams, melons, chillies and other spices as well as oats and rabi vegetables.

Bihar is the chief rabi-growing tract, but rabi crops are important also in Burdwan, Midnapore, Cuttack, Palamau, Singhbhum and in all the districts of the Presidency Division, excepting the 24-Parganas.

2. Character of the season.—In October the rainfall was above the normal in the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur, Cuttack, Puri, Ranchi, Manbhum and in all the districts of Lower Bengal, excepting Khulna. In the rest of the Province it was deficient. In November, there was no rain in the districts of the Patna Division and in Purnea, while some light showers fell in the rest of the Province. The sowings, which generally take place in October and November, were retarded in Bengal Proper, but were normal in Bihar. Want of rain was felt till the first week of February, when there was general rain all over the Province, the fall being much heavier than usual everywhere, except in South-west Bengal where it was slightly below the normal. About the middle of this month when the harvesting of the crops was somewhat advanced, there was general rain, and in places hail, which damaged the crops to some extent in most of the Bihar districts and in Hooghly, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. Injury was done by insect pests in Saran and Monghyr. The season was not favourable on the whole for the crops.

3. Area sown.—The normal area sown with the various rabi crops in the Province as now reported, amounts to 7,718,400 acres against 7,745,100 acres shown last year. The difference is due to the revision of estimates of normal areas by the District Officers of Burdwan, Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Khulna, Gaya, Champaran, Bhagalpur, Angul, Puri and Sambalpur. The actual area sown this year is estimated at 7,341,500 acres, against the corresponding area of 7,249,000 acres of last year, which has been subsequently revised to 7,322,600 acres.

4. Outturn.—From Appendix I it will be seen that only two districts, viz., Birbhum and Balasore, expect a normal crop. In six districts, viz., Howrah, Gaya, Champaran, Sonthal Parganas, Angul and Sambalpur, the estimates vary from 90 to 99 per cent., in five they vary from 80 to 89 per cent., and in twelve others, from 70 to 79 per cent. Six districts anticipate a crop between 60 to 69 per cent., while Darbhanga and Palamau show outturns of 51 and 57 per cent., respectively.

From the estimates submitted by the District Officers, the outturn of the different rabi crops for the Province as a whole, amounts to 72 per cent. of the normal. The outturn for last year was estimated as 75 per cent. of the normal. In many cases the estimates of the District Officers appear to be too low, and at least a 75 per cent. outturn may be expected.

The probable outturn of summer rice is now shown as 76 per cent. Accepting this figure, the gross outturn for the Province of this crop, amounts to 1,014,600 cwts. against 1,093,800 cwts. estimated last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and fro the eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All tl thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at tl Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four fe above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at tl Surveyor-General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed i the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

SENATE HOUSE, the 15th April 1907.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

PROSPECTUS FOR ADMISSION.

THIS school is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Majesty the King when Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The school was formally opened on the 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60. Preference is to be given to Biharis. Failing, however, a sufficient number of Bihari applicants, students who are natives of other provinces may be admitted, preference being given to Bengalis domiciled in Bihar over non-domiciled Bengalis or other applicants.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final "B" class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference again being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

3. The school, as at present constituted, is chiefly engaged in training students for appointments as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of elementary mathematics.
(2) Careful training in survey work.
(3) Drawing both free-hand and engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice, with hand tools and machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department. The necessary additional buildings have now been completed; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this school, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next session will commence on 1st July 1907.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re 1-8, except for non-domiciled Bengalis, who shall pay Rs. 4. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the school, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below :—

(1) The Entrance examination of an Indian University in English and mathematics.
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests, and who are otherwise eligible, will have to pass an examination in English and mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 4th and 5th July, respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars :—

(a) Name, address, and occupation of father or guardian.
(b) Race and religion. (A domiciled Bengali must produce evidence to show that his father with his family have taken up their residence in Bihar.)
(c) A certificate of good moral character from last head-master.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age).
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.
(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin-student is taught elementary surveying with a corresponding amount of mathematics and of geometrical drawing. He will not be admitted to the workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department, who fails to pass the examination, for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of elementary surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class may, at his option, leave the school with an Amin certificate.

Candidates for Amin class, who have not passed the middle English or middle vernacular examination, will be examined at the school on the 4th July; candidates failing at this examination will not be admitted.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the session that commences from 1st July 1907, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1907.

10 All candidates for admission to the school should present themselves personally at the school on 1st July.

11. There is a hostel in connection with the school. The fees are Re. 1-8 for room and Re. 1 for light. Students make their own mess arrangements. Students joining the Overseer classes must reside in the hostel unless they are residents with parents or with nearly related guardians whose homes are near enough to enable them to attend the school at the required times. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COURT-FEES IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to state whether any additional Court-fee is leviable on a suit or on an issue raised therein, when such suit or issue has been referred to the Subordinate Judge for decision under the Sonthal Settlement Law? If not, will the Government be pleased to state if any Court-fee has been levied on such suits or issues in the Sonthal Parganas, and when not paid on demand, such suits have been dismissed?

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE replied:—

"This Government was advised in 1901 that no Court-fees are leviable under the Regulations at present in force in the Sonthal Parganas on a suit or issue raised therein, when such a suit or issue has been referred to the Subordinate Judge for decision under section 5 of Regulation III of 1872. Court-fees are, however, leviable on documents filed, exhibited or recorded after the transfer. Government was not aware before the receipt of the question that a different practice was followed. A report will be called for."

SUB-DEPUTY COLLECTORS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

(a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a leader in the Behari newspaper of the 22nd January, 1907, and letters from its correspondents appearing in that newspaper of the 25th January, 1907, and 5th February 1907, regarding the injustice done to Sub-Deputy Collectors in general and Bihari Sub-Deputy Collectors in particular, in the matter of promotion to the grade of Deputy Collectors?

(b) Are the allegations made in the said letters and leader to the effect—(i) that over 20 Sub-Deputy Collectors of the lowest grade have been promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors superseding old and experienced officers of the first four grades; and (ii) that a Sub-Deputy Collector, who is not a graduate and who had not then passed the departmental examinations, was promoted from the fifth grade to the second grade?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to state its reasons for so doing.

(d) Is the Government aware that there is a general feeling of disappointment and dissatisfaction among the officers who have been serving for the last 10 or 12 years, but whose claims have been altogether overlooked in favour of quite junior officers?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state under what circumstances extraordinary grade promotions such as those which were made in the cases of the Sub-Deputy Collectors referred to in (b) above are generally made?

(f) Is it necessary that officers receiving grade promotions, ordinary or extraordinary, should, before receiving such promotions, pass the Departmental Examinations? If so, will the Government be pleased to state why the Sub-Deputy Collector referred to in (b) above was promoted when he had not passed the departmental examinations?

(g) If the answer to question (f) above be in the negative, will the Government be pleased to state why other officers who had completely passed the Departmental Examinations before the introduction of the new rule, which makes passing in a second vernacular language compulsory, were not promoted to the next higher grade?

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE replied:—

"(b) and (c) Twenty Sub-Deputy Collectors of the 5th grade were made Deputy Collectors. These were officers who had been selected by Government in 1905 as suitable for Deputy Collectorships. They could not be provided with appointments as Deputy Collectors then, as at that time the Provincial Civil Service cadre had not been increased. They were accordingly given appointments in the 5th grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors, with a promise that their claims to appointments as Deputy Collectors would be considered when the cadre of the Provincial Civil Service was increased, provided of course they did well meanwhile.

"It is correct that a Sub-Deputy Collector, who is not a graduate and who had not passed the departmental examinations, was promoted from the 5th to the 2nd grade. This was done under exceptional circumstances.

"(d) It has been brought to the notice of Government that there has been some misunderstanding amongst some Sub-Deputy Collectors, and Government is glad to have the opportunity of removing it. The answers to questions (b) and c) above will show that the appointment of the Sub-Deputy Collectors as Deputy Collectors was merely a matter of deferred appointment.

"(e) Extraordinary promotions such as that referred to in the case mentioned by the Hon'ble Member are made under very special circumstances. Each case is decided on its merits.

"(f) Officers receiving ordinary grade promotion should, before receiving such promotion, pass the departmental examinations according to the rules laid down by Government in its Resolution No. 3297A.D., dated the 29th September, 1906, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 17th October, 1906.

"In the Resolution it is mentioned that extraordinary promotion may be given in special cases.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

(a) Did not the Government promise at the time the Budget for 1906-07 was discussed that by the increase in the cadre of Deputy Collectors (which has since been effected in the financial year 1906-07) a number of senior Sub-Deputy Collectors would be promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors? If so, will the Government be pleased to state why out of about 80 appointments made during the year in the last grade of Deputy Collectors, only 10 Sub-Deputy Collectors were promoted to that rank?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state why, in making appointments of Deputy Collectors, the claims of Sub-Deputy Collectors of approved merit and ability have been overlooked in favour of outsiders with inferior educational qualifications and with no experience whatever?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it considers it desirable that the period of sub. pro tempore service of Sub-Deputy Collectors should be counted as one of qualifying service in calculating their claim to pension and leave? If not, why not?

(d) Does not Government consider it feasible to include the case of sub-pro tempore or officiating Sub-Deputy Collectors, in Article 375 of the Civil Service Regulations?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to consider the general question regarding the travelling allowance of Sub-Deputy Collectors, which it was pleased to state in reply to a question put in Council on the 7th April, 1906, that it had not considered till then? Does not the Government consider it very hard for such officers, in view of the work they are generally required to do, that, ordinarily speaking, they should pay their travelling expenses from their pay? Does not the work of Government suffer in consequence of the rule that now exists on this point?

The Hon'ble MR CARLYLE replied:—

"(a) It does not appear from the discussions on the Budget for 1906-1907 that Government promised that, on the increase in the cadre of Deputy Collectors taking effect, a number of senior Sub-Deputy Collectors would be promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors. Owing to the increase in the cadre, 53 officers were appointed substantively pro tempore to the last grade of Deputy Collectors, and 33 Probationers were appointed. Of the 53, 37 were promoted Sub-Deputy Collectors, or if the 20 Sub-Deputy Collectors of the 5th grade who received deferred appointment to the grade of Deputy Collectors under special circumstances be excluded, 17 Sub-Deputy Collectors were promoted.

"(b) The answer to this question is that the claims of Sub-Deputy Collectors of approved merit and ability were not overlooked.

"(c) and d) The period of substantive pro tempore service of Sub-Deputy Collectors counts, under certain conditions, as qualifying service in calculating their claim to pension and leave. The case of substantive pro tempore Sub-Deputy Collectors is already covered by Article 375 of the Civil Service Regulations. The attention of the Hon'ble Member is drawn to the answer given to him in Council on the 7th April, 1906, on the subject. There are no Officiating Sub-Deputy Collectors.

"(e) The general question regarding the travelling allowance of Sub-Deputy Collectors has been referred to the Government of India."

APPELLATE COURTS IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of withdrawing the power which Appellate Courts in the Sonthal Parganas now possess, of enhancing punishments in criminal appeals, and of bringing the law in this connection into conformity with the General Criminal Law of the country?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what local exigencies necessitated the introduction of such a law, and its perpetuation in the face of the fact that, out of a population of 1,809,737 souls in the Sonthal Parganas, 1,144,266, that is nearly two-thirds are non-Sonthals, and that the number of the non-Sonthal population of the area has been rapidly increasing in consequence of the development of trade and of the natural resources of the country?

(c) Does not Government consider that, even in the interests of the aboriginal population, it is more necessary that such a law should be abolished in the non-Regulation, than in the Regulation, districts?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"I propose to give a general reply on the points raised in the questions of the Hon'ble Member. It must be remembered that the peculiar Sonthal system of criminal administration cannot lightly be set aside, and that it is very necessary to protect the interests of the aboriginal races for whom the ordinary Judicial system is in some respects unsuitable.

"The Hon'ble Member has alluded to the power of enhancing punishments which the Sonthal Appellate Courts now possess. The attention of the Lieutenant-Governor was drawn to this provision of the law in an address presented by the people of the district, and this subject as well as the whole question of the Judicial Administration of the Sonthal Parganas is now under the consideration of Government."

THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1906.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I desire to inform Hon'ble Members that the Government has come to the decision to postpone the consideration of the Bill to amend the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885. The principal reasons which have led to this decision are two. In the first place, the Government of Bengal entirely agrees with what appears to be the unanimous opinion of the non-official Members of this Council, that the Road Cess should be devoted to the objects for which it is collected. The difficulty in the way of bringing this into an Act is a technical one, namely, that it is regarded as inexpedient to bind the hands of the Government and the Local Authorities alike by the provisions of an Act. Inasmuch, however, as we are all agreed as to the propriety of ear-marking the Road Cess, I am anxious to consider at leisure whether it may not be possible to get over this technical difficulty. My second reason is, that I hail with satisfaction the strong feeling in favour of Sanitary legislation; and I am somewhat loath to proceed with the Bill without making some effort to devise some sanitary provisions which may be acceptable to the Government of India, and may find a place in the Bill. I regret that this decision should be arrived at so late in the Session; but I think that I shall carry the unanimous approval of the Council with me in deciding not to take the Bill up this Session at all."

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1907-08.

The Hon'ble Babu KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"Sir—Before entering into the dry details of the Financial Statement placed before us, I may be permitted to offer our thanks to Your Honour for inaugurating a happy change in the procedure connected with the preparation of the present Budget, a change which was foreshadowed in Your Honour's Budget speech of last year. Unlike the stereotyped method of enveloping the settlement of Budget details with official secrecy, Your Honour thought it proper to invite suggestions from some of the non-official Members of Council who were summoned to attend a Conference that was held for the purpose. I am not aware on what points the suggestions of the Hon'ble Members were sought or to what extent they were accepted. But what little share they might have been allowed in the preparation of the Budget, the principle of associating non-official Members with a matter which plays perhaps the most important part in shaping the affairs of the Province is indeed noble in its conception and may be far-reaching in its consequences. The greater the confidence reposed by the Government on the people entrusted to its charge, the more solid does its foundation become. In this connection it may not be out of place to observe that the suggestions made on the Budget by the non-official Members from their places in the Council do not count much. They are invited to offer their criticism at a stage which may be considered too late for any material modification of the Budget, and such criticism, as a matter of fact, is more often explained away than given effect to. The procedure adopted this year has at least afforded to some of the non official Members an opportunity of offering suggestions at a time and in a manner which may be fruitful of results hereafter.

"In reviewing the Budget Estimate of 1906-1907, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has shown that the actual receipts of the year have exceeded the originally estimated amount by over 10 lakhs (Rs. 5,03,37,000 minus Rs. 4,92,72,000) and this increase has been shown as the net result of improvements under certain heads, such as Stamps, Excise, Assessed Taxes, Registration and Irrigation. The first-mentioned three heads are so elastic in their character that they can admit of any expansion or what is called progressive increase, without calling for special comment But the increase of two lakhs under the head of 'Registration' is so unusual in its character that it is bound to attract notice. It is said that this increase is due in part to the unfavourable character of the season in some localities which necessitated the execution of a larger number of bonds. No other cause having been specifically mentioned, one may infer that the increase is mainly due to the above cause, and if it be so, it is certainly not a matter for congratulation; on the other hand, it reveals rather an alarming state of things and presents a sad outlook for the Province. We are not also told which particular localities have contributed to this increase, but having regard to the excessive rise in the price of food-grains throughout the Province, one may presume that the people under the pinch of distress and poverty have had recourse to the borrowing of money to meet the necessaries of life.

"It is indeed gratifying to find that the Government of India have formulated a scheme for relieving the burden of the Provincial Governments on account of Famine Relief Expenditure and have made it possible for this Government to provide for about 8 lakhs to be spent for this purpose in the current year. We are grateful to the Government of India for this help in a matter of such vital importance. But regard being had to the distress that has prevailed in the Province during the last year, and to the high prices of food-grains in the current year and to the emergency which may arise through failure of rains or any other cause, the provision already made may not be adequate.

"In paragraph 14 of the Financial Statement where provision has been made for recurring outlay, no amount has been shown under the head 'Increase of pay of Ministerial officers in addition to the special grant made by the Government of India,' although we notice that a sum of Rs. 1,50,000 was put under this head in the last Budget. In Appendix B. under the head 'Land-revenue,' a sum of Rs. 1,40,000 has been shown in the place of Rs. 2,30,000 provided in the last Budget, and under the head 'General Administration' a sum of Rs. 2,17,000 which stood in the last Budget has also been provided in the present Budget. I hope the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary will favour us with an explanation as to the cause of this apparent omission or decrease, and give us an assurance that these changes do not affect the main object in view. All that we are anxious to know is, when Government will be in a position to give effect to this long-deferred scheme, so that relief may at last reach the hardworked and poorly-paid Ministerial officers.

"Turning to the vexed question of Sanitation which carries in its train the question of Water-supply, we do not find anything in the present Budget which may lead us to think that this question is engaging the special attention of Government. Instead of any increase in the provision under this head, the special allotment for anti-malarial measures which was put down at Rs. 20,000 last year, finds no place in the present Budget.

"It is said that the whole Medical Department is maintained for the purpose of combating all sorts of diseases, Malaria including, and there is therefore no need for making any special provision for Malaria. It is true that a sum of Rs. 23,63,000 has been provided under the Budget head 'Medical,' but the question is, how much of it is available for medical relief of the rural population stricken with Malaria. Out of this amount, if anything can possibly be claimed for such relief it is the provision of Rs. 1,25,200 shown under the sub-head 'Grants to Mufassal Hospitals and Dispensaries,' but we know it as a matter of fact that the major portion of such grants is given to hospitals and dispensaries which are mostly situated at the head-quarters of districts and sub-divisions. It is superfluous to say that no appreciable relief can reach the rural population out of this grant.

"We have been further told that it is the duty of the District Boards to give adequate relief in the matter of Water-supply, and that the Government is prepared to contribute towards the expenditure for this purpose. It is certainly not our object to quarrel with the Government as to the source from which relief ought to come, and we shall be satisfied so long as we find that steps are being taken to remove this grievance, perhaps the greatest grievance of people inhabiting the rural parts of the Province. Sir, this question has been pressed upon the attention of the Government times without number, but as it is a question of life and death, it can bear repetition. It would certainly be a matter of great disappointment if Government would simply rest contented by throwing its responsibility in a matter of such importance on the District Boards. It is said that the District Boards do not appear to regard the matter as one of urgency and are not therefore keenly interested in it. I do not think that any District Board is prepared to plead guilty to such a charge. So far as I am aware the District Boards are keenly alive to the importance of this question, but, limited as their resources are, they find themselves unable to afford material relief in this direction. Unless Government would take up the question in right earnest and be prepared to place funds at the disposal of the District Boards, specially for this purpose, there is little chance of anything substantial being done out of the funds of the District Boards. If the wealthier classes of the people are convinced that the scheme organized for affording relief in this matter has found favour with Government, they will join hands with it with as much liberality as they do in many works of public utility initiated by Government.

"With special provision in the Budget for Water-supply and a portion of the annual grant to the District Boards ear-marked for the purpose and with private contributions which, we are sure, will be forthcoming, a practical scheme for such water-supply may be effected. I feel assured that the country will welcome such a scheme with feelings of deep gratitude to Government, even if it be effected at the curtailment of expenditure on other projects.

"I may be excused for taking the time of the Council by speaking on a matter which, it may be thought, has been rendered stale by repetition, but it should be borne in mind that I am pleading the cause of millions of suffering humanity whose voice is too feeble to reach the ears of Government.

"Under the head of 'Excise Receipts,' we find that the revised estimate for the year 1906-1907 has been passed for Rs. 1,60,80,000, showing an increase of more than 8 lakhs over the actuals of the preceding year. We are told and told on high authority that mere increase in the Excise revenues is not necessarily an indication of greater consumption of intoxicants, and such increase is quite compatible with the avowed Government policy of discouraging drinking. We do not certainly claim to possess what may be called expert knowledge of Excise Administration but to us, the uninitiated, the above statement seems rather inexplicable in the light of stern facts which we come across in our every-day experience. I may be permitted to place before the Hon'ble Members of the Council certain facts which are within my personal knowledge and leave the Members to draw their own conclusions from them.

"In the Division of Chota Nagpur where there is a large class of aboriginal population who are notorious for their drinking tendency, we find that the Excise revenue is steadily increasing and within the last 10 years it has doubled itself. In the year 1897-98, the revenue was Rs. 8,64,880 and in the year 1906-1907, it swelled to over 16 lakhs. It is said that the increase is due partly to the greater prosperity of the labouring class owing to a rise in their daily wages, but, so far as Chota Nagpur is concerned, there has hardly been any appreciable increase in the wages of the labouring class, except that last year owing to a rise in the price of food-grains the wages have slightly risen, and what was two annas before is two-and-half-annas now. There can be no doubt that the excessive drunkenness instead of indicating prosperity in the lower classes is contributing to the increase of poverty amongst them. This undisputed fact is noticed by an officer possessing long experience and an intimate knowledge of that part of the country, no other than the Hon'ble Mr. Slacke who is now sitting with us and who in his report on the administration of the division, when he was its Commissioner, made prominent mention of it.

"None can fail to admire the avowed intentions of Government as far as they appear in Circulars and Regulations and in Statements emanating from high authorities We are assured that it is the intention of Government to keep the prices of the stimulants reasonably high and not to afford undue facilities in the way of obtaining intoxicants and we know that Circulars have been issued prohibiting location of liquor shops in the markets or at their entrances or near the main roads. If this be the settled policy of Government to check undue growth of drunkenness, it has, so far as I am aware of the circumstances of Chota Nagpur, been lamentably disregarded. The price of liquor, I mean of ordinary mahua liquor, in which the lower classes of people generally indulge, has been kept steady for years and years and except in the immediate neighbourhood of head-quarter stations, the price has not undergone any appreciable change, and a bottle of mahua liquor which was selling ten years ago at one anna in the interior of the districts, is still selling at that price. As regards the location of liquor shops, we find that in the case of 156 shops in the district of Ranchi, 110 are situated at or in the immediate neighbourhood of markets, and the rest on the main roads or close to them. The sites of the shops, so far as the other districts are concerned, are equally objectionable.

"Sir, may I ask whether in a country inhabited by people of known drinking habits, the existing circumstances, as indicated by the above facts, afford proper check on their drinking tendency, or whether they are not calculated to stimulate such tendency? To show to what extent the habits of intemperance in drink are prevailing among the aborigines and the deplorable consequences resulting therefrom, I cannot do better than refer to a passage in a Memorial which was submitted to Government sometime ago by some of the representative people in the district of Ranchi, and to which I have already invited the attention of Government. After stating certain facts, the Memorial goes on to say:—

'Colonel Swaine, I.M.S., for many years Civil Surgeon and Superintendent of the Jail in Ranchi, writes thus of his experience: - "I found that a large proportion of serious crimes, such as assaults and murders, were committed during the state of intoxication, and not only this, but numbers of persons die from exposure and congestion of the lungs, especially in the very cold weather. They leave the liquor shop hopelessly drunk, usually late in the evening, they stagger along for a time, then fall down and are found dead in the morning. In my experience, I have seen many such cases brought for post mortem examination." That deaths directly due to over indulgence in daru still occur, is the experience of many.

'On bazar days, it is a common sight to see the road side strewn with men and women in various stages of advanced intoxication.

'Besides this, many of the people waste a large proportion of the money they have brought for purchasing necessary articles for home use in the liquor shop.'

"In the face of these facts, can we become convinced of the increasing prosperity of the labouring class which the increase in the Excise Revenue is supposed to indicate? True, the Government is not openly inviting people to indulge in drinks and it is equally true that no compulsion is placed on licensees to take out licenses, but that is not certainly the means to keep a check on the growth of drunkenness in a country where the people cannot help themselves. I am indeed thankful to Government for the most sympathetic answer that was given to my question on this subject, and I am glad that a matter which is demoralizing these pepole and ruining them in body and mind has engaged the special attention of Government.

"On the subject of 'Education,' the tabular statement given in page 11, showing the growth of expenditure under this head does not form a very useful guide, as it presumably contains the combined figures for both the Provinces up to the year 1905-1906. But even the statement as it stands affords sufficient materials for reflection. 'Direction' which cost only Rs. 78,000 in 1901-1902 for both the Provinces now rises to a lakh for only one of them, and what is more striking is that 'Inspection' which cost Rs. 2,47,000 in 1901-1902 for United Bengal has swelled to Rs. 4,78,000 only for this Province. These have evidently gained at the expense of some worthier objects of State support, the University and the Government Schools General, for example, the wants of which are many but for which no liberal provision has been made. Certainly the expenditure on 'Education' is growing year after year and we are immensely grateful to the Government for this increased appreciation of our educational needs, but if the objects of lesser importance swallow up the increase at the expense of comparatively worthier objects, the full measure of the blessing cannot be appreciated.

"Against grants-in-aid, it is presumed, are shown all sums paid to Primary as well as Secondary Schools. If so, there is no means of finding to what extent each of these two important branches of instruction is receiving the treatment it deserves. There are reasons to believe that while Primary Education is justly receiving its due share of attention, as far as possible, Secondary Education, both English and Vernacular, is not being dealt with in the same spirit and that accordingly most of the aided High and Middle Schools in the Province are in receipt of exiguously small grants, which again are being unsparingly reduced every time when an application comes up for renewal.

"While it is a matter of sincere gratification that the Government of India have allotted large sums for Education, it is disappointing to find that no adequate provision has been made in the Budget for Technical Education. I believe I voice the feelings of the entire public, when I say that a Polytechnique on a broad basis is the crying need of the country at the present day.

"I cannot conclude without expressing my thanks to the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary for presentation of a Budget containing several useful schemes for reform proposed to be undertaken during the current year. Generally speaking, these projects have been fairly distributed all over the Province, but one thing that we cannot fail to notice in this connection is, that some of the provisions that were made last year under the head 'Civil Works' have been carried over to the present year apparently for non-execution of the works. In the division of Orissa, the only project proposed to be taken in hand this year is the drainage for Puri Municipality at Rs. 75,000, but a similar provision was made in the last Budget. I hope the amount allotted last year has all been spent for this purpose, and the present year's allotment is a supplementary grant."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"By giving Hon'ble Members an opportunity of examining, in Chamber, the Financial Statement by the light of the information which the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary could place at their disposal, Your Honour's Government has done all that an honest Government, sapiently bent upon allowing its policy to be submitted to the search-light of unsophisticated criticism, can do to avoid error. The procedure calculated to raise the Council in the estimation of the country has been eminently satisfactory in its results.

"The Provincial Revenues and Expenditure have been brought into a condition of proper equilibrium, and adequate provision has been made for the requirements of a progressive civilization. Far be it from me to assume the pontifical attitude in criticising the Financial Statement. I am quite content to rely on the judgment of the responsible Officers of Government in the matter of the distribution of the assets for meeting the demands of the different departments of the State.

"I cannot, however, disguise from myself the fact that the provision relating to Famines is anything but satisfactory. Instead of relying on precarious assignments from the Government of India for meeting the demands of famines which ever and anon afflict the country, it would be more satisfactory if a part of the money raised by the Public Works Cess be set apart for the purpose. This would be in consonance with the declarations made at the time that the Cess was imposed. Famines should not be treated as abnormal or exceptional calamities. Sound financial principles require that the obligations entailed by famines upon Government should be expressly recognized and provided for among the ordinary charges of the Provincial Government.

"There are two other questions—the improvement of the Police and the improvement of the Ministerial Staff of the Courts—to which I would invite the particular attention of Government. I am pleased to find that provision has been made in regard to both these questions. I would, however, beg leave to suggest that an inconsiderable part of the money allotted for the re-organization of the Police and for increasing the pay of ministerial officers of Courts should go to establish and maintain Vigilance Committees in every district. The reform of the Police and of the Court Officers would be a hopeless task, unless the people co-operated with the Government for effecting it. The action of organized bodies in this respect would not only be more effective, but would also be free from the stain of interested motives which might otherwise be cast upon it."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, the Budget before us to-day, which has been very admirably framed by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary, must be declared a Prosperity Budget.

"It is a matter of great satisfaction indeed that our finances are steadily improving, and that we can safely look forward to an increase of receipts from all sources of Revenue from year to year.

"I feel very great pleasure in congratulating Your Honour and the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary on such a good Budget. The Budget is clear, simple and comprehensive. It fully supplies all necessary information, and its allotments are reasonable and fair. I shall not detain the Council long, as I do not consider it necesssary to discuss the Budget in detail. I shall confine myself to two heads only.

"It is a matter of satisfaction to find that the Imperial Government have been pleased to make a separate grant for the building up of a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government on which your Government will be able to draw when they have to cope with Famines. The Provincial Funds, being thus relieved to a certain extent, will be better able to meet other necessary calls for the benefit of the Province. I desire to offer through Your Honour our thanks to His Excellency the Governor General in Council for the inauguration of the system under which the Provincial Government will be spared the obligation of meeting the whole cost of Famine.

"I am thankful to Your Honour for the provision of Rs. 1,50,000 made in the Budget for the 'paying patients' block for Indians in the Medical College Hospital, Calcutta.' But I understand, Sir, that the whole of this amount will be required for the purpose of acquiring land for the building of the blocks, and nothing will be available for the construction of any of the five separate double-storied blocks for the accommodation of the patients. I have not seen the estimate as to what each block of building is likely to cost, but I am informed that each block of building will probably cost about Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 35,000; may I, therefore, be allowed to ask Your Honour to set apart Rs. 60,000 to Rs. 70,000 more for this work from our estimated surplus and to order the construction of at least two blocks of building for receiving inmates before the closing of the present financial year?

"If this proposal meets with Your Honour's approval, then we shall have three blocks of buildings completed during the year, viz., one with the handsome donation made by the worthy citizen, Seth Seoprasad Joonjoonwala and the other two from the surplus of the Provincial Funds. I need hardly repeat, Sir, that this is a real want, and sincerely hope that Your Honour will be pleased to remove it at an early date."

The Hon'ble IHTISHAM-UL-MULK RAIS-UD-DOWLA AMIR-UL-OMRAH NAWAB ASEF KUDR SYUD WASIF ALI MEERZA KHAN BAHADUR MAHABUT JUNG, Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad, said:—"I think the present Budget offers few points for controversy, and as such I have very few observations to submit by way of criticism.

"The Budget Statement discloses the fact that though high prices prevailed during last year, Government Revenue did not suffer and, in fact, considerably exceeded the estimates, thus enabling Government to meet the unexpected demand consequent upon Famine expenditure, which has not been anticipated originally, but which unfortunately was incurred, without having recourse to the necessity of curtailing expenditure on other heads. This, no doubt, reflects credit upon those concerned in the collection of the revenue. It is always prudent to make provision for Famine expenditure. It is, however, a relief to be told that such provision is not necessary to be made now, although a large amount will possibly have to be incurred on account of Famine, because the expenditure on that account will, under the new scheme, be met from Imperial Revenues, which will be some relief to the Local Government.

"Speaking of last year's receipts, an increase of nearly two lakhs in the Revenue, derived from Excise, is an increase which is liable to be viewed with dissatisfaction, if it indicated an increased demand for and an increased consumption of exciseable articles, a state of things which is not much to be desired; but it is some satisfaction to know that this increase is ascribed to more satisfactory settlement than to anything else. It is to be hoped that the increased estimate in the present Budget will, if approached, be not due to increased consumption, for nothing can be more objectionable than any increase of the Excise Revenue from an expansion of the traffic in exciseable articles, the disastrous consequences of which, as much their cause, it should surely be one of the foremost thoughts of Government to avoid. The allotment of a larger amount for the construction of small spirit depôts seems to be an objectionable item, to which advocates of temperance will, no doubt, take exception; for the greater are the facilities offered by placing exciseable articles within easy reach of consumers, the more will be the opportunities afforded to obtain without difficulty supplies resulting, as a matter of course, in more consumption.

"Though the expenditure under the head of 'Education' has been an ever-increasing item, for which we must all be grateful, yet less cause for complaint would have been given if it were found possible to provide a still increased allotment, for there are few causes which demand the yet greater attention and deserve the yet further help of Government than the cause of Education. Looking to the fact that great importance is now rightly attached to more extensive Primary Education, the larger the sums spent thereupon, the better for the country.

"The provision for a class for the training of Motor-car Driver Artisans is as opportune as it is necessary and, being in the right direction, will be hailed not only by those who own or desire to own motor-cars, but by the public generally, in view of the possibility of minimising accidents, which untrained or imperfectly trained drivers are now responsible for.

"The handsome provisions for Maktabs will be welcomed by my co-religionists, who are so much in need of help and encouragement, so far as matters educational, in particular, are concerned. Properly administered, the allotment is bound to work out good results.

"Equally satisfactory is the large allotment for training institutes for Primary School Teachers. It is of the utmost importance to put pupils in charge of well-trained and duly qualified teachers, and no provision can be too high for institutes designed for the proper training of those who in their turn will have to take charge of the training of the youth of the Province. Whatever might be said of the sufficiency of the total allotment under the head of 'Education', the sum of four lakhs and fifty-four thousand for Primary Education seems to be a fair proportion, though a larger allotment would no doubt have been much more appreciated.

"I am sorry the improvement of the Bhagirathi River finds no place in the estimate of the year. That is a subject upon which, to a large extent, depend the life, health and happiness of the population of a large area, bordering on the river. Though the Railway lines on both sides of the river will, to some extent, remove the inconveniences to traffic which the silting up of the river has caused, yet they would not in any way, I respectfully submit, improve the river as a great source of water-supply. The stagnation of the water is attended with all its evil consequences, and the opening up of the mouth, as also the keeping up of the canal, by inducing a current from the Ganges, would be a great boon to suffering humanity. A dredger has more than once been demanded. One costing four and-a-half lakhs has been brought out from England. If possible that should be spared for work in the river. Considering that the Bhagirathi, even in its moribund condition, brings in a large income in the shape of tolls levied on all boats which pass up and down the river, two or three years' proceeds spent upon a dredger will not be money misspent. The necessity of providing an adequate and healthy supply of drinking-water to the riparian villages still exists, and ought never to be lost sight of.

"The provision for the construction of residences for Munsifs is one in the right direction. Considering how hard-worked these officers are, and the difficulty of procuring decent rented houses in the Mufassal, the construction of quarters in each chowki should be carried out as soon as possible.

"I am glad to find that the Budget provides for the erection of an Obelisk at the battle field of Plassey. I hope the proposed monument will be majestic in proportion to its importance. The rest-house at Plassey, already constructed, has removed a great want, but the several pillars and other land-marks, which have been erected throughout the field, are too small and liable to be concealed in the growing crops. These might well be substituted by larger pillars with descriptive tablets. The plan of the field might with advantage be hung up on the walls of the rest-house, and the whole of the field, which was the scene of operations, might, if possible, be acquired and converted into a Park for the hard-worked people of Calcutta to resort to, to spend a holiday, now that Plassey is within easy reach by the opening of the Murshidabad branch of the Railway, which with an increased speed, for which there is room, will bring Plassey nearer to Calcutta and render it capable of being done in less than 24 hours' journey both ways, and halt included. In this connection, I beg to draw the attention of Government to the desirability of transferring Plassey from the jurisdiction of Nadia to that of adjoining Murshidabad, with which it is so indissolubly connected and associated.

"There is no subject to which Government can bestow greater attention, and for which more outlay can with propriety be made than Sanitation. Beyond half a lakh provided for Sanitary Improvements in Darjeeling and certain allotments to Municipalities for Civil Works, I regret to miss in the estimates any scheme for the general improvement of the sanitation of the Province. There are parts of it which may require greater and earlier attention than others, but there can be little doubt that the necessity exists of thoroughly investigating into the general unhealthy condition of most districts, most prominent among which I regret to have to mention my own. If the matter were inquired into, it would at once become apparent that unhealthiness is commensurate with the exuberance of rank vegetation, which unfortunately is showing signs of increase all round.

"True it is that in Urban and Municipal areas, the law gives ample powers to local bodies to cut down and remove vegetation noxious to health, but the appearance of such areas does not at all show that the provisions of the enabling sections of the Municipal Act are carried out with any degree of vigour. The case of areas covered by the Local Self-Government Act seems to be still worse. Here whole villages are removed from the action of free air by the high and impenetrable walls of trees and jungles with which they are surrounded. The removal of trees, which are sometimes fruit-trees and sometimes timber, is not free from difficulty; but the rank vegetation and the undergrowth can surely be dealt with and the arms of law can surely reach them.

"In Sanitary matters as in most other matters, we are in need of Government help, and unless Government takes the initiative, there is little hope of our being relieved of our sufferings. The people are already thankful for the inquiries which have been started by members of what is known as the Drainage Commission; and when they have gathered statistics and completed their investigation and submitted their report, there is little doubt a scheme will be formulated, whereby the drainage of the Province, obstructed by railways and embankments and otherwise, will be improved and defective drainage, now one of the fruitful sources of Malaria, will be a thing of the past. The cases are worst where deficient drainage, coupled with superfluity of vegetation, which prevents sun, light and air to have free access, brings suffering to humanity.

"I think there ought to be in Bengal a regular and thorough organization for the extermination of jungle, that is showing an ever-growing tendency to increase. If a Commission is appointed, or the Drainage Commission, already appointed, be instructed to direct their inquiries with special reference to the cause of unhealthiness so far as it is due to the overgrowth of jungle, any additional money, spent in that direction, will be money not spent in vain. I crave leave to plead specially the cause of my own district. Murshidabad is an old historic place, full of historic associations, and no one would like to see it reduced and converted into a great jungle. If any experiments have to be made, let us begin with Murshidabad. If my information is correct, the death-rate in the old city, its suburbs and adjoining villages exceeds the birth-rate, and I am afraid that if things go on at that rate the time is not distant when there will be left not one human being in this area to tell the tale of its misery.

"I think this is a matter which should invite the earnest attention of Government. I confess that much of what is required to be done may be done by local bodies, but they are hampered by the insufficiency of the funds at their disposal, and an organized scheme, capable of coping with the exigencies and requirements of the occasion and the enormity of the subject, is beyond the power and purse of most local bodies. Here it is that Government must step in to do for us what we cannot do ourselves. It is not for me to suggest, much less to dictate, what exact line of action Government should adopt. All I wish to press for is, that anything which persons in a position to give authoritative opinion upon can suggest should be attended to in order to improve the sanitary condition of the Province, as much by expeditions against mosquitos and the proper drainage of low and marshy tracts, as by the cutting away and removal of rank, unnecessary and obnoxious vegetation, which has encroached to a large extent on most villages in Bengal, and to which hitherto has not been paid that degree of prompt, earnest and systematic attention which the serious evils resulting from them so urgently demand.

"There is one other matter which should engage the first and foremost attention of Government, and that is the high prices of Articles of Food, specially rice that has become, so to speak, chronic. The fact that notwithstanding the harvesting of a comparatively bumper crop, high prices, almost famine prices, still prevail, is a matter for very serious consideration. We have been told that this state of things is due not to increase of exports but to the encroachment made by jute upon paddy land and the abnormal storage of rice by growers and others for their consumption as a safeguard against a recurrence of famine. Whatever may be the cause, to whatever this state of things may be ascribed, there is a growing feeling that rice at any rate and at any cost must be made cheap, so that the classes that are affected most by high prices may afford, with their limited means, to have at least two full meals in twenty-four hours. People would not grudge so much at the high prices of luxuries or even of things not so absolutely necessary as the high price of what forms the staple of Bengal. Give them rice, the same weight for the rupee as it used to fetch twenty years back, there will then be not that general complaint which now so unfortunately prevails. That is a common-sense view of things.

"I hear very little now-a-days of the golas or rice depôts that were started or proposed to be started with a view to meet the requirements of a bad year. I do not know if much has been done in that direction. Hence it is that Government intervention and Government action are necessary to devise means, which will induce or enable the actual tiller of the soil to devote more attention and give more land to the cultivation of paddy and less to that of jute, and which will place his neighbour, whose profession is not to hold the plough, but whose life, health, ease and comfort depend to a large extent upon the extended cultivation of paddy, to give himself and his family, dependent upon his earnings, two full meals a day.

"Your Honour, the matters relating to Sanitation and high prices upon which I have taken the liberty of addressing the Council are of such general importance that the appointment of one or more Commissions to thoroughly investigate is a matter for the serious consideration of Your Honour's sympathetic Government, and will, I have no doubt, be greatly appreciated by a people who are already grateful for your beneficent rule."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"Your Honour, it would be ungrateful on our part not to acknowledge the great concession made by Your Honour of allowing the non-official Members an opportunity of considering the Budget before it is placed in the Council. This year's experience has been rather disappointing on account of the fact that we had the Budget placed in our hands at the Meeting and had no time given to us probably because it could not be given to us of considering it, excepting there. To make the experiment a success, two things are necessary, first, a desire on the part of the Officials in charge to seriously consult the non-official Members and to ascertain from them the needs of the country and not to be impatient of their criticisms and suggestions; second, on the part of us, non-official Members, industry, knowledge of the country and a courageous and earnest striving, to make the country advance in all matters, in co-operation with the Government.

"It is usual to congratulate the Financial Secretary on the Budget, and I do so with pleasure. But if I linger long on felicitations or on idle criticisms and high politics and fine phrases, I shall miss the opportunity of directing the attention of the Government and of the Council to matters on which depend the true welfare of this country.

"Now I shall go to the consideration of the Budget. I must say it discloses a condition of lamentable inaction on the part of the Government for the good of the people, which is wholly at variance with the known earnest desire of Your Honour to help the people, and for which probably you are not responsible. If we look at page 4 of the Budget, we find that most of the improvements for which money was sanctioned last year have not been carried out. The grants for the paying patients' block for Indians in the Medical College Hospital, acquisition of the Haritola Bustee, near Campbell Hospital, double-storied block in Campbell Hospital, Calcutta Municipality Incinerator, Bhagalpur Municipality Water-works, Nadia Municipality repairs to Embankments, Monghyr Municipality Water-supply, Berhampore Municipality Drainage, Puri Municipality Drainage, made last year have been repeated this year. I find also that many of the improvements for which money had been budgetted the year before last have not been carried out. Indeed, very little of the good contemplated by Your Honour during the last two years has been carried out.

"Further, we have gone back. Last year Rs. 75,000 was sanctioned for the Bhairab Valley Drainage, this year it has been struck out altogether on the ground, I understand, that the project is not ready. My complaint is, that we are never ready. Again, I do not understand why, as regards the grant of Rs. 75,000 to the Puri Municipality, while last year it was stated that Rs. 25,000 was for Drainage and Rs. 50,000 for Sanitation, this year the entire amount has been ear-marked for Drainage only. Probably the words 'and sanitation' have been omitted by mistake. But it is a mistake which ought to be rectified.

"I further do not see why the India Government should not pay the sum of Rs. 1,50,000 budgetted for the new Presidency Jail consequent on the building of the Victoria Memorial on its site. Again I do not understand why a sum of Rs. 1,20,000 has been budgetted for the re-alignment of the drains of the Presidency Jail, by which I understand the present Jail, when it is going to be removed within a very short time.

"There is no reason assigned for the fact that for the Obelisk at Plassey, the sum budgetted this year is Rs. 25,000, while last year it was only Rs. 15,000.

"Again the large sums granted for Sundarban reclamations should be objected to on the ground, first, there are more urgent needs of the country, and second that it violates the principle hitherto followed that the Government should not be competitors with private capitalists in such work to the detriment of the latter.

"At page 13 of the Budget, I find under heading 'Civil Works' the expenditure for original works and repairs is estimated at about Rs. 60,50,000 and the establishment cost is laid at Rs. 8,80,587. The establishment cost is thus about 14 per cent. of the expenditure. I believe that it is possible to reduce the establishment cost to 10 per cent., especially when all Government work is done by contractors, and a saving of about Rs. 3 lakhs should be made if possible for original works. The works in the districts may be done by District Board Engineers without any payment if they are required to do so by the Government. Indeed, it is possible greatly to reduce the establishment cost.

"This brings me to my main contention. The Government is aware of the extraordinary unhealthiness of the districts of Murshidabad, Krishnagore and Jessore. Life is one continued suffering for the people in the interior of these districts on account of Malaria. The deterioration of the rivers and the water-channels is mainly responsible for the result. The Government has up to this time simply stood by and looked at the result in mute despair. Difficult to mend matters. Rivers, if excavated, will again silt up. Impossible. Inquiries have been set on foot. Inspections made. These are the explanations for inaction we are accustomed to. The Government is aware of the vast schemes of Canal carried out in France, Germany and Russia for commercial and military purposes. Here, in Bengal, for internal commerce and for drainage and for keeping out the salt water of the sea, we require to keep alive the dying rivers of the Presidency Division. We require it for our lives. We can certainly canalize the existing rivers and have Canals at very much less cost than in the European countries mentioned above.

"At page 23 of the Budget, I find that the toll receipts of the Nadia rivers have, within the last 3 years, fallen by Rs. 70,000 a year. The revenue is thus also suffering. Now to mend this state of things is certainly possible but it will entail a large expenditure. But it is possible for the Government to incur a large expenditure. It is doing so for the Town of Calcutta where the European residents have become very much afraid of the Plague. So far as the districts are concerned, we have been standing still in all things, as I shall presently show. I earnestly ask Your Honour's Government to be more courageous and make the country advance. My contention is, that all works of public utility should be done not out of Capital but out of Loan account. We spend 70 lakhs for works every year. We can at once spend 7 crores of rupees on works, if we do the works by loan, leaving still a large margin for ordinary expenditure. In 20 years' time the loan may be paid up, and we may take up other works. That is how work is done in every progressive country. And many of these works will be productive.

"I found no reason in the criticism of the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale in the Imperial Budget discussion that the Government should only make unproductive expenditure. Only ball-rooms, Government buildings, decorations and the like are strictly unproductive. Everything that is truly good for the people is worth paying for by them and can be made to yield a return if necessary. If the Government will not do such works, the people themselves will do them at their own cost. I trust the Government will not adopt the policy advocated by Gentlemen whose forte is high politics. We want water-ways for the development of the inland trade, for the carriage of our jute and rice. We want a proper Drainage system for the districts. We want also more Railways. We want to fight Malaria which prevails not only in the districts I have mentioned but in Western Bengal, and is advancing to Midnapore, Bankura and Birbhum. It is no time to stand still. Bengal is advancing materially by leaps and bounds, through the development of the industries of foreign countries and through the railways built by private European companies. The Government is doing very little for the people. Excepting the Tribeni Canal, since the making of the Sone and Midnapur Canals which are paying works, the Government has simply done nothing for the Irrigation, Water-ways and Drainage of the districts.

"It is very well known that good drinking-water is essential for the health of the people. The Government, I find, has made inadequate grants to enable some District Town Municipalities to have pure filtered water. Sufficient funds should be placed in the hands of all District Towns to enable them to have filtered water at once, instead of asking District Boards to make grants for the purpose. Life is short. If the present generation of men suffer and die, what do they care for what may come to pass after them? What has the Government done for the prevention of Malaria? We hear of the mosquito theory. It may be good. But we want the remedy to be adopted—jungles to be cleared, dirty water-pools to be filled up, good drinking-water to be supplied. Large expenditure is necessary. District Boards, Village Unions and the like are not able to grapple with this great question. The Government should take it up. I plead for a change of policy, and that is, great works should be taken up and all original works should be done out of Loan account.

"I next go to the matter of Education. I find the Budget defective, as there is no heading of the expenditure under Primary Education or Female Education. It is fortunate for the Government that it is so. Here also we have been standing still, so much so that we have not been able to spend the 10 lakhs of rupees granted by the Government of India in 1905 for Primary Education and entered in the Bengal Budget. I know people find it very difficult to spend money on works of beneficence, but I did not expect to find it in our Government. The fault again is not with the Head of our Government but with those who have the carrying out of work.

"Primary Education, I understand, cannot advance because gurus require training. If we are to train gurus first and then teach our boys, we shall have to let the present generation go without education. We, who have seen the old system of pathsalas do not appreciate the difficulty. Female education is also at a standstill, because we are told we have got no female teachers. If we have to wait for female teachers, I am afraid our girls shall have to go without education. It would be a long time before we shall be able to get orthodox ladies to take to teaching. Everybody in Bengal knows that there is no objection to girls below 12 being taught by male teachers. But the Government answered to a question put by me that that was not correct, and it was not possible to start Middle Vernacular Schools without male teachers. The answer was given to me who is the Secretary of one of the most orthodox and largely attended of such schools. This year I am glad to find a lump provision of Rs. 4,54,207 for Primary Education of boys and girls, including an extra amount of one lakh of rupees granted through I believe the personal intervention of Your Honour and on account of the persistence of some non-official Members. I trust the amount will be spent.

"Similarly, Your Honour has repeatedly expressed your desire to establish a properly-equipped Technical School in connection with the Sibpur Engineering College. We find this year a trifling sum budgetted for the Industrial Chemistry Class. It has been stated that all the departments will be started in time, but the arrangements cannot be made all at once. All this is excuse for inaction. We are at a standstill in everything. In the matter of Education we are probably going back, as the remarkable falling off in the number of Entrance Examination candidates showed last year. That probably is owing to the unpopularity of the reformed University. But that we are not advancing as we should do, as Japan has done and is doing, is a fact, and we hold the Government responsible for it.

"I next go to our expensive Civil Service. The Partition of Bengal has added to our burden on that head. We have a legitimate grievance in this matter. Mr Naoroji, during the last Congress, spoke of the fact that the Statutory Civil Service obtained by him for the people of the country has been abolished as one of the great disappointments of his life. Some few appointments, as District Judges and District Magistrates, are now given to natives of India. They may be left out of consideration. What reason is there that at least one-third of the appointments now held by Covenanted Civilians should not be given to the people of this country? The abolition of the Statutory Service has been a retrograde measure making the administration more expensive. In the interests of economy, in Bengal at least, it should be revived.

"I must thank the Government for the grant of Rs. 40,000 for the residences of Munsiffs.

"I should here mention that Assistant Surgeons are also entitled to proper houses in which they can live with their families. Now in a few districts they got two rooms in the Charitable Dispensaries for their quarters. Theirs is a hard-worked and very ill-paid service. I trust Your Honour will kindly take their case into consideration.

"This leads me to a very important matter. Your Honour has observed the extraordinary rise in the price of rice. To the cultivator, it probably means prosperity. But to the bhadrologé class it means ruin. No doubt they are not more than 10 per cent. of the population, and they are the people who are in the front of all agitations against Government measures. But their shortcomings should be forgotten in pity for their helpless condition notwithstanding the assertion made by a few irresponsible men among them that they have the power to overturn the Government and set up a Government of their own, and which they cannot do because they have not yet been able to decide whether it is to be a Monarchy or a Republic. Just now they have to depend only on Government Offices or the Law Courts for their livelihood. There are people whom the extremists sometimes cry shame upon, who are working without ceasing and who have determined to sacrifice everything in order to secure for the people independent means of livelihood and they, I hope, will succeed in their efforts. But still it behoves the Government to devise measures for the greater employment of the educated classes. In any case, having regard to the fact that the rise of food-grains means the depreciation of the value of the rupee, the Government should, without delay, consider the advisability of ordering an increase of salary, at least of the officials drawing a salary less than 100 rupees a month. It is more necessary and urgent than making provisions for the residences of high-paid Officials.

"As regards the amount budgetted for the Co-öperative Credit Societies, it seems to be very insufficient. A beginning has been made, but the progress is so slow that one despairs of seeing good results arising out of it in his lifetime. More vigorous action in this direction is also necessary.

"There is one more matter in which I am greatly interested and to which I shall revert on a future occasion. I find at page 33, that Rs. 3,55,000 were spent on Experimental Cultivation in 1905-06. I find at page 21, the receipts on account of Experimental Cultivation of 1905-06 to have been only Rs. 1,457. The result seems to me so extraordinary that I am afraid there is some mistake somewhere.

"I have done. I have found fault with the Government in many things and have used strong words of condemnation. That is because I believe the Government to be a beneficent one, and a Government which we should consider ours, and with which we should heartily co-operate. I wish my people to advance abreast with the other nations of the East now pulsating with a new life and which have or are about to take their place among the proudest nations of the West. But the means I wish to see adopted in our present conditions are not those which high Indian Councillors are advising and, which if not adopted, they have warned the Government will lead to its early end. I should be at one with them in asking for political reforms advocated by them, but there are more urgent matters to consider. For the last two years political agitations have diverted the attention of the Government and the people from all good work, and the Government had some excuse for inaction. But now there is little excuse. Permit me to tell Your Honour that unless there is vigorous action taken for the material progress of the country, it will lead not to the end of the Government but to the end of the people over which it has been placed by Providence."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"May it please Your Honour—I have heard with great pleasure that some of the non-official Members of Your Honour's Council were taken into confidence before the Budget was prepared. A great principle is thus recognized for which we are thankful to Your Honour, but I hope from next year it will be given fuller and not partial effect as this year.

"I congratulate the Government on the satisfactory state of its finance as disclosed in the Financial Statement laid before the Council. The year 1906-1907 is strictly speaking the first year of the Administration of the Government of Bengal after the Partition. Accordingly a new Provincial Settlement has been made with the Government of India, and a generous provision made for the growing needs of the premier Province of the British Indian Empire by allotting larger shares of the divided heads of revenue to Your Honour's Government.

"The estimates for 1907-1908 show Rs. 5,20,28,000 as receipts, excluding the opening balance, and Rs. 5,36,86,000 as expenditure. The latter figure includes a non-recurring expenditure of Rs. 37,48,000 which mostly consists of grants of public utility, and in this connection I gratefully acknowledge the provision of Rs. 3,06,000 for additions to the Medical College Hospital, including a block for Indian paying patients and of one lakh for additions to the Campbell Hospital; while provision has also been made for a more generous scale of diet for patients. All this testify to Your Honour's care for the well-being of the people.

"My hon'ble friend, Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, has alluded to the grant to the Calcutta Municipality of Rs. 45,000 for an Incinerator. My friend has evidently been misled by the item in the Budget. As the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary will bear me out, it is not a grant for an Incinerator, but for the removal of the refuse platform on the west of the Campbell Hospital. I hope, however, some day in the future the Government will be pleased to see its way to make a grant for Incinerators and thus help the Corporation to abolish the refuse platforms, which are a standing menace to the City.

"The large accumulated opening balance which by gradual diminution stands at Rs. 91,14,000 at the beginning of the current year has been judiciously drawn upon to meet the non-recurring expenditure of the current year and the normal growth of revenue has on the whole met the increase in recurring expenditure. It is a sound principle of finance that the accumulated balance should be returned to the tax-payer in some shape or other and should not form the basis of recurring charges. As Member for the Corporation, I wish this principle had been followed there to bring the recurring expenditure within the receipts which alone could put a stop to the perpetual phenomenon of a deficit Budget.

"Court-fees.—The receipts from Court-fee Stamps are steadily increasing. This year's figures show Rs. 1,07,62,000 as compared with Rs. 1,02,60,000 of last year. While on this subject, I may be permitted to draw Your Honour's attention to the anomaly which exists in the Court-fee charges in the Calcutta Court of Small Causes. While in all other Courts of Bengal and even in the Appellate Side of the High Court 7½ per cent. Court-fee is leviable for the institution of suits and appeals; in the Small Cause Court of Calcutta, the suitor must pay 11 per cent. to file a suit. I do not think it can be contended that parties get superior justice in the Calcutta Small Cause Court to what they receive in the District Courts all over Bengal. I earnestly trust Your Honour will remove this anomaly by ordering a reduction of Court-fee charges in the Calcutta Small Cause Court.

"There is another matter in connection with Court-fees which is of vital importance to the rate-payers of Calcutta. Your Honour is aware that all objections against increase of assessments by the Assessor of the Corporation were formerly heard by a Bench of Commissioners, but by the Amending Act of 1888 this system was abolished, and since then these objections are heard either by the Vice-Chairman or the Deputy Chairman under the delegated authority of the Chairman. This is a highly unpopular procedure and wrong in principle, as the Vice-Chairman and the Deputy Chairman are the Executive Heads of the Assessor's Department. Of course an appeal against the decision of the Vice-Chairman or the Deputy Chairman lies to the Small Cause Court. From 1889 to 1900, no Court-fee was charged on the institution of these appeals, but since 1901 under Government order a prohibitive fee is levied, which has practically deprived the poor and even the middle classes of an opportunity of obtaining justice against the decision of the Municipal Executive.

"For better explanation I would give a concrete instance. Suppose the Vice-Chairman after hearing an objection fixes the valuation of a holding at Rs. 5,000 and the rate-payer contends that it should be Rs. 4,000. The difference in rate involved is Rs. 195 per year at 19½ per cent If any fee is to be at all levied it should in all fairness be levied on this amount; but instead of this being done, the fee is levied on about 12 times the amount, as per calculation given below:—

"The fee is calculated not on the existing Municipal rate of taxation, but on the difference of the highest rate allowed by the law and the existing rate. Thus it will be seen that when the difference of valuation is only Rs. 1,000 the rate-payer will have to pay cost on Rs. 2,220. This, added to the risk of having to pay heavy costs to the Corporation in the event of the appeal being rejected, has practically precluded the rate-payers from seeking relief in a Court of law. I would earnestly appeal to Your Honour to abolish the Court-fee or at any rate to reduce it to a reasonable limit.

"Loans.—The interest on Loan advances made to cultivators and public bodies and other persons, accounts for the receipt of Rs. 4,80,000, the bulk of which is realized from the Municipalities, the District Boards and the cultivators. The principal of this loan is lent by the Government of India to the Local Government at an interest of 3½ per cent. and this sum is lent to the Municipalities at 4 per cent. and to cultivators at much higher rates. May I not appeal to Your Honour to reduce the interest to 3½ per cent. and thus relieve the local bodies and cultivators whom the Government, as the protector of the people, help in time of need. Considering the difficulties which local bodies have to encounter in meeting their growing expenditure out of the limited means at their disposal, such a reduction would be an act of generosity on the part of the Government which will be highly appreciated by my countrymen.

"Speaking on the subject of Loans, I cannot shut my eyes to the recent order of the Government of India fettering the hands of the Corporation by directing that no Municipal Loan is to be raised in the market till the Imperial Government has obtained all the money it requires. This is highly unfair to the local bodies and disadvantageous to the rate-payers. Ordinarily, it takes 2 months and-a-half to obtain the sanction of the Government to raise a loan, and if the Government postpone the issue of a Corporation loan to such time as suits their own convenience it would be most prejudicial to the interests of the Corporation. The Government should not forget that the municipalities and local bodies are but parts of the whole administrative machinery and that they are doing in a small way what the Government is doing on a much larger scale. I hope Your Honour will be pleased to safeguard the interests of the Corporation and other local bodies.

"Income-tax.—The Income-tax, notwithstanding the raising of the minimum limit from Rs. 500 to Rs. 1,000 a year, has brought an increase of revenue, from Rs. 46,43,405, the rise being in 1905-06, to Rs. 48,40,000 in 1906-1907. For 1907-1908, the figures have been fixed at Rs. 50,80,000, of which the receipts from Calcutta and its Suburbs amount to about Rs. 30,00,000. Direct taxation is always hateful to the people and the Income-tax being an inquisitorial tax is odious alike to the Europeans and Indians. But there can be nothing more odious to the people of this country than the imposition of Income-tax on residential houses which absolutely bring no income. If a clerk or a shop-keeper earns Rs. 50 a month and if he happens to possesss an ancestral dwelling house, which is assessed by the Municipality at Rs. 700 per annum, his earnings and the valuation of his ancestral dwelling-house are added together and the Income-tax is calculated on that total and is imposed on him.

"The Income-tax was levied, as Your Honour knows, as a temporary measure to meet the urgent needs of the State and a distinct pledge was given at the time of its imposition that it would be withdrawn as soon as the state of finance would permit. Unhappily for us, the pledge has not been redeemed and the tax to-day presses very heavily upon the middle class who can scarcely in these hard times make two ends meet. May I not appeal to Your Honour to exercise your influence with the Government of India to raise the minimum limit to at least Rs. 2,000 a year and to exempt the bonâ fide residential houses from the operation of the tax? Your Honour is no doubt aware of the attachment of the people of Bengal to their ancestral dwelling houses which are worshipped as bastu vhitas and to which they cling even though smitten with poverty. To impose an Income-tax upon such unproductive holdings is not only hard, but unfair. An Income-tax is a tax on income, and it ought not to be imposed on Capital sunk in a residential house any more than on money sunk in books, furniture, ornaments or clothing.

"I now come to the expenditure side of the Budget.

"There is a saving of over three lakhs of rupees in the last year's Budget due to the non-utilization of the full grant for additional Deputy Magistrates and their establishments, and of the grant for the increase of pay of the ministerial establishment. Thanks to the generosity of the Government, the hard-worked and ill-paid ministerial staff had some consideration shown to them. But it is a matter of deep regret that owing to the delay in giving effect to the proposal of the Salaries Commission the grant could not be utilized. I appeal to Your Honour's generosity to give retrospective effect to the proposal for increase.

"Stipendiary and Honorary Presidency Magistrates.—I find provision has been made in the Budget for a Fourth Presidency Magistrate. Formerly there were two Stipendiary Magistrates who, with the Honorary Magistrates, disposed of all Police and Municipal cases. During recent years, a third Stipendiary Magistrate has been added, and it is again proposed to add a fourth in spite of the reduction in the number of cases owing to the establishment of a Municipal Court. It is worthy of note that the total number of cases before the Bench Magistrates was 6,185 in 1903, but since the addition of a third Magistrate in the latter part of December of that year the number of cases fell off to 1,217 in 1904. Now that it is contemplated to appoint a permanent fourth

Magistrate, the cases before the Bench Magistrates will necessarily be considerably reduced. There are no fewer than 86 Honorary Presidency Magistrates, and I believe the object of Government in appointing worthy citizens to the Honorary Bench is not only to economize expenditure but to allow them a legitimate share in the administration of justice in their own city and in the trial of their own countrymen. I am afraid that that laudable object is liable to be frustrated by the multiplication of Stipendiary Magistrates. I may be permitted to observe that much distrust and misunderstanding may be avoided by making the Honorary Presidency Magistrates more largely participate in the administration of justice rather than transforming them into so many ornamental figure-heads.

"Municipal Magistrate.—As regards the Municipal Magistrate's Court, I believe Your Honour is aware that no Court in the Metropolis of the British Empire is more unpopular than this Court. I do not in the least exaggerate when I say that rightly or wrongly the people believe that they cannot expect in this Court that independent administration of justice which is the proud privilege of the meanest of British subjects. It may be due to the peculiar constitution of the Court. It is well known that in every case before it the Chairman of the Corporation is the prosecutor, and rightly or wrongly it is believed that the Magistrate who owes his appointment to his recommendation cannot act generally with independence. It is also a noteworthy fact that the fines realized in this Court generally exceed the estimated receipts under this head in the Municipal Budget and this is a matter which is commented upon both in and out of the Municipality. It has been humourously described by some as a Revenue Department of the Corporation. Some of the cases which came up for revision in the High Court elicited trenchant remarks from the Hon'ble Judges, which were not calculated to raise the Municipal Court in public estimation. Quite recently, as Your Honour is aware, a great hue and cry was raised that the Municipal Magistrate should look for advancement to the influence and patronage of the Chairman of the Corporation. Considering all these circumstances, I would beg leave to suggest that the Municipal Court may be abolished and that the Municipal cases may be tried by the Presidency Magistrates in the Police Court, and I am sure this act of Your Honour will inspire confidence in the administration of justice in Municipal cases.

"Police Charges.—As regards the Police, the allotment for District Police Officers has been raised from Rs. 3,90,000 to Rs. 4,90,000, while that for the Subordinate Police Force has been raised from Rs. 27,30,000 to Rs. 30,84,000, i.e., an increase of 25·64 per cent. in the case of District Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents and 12·96 per cent. in the case of Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, Head-Constables and Constables. Great was the expectation of the public when the Police Commission was appointed. The Police, which, in one sense, ought to be a source of strength to the people and the Government, has unfortunately been a source of discontent to the people. The corruption and oppression of the Police have not a little contributed to this discontent, but it can hardly be expected that the meagre increase of salaries of the subordinate ranks of the Police would lead to any effective reform. Further, the difference in the percentages is so striking that when it is remembered that the higher ranks of the Police service are mostly recruited from persons of European descent and the lower ranks from pure Indians, it is possible that the inference may unhappily be drawn that it is due to considerations of race and creed.

"Police Court Building.—A provision of rupees one lakh has been made in the Budget for Calcutta Police Buildings, but no provision has been made for additions and alterations of the Police Court Building. The existing building is quite unsuited to the requirements of the Court. It is ill-lighted and ill-ventilated, and the Court rooms, especially those of the Honorary Bench, have not sufficient light even in mid-day. People are so cramped and pressed for space that literally speaking there is hardly moving space when the Courts are all sitting. There is no waiting room for witnesses and suitors, and all are huddled together in the verandah, which is packed to its utmost capacity. In short, it is a most unhealthy and insanitary building, quite unworthy of the City. I am sure the necessity of re-modelling the Police Court building is recognized by Your Honour, and that in the course of the year the matter will be taken up and a scheme matured so that the necessary provision may be made in the next Budget.

"Presidency College.—I do not wish to take much time by dwelling on the question of Education which I leave to my learned and distinguished colleague the Member for the University.

"I wish to make a few observations on the improvement of the Presidency College, for which Rs. 46,000 have been allotted this year. The question is, whether the College is to be improved in situ or to be transferred to a new site. As far as the costs of the two schemes are concerned, they are roughly estimated to be the same, namely Rs. 20 lakhs. A very large section of the community are strongly of opinion that the College should be retained in its present site and that it should be expanded by the acquisition of land in its neighbourhood. This will have a double effect. In the first place, it will be within easy reach of students residing with their parents or guardians in the Indian section of the town and it will be in close proximity to the University and other Educational Institutions. In the second place, the acquisition of land in the vicinity will remove a large insanitary area in one of the most congested wards in the town.

"Technical School.—A lump sum of Rs. 35,000 has only been allowed for Technical Education. I feel constrained to say that the grant is not adequate for the growing needs of the country. The salvation of the country depends to a great extent upon the diffusion of Technical Education among the masses. There ought to be Polytechnic Institutions in every important district and centre. True it is that certain additions in this respect have been made to the Sibpore Engineering College, but that College being in an out-of-the-way place, even the people of Calcutta cannot fully avail themselves of its benefits. Calcutta ought to have a Model Technical College within easy reach of its inhabitants.

"In this connection, I desire to draw the attention of Your Honour to the training of artisans and handicraftsmen who have a large field before them. The struggle for existence is keen amongst my countrymen. The clerical appointments are not sufficient for the growing population of the country, the emoluments are too small to meet even the bare necessaries of life. I cannot, therefore, lay too great a stress on the urgency of establishing institutions for imparting practical training in artisanship and handicraft, as is done, though on a small scale, in the Reformatory School for juvenile offenders. Encouragement should be given for the admission of apprentices to the dock-yards, telegraph works and work-shops. Much may be done in this direction if the Engineering Firms could be persuaded to kindly admit into their work-shops Indian youths as apprentices. A very good impetus may be given to this education by the Chairman of the Corporation throwing open the Municipal Workshops to Indian apprentices. The Port Commissioners may also lend their help in this direction. I cannot allow the occasion to pass without referring to the useful work that is being done at the Oxford Mission Industrial School at Ballyganj and at the Technical School established by Messrs. Labchand and Motichand in their Marble House and the Bengal Technical Institute, founded by some of my countrymen, foremost amongst whom stands Mr. T. Palit.

"Free Primary Education.—Sir, the news that the Government of India contemplate to make suitable and requisite assignment for the extension of free Primary Education, has been received with great satisfaction. If any portion of the assignment made to the Government of Bengal is allotted to Calcutta, I pray that the management of the grant be entrusted to the Corporation in the same way as the District Boards and the Municipalities in the Muffassal.

"I need hardly say that the Calcutta Municipality by virtue of its local knowledge will be in a better position to promote the diffusion of Primary Education than any other agency, and that such an arrangement will be welcomed by the people. I am sure, in this matter, I have the support of my hon'ble friend, Mr. Allen.

"High price of Rice.—I am glad that my interpellations as regards the high price of rice and the replies of Your Honour's Government attracted the attention of the Hon'ble the Finance Minister, and he admitted from his seat in the Imperial Council that the poor bhadraloge were the principal sufferers. I regret to observe that the poor bhadraloges constitute a considerable element of the population of Bengal. I am glad to learn from the replies of the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle that Your Honour's Government is aware of the marked rise in prices and is making inquiries to ascertain the cause of the rise. The price was never so high for such a length of time and it seems that in future the high prices will be the chronic condition.

"I might also tell Your Honour that not only the price of rice but also the price of every article of food-stuff has had an unprecedented rise which adds to the misery of the people. They are now in a state of suspense and anxiety for the outturn of the next monsoon harvest and they shudder to contemplate what is in store for them, should the next monsoon prove unfavourable. A solemn and serious responsibility rests with the Government to take timely steps to save the people from the grip of starvation which is looming in the not distant future. I am grateful that Your Honour is alive to the gravity of the situation. I hope the Government will lose no time in publishing the result of their inquiries to allay the public anxiety. I can assure Your Honour of the co-operation of the Public with your Government in the matter. On the initiation of the conductors of the 'Bangabashi' newspaper a very useful Committee has already been formed, with His Highness the Maharajah of Darbhanga as President, to ascertain the causes of the rise and to suggest remedial measures. I have no doubt this Committee will be able to furnish useful information to your Government.

"I take this opportunity to make a suggestion as regards grain compensation allowance. Last year grain compensation was allowed to all whole-time servants of Government on Rs. 30 and less. Never in the history of Bengal the cost of living has been so high as now. The Port Commissioners have allowed grain compensation to all their employees drawing salaries below Rs. 50 a month. It would be an act of kindness on Your Honour's part if Your Honour is graciously pleased to similarly extend the allowance to persons drawing Rs. 50 and less a month in the service of Government.

"The City Improvement.—I cannot allow this occasion to pass without referring to the City Improvement Scheme. The Public have learnt that an official Conference has lately been held in which the financial part of the scheme has been greatly re-modelled. I am sorry to observe that the representatives of the people were not taken into confidence in that Conference, so as to enable Your Honour to judge the question from every aspect. The public are anxiously looking forward for any information which Your Honour may be pleased to vouchsafe on the subject.

"The question of ways and means is agitating the public mind at the present moment. It is well known that the burden which has been imposed upon the Corporation of Calcutta and which is steadily increasing with the growing Municipal needs of the town is already too much for them. With an increasing revenue they are still unable to maintain an equilibrium in their finance. The current year's Budget shows an income of Rs. 74,00,000 and an expenditure of Rs. 76,49,000, and this deficit of Rs. 2,49,000 has been met by drawing upon the accumulated opening balance which has this year dwindled almost to a vanishing point. With the continually increasing cost of living in Calcutta which is complained of both by Europeans and Indians and also with the continually increasing assessment, any further increase in the rates of the City will be a disaster to the people. Sir, overtaxation is the seed of discontent. However strong may be the sympathy of our Rulers, however anxious they may be to bring about a better understanding between themselves and those under their rule, all their endeavours will be fruitless, when people groan under taxation and curse their fate in utter helplessness.

"The structural defect of the town, as has been amply shewn in Mr. Justice Trevelyan's Report, is a legacy made over to the Corporation of Calcutta by Government who neglected to remedy it when it could have been easily done at a nominal cost. The Corporation have done unaided all that they could do. Since the administration of Calcutta was made over to them in 1862, hundreds of lakhs have been spent on the improvement of the City. Numerous roads have been opened out and any one who had seen Calcutta 50 or even 20 years ago cannot recognize it now. The rapid strides of improvement would have continued had it not been for the amalgamation of the Suburbs with Calcutta in 1889. More than a hundred lakhs have been devoted to the improvement of the amalgamated area and several lakhs have still to be spent both on the Suburbs and the fringe area. This has crippled the resources of the Corporation and the structural improvements have not therefore proceeded at the same rapid pace as before.

"Further, the new law has imposed upon the Corporation the continuous Water-supply system. The water-supply is notoriously defective. The continuous supply which should have been completed within the statutory period of five years, is yet far from being completed, though we are now at the end of the seventh year. While the City is clamouring for water we are compelled to give away water to the outside Municipalities. All this has necessitated a new scheme for additional water-supply, which will cost another 50 lakhs. These and several other important works, which are too numerous to enumerate, will entail the imposition of additional burdens upon the rate-payers, and I am afraid that any further addition to the burden on account of the City Improvement Scheme will be the last straw to break the camel's back. This question was carefully considered by the Trevelyan Commission and they observed:—

'House owners in Calcutta have to bear taxation out of proportion to the burdens which are placed upon the shoulders of owners of other classes of property.'

"They accordingly recommended the imposition of a Jute-tax at one anna per maund on jute exported from Calcutta and used in the neighbouring Mills which they calculated would produce about 16 lakhs a year. They also observed that 'much might be done if the Government made over to the Corporation a substantial portion of Canal Dues and Excise Revenue levied in Calcutta.' The London County Council gets a substantial contribution from the English Exchequer. The Bombay Municipality receives the Excise Revenue from the Government. May not the rate-payers of Calcutta appeal to Your Honour for a similar annual contribution for the improvement of the City which is the seat not only of the Imperial, but also of the Provincial, Government? I find Your Honour has granted in this year's Budget half a lakh to the Darjeeling Municipality, the summer seat of Your Honour's Government. May not a similar favour in proportion to its needs and importance be shown to the City which is the capital seat of Your Honour's Government?

"Decentralization.—Year before last Your Honour was pleased to state in the Council that you were considering the question of decentralization of Municipal Corporation work in Calcutta. You were pleased to admit that the work was enormous and a great deal of local agency was lost by endeavouring to do the work by the central authority only. Your Honour further announced that you had appointed a representative Committee to consider the matter and that on the receipt of the report of the Committee you would deal with the matter promptly. Two years have passed since Your Honour made the pronouncement and we are yet in the dark as to the report of the Committee and the intention of the Government on the subject.

"Your Honour is aware that about a year ago the District Committees were formed and that it has been held by high authorities that they are illegal. Mr. Greer, while in this Council, stated that legislation would be necessary to give effect to his scheme of decentralization. But nothing has been done in that direction and the District Committees continue without being vested with any legal authority. I, for my part, recognize the usefulness of the District Committee. Divested, as the present Corporation is, of much of its representative character, it cannot be expected to be cognizant of the wants and wishes of the rate-payers and the urgent local necessities of districts as the District Commissioners sitting within their own districts and discussing matters among themselves. The requirements of a district are better discussed and threshed out in the District Committee with the Executive Head of the District in their midst than in a big Corporation meeting where local questions attract little or no attention. Unfortunately, the District Committees have no legal status and have no functions defined by law, and it is my experience that the General Committee refuse to recognize the deliberations of the District Committees as they are not appointed by them.

"In the absence of any legal status, the deliberations of the District Committees are confined to such matters as the Chairman may choose to commit to them from time to time; in fact they practically exist on the sufferance of the Chairman. The usefulness of the District Committees is not therefore fully brought into play, and the local experience of Ward Commissioners cannot therefore be utilized to the fullest extent. Such a state of things cannot conduce to efficient administration.

"In this connection, I cannot help mentioning that the constitution of the General Committee is such that the elected Commissioners are in a perpetual minority. Of the 50 Commissioners who constitute the Corporation, one-half is elected by the rate-payers and it is but fair and just that the General Committee should be so formed that at least half the members should be representatives of the elected Commissioners. As at present constituted, out of 12 members of the General Committee, the proportion of Commissioners elected by the rate-payers to the other half is 4 to 8 excluding the official Chairman, who is also the Chairman of the General Committee. Such a constitution cannot fail to be unsatisfactory, and I am sure Your Honour will recognize it. I confidently hope, in view of the declared wishes of the Government of the day, that an advance will be made on the lines of greater expansion of representative Government, and that this anomaly will be soon removed and greater trust will be imposed upon the people, which is the surest way to inspire confidence in the intentions of Government.

"River-side Roads, Ghâts and Landing-stages.—While speaking on the affairs of the City, I deem it my duty to bring to Your Honour's notice the grievances of the public in the matter of ghâts and landing-stages and roads in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, to the north of the Hooghly Bridge. The Strand Bank Roads are in a broken condition, full of ruts, holes and depressions. The space just below the ghâts has silted up, and at ebb-tide the bathers tumble over the pitfalls and hollows and heaps on the river bank. The landings for dinghy passengers are broken, and a portion of Strand Bank Road on the north has sunk and is in a dangerous condition. The Government has delegated its function for the preservation and maintenance of ghâts, landing-stages and roads, on the river side, to the Port Commissioners. May I crave Your Honour to move the Port Commissioners to take necessary steps to remove the grievances complained of.

"Malarious Tracts.—Year after year, Hon'ble Members representing the different constituencies have dwelt upon the unhealthy condition of the towns and villages of Bengal. Outside Calcutta people are smitten down by malaria and cholera, which not only levy a heavy yearly tribute upon the population but have debilitated the constitution of the people of Bengal. Enlarged livers and spleens and anæmic bodies are common sights outside the boundaries of Calcutta. Some of the fairest and most flourishing districts of Bengal have been laid low by the ravages of cholera and fever within the life time of a generation. A moral responsibility rests upon the Government to save the lives of the people. Just as the Government rears up an efficient Army and Navy for the protection of the people, so it is the bounden duty of the Government to whom Providence has committed our destinies, to take measures for the eradication of those insanitary conditions which conduce to enfeeble and to enervate and even to exterminate the population.

"It is commonly believed that the obstruction or diversion of the natural drainage of the country and the silting up of the rivers and channels of the Gangetic Delta leading to the gradual obliteration of the sources of pure water-supply are the fruitful causes of malaria and cholera. The congestion of Calcutta is due to the influx of population into the City owing to the dread of malaria and cholera outside. I understand Government have appointed a Commission to consider and report upon the causes of Malaria in the Presidency Division to suggest means for its prevention. We are all awaiting the Report in great expectation of vigorous steps being taken to rid the outskirts of Calcutta of the scourge.

"Health Resorts.—I am grateful to acknowledge that Your Honour takes a personal interest in the matter of establishing health resorts for the people. Large sums of money have been spent on Frasergunge, but owing to several difficulties it cannot be conveniently availed of by my countrymen. Diamond Harbour is a healthy place where my wearied and jaded countrymen after a week's hard toil can easily repair for relaxation and invigoration. It is a khasmahal property and Government can easily improve it for utilization as building sites. I am sure, the Hon'ble Mr. Collin will extend his sympathetic help in the matter and I appeal to Your Honour, in the name of my countrymen, to make a grant for the improvement of Diamond Harbour, which will serve the same purpose to Indians as Frasergunge to Europeans. The grateful thanks of the Hindu community, not only of Bengal but of the whole of India are due to Your Honour for the grant of Rs. 75,000 for the improvement of drainage of that ancient and venerated place of pilgrimage, Puri. I hope the grant will be continued till the improvement of drainage and water-supply of that town, which is now also a health resort of the Europeans, is completed."

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I regret that, owing to illness, the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram is unable to attend and to deliver his own speech; but he has requested that it should be laid on the table. This has been done; and copies of it are in the hands of Hon'ble Members."

The Hon'ble MR. BERTRAM said:—"Your Honour, I am sorry that under section 2 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, and the Rules of the 7th February, 1893, made thereunder, the Members of the Council are not permitted to propose a Resolution or divide the Council in respect of any discussion on the Financial Statement, nor, under rule 5, is it permissible to enter upon a criticism of Imperial Finance. Perhaps this unfortunate state of things, which robs the debate in this Council of all semblance of active life in a matter of such vital importance as the Provincial Budget, may yet be altered in consequence of the proposals drafted by the Council of His Excellency the Governor General and which, one learns from the public press, are now under the consideration of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State.

"I ask, what has Government to lose by a full and free discussion of its measures and methods. In this Council there is an official majority, and in case of a tie Your Honour has a casting vote, and for a non-official Member to carry a resolution or an amendment to the Budget, he must indeed have a very strong case to put forward. Our privilege, or, I might perhaps more properly put it, our duty is 'to make observations,' and our role therefore is to be critics, though not necessarily hostile or unfriendly critics, of Government. It is in this spirit I propose to criticise the Statement the Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh has laid on the table.

"I see from the Statement laid before us that the settlement effected with the Government of India as the result of the Partition of Bengal was based on a revenue of Rs. 4,67,01,000 to which the Supreme Government added Rs. 7,39,000 as a fixed assignment to meet a total Provincial expenditure of Rs. 4,74,40,000.

"The year 1907-08 is expected to show an improvement of Rs. 31,28,000 on the normal revenue, or say 6¾ °/o, which appears satisfactory, and makes it clear that Bengal is not a poverty-stricken Province.

"The net amount available for expenditure is shown as Rs. 5,41,42,000, of which it is proposed to spend Rs. 53,68,600, leaving Rs. 4,56,000 still available for allotment in excess of the minimum working balance and the money ear-marked for the Calcutta Improvement Trust.

"Investment of Surplus Funds.—I would like to point out a new source of Revenue to Government, should Your Honour care to pursue it. If the net opening balance of Rs. 41,14,000, which includes the minimum working balance of Rs. 20,00,000, together with any surplus monies at the credit of Government, which cannot immediately or at an early date be applied to the purposes set forth in the Budget, say the following sums in particular:—

		Rs.
Sunderbans Reclamation	...	1,50,000
Steamer for Commissioner of Sunderbans	...	50,000
Survey of Sunderbans	...	90,000
Steamer for Forest Department ...	...	8,000
Acquisition of land for extension of Jails	...	28,000
Second Cruiser for Sandheads ...	...	4,00,000
Steam-launch to replace the launch Florence	...	13,000
Buildings for Guru training School ...	...	95,000
Civil Works in charge of P. W. D. ...	...	18,47,000
Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers ...	...	4,57,000
Irrigation Minor Works	...	3,27,000
or a total of Rs.	...	34,65,000
or say in all a sum of	...	75,79,000

was deposited at interest in the Bank of Bengal on short Loan, say at 14 days' notice, or invested in the same way as the funds of the Corporation of Calcutta are under section 119 (2) of Bengal Act III of 1899; Government might benefit considerably and probably earn two or three lakhs, at least, yearly as interest and this would be absolutely 'found money.' I throw out the suggestion for what it may be worth. If Government advice is good for the Corporation of Calcutta, it naturally follows it is good for the prescribing authority. Rupees 2 or 3 lakhs cannot be called a trifle even to a wealthy overnment like the Government of India, let alone to the Government of Bengal.

"The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh may tell me again (as he has already told me Gin his office) that Government does not do these things, but my reply to him is, that it is not wise to persist in folly and to carelessly throw away opportunities to administer the public funds to the best advantage. At the present time the unemployed funds of Government might be earning probably 7 per cent. on short deposit. In passing, perhaps, I may be permitted to refer to the recently published accounts of the Victoria Memorial Fund, to show what can be done in the way of earning interest on Surplus Funds.

"Revenue.—I would like here to draw attention to one or two items on the Revenue side of the Provincial Ledger.

"Excise.—It is with much regret I see the increase of Rs. 3,60,000 in the Excise receipts over the previous year. The continued raising of duties and the pressure on the part of the Excise authorities to show more revenue must mean that bad liquor is vended at the grog-shops. If people must have strong drink, better that it should be good and wholesome, even if Government gets less duty. The policy of Government to stop drinking by raising duties is, in my opinion, a vicious one. Better far to shut up half the grog-shops in Bengal, if Government is honestly determined to make people sober by 'Act of Parliament.' Their action would then be applauded by the country. Later on, half the remaining grog-shops could be closed. The average man does not drink strong liquor wantonly. If a grog-shop is near, he will go to it, but I suppose in this country at least men will not go 3 or 4 miles for a glass of liquid poison. My constituents who are interested in Coal tell me the grog-shops are the curse of the Coal districts. I am glad to say I am heartily in sympathy with the Calcutta Temperance Federation, and hope that Government will hand over the licensing of drink shops in Calcutta to the Corporation as the Local Licensing Authority.

"Forests.—Then there is the important subject of Forest Revenue. It is generally believed in non-official circles that if a more vigorous policy on commercial lines was pursued by the Forest Department better results would accrue from sales of timber and forest produce. No doubt this important subject has Your Honour's constant attention.

"Jail Manufactures.—Show an increase in estimated receipts of Rs. 21,000. It is to be hoped this is not caused by undue and unfair competition with private enterprise.

"Hospitals.—I now turn to the expenditure side of the Provincial Budget for 1907-08 and congratulate Your Honour's Government on the generous provision made for Hospitals. I notice it is proposed to spend during the year the following sums on the three great hospitals of Calcutta:—

		Rs.
Medical College	... ...	4,56,000
Campbell Hospital	... ...	2,45,000
General Hospital	... ...	1,00,000
	or altogether ...	8,01,000

"Port Hospital Dues.—I am sorry to say complaints had been made by the shipping that European sailors cannot get accommodation readily at the Presidency General Hospital, notwithstanding that they have a preferential right by virtue of their employers paying Port Hospital Dues. To obviate this in future, I venture to suggest that a special block be built for sailors (with private rooms for officers) and be maintained entirely at the cost of the Port Hospital Dues Fund, the proceeds of which are specifically ear-marked for the benefit of European sailors. Owners of vessels visiting this Port have to pay these dues, and are desirous that full use should be made of their money, so far as allowed by law. I would here mention that sick officers have to be paid for separately, though the vessels on which they are employed have already paid Hospital Dues.

"The Mayo Hospital and Howrah Hospital also have claims on ship-owners. While the last-mentioned gets a grant, I understand the first-named gets nothing from the Fund, and I would suggest that the Port Act be amended so that the Lieutenant-Governor can give to Hospitals treating sick lascars the benefit of the Port Hospital Dues, as so many of the vessels in the Calcutta foreign trade carry lascar crews and the men are not all residents of Calcutta, or of Bengal for the matter of that.

"While on the subject of the Hospital Dues, I again put forward the demand that interest be allowed on the funds in the hands of Government, as it is trust money and not a portion of the General Revenue of the Province.

"Houses for Officials.—I am sure we are all glad to see that the superior Officers of Government in Calcutta and Howrah are to have houses provided for them, but what is to be done for the inferior, though no less hardworking, servants of the public? On them the burden of the high rents ruling in Calcutta and Howrah presses with greater severity.

"Plassey Obelisk.—I am sorry I cannot approve of the proposed expenditure of Rs. 25,000 in providing an Obelisk at the 'Plassey' battlefield. This might well be cut out with advantage. It is not politic, I think, to signalize this one battlefield for special distinction, especially at the present time, above all others. No Obelisk is needed to record the battle. History is a sufficient record, and if it has taken 150 years to evolve the idea of an Obelisk, it shows that our predecessors in Bengal did not consider such a thing needful.

"Pilot Cruiser.—The Pilot steamer Fraser is again off her station, and my constituents, therefore, appreciate the provision for the second Pilot cruiser for the Sandheads, and every effort should be made to get it on its station as early as possible. The periodical removal of the Fraser causes great inconvenience to shipping, especially as the advantages of wireless telegraphy with the Sandheads are felt by the community as a real step in advance.

"Agricultural College.—The provision of an Agricultural College at Bhagulpur is no doubt a wise measure, and also the extension of the Veterinary Institutes at Belgatchia is necessary, but it is much to be regretted that no provision is made for the establishment of model farms in various parts of Bengal, say for fruit in Behar or dairy and grass farms near Calcutta or in Jessore, where an improved class of cattle could be evolved from the local type. It is the indigenous animal we want improved. The Allahabad results show what can be done with Country cattle.

"Agricultural Department.—I venture to congratulate the Agricultural Department of Bengal on the very excellent work done for the period of 15 months from 1st April, 1905, to 30th June, 1906, as detailed in the last report of the Department.

"The results brought out by the use of bone meal and saltpetre as manure for paddy are marvellous, and the results of the cultivation of jute and paddy as successive crops on the same land open up vast possibilities for the ryot of Bengal.

"Government cannot spend too much money on pushing their experimental farms. It is a truism to say that the prosperity of the agriculturist is the test of the prosperity of the Province. In improved agriculture is bound up the well-being of the whole community. The examples of all progressive countries cannot be neglected in Bengal. The soil lends itself to kind cultivation and will give a bounteous return to good treatment. The country looks with confidence to Government to do all in its power to aid the agricultural development of the Province. There is a good market for every maund of produce raised in Bengal, and the need of increasing the outturn of food-grains is patent to the most casual observer.

"In connection with raising the material well-being of the ryot, I would press earnestly on Government the necessity of granting loans to cultivator at moderate rates of interest, and I look forward to the day when there will be a great Agricultural Bank with Government capital invested in it. Bengal is years behind Egypt in this respect.

"Roads.—Allied with agriculture is the subject of roads, and I venture to suggest that the contributions to District Boards for the upkeep of main roads in the Mufussal might be on a more liberal scale, and that special grants might also be made for the construction of new roads, as I understand that in many places the opening up of the country, bordering on newly-constructed lines of railway, is being hindered by the want of suitable roads giving access to the railway station.

"Water-works.—The proposed allotments in aid of sundry Water-works in the larger Provincial towns are to be commended: good potable water isa necessity of life. While on the subject of water, I think Government might in future years devote funds to assist Union Committees in sinking artesian wells in villages, so as to strike perennial water. Small villages cannot afford Water-works, but artesian wells are cheap and, if systematically exploited, the benefit to the people would be incalculable.

"Government has only to turn to Australia to see what can be done by the aid of artesian wells in the way of providing drinking-water and water for irrigation. The terrible outbreaks of cholera in the Mufussal are all to be attributed to people drinking foul or stagnant water. In many places they can get nothing else, and surely Government will do all in its power to keep its people alive and healthy.

"Police.—It is satisfactory to find that Government is doing something for the Police, who, generally [illegible] are an under-paid but hard-working body of men—good pay usually [illegible] good men, which makes for good service. The public will watch the Police reform with real interest. The entry in the Budget of Rs. 25,000 for 'House allowance and Local allowance of Personal Assistant to Inspector-General and Deputy Inspector-General of Police and of other officers of the Criminal Investigation Department' is a lot of money and wants some explanation.

"Monuments and Antiquities.—Out of the grant for Monuments and Antiquities I hope some small sum will be spared to thoroughly renovate the marbles, brasses and historical tombs in St. John's Church, Calcutta, and in this connection perhaps His Excellency the Viceroy will supply a new bust of his ancestor, the Governor-General, to take the place of the bust which fell down and and was broken to pieces in the earthquake of 1897. It was under the first Earl of Minto, that the Church was enlarged and re-opened for Divine worship.

"I fear I have taken up the time of the Council for an undue length of time, but the Budget discussion is the one opportunity we have during the year to bring 'burning subjects' prominently to the notice of Government. I will now, therefore, turn to a few subjects that Government might deal with generously during the coming year.

"Fish.—We have to thank Your Honour for the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta's fish inquiry, for the further prosecution of which Rs. 50,000 have been allotted. We look for great eventual results from that inquiry, and I ask Your Honour to see that energetic and sustained progress is made in opening up, in particular, the valuable fisheries on the sea face of Bengal and Orissa. We want Your Honour's Government to emulate the Government of the United States of America and be 'aggressive' in your methods and to start works for dealing with fish and its various by-products, so that in time valuable trades can be worked up.

"The jute industry of Bengal can take thousands of maunds of 'Swadeshi' fish oil for batching. Japan finds it profitable to catch herrings and export the oil therefrom to India, for use in our jute mills. Private enterprise in Bengal in this business is non-existent. Following the example of other enlightened Governments, Your Honour's Government might show the way here. The residue after the oil is extracted would form a valuable manure, and would no doubt find ready buyers all over the country.

"In connection with fish, is it too much to expect that Your Honour will press the Eastern Bengal State Railway to equip their line with some properly insulated wagons to bring down the valuable fish caught at Goalundo and Diamond Harbour? At present, hundreds of maunds of magnificent fish have to be thrown away as unfit for human consumption, owing to inadequate means of bringing it fresh to market.

"Tigers.—Another subject I desire to bring to Your Honour's notice today is the unbusiness-like way of getting rid of 'man-eating' tigers in Bengal. It seems that till quite a number of people are killed, no real interest is taken in the matter by the local authorities. Quite recently a 'man-eating' tiger roamed the Kodarma Reserved Forest, and during two years some 52 people, I understand, were disposed of, without counting cattle. Eventually a large reward was offered, and a man on the East Indian Railway killed the scourge of the district. But what I want to know is this. Is it not the duty of the Police (or the Magistrate, who is the Head of the Police) to take steps to exterminate any tiger, or leopard, who is known to have killed a human being, and not wait till a number of people are killed before working up a reward to encourage a 'shikari' to try his luck? I should think the most sensible way is to offer the maximum reward at once immediately the existence of the objectionable brute is known.

"If a human murderer were at large, the whole strength of the Police would be interested in tracking him down. I ask for this policy to be pursued in the case of a 'man-eating' tiger, and I trust Your Honour will give the matter some little attention during the official year, which is now young. Force is given to what I have said by what was written in the 'Indian Forester' for January, 1907:—

'MAN EATING SCOURGES.

'The "Indian Forester" for January has an article on the mortality from wild animal in India which contains a number of valuable suggestions regarding the best means for waging war on man-eating tigers and leopards. Apart from the interest the subject will necessarily have for sportsmen, it is, we think, one of sufficient importance to receive the closer attention of Government. In the last Resolution issued by the Government of India, the number of people reported as having been killed by tigers and leopards was 786 and 401, respectively. This heavy mortality was, there can be no doubt, in a great measure due to the amount of rope given to animals which were known to have acquired a taste for human flesh, the only steps taken by the autorities to rid affected districts of these scourrges being to issue special licenses to 'shikaries' for their destruction, with what success may be gathered from the fact that in the Mandla district of the Central Provinces twenty-six such licenses were issued during the year to forest officials and police constables for the destruction of carnivora with a net result of two wounded tigers.—C and M Gazette.'

"Provincial Finance.—Though the Members of this Council are precluded from criticising Imperial Finance, we are not prevented from discussing Provincial Finance. It seems to me we should not be indebted to the Government of India for all our needs, if a proper system of decentralized finance were introduced.

"This Province has many wants which can only be supplied at great first cost or after great delay for want of funds, and consequently projects, good in themselves, are unnecessarily and indefinitely postponed and the Province suffers. Cannot Your Honour approach the Government of India with a proposal to be allowed to raise Local or Provincial loans with an Imperial guarantee, if necessary, and to be paid off by a Sinking Fund? These would not add permanently to the indebtedness of the country. In this connection, might I venture to draw Your Honour's attention to section 138 (3) of Bengal Act III of 1899, which to my mind is peculiarly suited to Provincial loans, and is on quite up-to-date lines?

"Tolly's Nullah Canal.—There is the project of the new Tolly's Nullah Canalization Scheme which is still under reference backwards and forwards, so one understands, between the Governments of India and Bengal—and apparently 'want of funds' stands in the way of progress. Surely the various Governments concerned, that is India, Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam, do not want to be told times out of number that it is a project of first rate importance to the commerce of the two Bengals and Assam, and should be vigorously pushed on without further procrastination and delay. If the Governments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam had the power to raise loans, the direct aid of the Government of India would not be required.

"In consequence of the shilly-shally policy about this Canal, Your Honour's Public Works Department do little or nothing to keep Tolly's Nullah open for regular navigation, even for the smallest boats. The merchants of Chetla are bitter in their complaints, and see no early amelioration of the present unsatisfactory state of things.

"Government and the Eastern Bengal State Railway.—One cannot think for a moment that, as the Government of India own the Eastern Bengal State Railway, their policy is to force merchants to use that railway and its connections and its southern branch in preference to sending their goods by boat. I would draw Your Honour's attention to the weighty remarks of the Chairman of the India General Navigation and Railway Co., delivered at the half-yearly meeting in London in May last, which perhaps you may have seen:—

The Hon'ble Mr. J. Chaudhuri, to whom I referred at our meeting last year, said the other day in the Legislative Council of Bengal: "I see no reason why we should not spend as much of our Provincial resources as may be available for the improvement of our waterways, instead of blocking them up in unprofitable brick and mortar. We should also ask the Government of India, so far as it is beyond our resources, to undertake the improvement of our waterways out of borrowed capital." This is a sentiment we may cordially subscribe to, as the good of the country is bound up with the development of our own special enterprise, which can only prosper in aiding the cause of more efficient and cheaper transport.'

"While referring to the question of minimum railway rates and the rivalry between Bombay and Calcutta for the trade lying in the interior between them, the Hon'ble Mr. Nimmo pointed out that Bengal was trying to recover business that had been seduced away from it over the railways to Bombay by questionable devices. It seems to me that the Hon'ble gentleman might show that there is a simple means by which Calcutta could draw a vast amount of freight to the Eastern side of the Continent and away from the Western. The natural routes to the East are the large rivers, and if only Government took seriously in hand the improvement of the channels of the Ganges, even if railway rates were left as they are, Calcutta would gain an enormous accession of trade by means of cheaper water carriage. Your fleet is being kept fully up to the mark, and the new vessels which have been added show better results than those which went before them, being larger carriers with comparatively cheaper working charge.

"Now, what are the means by which we can achieve this end, and maintain our river services against the constantly growing railway competition? It can be done, and can be done thoroughly, but there is only one way—we must be able to carry larger cargoes for the same, or even for less, money than we do now, and this can be achieved by loading our vessels deeper. We can load our vessels deeper only if we have the water to run them in. It is for this reason we have been doing our best to urge the Government of India to adopt the policy of other countries, not in our interest alone, but with it in the much wider interest of the whole community, which must gain an enormous advantage by the cheapening of carriage. From a narrow point of view, and at first sight, the cheapening of water carriage might be taken to mean a decrease in the earnings of the Railways, but in practice this has not been found to be the result, for cheapening of transport by whatever means attained, has invariably been accompanied by such largely increased development in all directions that every means of transport has prospered in consequence. It has been said that it is the last foot in the draft of a vessel that pays. And that is quite true. When I tell you that during a great portion of the year our vessels are unable to load full cargoes, you will imagine what that means! Could they load up a foot deeper, the whole of the extra freight carried would be profit after deduction of a small extra allowance for coal?

"There is another point where much can be done to help navigation, namely, the shortening of routes. I think we have shown the Government conclusively that the route between Calcutta and Goalundo by water can be easily shortened by 266 miles; between Calcutta and Narainganj and Cachar by 197 miles; and between Calcutta and the North-West by 425 miles: this can be done by the expenditure of a very moderate capital outlay, which would be highly remunerative to Government from the tolls they would receive—if, indeed, they were advised to take tolls at all for preserving and opening up the great natural water roads which the country possesses. I may add that I see in the Engineering Supplement of The Times an account of one large dredger which the Government of India have ordered from Messrs. William Simons & Co., of Renfrew. We understand that three such dredgers are going out, and we look forward with very great and pleasurable anticipation to the work they will perform in those rivers, not only to our benefit, but, as I say, to the benefit of the whole of the country.

"On behalf of the Commercial community of Bengal, both European and Indian, I ask Your Honour to vigorously support the demand for the canalization of Tolly's Nullah, and to see that the Government of India pushes on with the work.

"Railway Facilities, Sara Ghât and Wagons.—The perennial subjects of improved railway facilities, the Sara Ghat Bridge and the scarcity of wagons have been fully dealt with by the President of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar, C.S.I., in the Supreme Council, and I only refer to them here to say that the Province over which Your Honour rules is suffering grievous loss by all these drawbacks to trade.

"Damuda River Improvement.—A demand has been put forward that an alternative route is wanted for bringing down coal from the districts where it is raised. The Damuda river is said to offer facilities, if they are properly utilized. I suggest Your Honour takes up the canalization of this river as a Provincial work, for we cannot expect the Government of India to look with favour on such a project, as they own outright the East Indian Railway, and in due time will also become the proprietors of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. I refer Your Honour to what is being done in Belgium, France, Germany, Russia and the United States of America to cheapen transport by utilizing water communication to the utmost. Such a project, as I have ventured to outline, might be financed by a local loan floated in the manner I have already indicated

"Calcutta Improvement Trust.—There is one subject of absorbing interest to Calcutta, and we re all waiting to see the Calcutta Improvement Trust ushered into being. Can Your Honour yet take the public into your confidence? We shall know of the burdens imposed on the trade of the town and on the rate-payers of Calcutta quick enough. Can Your Honour tell us to-day when the necessary legislation to inaugurate the Trust will be introduced into this Council?"

The Hon'ble MR. SPINK said:—"Your Honour, it is a matter for congratulation that the Financial Statement laid before us discloses steady and marked prosperity in the Province, five lakhs of the increase of revenue over the estimates having arisen from such staple sources as Stamps, Excise Assessed Taxes, Registration and Irrigation.

"It is a somewhat difficult task to effectively criticise the accounts from the Statement laid before us, and I do not propose to do so in detail; but I would venture to suggest that the Government should, in forthcoming annual statements, set out the actual results of at least three previous years, so as to enable Members of this Council, by comparison of the revenue and expenditure for these periods, to form a more correct estimate of public requirements, and the possibility of adequately satisfying these requirements from the revenue.

"Passing to a few of the prominent features of the Budget, it is to be regretted that the Government have not made a larger appropriation to Technical Education. The country is rapidly developing along every line, and though no doubt University Education have its great advantages, the Government should use every endeavour to encourage the practical possibilities of the people and Technical Education might, with advantage, receive closer attention and fuller aid from Government. The necessity of giving more generous support to this branch of education was strongly urged upon the authorities by my predecessor, the Hon'ble Mr. Larmour, in his Budget speech in 1905, and his views received Your Honour's cordial support; one, therefore, views the small allotment under this head with considerable disappointment.

"The Government has been addressed from time to time by the Association which I have the honour to represent, on the subject of Jail Manufactures. From the Statement before us, the cost of Jail Administration is set down roughly as 24 lakhs, and the revenue yielded by the Jails appears to be 12¼ lakhs. A reference to the figures for the preceding years shows that the revenue from this source, instead of showing a decrease, marks a steady rise from year to year. We know that this matter is now receiving the careful attention of the Governments of India and Bengal, and I trust that the discussion of the various issues that have arisen in connection with the the ~~competition~~ of jail industries with private enterprise and which are so clearly set forth in the Government of India's letter, No. 153 of 10th August last, will lead to a settlement satisfactory to the parties concerned.

"Few of the appropriations set out in the Budget will, I heartily believe, meet with greater approval than those in connection with hospital and medical needs in this City, and we have to thank Your Honour that these have been meted out with no mean hand. Owing to these liberal grants, and also to the generous allotments to Calcutta Charities from Her Excellency Lady Minto's Fancy Fête Fund, Calcutta will begin to realize that her wants are at least receiving the recognition they deserve, and we shall shortly see the paying patients' wards, both in the General and Medical Hospitals, available for the purposes for which they are so much needed.

"The want of much more accommodation for Small-pox patients has been keenly felt for some years past during which the disease has been so terribly prevalent in Calcutta; the extension of the Campbell Hospital is a step in the right direction, but it is to be hoped Government will not rest satisfied with this somewhat tardy recognition of the City's needs in this particular direction.

"It is to be hoped that the Government will devote its close attention to the improvement of the water-ways of Bengal. The network of navigable rivers intersecting the Province, if efficiently policed and otherwise rendered navigable for vessels, would do much to free the railways from their overburden of traffic, and would lessen the price of raw materials and food-stuffs now ruling in this Province. The present high prices of food-stuffs has fallen heavily upon the commercial and trading community in Calcutta, who have been compelled to grant increased wages of their employés, whilst it has also caused much suffering and distress to the people. The Government might, with advantage, examine the question of the Water-ways of Bengal and see if this amelioration would not tend to cheapen the prices of these commodities. The expenditure on Rivers and Canals is so small as to lead to the conclusion that the matter has not received the attention which it needs from the hands of the Government.

"The allotment of 50 lakhs to the much-needed scheme for the improvement of this City leads us to hope that the subject will receive the very early and energetic attention of this Government. To handle the problem in a bold and wholehearted way, much further assistance will be required, and it is to be hoped that Government will see its way to deal this out with no niggardly hand in future Budgets.

"The extension of the High Court buildings, for which I see a grant of Rs. 1,30,000 has been made, will be welcomed by all whose business calls them there, either as willing or unwilling visitors. The entire absence of any accommodation whatever for jurymen, witnesses, etc., has long been felt as a very distinct grievance by a class of the community who have, mostly against their will, to spend many valuable hours in its crowded courts and corridors, and I strongly urge that under no circumstances should their claim for decent and commodious waiting-rooms be overlooked. It would be a boon to many also who come considerable distances and have not time to return home, if some accommodation could be found for a restaurant where lunches could be obtained in the brief midday interval granted by the Court.

"I notice that a sum of Rs. 23,000 is allotted for Smoke Nuisance charges in the coming year. Not very much progress has so far been made in reducing the volume of murky clouds which pour over the Strand Road during the cold weather months. Judging by my own limited experience of the Commission's activities, particular attention has been paid by the Inspectors to some of the smaller industries in the City, but the greater sinners on the Howrah shore still puff their pestilential clouds over the just and the unjust in the City to the detriment of its health and cleanliness. It may be presumed, however, that steps will be taken to remedy this defect."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"May it please Your Honour—Before I begin my observations on the Budget, Your Honour will allow me to thank you for the announcement just now made that Your Honour's Government has, in difference to public opinion, desired to postpone the consideration of the Local Self-Government Bill. We are grateful to Your Honour for recognizing the justice of the contention that has been put forward for many years past to devote the Road Cess to its original purposes. I had taken the liberty on an earlier occasion to call Your Honour's attention to the violation of the assurance which the Government had given when introducing the Road Cess Act. It seldom falls to the lot of a critic of Government measures to see, during his life-time, the reform advocated by him carried out. To me and to the whole country Your Honour's announcement will come as an agreeable surprise, and I can assure Your Honour that it will greatly enhance the prestige of Your Honour's Government for the courage of its convictions in the sincerity of its purpose.

"The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh deserves our congratulations for the prosperous Budget he has been privileged to lay before the Council. I wish, however, it was possible to relax the official mould in which the Financial Statement is cast, so that we, humbler mortals, not accustomed to deal with a solid array of figures, might approach it with a sense of greater ease and freedom. I am afraid I am guilty of impertinence in making this observation, but I can only plead that I voice the feeling of the lay public. I must, however, exonerate the Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh from any responsibility for the sphinx-like impassiveness of the Budget, for I recognize the difficulty of deviating from a stereotyped form.

"Budget Details.—We have to thank Your Honour for the opportunity that was afforded us of discussing the anticipatory Budget tentatively, with the Financial Secretary. I hope the precedent set by Your Honour, will develope with growing years, and non-official Members of Your Honour's Council, without any distinction, will be allowed the privilege of submitting their suggestions in writing before the Budget is finally framed.

"Sir, I am in the fullest sympathy with the public in its desire to see Budget debates curtailed, but this is the only occasion when the whole administration may be reviewed and non-official Members are naturally anxious to utilize the opportunity. I must frankly admit that though our speeches have not often times been over-conducive to a wakeful interest in the proceedings in the close atmosphere of the Council Chamber, we have always received the most considerate attention from Your Honour and our Official Colleagues, who have bravely fought against the ennui of the whole proceedings. I shall try not to abuse this indulgence and to be as brief as I can in the few observations that I wish to make on this occasion.

"Divided Interest.—I have the honour to sit in this Council as the representative of the University of Calcutta, which embraces the entire Province as it used to be before October, 1905. There are various questions of great importance connected with the Educational Administration of the several Provinces on which I would wish to speak, but that may not be, not until the 'settled fact' of official parlance is unsettled by the united effort of an entire community.

"Re-organization Scheme.—Sir, the re-organization scheme of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services has been published, and I must thank the Government on behalf of my unhappy countrymen engaged in the work of Education for the relief, however inadequate, given to them: but the number of appointments in the Provincial Service which begins with the grade of Rs. 200 rising to and ending with the grade of Rs. 700 a month, is only 112, distributed over 8 grades. The lowest or the eighth grade was fixed in Bengal at Rs. 150 a month as one of our distinguished Directors of Public Instruction thought that we in Bengal would get plenty of good graduates for Rs. 150 a month, though the grade carried a salary of Rs. 200 a month in the other Provinces where graduates were not so plentiful as in Bengal: in restoring to the grade, the pay originally intended for it, the Government has done what is after all tardy justice.

"Leaving the Provincial branch of the Education Service and going down the ladder into the Subordinate Educational Service, we find 615 appointments distributed over 8 grades, beginning with Rs. 50 a month and ending with Rs. 250. The only relief to this branch has been the creation of a few more appointments, which, so far as the lower grades are concerned, will serve to retard promotion.

"Coming further down to the lower Subordinate Educational Service, we have 950 appointments distributed over 5 grades, commencing at Rs. 15 and ending at Rs. 45. This is the improved state of things in the western division of the old Province. A first class M.A., if he is very lucky, begins in the Subordinate Educational Service on Rs. 75 a month, that is to say, in the sixth grade. He must go through 14 grades before he can attain to the highest grade of the Provincial Services, viz., Rs. 700 a month. Human life, specially in service in this country, is too short for this weary journey. No one has yet done it, and the highest that one can aspire to is Rs. 250 a month, the first grade in the Subordinate Service.

"Is it any wonder that our brilliant University men shun the Educational Department like the Upas tree? If the prospects of this branch of the service are bad, and bad enough they are in all conscience, what is the position of that unfortunate class who pass their lives between Rs. 15 to Rs. 45 a month in the education of our children? They are like miners entombed, shut away from the warmth and radiance of life, though set to extracting much richer ore than any that a mere mine can yield. Does Your Honour expect any display of energy from men whose life is one uniform and unredeemed drudgery? These are the teachers in our Secondary Schools.

"Coming to the guru teacher in our Primary Schools, we find that he receives the magnificent emolument of Rs. 4-10-0 a month. Says the Inspector of the Dacca Division: 'It is important to note that this sum is probably doubled in any cases by the performance of other duties, the copying of deeds, etc., by agriculture or by free board extended to him by the villagers.' And the same Inspector remarks: 'Even this remuneration would hardly attract a coolie'. Such is the lot of that humble class of officers who are supposed to teach our little children the elements of all the sciences known to men, biology, physics, chemistry, botany, hydrostatics, geology, etc. Your Honour could not get a peon for the salary offered to these teachers. I am quite sure the Government must feel as keenly as any one interested in the work of Education that such a state of things cannot be allowed to continue.

"We are grateful to Government for the assurance it has held out in answer to some questions of my hon'ble friend, Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, that the lot of the lower subordinate class will receive consideration. I hope the teachers in our Primary Schools will not be forgotten when the scheme is revised.

"If the lot of the officers in the lower ranks is deplorable, the prospects of those who are in the upper ranks, in the branch known as the Provincial Educational Service, are not very inspiring or encouraging. They will now begin on Rs. 200 and end, after passing through 8 stages, with Rs. 700. In these ranks are found some of the most brilliant men amongst us; men who have obtained high academic distinctions in Oxford or Cambridge or the Scottish Universities; men who would shed lustre on any educational institution with which they may be connected.

"Many names would at once occur to Hon'ble Members who have the privilege of knowing some of the officers employed in this branch of the service. Here we find Dr. P. C. Roy, who is an ideal teacher idolized by his students and who has done original work in chemistry, of which his countrymen and the Government which employs him may feel justly proud. Here in a lower grade we find Mr. Mahalnobis who has given to the Presidency College its Biological Department, and here too, in a grade further lower down, is that eminent Chemist, Babu Chandra Bhusan Bhaduri, to whose devoted co-operation with Dr. P. C. Roy, we owe those promising and well-equipped Chemical Works, known as the Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works, which for organization, economy and efficiency, would be an object lesson to many departments of State, and who after 22 years of service was pining in the grade of Rs. 250 a month until the reorganization scheme, which gave him an extra Rs. 50 a month. Other names equally deserving might be mentioned, but I have only selected a few to show what prospects are held out in the Educational Service to our most distinguished graduates.

"Provincial vs. Imperial —Sir, in former years any distinguished Indian graduate who had taken to the Educational Service might aspire to rise to the highest position in that Service. A separate Indian Service, known as the Imperial Service, where the grading begins on Rs. 500 and goes on to Rs. 1,500 a month or more to be recruited in England was unknown in those days, and Indian Educational Officers have occupied high places and discharged their duties with conspicuous ability. The spirit that the native of India must be kept down had not then manifested itself and he was welcomed as a colleague, but during the last 12 years a change has come over that spirit, and a system of recruitment has been adopted by which Indians were practically debarred from the higher branch of the Educational Service.

"Callow youths, not always distinguished graduates of the Home Universities, have been recruited at Rs. 500 a month and have speedily risen to the grade of Rs. 1,000 a month, whereas older men, who had made their mark as teachers and had achieved distinction in the subject of their choice as original workers, wearily struggle against the bars of colour and race.

"Sir, an aspiring Lawyer whose education may have been confined purely to an Indian University may rise to be a Judge of the highest Court in the country; any enterprising young man who may secure a place after a course of preliminary coaching, in the Civil Service may rise to be a Commissioner of a Division, or even a Senior Member of the Board of Revenue, and I trust the day may not be far distant when one of my countrymen may occupy the exalted seat which Your Honour is now holding. And it is surprising that in the domain of education, when the Indian has a traditional and inherited aptitude, he should be forcibly relegated to a back seat. I am not one of those who would for a moment advocate that the emoluments offered to purely English graduates should be curtailed. I am still old fashioned enough to believe that the association of the west and the east in the field of knowledge has been productive of great good to ourselves, and that for many years yet to come this association must continue; but what I do urge is, that my countrymen should not be excluded from the higher ranks merely because they are Indians.

"In putting this claim forward, I believe I am not addressing an altogether unsympathetic Government. Evidence is visible on all sides that the spirit which would keep an Indian down, merely because he is an Indian, is giving way to a juster appreciation of the claims and capabilities of the Indian. No less a personage than His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has re-stated the principle that should guide the Englishman in the Government of India, and our present Secretary of State has emphasized the adoption of that principle from his place in Parliament. If, Sir, this just grievance is not removed in the present regimé, we shall have little hope of this wrong being remedied within a measurable distance of time.

"Neglect of Education.—Sir, if the prospects of our officers engaged in the Education Department are so gloomy, the prospect of education itself is not very hopeful. I cannot believe that those interested in the work of Education in the country will share the gratification of the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary at the progressive increase of expenditure on the head of Education. We do not like the probable saving of Rs. 3,41,000. The grant now stands practically at 43 lakhs. Is this a sum adequate to meet the educational needs of a population of 50 millions? The result is, that every department is starved.

"In all Bengal, until lately claiming to be the premier Province of India, there is not a single Technological Institution, there is not a single colleger properly-equipped, not a single school properly-housed and furnished. This is a sweeping statement I admit, but absolutely true. There is no Technological Institution in the country and there is no more to be said about it. As regards Colleges, take the first College in Bengal, the Presidency College, cabined, cribbed, confined,—overcrowded class rooms, inefficient and insufficient laboratories, an inadequate staff, absence of a gymnasium or play ground, that is the verdict of Government Officials. As specimens of Government schools, take the foremost, either the Hindu or the Hare School,—ill-lighted, ill-ventilated, incommodious, unattractive, that is the verdict of the Committee appointed by Government.

"If the Government is anxious to promote education, it is not enough to pass measures of officialized legislation and rest content; it must pour forth plenty out of its treasury to find the means which are considered essential towards a sound system of education. We cannot rest, while all the world is progressing. Sir, for the information of my Colleagues, I shall place certain figures as to the scale of public expenditure in civilized countries and in Bengal.

"Puny little Portugal, with a population which is roughly $\frac{1}{10}$th of Bengal, spends nearly Rs. 10 per head, so does Switzerland; and we, in Bengal, with an Excise Revenue which would intoxicate even a German Chancellor of the Exchequer, spend how much do you think? One anna, three pies, per head on Education. Here are the figures:

"It will appear from the above table, that where Your Honour's Government spends Rs. 207 per student in the Presidency College, Manchester spends Rs. 1,070 and Liverpool Rs. 1,050; and of this sum of Rs 207 spent in the Presidency College, the student himself contributes Rs. 144, the Government spending the magnificent sum of Rs. 63 per annum per student for Collegiate Education in the Premier College in Bengal. Talking of contribution, it will be interesting to observe that while the public revenues of Japan contribute 83·2 per cent. of the cost of education, Bengal contributes only 42·9; and while a Japanese student pays only 9·8 per cent. of the cost of his education, the Bengali student pays 38·91 per cent.

"Sir, in a recent debate the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary, controverting some observations which I had made in this Council, contended that the Government of Bengal had a conscience. Sir, I do not venture to follow my hon'ble friend, who hails from a country which has given birth to some of the most astute metaphysicians whom the world has known, into the intricacies of such a recondite and abstruse proposition. But this much I can safely say, that if the Government which my hon'ble friend has so courageously vindicated had any lineaments, the figures that I have quoted would raise a blush even in the grave and sedate countenance which would befit such a Government as ours.

"Sir, I if cannot move the Government on the question of Education for the whole of the Province, I can plead with confidence the cause of the 1st College in Bengal, if not in India. I do not propose to place before the Council the many shortcomings which have been pointed out in the report of the Commission appointed by the University, and admitted and confirmed by the Director of Public Instruction in his admirable annual report. Whatever Your Honour's Government may do, it must at once decide on the future of the College. If it is decided to keep it where it is, lands should be taken up at once and laboratories and class-rooms should be built and equipped without delay. The new University Regulations impose a serious and heavy responsibility on the Government and unless the Government is prepared to see the College disaffiliated in science, it must do something to put the College on a satisfactory basis; but if these improvements require time, no time need be wasted in strengthening its staff, where there is much room for improvement.

"I believe I am not overstating the case when I say that, in many subjects, missionary and private colleges in Calcutta can show a stronger staff than the Presidency College: this is a state of things which ought not to be. I speak with some assurance when I say that at least 20 lakhs would be required for the improvement of the Presidency College, money which could not be better spent, and we have Rs. 46,000 allotted to the College! Truly, an offer which would try the patience of a saint much less of an expectant nation.

"Hindu and Hare Schools.—I have already referred to the condition of the Hindu and Hare Schools. The class-rooms are badly lighted, the upper classes are overcrowded, the lower classes are huddled together, the sanitary arrangements are defective; and the Hindu School has no play-ground at all. This is a state of things which the Government should not allow to continue in its premier schools in Calcutta, and I earnestly commend the condition of these schools to the attention of Government. Might I suggest for the consideration of Government that, instead of two first class Government schools being located in the same place, the Hare School should be removed to a more southerly situation in Calcutta for the benefit of the Indian population in the southern and outlying division of the town.

"Sibpur Engineering College.—Speaking of removals, would it be desirable to remove the Sibpur Engineering College far away from Calcutta? The Government has in contemplation the addition of Technological Departments to this Institution on a large scale. Would it be to the interest of such departments to be removed far away from industrial centres, where boys could have practical lessons and training? That is an aspect of the case which I would respectfully ask the Government to consider.

"Female Education.—If the education of our boys is still neglected that of our girls is hopelessly backward. In the western part of the old Province of Bengal, the proportion of male scholars to the male population of school-going age is 28·47, whereas the proportion in the case of girls is 2·92. In the eastern part of the same Province, including Assam, the proportion is 30·62 in the case of boys and 3·21 in the case of girls. Under Your Honour's jurisdiction, private institutions of an advanced type for boys number 17,191 against 160 for girls, and the elementary private institutions number 37,261 for boys against 2,409 for girls. This indicates, I am afraid, the national apathy to the education of girls. But Government is hardly more sympathetic: it has got 151,055 secondary schools for boys against 5,593 secondary schools for girls; and as regards primary schools, there are 888,598 public institutions for boys against 107,021 for girls. There is a growing desire, a growing necessity for the education of our girls, and if our marriage laws and social customs make higher education of our girls difficult, there may be a much larger number of upper and lower primary schools for our girls.

"Training of Lady Teachers.—While on the question of the education of girls, we are thankful to Government for the facilities it is seeking to provide for the training of lady teachers, for the advanced classes of female students. It is a move in the right direction, and has been inaugurated none too soon. The scheme owes its initiation to Mr. Earle, and we are particularly grateful to him for the energy and ability with which he has pushed it forward. Your Honour was pleased to inaugurate the scheme, and may I request Your Honour to put it into operation in Bengal at once, even though private contributions have not come up to the amount anticipated. Only a very small margin has to be made up, and I am sure Your Honour's Government will readily come forward to cover the margin, especially as the Budget anticipates a probable saving of Rs. 3,41,000 under the head of 'Education.'

"Training College for Teachers.—I may inform Hon'ble Members of the Council that, while such a necessary measure of reform is hanging fire for want of funds, we have in our midst, for more than six months, a complete staff of teachers for the projected training institution for male teachers. This institution is not in existence, and from all accounts will not be ready until the next two or three years. In the meantime, the curious are asking as to the expenditure incurred in the salary of the staff already brought out? I am told the expenditure will not be less than Rs. 3,0 0 a month for a staff which has no work to do.

"Diminished Scholarships.—Sir, both myself and my immediate prede cessor in the representation of the University have called attention to the diminution in the value of scholarships, causing great hardship to our poor but deserving students who find that their college fees exceed their scholarships. Last year, we only spent Rs. 1,50,000 out of a total revenue of over six crores I congratulate myself that the matter has drawn the attention of Mr. Earle, and I have no doubt that the grievance will soon be removed.

"Muhammadan Education.—Sir, while dwelling on the question of Scholarships, which means facilities to poorer students, I cannot pass over the question of Muhammadan Education. In the old Province, the Muhammadans represent a percentage of 17·2 of the general population, but unfortunately this percentage is not borne out in the school-going population. In the primary schools, the percentage of Muhammadans is 13, while in the higher stages of instruction it is still less. Thus in secondary schools, the percentage is 8·7, in Arts Colleges 6·3, while in Professional Colleges it is only 4·3. This is a state of things which requires careful investigation, and if special facilities are needed to help the spread of education amongst the Muhammadans, I am certain the educated Hindu community will not grudge.

"Direction.—Last year, I had taken objection to the appointment of an outsider as Director of Public Instruction in Bengal. My objection was on principle and, as such, it still stands good: but while maintaining my objection on the ground of principle, I must frankly and freely acknowledge that outside the ranks of the Education Department no selection could have been better than that of Mr. Earle. His energy and enthusiasm in the discharge of his new and onerous duties and his devotion, are worthy of all praise. He has carried out changes and reforms which had become stranded on the way for want of motive power, and if his want of experience has led him into occasional errors, we can exonerate him from all blame in connection therewith, for those who have carefully followed the Educational Administration of the Province, can easily trace them to their source.

"Sir, the re-duplication of the administrative machinery necessitated by the dismemberment of our Province has not been fraught with beneficial results, so far at least as Education is concerned. Mr. Sharp, the Director of Public Instruction in the Eastern Division, finds it difficult to bring the Assam system into line with the advanced methods of Bengal; and the narrowness of the East has come into conflict with the broader ideals of the West, leading to the downfall of one Provincial Ruler.

"Mr. Earle has rightly asked for able and worthy assistants to watch over and foster the different departments into which the education of the people must necessarily be divided, primary, secondary and technical, and in the compass of what was originally a single province we shall find two sets of Assistant Directors doing the same work. The grant which should enrich the streams all along the line will be stored and bunded up at the head and the cause of Education will suffer.

"Sir, I have pointed out the lines in which the Government of Bengal, except in the matter of the exclusiveness of the Imperial Service, might work without the initiative of the Government of India.

"Primary Education.—I had taken the liberty, on a previous occasion, to suggest that Primary Education should be made free, and that it might be made compulsory in certain areas. We are all thankful to find that the Government of India, under the inspiration of the Secretary of State, is trying to remove one of the greatest blemishes in the administration of the Empire, the levying of fees for the Primary Education of the poor, and I trust it will not be long before the aspiration to which I have ventured to give expression in Your Honour's Council will be realized.

"Interpellations.—Sir, I am afraid I have put the patience of my Colleagues to too severe a strain. The subject with which I have been dealing, though technical, is of the most vital importance to the nation, and my only excuse is, that there is no other occasion when I can discuss it in this Council. From the placid waters of a non-political subject, I am drifting into the eddies of controversy and politics. Sir, the right of interpellation is a highly-valued privilege; it is intended for the purpose of directing inquiry and eliciting information. It serves as a great check upon erratic Officials, whose wanderings abroad are promptly brought to the notice of the Government and the Public. But some recent answers in Your Honour's Council have created profound disappointment.

"While innocent men holding honourable positions in life have been humiliated by being enrolled as special constables, not for the legitimate purpose of strengthening the Police Force but from political and other motives, Your Honour's Government has pleaded ignorance of the abuse of the powers vested in Magistrates of enrolling special constables. Such an answer defeats its own object and creates a feeling that the Government is neither prepared to correct its officers, nor to deny the charge.

"The indifference of Government to popular sentiment has evoked such a strong sense of resentment that when it was proposed at the last Berhampore Conference to bring this matter to the notice of Government for the purpose of rectifying the abuse, the subject was dropped, because it was felt that the abuse was so flagrant that it was hurtful to the cause of agitation in the country against unpopular measures.

"Specific instances were given in questions put in this Council of the interference by a Magistrate in political matters; and while they were not denied, as in fact they could not be, the conduct of the Magistrate was sought to be justified as a perfectly legitimate exercise of his right of private and confidential intercourse with local zamindars. An unheard-of prosecution is started for the theft of benches, which never were stolen or intended to be stolen, but were used for a theatrical performance, at the close of which some youngsters delivered Swadeshi speeches, and the solemn farce of a trial is gone through in the lower Court at the instance of the District Magistrate to be relegated to the regions of ridicule by the District Judge, and the incident is dismissed from consideration in Your Honour's Council as one of the common-places, as it unhappily is, of our judicio-executive Magisterial Administration.

"These and things like these do not tend to allay the public irritation which is still manifest. If Lord Curzon did the greatest disservice that he could think of to the Bengali people, he also unwittingly did them the greatest service that man could do to man; he evoked in them a life of which they themselves were not conscious; he inspired in them activities which they had not realized before. That this life, these activities may lead us onward and forward to a higher platform, where the people and the Government can meet on terms of mutual respect and mutual goodwill, is the earnest desire of all well-wishers of our country; but if the Government goes on clinging to the baneful traditions of the late administration, it will hardly be the fault of the people if the spirit of discontent goes on growing, if belated concessions to popular rights and popular demands are received with sullen discontent, if not, with positive disapproval; and if, in the end, the people and the Government stand absolutely divorced from each other. I am aware that Your Honour does not wish for such a consummation. I am also aware that much lies in Your Honour's power to prevent it, and I earnestly appeal to Your Honour to exercise that power."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"Your Honour, the Budget for the current year, although in form and method it follows its predecessor and, in so far as it does so, shares with it the lucidity which is no doubt a matter for congratulation, yet it must be confessed that in certain respects it affords grounds for disappointment. The last Budget was ushered in shortly after the Partition of Bengal had been effected, and one might suppose that it was then too close upon its heels to be associated with any practical undertaking on the part of Government for a better administration of the divided Province, based upon a more thorough attention to detail, such as had been foreshadowed by it on the eve of the Partition. The promises with which the Partition of Bengal were proclaimed raised hopes that the Budget for this year would be somewhat different in form and character from its predecessors. It seems to me, Sir, that the Budget for a great Provincial Administration like that of Bengal should not only present in a clear and intelligible form its expectations as to the different sources of its revenue and the reasons upon which they are based, as well as the allotment of that revenue to the ordinary charges of the administration, but it should also clearly set forth a plan for reforms and improvements that it proposes to undertake or carry on during the year. In other words, the proposals for the year's administrative operations in so far as they are not permanently recurrent as well as the policy which forms the driving power for such operations should, to my mind, be stated and explained with a clear outline.

"The Financial Statement should also, in my judgment, note the stages which pending projects for improvement and reform may have attained, and if, owing to some cause or other, this progress has been arrested, it should indicate the cause which has led to such arrest. It should further state the circumstances under which and the manner in which Government proposes to stop, if possible, the operation of such interfering elements, if any, and, as a matter of consequence, it should state how and when it expects such projects to resume their onward career. The Financial Statement should also show how and to what extent the amount allotted to any head of disbursement connected with a project for reform or improvement is calculated to serve the object in view. Such statements, Sir, the public have a right to expect.

"The Government of this country is carried on by a body of Officials whose tenure of particular offices is constantly changing, and the Heads of Departments, also, form no exception to the rule. The subordinate and permanent body of Officials are mainly, if not entirely, interested in the settled routine of their official duties, and they cannot be reasonably expected to take anything like a sustained interest in the policy actuating a measure of reform. The Budget or the Financial Statement appears to me to be a medium through which the facts indicated above can be conveniently made known not only to the general public, but to the subordinate officials as well, whose duty it is to carry out measures of improvement and reform. The omission of these facts and statements from the records forming the basis of a Budget debate leads very often to the result that a measure conceived by one Head of the Administration is imperfectly realized or perhaps altogether lost sight of by another. Reform and improvement under these circumstances tend to become shallow and fitful, the public sometimes get mystified for want of information in an easily accessible and clear form, and they lose the thread of what has gone before. It is needless to say that the administration loses in this way a great deal of the vitality which must always be kept up in order to make it fruitful of permanently good results.

"I will try to make my meaning clearer by reference to an item of considerable importance in the Budget for the last year. In that year, a sum of Rs. 1,35,000 was allotted by this Government to the establishment and maintenance of a Central Weaving School at Serampore. The Financial Statement for the current year has kept the public entirely in the dark as to how this projected institution has progressed, if at all, and what further steps the Government proposes to take this year towards realizing this educational idea. The matter is of the utmost importance to the country at large, yet the Financial Statement does not contain the faintest reference to it. No doubt the fact is mentioned in the Financial Statement for the year that Rs. 35,000 is allotted to Technical Education, but the detailed estimate contains no mention of it even, and we have no means of discovering whether the whole of the allotment of Rs. 1,35,000 in the last year's Budget was spent in course of the last financial year or only a portion, and if so, what portion, and whether the sum of Rs. 35,000 provided in the current year's Budget merely represents the unspent balance allotted to the maintenance of the proposed institution and which could not be spent last year as the school was not opened at all?

"Further, there is nothing to indicate whether Government intends to follow up the policy of fostering Technical Education; if not, what causes prevent it from so doing and whether any portion of the Rs. 35,000 in the current year's Budget will go at all towards the maintenance of this technical school? The people may therefore very well wish to know whether the Government is very serious about encouraging Technical Education of such a character as would result in the Indians succeeding to a greater extent in manufacturing articles of everyday use? The total increase of expenditure of Rs. 1,28,000 under the head of 'Education,' on the figures for the last year in the Provincial and Local accounts, may not after all mean anything substantial so far as the encouragement of the weaving industry is concerned.

"If other instances of a similar, though not of so important, character are to be cited, I can refer to the charges amounting to Rs. 23,000, on account of Smoke Nuisance, and an allotment of Rs. 14,500 as a provision for starting Training Colleges at Hooghly and Bhagalpur. Neither the former nor the latter item is associated with any explanation as to the manner in which these sums are proposed to be spent. With reference to the latter item it is to be noted, however, that the figure appears for the first time in the current year's Budget; and although an explanation has been added to the effect that this sum of Rs. 14,500 is meant as a provision for officers who come from England, yet for all that, unless one took the trouble of diving into the archives of the Education Department he would not know what officers arriving from England would get the benefit of the training to be secured at this expense of money. I do not propose to pursue the point any further. I feel sure the instances I have quoted above place my argument in a clearer light.

"Sir, I recognize that to meet this demand, a more careful, protracted and reserche thinking out of a plan of action is necessary than is accorded, under existing circumstances, to questions of this character. But if older conditions rendered such a course difficult, the lightened cares of the fifteen districts separated from this Province ought to make the task easier. On the part of the non-official Members, I may venture to say that they would gladly share with the Government any responsibility in connection with the Budget that the Government might allow them. I take it, of course, that the brief opportunity that was given to some of us this year was, to my mind, not sufficient for the purposes of any substantial assistance.

"I beg now to pass on to the subject of the 'normal expansion' of the Revenue. Last year I had the honour to indicate how by the system adopted in connection with the preparation of the Budget there was some danger of converting the so-called 'normal expansion' of Revenue, with regard to assessed taxes into a somewhat forced expansion. My arguments were disposed of by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary and the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary with remarks to the effect that the Subordinate Executive Officers cannot know in the ordinary course of their work, and do not therefore take into their consideration, the Government estimates for the whole province which are repeatedly altered in course of the year in the light of information received, and further that no attempt is made to split up the total finally adopted into figures for each district. The process indicated is no doubt what actually takes place. But no criticism was offered as to the course suggested by me, namely, of scrutinizing the details as to the differences between the figures for receipts in the original estimate and the revised estimate for the expiring year, and instead of adding something more to the actuals for the expiring year, of carefully eliminating from them those items which betray any result of irregular or over-assessment.

"I am indeed somewhat concerned to note with reference to Assessed Taxes that a sum of Rs 2,40,000 has been added this year to the figures in the revised estimate for the year that has just expired. Further, the figure in the sanctioned estimate under this head for the last year was exceeded in the revised estimate by a sum of Rs. 1,90,000, and the excess is no doubt based upon the actuals for that year. How much of all this is due to progressive growth and how much to undue zeal on the part of assessing officers it is difficult to say. From whatever point of view, however, the matter may be looked at, there cannot be any reasonable doubt that the officers entrusted with the levying of the Assessed Taxes know that the actuals for any particular year in his own district form the basis of the figures in the Budget for the next year, and that unless they pull up their own figures for the current year to the level of those sent up by them and already adopted without challenge by Government during the previous year, they stand the chance of being censured, no matter whether their own figures are the results, in part at least, of irregular or over-assessment. This is a point to which I would invite the serious attention of the Government.

"Sir, an increase of more than five lakhs of rupees on the figure in the revised estimate for the year that is just out is noticeable in the current year's Budget on the receipt side, under the head of sale of Court-fee Stamps. There is a further sum of two lakhs of rupees provided for on account of the sale of plain paper to be used with Court-fee Stamps. The increase with reference to the figures for the two preceding years appears to be somewhat extraordinary and seems to require explanation. This sudden increase cannot be normal, for we already know the normal rate of increase in the preceding years.

"Sir, there is one other feature of the Budget on its receipt side to which I beg to request Your Honour's attention, and it is the mixing up of some of the minor heads of the Provincial Rates. The only rate mentioned in the Budget under the head of 'Provincial Rates,' apart from the general rates for the management of Private Estates, is the Public Works Cess. The words 'Road Cess' seem to have altogether disappeared and one may wonder why it has so done. Whatever may be the cause of such disappearance it is certain that it causes a student of these figures some trouble to find out what amount of Road Cess is collected in this Province.

"Passing on to the disbursement side, I beg to notice, in the first place, that the budgetted total receipts from the sale of Court-fee Stamps and plain papers as stated above amount to Rs. 1,09,62,000, and the forecast of the total expenditure for the current year under the head of 'Administration of Justice' is only Rs. 74,19,000. It seems to me that there is good ground for the complaint that the revenue obtained from this source ought to prove an incentive to a great many reforms with regard to the Administration of Jusitce, both Civil and Criminal.

"In course of the debate in the Council of His Excellency the Viceroy, the necessity for the separation of the Judicial and Executive functions has been pointed out with great force and clearness, and I beg to accord my heartiest support to the demand for this much-needed reform. So long as this canker which is eating into the vitals of the Administration of Justice is allowed to do its work unchecked, it is hopeless to expect any abiding improvement. Want of funds, at any rate, cannot be pleaded in this case. Considerable sums are now being devoted to the reform of the Police for which we all feel grateful to the Government. But even a fraction of the money spent under this head will not find an adequate return if this proposed reform remains unaccomplished.

"The administration of the Civil Justice also requires strengthening, and the large annual surpluses in the Court fee Revenue with a vigour and progressive growth of its own should, I venture to submit, be applied in part at least towards relieving congestion of the file where it exists, and in taking out the administration of Civil Justice in the comparatively backward places from the hands of the Executive Officers who, generally speaking, do not have a grip of the Civil Law.

"As an instance, I beg to refer to the administration of Civil Justice in the Sonthal Parganas. I had lately occasion to submit a few questions relating to this matter, drawing the attention of Government to the serious grievances of the people inhabiting the area and particularly of those whom trade and enterprise as well as the reputed healthiness of the locality have attracted to it. About two-thirds of the entire population of the Sonthal Parganas are of non-aboriginal origin, yet the system of administration of justice which obtains there is of such a primitive and paternal character that it hardly fails to cause abhorrence in the majority of its population. The preamble to the Regulation which constituted the Sonthal Parganas in the year 1855—only a year after the Sonthal insurrection—contains the following recital:—

'Whereas the General Regulations and Acts of Government now in force in the Presidency of Bengal are not adapted to the uncivilized race of people called Sonthals, and it is therefore expedient to remove from the operation of such laws the district called Damin-i-Koh and other districts inhabited principally by that tribe, &c.'

"The Sonthal Parganas of to-day, it will appear, are not the Sonthal Parganas of half a century ago, and I fail to see any reason why the Civil Law should not be administered in much the same way there as it is administered in any other part of Bengal. My questions, however, did not relate to any proposal for reform in the trial of suits below Rs. 1,000 in value, although reform is very much needed in these cases also, but they were confined to those above that limit, and suggested that in view of the hardships, delays and miscarriages of justice and in view of the fact that in the vast majority of cases the law administered in such instances is the ordinary law of the country and only occasionally slightly admixtured with the Sonthal Law, a whole-time Subordinate Judge should be appointed for the Sonthal Parganas with powers, if need be, to visit every one of the head-quarters stations in the six sub-divisions of the Sonthal Parganas, or if that was impracticable, with powers to hold his sittings only at Dumka, Rajmahal and Deoghur, or at similar convenient head-quarters stations. My questions had the misfortune to be disallowed on the ground that they were in contravention of Rule 9 in the Bengal Council Manual. But whatever the technical objections might have been, the fact remains that the delays, unnecessary expenses and hardships from which the people of the locality suffer are very great indeed.

"The Sub-divisional Officers of the six subdivisions of the Sonthal Parganas who have all been vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge, have to spend a large portion of their time generally in receiving and disposing of petitions, to pass orders as the Executive Heads of their sub-divisions, to hear criminal cases and do other work in connection with the administration of their sub-divisions, before they are in a position to take up civil cases. For want of time a Sub-Judge case there has to be postponed very often, and a well-contested Sub Judge case is seldom heard by the Sub-divisional Officer unless it has been postponed a great many times. Further, owing to the fact that Pleaders in the Sonthal Parganas have no right to appear in any but the Sub-Judge cases, there are only a few of them practising in the whole area, and there are no Pleaders at all in some of the sub-divisions, while in others there is not more than a single Pleader. The parties have therefore to get Pleaders from Bhagalpur and other places at great expense and trouble, and this fact coupled with the frequent adjournments in the trial, prove ruinous to the litigants.

"Where in a Regulation District the trial of a contested Sub-Judge case takes only a few days to finish, its trial in the Sonthal Parganas takes months, if not years, and I know of cases which have taken only the moderate space of a decade to be heard and determined. We have no Charles Dickens to make fun of these things, so these Sub-Judge cases have been pursuing their slow and unobtrusive career. I wish, however, the troubles of the litigants ended here. These Sub-Judge cases are very often tried by the Sub-divisional Officers on tour and in the midst of jungles and on hillsides far away from human habitations, rendering it extremely difficult for litigants' Pleaders and witnesses to follow them about from place to place as also to find a shelter during the day or at night while attending them. The consequence very often is, that the litigants have to pay heavy fees to their Pleaders, and often owing to the worry to which they are subjected witnesses desert the parties. I would respectfully but strongly request Your Honour's attention and that of Your Honour's Government to these serious grievances which exist in the Sonthal Parganas.

"While on this question, I would beg leave to place one or two other points in connection with the administration of the Sonthal Parganas before Your Honour for consideration. One of them is, that lawyers are not allowed to appear and represent parties in either civil or criminal cases (excepting, as already stated, in the cases triable by a Subordinate Judge). But the Sonthal Law at the same time declares that such permission, as a rule, should not be given. This rule denies to the suitor what is considered as his birthright in every civilized country, and as I have stated about two-thirds of the entire population in that area are non-aboriginal. It is proper therefore that the Sonthal Laws and administration should be reformed by making them suitable for advanced communities or by exempting the non-aboriginal races from the operation of the Sonthal Laws, by declaring that in respect of transactions and suits between themselves (the vast majority of them are between non-aboriginal people) they are to be governed by the laws prevailing in the adjoining Regulation districts. Of course, the Paharias or hillmen of the Damin-i-Koh who are still in a very low scale of civilization, should still be governed by the special laws prevailing there.

"If the Government be not, however, willing either to reform the Sonthal Laws and administration so as to make them suitable for the civilized communities living in the district, or to make the law a personal one, following in this respect the ancient precedent of the Regulating Act of 1773 and the more recent precedent of the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act as regards Mundari rights, there are two other courses, so far as I can see, which the Government can safely adopt, viz., either to include some of the outlying portions of the Sonthal Parganas in the adjoining Regulation districts, or to declare the laws prevailing in those districts to be in force in the Deoghur Sub-division which may still be retained as part of the Sonthal Parganas. The Government may be pleased also to inquire what other portions of the district can fitly be transferred to the Regulation districts. In this connection, the claims of the whole of the sub-division of Deoghur, excepting perhaps a small strip on the east, the western portion of the Godda Sub-division, and those portions of the sub-divisions of Rajmahal and Pakaur that lie to the east of the Loop Line of the East Indian Railway may be mentioned with a view to consideration by Government.

"I believe that the Sonthal population is sparse in these tracts and almost nil in portions of them. Deoghur with its population of 300,000 souls contains only 37,000 aboriginal inhabitants who live mostly in the eastern portion of the sub division. Ranchi, and portions of Hazaribagh, Manbhum and even Bankura contains, I believe, a higher percentage of aboriginal inhabitants than most parts of the Deoghur Sub-division. A major part of the western portion of the Godda Sub-division is included in Parganas Bhagalpur and Colgong, and while this tract is inhabited almost exclusively by non-aboriginal races, they have no marked difference from the adjoining portions of the district of Bhagalpur. The eastern portions of the Rajmahal and Pakur Sub-divisions are inhabited mostly by a population of well-to-do Muhammadan cultivators, largely immigrants from other districts profiting by the cultivation of jute and the sale of lac, while large slices of these parganas wherein these portions lie, are situated in the adjoining district of Murshidabad. If all these tracts, with the exception perhaps of some small bits in the south, were excluded from the Sonthal Parganas, there would still be left to that district (Sonthal Parganas) an area of about 4,000 square miles and a population of about one and-a-half million souls, which comprise more than the average area and population respectively of a Bengal district. It will be a wise step if the Government reforms the Sonthal Administration in any of the ways indicated above.

"Another defect in the Sonthal Administration which calls for reform is the system of making laws by means of circulars, letters and the like. The rules and circulars, moreover, which do duty for laws are meagre and insufficient, and in several instances against the principles of sound legislation. If the Sonthal Law is to be reformed, the machinery for making laws should not be left untouched.

"Sir, at first sight it might be taken as a relief by some of the Members of Your Honour's Council that the Army Estimates do not form the subject of their deliberations; but looking more deeply into the matter, one does not altogether feel sure that the Military does not live disguised in the ranks of the Police. Large grants have from time to time been made with the object of bringing about reform in the Police. Last year, the total amount allotted to the Police in the revised estimates was Rs. 68,80,000, the figures in the original estimate for that year being Rs. 63,67,000, and this year it is Rs. 71,00,000. It is also stated that there is an increase of Rs. 5,13,000, due chiefly to the re-organization of the department. We have no means of discovering from the Budget how much of this amount is proposed to be spent in maintaining the Military Police in each district.

"After all one is tempted to ask, is the strength of this branch of the Police Service maintained in deference to the great armaments kept up by the great Powers of the world or are they maintained with a view to meet the exigencies that may spring up in relation to a singularly peaceful population? If the latter be the case, it seems to me to be possible that considerable saving may be effected by reducing the Military Police in the country, and thus it may be rendered possible for the Government to apply the savings to the improvement of Technical Education and Sanitation in the country.

"I find, Sir, that there is a saving of Rs. 8,?5,000 under Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers, and the cause of the saving is chiefly ascribed to the non-utilization of a number of special grants. And, further, there is a saving of Rs. 6,28,000 under Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department, owing to the abandonment or postponement of certain projects for which special provision was made at the time of framing the Budget.

"In this connection I beg to draw the attention of Your Honour's Government to the rule of the Government of India which requires that all articles of European manufacture above the value of Rs. 50 should be imported from England direct through the Secretary of State for India. In my experience I have found that this very objectionable rule not only causes in numerous instances a loss to the Government and therefore to the public, owing to the prices that have to be paid for such articles being dearer than if they were obtained in Calcutta, but that the time that is taken, between the sending out of a requisition from India and the arrival of the goods in India, is simply intolerable. I have seen buildings under construction by the Public Works Department which after it had its walls and woodwork, etc., completed and finished, standing roofless for months in expectation of the joists and T-irons for the roofing from England. It seems to me, Sir, that many of the delays and lapses in connection with public buildings and bridges are due to this cause, and I hope and trust that Your Honour will not find it difficult to move the Government of India with a view to bring a more reasonable rule into existence in place of the one now in force.

"I beg to offer my congratulations to Your Honour's Government for the allotment of Rs. 3,500 for the collection of Sanitary Statistics. I find there was no such allotment in the two preceding years, and therefore it may be concluded that this grant contemplates a departure from the practice now observed in the Sanitary Department of Government. The public would have felt still more gratified if they were allowed to know at the same time the objects towards which the efforts in connection with the collection of Sanitary Statistics are, in the first place, to be directed.

"Last year, the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis was pleased to observe in reply to my plea for sanitary improvement of the country at large, that he wondered why I should describe the Magra Hât Drainage Scheme as a comparatively small project, the scheme providing, as it does, for the drainage of 290 square miles of country at a cost of about 20 lakhs of rupees, and he wished to know what sort of drainage scheme would satisfy me on the score of extent and cost. Sir, the ideal which I should like to work up to is one that aims at the solution of the sanitary problems which exist in relation to the entire Province, and not in relation to any comparatively detached area, however important such questions may be from a local and detached point of view. I do not depreciate the value of such works of great utility, but I want a great deal more to be done.

"The drainage scheme of Calcutta, as for instance, is no doubt a very important thing in itself, so far as the sanitation of Calcutta is concerned, and the execution of a plan regarding drainage in respect of this great City may entail an expenditure of several crores of rupees; yet it will not in any way improve the general sanitation of the country, nor can the expenditure of several crores of rupees on Calcutta be pleaded as an excuse for neglecting the sanitation of rural areas. I am therefore thankful, even for the very small expenditure under the head of 'Collection of Sanitary Statistics,' because I hope and trust that this small grant will prove to be the first step towards the formation of a general and comprehensive scheme by which the Province of Bengal as a whole may be benefited.

"I recognize that it is not possible to transform insanitary Bengal by one stroke of the magician's wand. It is possible, however, to work out a comprehensive and systematic plan gradually and steadily. In this view of the matter it is not difficult, for instance, to adopt a fixed line of action with reference to rail-roads and raised-roads in general, and the waterways to be kept free in connection with them. I regret to observe that the tendency to contract waterways is unfortunately so general and patent that one is led to infer that the services of the Sanitary Engineer are seldom, if ever, requisitioned in the construction of railways and embanked roads; but that, very often, the sole aim in such undertakings is the saving of cost, even at the risk of the railway or roadway being swept away during the floods, to be built again at a duplicated cost.

"Apart from the insanitary conditions which such a course brings about, the havoc caused by the back-water during the rains in areas traversed by a railway or raised roadway and going across the natural fall of the country, is incalculable. The recent floods in Darbhanga, North Bhagalpur and Purnea, as also the destruction pestilence and famine caused thereby, are still fresh in our minds. Speaking for myself, I believe that, so far as the south eastern portion of the district of Purnea is concerned, the new Katihar-Godagari line now under construction is responsible for a great deal of our troubles of last year. I would respectfully ask Your Honour to consider whether, in the construction of railways and raised roads in general, Sanitary Engineers should not be associated with Civil Engineers. This is, however, only one out of a great many points which may be brought to light when more attention is paid to sanitary matters, but many of the questions about Sanitation are already before Government, and they are well worth its serious consideration. There is hardly any doubt that the sanitation of the districts in Bengal has been neglected.

"I am thankful to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Local Self-Government Bill and to Your Honour's Government for the sympathy which has been extended to certain proposals which I have had the honour to make, and our special thanks are due to Your Honour personally for the announcement just made that steps will be taken for introducing measures for the improvement of sanitation in the Local Self-Government Act about to be amended. I hope the Government will pay to the question of Sanitation the attention that it justly deserves, and introduce efficient legislation in this connection. It is hardly necessary to point out that it is impossible to expect much substantial progress, agricultural, commercial or otherwise, in a nation more dead than alive with Malaria, and with its ranks thinned by thousands, owing to the prevalence of epidemics.

"Passing on to the allied subject of Famines, I must acknowledge our thanks to the Government of India for relieving this Government of the charges under this head, completely at least for the current year. Famines have now become chronic in this country, and every year, almost without a break, Government has to face this dreadful calamity in some province or other. It is necessary, therefore, that the central Government should have some means like the one organized by it, whereby it can deal with the evil directly and relieve the Local Governments as much as possible.

"While on the expenditure side, it is noticeable that there was no allotment under the head of 'Inspector of Mines' last year and none this year again; the public should like very much to know how and why such expenses have become unnecessary.

"The improvement of the Ministerial Service recently formed the subject of interpellation in this Council, and the Government was pleased to state in reply that the question was still under consideration. We do not know what the ultimate decision of Government in this matter will be. But the fact may be brought forward once again that, the high prices which have been continuing for some years past have rendered it extremely difficult for this poorly-paid but extremely useful class of public servants to make both ends meet. In any attempt to improve the administration of the country, it should be the first duty of the administrators to place its ministerial officers above all struggles for a mere living.

"Sir, this year has brought into existence some important measures of legislation, and the most important among them is the Bill to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act. One very important aspect of this Bill is the improvement which it has introduced in the procedure relating to the preparation of records-of-rights. I say that this part of the Tenancy Act is one of its most important features, because it authorizes the State to interfere in the private relations existing between landlord and tenant; and while working it, the State has very often to meet the possibility of bringing into existence strained relations and even disputes between landlord and tenant, where there was none before. The Settlement Officers charged with the duty of preparing the record-of-rights have, by the very nature of their operations, to wake up dormant claims, and by attempting to define that which was indefinite before, bring into existence a state of things which, under other circumstances, one could not but deprecate.

"The community has to put up with these difficulties and inconveniences, knowing as it does that the ultimate object of the Legislature in this matter is good—to take it through eddies and shoals and over bars into the calm sea beyond. But this rather difficult voyage requires that the man at the helm and the men at the oars should be all good men and true, able to pull long and to pull straight, and able to steer the boat through the dangers that lie in her course.

"I may be pardoned, therefore, if I venture to make one or two suggestions on certain points which have come to my notice in course of my experience—suggestions which appeal to dry men of business like myself; and I hope, therefore, that Hon'ble Members will bear with me when I make them. I venture to think that the officers engaged at all the stages of the record-making process should be well-picked, well-paid and experienced men. It will never do to say that if at the earlier stages of the process inexperienced and ill-paid officers are engaged, their errors and perversions may be rectified afterwards. For the sake of a little saving, therefore, Government should not lose sight of this all-important fact. It is impossible to my mind to eliminate all errors and misdoings by better treatment of the record at a later stage. Some of them at any rate will stick to the end.

"In the next place, it seems to me that the officers should not be either overworked or hurried. The attestation is an important stage in the process, yet, if I mistake not, originally about 1,000 plots had to be attested in a day. Now, though the figure has come down to about 800, yet, along with this work, certain others, such as inspection and testing of trijunction stones have to be done by the attestation officers. This inspection and testing is rather a difficult piece of work. It requires detailed knowledge and often takes time, and so practically the attestation officers are now where they were before.

"I have to refer to another matter which appears to me to be an anomaly. It is this, that a junior officer, sometimes even of very short standing, sits in judgment over a senior and well-tried attestation officer, in the decision of objections under section 103A of the Act. I do not propose to tire the patience of Hon'ble Members with any more details. Suffice it to say, that in a matter of such grave and far-reaching consequence, a rigorous selection of able and tried officers is necessary, that their work should be very carefully watched, and that everything should be done to encourage in them a spirit of absolute fairness and a thoroughly judicial frame of mind. It seems to me that the suggestions made above if adopted, will prove to be some of the principal means by which the suspicions ordinarily attaching to an Executive Officer when made to discharge judicial functions can be allayed, and by which confidence in the record-of-rights insured.

"I have detained Hon'ble Members more than I intended to do. I have done so, however, in the hope that there will be found some points at least in what I have said which may prove worthy of the attention of Your Honour's Government. I am under the belief that although what we non-official Members say, from our place in the Council, may not succeed in changing the policy of Government in many matters, yet in matters of administrative detail our opinion, when based upon actual experience of men and events, carries some weight."

The Hon'ble MR. ALLEN said:—"I have only a very few remarks to make regarding some of the observations of my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, who alone, of all the Hon'ble Members who have addressed the Council to-day, has referred to the affairs of the Corporation. The first two matters on which he has spoken, namely, the question of Court fees payable on appeals to the Small Cause Court of Calcutta and the recent orders of the Government of India on the subject of Loans are already under the consideration of the Corporation, and I think it unnecessary to trouble this Council with them.

"I have, however, to take strong exception to the language which the Hon'ble Member has used regarding the Municipal Magistrate. I think, Sir, some of his observations are unfortunate and I regret that they should have been made. The Municipal Magistrate was appointed in 1901 for the reason that at that time when Municipal cases were tried by Presidency Magistrates, and to a very large extent by Honorary Magistrates also, the cases took so long to dispose of that the matter became a public scandal. It was for that reason and in order to facilitate the disposal of these cases, that one Stipendiary Magistrate was appointed to whom all these cases were made over. The appointment of the Municipal Magistrate has proved thoroughly satisfactory and the result has been an efficient and prompt disposal of these cases.

"One would imagine from what my hon'ble friend has said that the receipts of the Corporation from fines were very large and increasing. I am happy to inform the Council that such is not the case. Since 1902-03, these fines dropped from Rs. 66,000 to Rs. 52,000. This result has been attained by the education of the people in the requirements of the Municipal Law; they infringe the law much less frequently now because they know if they do so a prosecution will be instituted which will be effectively dealt with. I think that is a very satisfactory result of the working of the Court, and everybody connected with the Corporation will hope that these fines will go on decreasing. My hon'ble friend says that the people, rightly or wrongly, believe that they cannot expect in this Court that independent administration of justice which is the proud privilege of the meanest British subject. My friend knows perfectly well that as a matter of fact the people do obtain impartial and even-handed justice in the Municipal Magistrate's Court, and I think he would have been better occupied in removing any misconceptions which ignorant people may have formed as to the administration of justice in that Court, than in coming here and repeating gossip of this kind before Your Honour's Council. I think gentlemen of my hon'ble friend's position should disabuse the minds of the people of misconceptions of this character, and I may say that these misconceptions are probably caused to a large extent owing to loose statements made in the course of debates in the Corporation on this very subject, and I think it is very much to be deplored that such observations should have been repeated in this Council to-day.

"With regard to what my hon'ble friend has said as to Primary Education in Calcutta, although this is not perhaps the time of taking up the time of the Council with its consideration, I think there is a good deal to be said for his suggestion. From one point of view, at any rate, the Corporation may be regarded as the Cinderella of Calcutta, her two grown up sisters—the Government of India and the Government of Bengal—performing all the showy functions and all the attractive duties of the administration of the City. They maintain, for instance, magnificent Hospitals, a University, Colleges, a Library, and also places of recreation, like the Zoological Gardens, the Maidan and so on, and it is certainly the case that a great many of these duties, if not all of them, would, in many English and Continental towns, be performed by the City Corporation. The Corporation of Calcutta, however, sits at home like Cinderella, and does the dirty work of mending and cleaning the roads and drudgery of that kind. I think it is very likely that service on the Corporation might be more popular, if the duties were more attractive; and I would suggest for consideration as a good beginning that the duties of Government, in connection with Primary Education and Technical Education in the City might very well be made over to the Corporation; the Corporation being given a substantial grant to enable it to carry out these duties. I merely throw out this suggestion for the consideration of Your Honour's Government.

"On the subject of the District Committees, my friend has said that these District Committees are illegal. My friend is not a lawyer and neither am I. It is certainly incorrect to say that these District Committees have no legal existence; they have a legal existence, they were appointed under the law, and as a matter of fact they are now carrying out their duties under the law. It is quite true that the legality of these Committees has been questioned, but the matter has not yet pressed to an issue, and I am glad to see that my friend has borne testimony to the fact that these District Committees are doing good work, and I hope they will continue to do so."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink and the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji have asked for information as to the work of the Smoke Nuisance Commission, and, as President of this Commission, I will, with Your Honor's permission, briefly explain what has been done. The Commission was constituted in January, 1906, and the first thing necessary was to frame Rules under the Act, as the Act itself gives no powers for carrying out its objects. This is to be arranged for by rules, and when the Act was passed, it was understood that the work of framing them would have to be carefully scrutinized. It is true that there has been some delay in bringing out the rules, but for this the Commission is not responsible. As provided by the law, the rules were published for three months and public criticism was invited. The public, however, at first took no interest in the rules, and the time for considering them had to be extended to enable the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and other Local Bodies to submit their criticisms. The Draft Rules were, on the whole, favourably received, but some revision was found necessary to meet the wishes of the local Chambers. This has now been done, and it is hoped that they will be shortly published.

"In the meantime, the Commission has no powers to act effectively towards the abatement of the smoke-nuisances. The old Act is repealed, and the rules under the new Act have not been passed. The Commission, however, has not been idle. Two Inspectors have been at work since last April and, thanks to the cordial co-operation of the Mill owners, they have already effected considerable improvements. During the year they have made nearly 4,000 observations of smoke emission from chimneys, and over 1,800 inspections of furnaces. In 350 cases they have tested the appliances for stoking, and on their advice, mechanical stoking arrangements and smoke preventive appliances have been introduced in 71 Mills. In 14 Mills, the chimneys have been lengthened. The general result of the year's work is that, whereas in April, 1906, black smoke was, on a general average, emitted for nearly 13 minutes per hour, the time has now been reduced to 3½ minutes.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has suggested that the attention of the Inspectors has been specially devoted to the smaller industries. It is true that in the Oil-mill districts, whereas in April last 8 tons of black smoke was daily discharged into the air, at the present time there is a discharge of 2 tons only. But the Howrah Mills have not been neglected. I have before me a diagram prepared by the Inspector for the Howrah district, and it shows that in the first quarter of last year black smoke was, on an average, emitted for 14 minutes per hour; while in the last quarter, the emission lasted 4½ minutes only.

"As I have said before, the Commission has been working without the necessary powers which the rules will give them. It has not been possible to deal effectively with some of the worst offenders, and the absence of improvement in certain Mills may give an erroneous impression of the work of the Commission. Good results, however, have been attained, and this is largely due to the courtesy and co-operation of Mill owners, who have, in a large number of cases, gladly accepted the advice of the Inspectors employed by the Commission. I would specially acknowledge the services of Mr. D. Ferrier, Manager of the Lower Hooghly Jute Mills, and Mr. E. Dewar of the Baranagar Jute Mills.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has suggested that Diamond Harbour could be converted into a Sea-side Health Resort. This place, with its Railway communication and fine frontage on the Hooghly, is particularly favourable for the purpose. I have already discussed the subject with the Hon'ble Member, and am in consultation with the Magistrate of the 24-Parganas regarding the erection of a Dâk Bungalow there. If this experiment succeeds, a scheme for the provision of building-sites will be considered.

"I was glad to hear the reference made by the Hon'ble Member to the settlement at Frasergunge, and I desire to emphasize the great advantages of this place as a Sea-side Health Resort. This Settlement is situated on the sea face, and it is in every way suited for the objects so eloquently put forward by the Hon'ble Member. Government has already done much for its improvement, and all who have visited Frasergunge are loud in its praises. Land is available there for building-sites on very favourable terms, and I would urge the Hon'ble Member and others to make early applications.

"Before I sit down, I would ask Your Honour's permission to thank Your Honour's Government on behalf of the people of the Presidency Division for the liberal help which has, in recent years, been extended to it for the execution of Drainage Works and Schemes of Water-supply. During the last two years large sums, in addition to loans, have been given to a number of Municipalities for drainage and water-works, and applications for help always receive sympathetic consideration from Your Honour's Government. The Budget for the current year contains a provision of over 7½ lakhs for contribution to Municipalities, and it should be the business of the Local Bodies of the Division to secure a large share of the grant by the preparation of well-considered schemes.

"I would also refer to the help which has been given to Districts. A scheme for draining the water-logged area of the 24-Parganas is being carried out with the help of a grant of five lakhs from Government. The work already done was most beneficial to the crops of last year. Help is also promised to a Drainage Scheme in the Jessore District, and a large sum was recently expended in improving water-communication in Khulna. During the recent cold season an important Commission have been inquiring into the causes of Malaria in the Division, and their inquiries cannot fail to produce good results.

"I desire, therefore, to thank Your Honour for the help given to the Presidency Division."

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said :—"I have undertaken to reply to the remarks made by Hon'ble Members regarding the Judicial and General Departments which were, until quite recently, in charge of Mr. T. W. Richardson. I have had very little time to study the questions dealt with; and I hope, therefore, that I may be pardoned for any shortcomings.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has referred to the growing income from Jail Manufactures and to the competition of Jail Industries with private enterprise. This matter is engaging the attention of Government, and the opinions recently received from the Associations that represent the persons most interested are now under consideration. The question is a complicated one, and a final decision has not yet been reached. But I can assure the Hon'ble Member that every effort will be made to ensure that private traders shall not suffer unfairly, owing to the competition of convict labour.

"Meanwhile, I may explain that of the receipts from articles manufactured in Jails, nearly four-fifths are on account of articles supplied to other Jails and to various departments of Government; and that a considerable part of the remaining one-fifth is on account of chaukidari uniforms, quinine sold at post-offices and articles supplied to District Boards and Municipalities. The value of articles sold to the general public is very small, and probably does not exceed two lakhs.

"The Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has been pleased to express his approval of the provision for the construction of residences for Munsifs. It is hoped that in time these officers will all be properly housed, especially those serving in the more unhealthy parts of the Province. In this connection, I would invite attention to the allotments of Rs. 75,000 for the Civil Court building and Record-room of the new Judgeship of Darbhanga, and of Rs. 61,000 for the Civil Courts at Jessore. The question of providing a separate Judgeship for Khulna is now under the consideration of Government.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal takes exception to the appointment of a Fourth Presidency Magistrate on the ground that it will tend to deprive the Honorary Magistrates of their legitimate share in the administration of justice. Government is fully aware of the excellent services rendered by these public-spirited gentlemen, and it is desired to employ them as much as possible in the disposal of simple cases, which can be finished at one or two hearings. On the other hand, it is not fair to ask them to spare from their private concerns the time needed to deal with highly contested or complicated cases, in which there must be several adjournments. Experience has shown that it is best for all concerned that cases of this kind should be heard by whole-time stipendiary Magistrates. The need for a fourth such Magistrate is very great. In September last, the work of the Police Court had become so congested that a Fourth Magistrate was appointed as a temporary measure. The Government of India have been asked to sanction his appointment for a further period of six months, pending a final decision on the question of making the appointment a permanent one. This course has been recommended by the two Hon'ble Judges of the High Court, who recently made an inspection of the Police Courts. The necessity for taking some such step for keeping the work up to date has also been indicated in communications received from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and from the Pleaders practising in the Police Courts.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji has referred at length to the system of the administration of justice in the Sonthal Parganas. The Hon'ble Member is perhaps not aware that the subject is under the consideration of Government and that the Commissioner of Bhagalpur will shortly submit a full report on the subject. Pending receipt of that report, it would be premature to make any definite pronouncement. I may notice, however, that the portion of the Hon'ble Member's argument which refers to the alleged delays in the Courts of the Sub divisional Officers who try Sub-Judge suits is based on a misapprehension. The Hon'ble Member says that suits, which in Regulation districts take only a few days to try, take months or years to finish in the Sonthal Parganas. The Civil Administration Reports for the last three years, however, show that, in the Sonthal Parganas, Sub-Judge suits lasted, on an average, for only a little more than five months, whereas in the Regulation districts their average duration was more than eleven months.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram asks that more active steps may be taken to secure the destruction of man-eating tigers. To avoid delay in the offer of rewards, Commissioners of Divisions were empowered two years ago to offer rewards up to a limit of Rs. 500, without reference to Government. The Deputy Commissioner and Divisional Forest Officer of Singhbhum have also been empowered, of their own motion, to grant rewards up to Rs. 100. Unfortunately, the destruction of a man-eating tiger is not such a simple matter as it may seem to the Hon'ble Member. These animals are peculiarly cunning, and they wander over a large tract of country. The Koderma tiger was not killed until some months after the maximum reward had been proclaimed; and, at the present time, another of these brutes is still wandering at large, in spite of the numerous efforts which have been made to earn the price put upon his head.

"I now turn to the most important subject of all—Education. The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh criticizes the increased expenditure on the directing and inspecting staff of the Education Department, and suggests that the staff has gained at the expense of objects worthier of State support, such as the University and Government Schools. I wholly disagree with this view. The grants made by Government for Educational purposes have increased considerably during the last few years; and it is obviously necessary, if these sums are to be well and wisely spent, that there should be an adequate directing and supervising staff. The increase under the head 'Direction,' referred to by the Hon'ble Member, is due to the appointment in the year 1902-03 of an Assistant Director. The work in the Education Department has, however, become so onerous that a further addition to the directing staff is urgently needed. I trust that the time is not far off when a special officer will be appointed to supervise Technical and Industrial Schools. The Hon'ble Member is mistaken in his figures regarding the expenditure under the head 'Inspection.' The expenditure under this head in the undivided Province was Rs. 3,58,000, and not Rs. 2,57,000. The latter figure represents the expenditure in 1901-02, in respect of the Province as now constituted. The subsequent increase to Rs. 4,78,000 is not due, as the Hon'ble Member seems to think, to the appointment of an additional staff, but to the taking over of the Sub-Inspectors serving under the District Boards. It will be seen that there is a corresponding decrease under the head 'Local.' Fresh appointments to the inspecting staff are now being made in accordance with the scheme sanctioned by the Secretary of State; and in this direction there will be a large increase of expenditure during the year 1907-08. As already stated, the first step, if any real progress is to be made, is to have an adequate and efficient inspecting staff.

"The Hon'ble Member complains that all sums paid to Primary Schools and Secondary Schools are lumped together against the head 'Grants-in-aid.' In future the amounts will be shown separately for each class of schools. Another complaint is that Secondary Education is being disregarded in favour of Primary Education. There is no foundation for this suggestion. Special efforts are being made to foster the spread of Primary Education, but this does not mean that the claims of Secondary Education are overlooked. Steps are being taken, wherever possible, to increase the grants to high and middle schools. The Hon'ble Member is mistaken in thinking that such grants are being 'unsparingly reduced.'

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, dissenting apparently from the views expressed by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, complains that Primary Education has been neglected. It is true that the additional grant sanctioned for the current year was not fully spent. This, however, was due to causes which will not recur; and even this year there has been progress. The number of Primary Schools for boys increased during the year by 1 per cent., and the number of pupils attending them by 2 per cent.; while in the case of girls the total number of schools of all kinds increased by 12 per cent., and that of pupils by 10 per cent. I bring these latter figures to the notice of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, with reference to his remarks on Female Education. We admit the magnitude of the task before us, but we claim that steady progress is being made towards the desired goal.

"I cannot understand the objections to the training of gurus, put forward by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. Surely this is one of the most necessary reforms with which the Education Department is concerned; and I am glad to see that the action taken in this direction meets with the full approval of the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad. The Hon'ble Member also seems to take exception to the proposal to train female teachers, and to argue that Middle Vernacular Schools can be started with male teachers. The middle standard, however, takes pupils up to the age of 14, and I am not yet convinced that it is possible for girls of this age to study under male teachers.

"I am glad to learn from the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu and the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal that the contemplated grant of Free Primary Education is a measure that has given general satisfaction. When the time comes, the suggestion that any assignment of funds due to Calcutta should be made over to the Corporation will receive due consideration. It is satisfactory to learn from the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad that the provision for maktabs has met with the approval of the Muhammadan community.

"The subject of Technical Education has been adverted to by several Hon'ble Members, and in particular by the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal and the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. The question was fully considered last year at a Conference presided over by Mr. Oldham, Director of Agriculture. The conclusion arrived at was, that the best plan would be to provide further facilities for instruction at the Sibpur Engineering College, and steps have already been taken to carry out this recommendation. A special Educational Officer has recently been appointed to hold industrial chemistry classes there.

"It is, however, a very difficult matter to provide for all the different kinds of technical training at one single educational centre. What is needed is a number of separate Technical Institutions in the places where the industries connected with them are carried on. It is for this reason that the weaving school will be established at Serampore, which may be regarded as the head-quarters of the weaving industry. I understand that the Director of Public Instruction intends shortly to address Government with a view to further action in the direction of developing Technical Education. The first step would possibly be to place some one on special duty to make a general study of the industrial position and possibilities, to collect information regarding the various industries, and to endeavour to ascertain the causes of their rise or decline, and so pave the way for the establishment of the requisite technical schools.

"Several Hon'ble Members have urged that the grant of Rs. 35,000 for Technical Education is far too small. This sum, however, only represents the grant to the weaving school at Serampore There are numerous other items of expenditure on Technical Education which are entered in the Budget, such as those for the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur and the Bihar School of Engineering at Patna. I may add, with reference to the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji's remarks, that Rs. 63,000 has already been spent on the acquisition of land for the weaving school at Serampore, that buildings have been hired, and that the project will be in full swing as soon as the Principal and his Assistant arrive from England. It was not considered advisable to spend money on the erection of buildings, until expert advise was available. The allotment of Rs. 35,000 in the Budget for the coming year is to meet the recurring expenditure.

"I now turn to the remarks made by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, other than those with which I have already dealt in connection with the speeches of other Hon'ble Members. The Hon'ble Member has quoted statistics to show how small a sum is spent on Education in India, as compared with European countries. I am unable, on the spur of the moment, to follow him through all his figures, or to examine them in all their bearings. It is, however, obvious that the expenditure must depend on the income available; and it is quite clear that the Government of India cannot rival Switzerland in spending more than Rs. 9 per head of the population on Education, when its total revenue from all sources is not much more than Rs. 4. I would add that the expenditure on Education shown in our Budget is only direct expenditure from Provincial Funds It does not include the expenditure incurred by District Boards and Municipalities The point of view from which this question should be regarded is the proportion of the total revenue which is devoted to Education in India, as compared with European countries. Even then, the comparison is vitiated by the varying educational needs of the two communities, owing to the different stages of industrial development reached by them.

"The Hon'ble Member, while thanking Government for the Re organization Scheme, complains that it does not afford adequate relief. It is admitted that the scheme, though it involved an additional expenditure of nearly two lakhs a year, was not all that could be wished. It was impossible at the time to do more, owing to financial considerations. It cannot be gainsaid, however, that the measures already taken represent a substantial step in advance I have recently stated, in reply to a question put by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, that the question of the re-organization of the Lower Subordinate Educational Service will be considered in connection with the letter of the Government of India regarding Secondary Education. I may add that the first favourable opportunity will be taken for considering further improvements in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services. As regards the relative position of the Indian and Provincial Educational Services, I am unable to make any definite pronouncement at present. I may say, however, that Government hopes shortly to have an opportunity of considering the question raised by the Hon' ble Member, and that, if that opportunity occurs, his remarks will receive careful and sympathetic attention.

"The Hon'ble Member refers to the small pay given to gurus in Primary Schools. I am well aware that the pay of these men is not what it should be. It must, however, be remembered that the great majority of them are not Government or District Boards' servants, but that they are employed in aided or unaided schools. Their remuneration depends on circumstances over which Government has no control. Another reason why they are paid at such low rates is, that their educational equipment is extremely modest. Steps are now being taken to train gurus, and there is no doubt that the trained men will secure a higher rate of pay.

"The Hon'ble Member complains of the smallness of the grant of Rs. 46,000 for the improvement of the Presidency College. The grant is admittedly small, but it is impossible for the Director of Public Instruction to submit schemes of improvement until the question of removal is settled. On this point, many interests have had to be considered and numerous persons have been consulted. It is hoped, however, that a final decision will soon be arrived at.

"The Director of Public Instruction will be requested to consider the Hon'ble Member's remarks regarding the Hindu and Hare Schools The accommodation at the Hindu School is insufficient, but it is not certain that this is the case at the Hare School. The want of play-grounds is of course felt, but this is not a matter which admits of solution at the present time. No application has hitherto been put forward for a new school in the south of Calcutta. I cannot agree with the objections taken by the Hon'ble Member to the removal of the Sibpur College to a place distant from an industrial centre. It is not necessary or desirable that a College which imparts advanced technical education should be at the head quarters of any particular industry. The primary function of the Sibpur College is to provide higher technical training in Civil, Mechanical, Electrical and Mining Engineering, and to supply Experts and Teachers for the use of the leading industries of the country. No one centre can be selected which will be equally in touch with all the industries; and, as I have explained above, no one institution will supply all the various kinds of training for the different industries. For this purpose it is necessary that separate technical institutions should be established, as opportunity arises, in the districts in which large industries prevail.

"The Hon'ble Member has referred to the delay which has occurred in bringing into effect the scheme for providing a training college for teachers.

The delay is due to the fact that Mr. Varley, who was brought to inaugurate this scheme, strongly disapproved of the manner in which it had been drawn up. A fresh scheme has now been elaborated by him in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction, and it is hoped that this will be sanctioned without much further delay. Meanwhile, Mr. Varley will be employed in inspecting Secondary Schools on behalf of the University; one of his assistants will be employed as Inspector of Schools in the Patna Division and another to assist the Head Master of the Patna Collegiate School. The remaining one will assist the Head Master of the Hindu and Hare Schools. I am glad to be able to inform the Hon'ble Member that Government has fulfilled the promise made last year to restore the number and value of the senior and junior scholarships to the amounts at which they previously stood. I am also happy to be able to state that Government will provide funds to make up the deficit in the private contributions towards the Calcutta Women's Training College Scheme."

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS said:—"I desire to notice some suggestions, to afford some information which has been asked for, and to meet some criticisms which have fallen from Hon'ble Members in the course of this debate, regarding the Department of Public Works and the Marine Department which I have the honour to represent.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram has stated in connection with the Hospital Port Dues Fund that complaints have been made by the Shipping that European sailors cannot get accommodation readily at the Presidency General Hospital, and he has suggested that the balance at the credit of the Fund might be utilized to build a separate block for the use of Seamen, which should also subsequently be maintained from the Fund.

"No specific complaints in this matter have been preferred to Government by those directly interested, but the Chamber of Commerce at the end of November last made a similar general complaint. On a reference to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, that Officer replied that it was only in rare instances that there was a difficulty in admitting European sailors at the Presidency General Hospital when there were no vacant beds, and that no difficulty was experienced at the other Hospitals. This was intimated to the Chamber in a letter of the 4th of March, and at the same time the Chamber was furnished with a statement of the number of seamen treated at the various hospitals and of the payments to the hospitals from the Fund on their account; while it does not appear that there is any serious difficulty in meeting the present requirements of the Shipping, the suggestion that a separate block or ward should be built and maintained from the Fund is certainly one deserving of the fullest consideration which will be given to it.

"The Hon'ble Member also says that he understands that the Mayo Hospital gets no grant from the Fund, and he suggests that the Port Act be amended, so that hospitals treating sick lascars may be assisted from the Fund. The Hon'ble Member appears to be under some misapprehension, and he has not perhaps made a reference to the Act. As a matter of fact, the word 'seaman' as used in the Act is in no way restricted to European seamen, and there is nothing in the way of grants being given to hospitals for the treatment of lascars. In the year 1905-06, Rs. 32 were paid to the Mayo Hospital; and as in all cases payment is made not as a fixed grant but as an allowance per man treated, this would indicate that at present not many lascars make use of that hospital.

"As regards the investment of the balance at credit of this Fund, I may say that this is being arranged for, and it is proposed at present to vest Rs. 1,75,000.

"The rate of the due was reduced last April, and it is intended that in future the income shall not be materially greater than the normal outlay. The accounts for the year 1906-07 are not yet complete, but as far as believed they would seem to indicate that some further reduction in the rate of due may be possible.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram has alluded to the periodical withdrawal of the Steam Pilot-vessel, the Fraser, from the Sandheads, and has stated that this causes great inconvenience to the Shipping. Now I wish to point out that it was never contemplated that the Fraser should be employed alone as a Pilot-vessel. A steam-vessel is required mainly during the Monsoon, when there is a risk of a sailing-vessel being driven off the station by bad weather. In fine weather, the vessels are supplied with Pilots just as easily from one of the sailing-brigs as from the steam-vessel. The authorities of the Dockyard, who are the responsible Advisers of Government in matters relating to the repair of the steam-vessel, consider it necessary that as far as possible it should not remain at the Sandheads for more than six to eight weeks, according to weather, without coming up for coaling and for petty repairs, which occupy usually a period of about half a month. One item alone which requires regular attention is the painting of the surface of the hull at the water line, which from the constant boat work is specially liable to injury. The visits to town are necessary both for efficiency and for economy.

"The fact that the steam-vessel can be used for wireless telegraphy is an incident and it is not the reason for which the vessel was obtained. It is no doubt a pity that it is not practicable to fit one of the sailing-brigs with a wireless installation, but after all the trade of Calcutta appears to have got on very well in the past without this adjunct.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink asks that Government will take steps to improve the Water-ways of Bengal, and he suggests that a larger expenditure on these might help to facilitate trade and to reduce the prices of raw materials and food-stuffs. I think that the Hon'ble Member has not perhaps realized what a large trade there is at present on the water-ways. I would refer him to the Annual Reports on the trade carried by Rail and River in Bengal, compiled by the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence. In this Report, there is an immense amount of information on the subject of the transport of goods. In Tables VI and VII, are given the figures for the various articles imported into and exported from the Calcutta trade block by the various methods of carriage. If the Hon'ble Member will refer to these, he will see what a large share of the total trade is now carried along the water-ways by boat and by inland-steamers. As a matter of fact, I believe that the water-districts have very good communications. I do not say that they are not capable of improvement, and as a matter of fact the question of such improvement is receiving attention; but I think there are very few places now left in Bengal, and certainly none in the Eastern Districts, where the price of raw materials or of food-stuffs remains at a low level for want of communications with a larger market.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram urges the importance of the proposed Canal between the Bidyahari and the Hooghly, known as the Tolly's Nullah Scheme. As I said at this time last year, it is a matter of £ s. d. The Government of India will not give any favour to the scheme unless it can be shown that it will pay its way; that is, that it will earn at least 4 per cent. on its capital outlay, after paying working expenses. We have not been able to do this yet. But we will try again. The Hon'ble Member has quoted from a speech of the Chairman of the India General Navigation and Railway Company. It is only natural that a Carrying Company should wish the public revenues to be expended on schemes which would benefit itself, whatever the result might be to the tax-payer. But this raises a general question of policy, which is beyond the range of this Council.

"The Hon'ble Member suggests that the Local Government should raise its own Loans. Such a procedure, as Agent for the Government of India, is already provided for in the Regulations of the Government of India, which are generally known as the Public Works Code; but if this were put in practice, it would not in any way affect the subordination of the Local Government.

For all projects of whatever nature likely to cost more than 10 lakhs for works only or 12½ lakhs for all charges, the sanction of the Secretary of State is required before the project can be taken up. And it is here and not in the particular method of raising funds, that the control is exercised. As regards the present state of Tolly's Nullah, it is certainly bad; but I do not know that it is worse than it has been any time in the last 50 years. In 1883, Mr. Buckley, when reporting on an earlier scheme of canalizing the Nullah, wrote:—

'Experience has shown that any improvement to the Nullah is almost entirely a waste of money; if the bed is deepened it silts up again in a few months to its normal section, and it deteriorates very slowly, if at all, after it has done so. The Nullah has been a navigable stream for more than 100 years; but if the bed in the most shallow part be deepened three feet, it will fill up again in six months.'

"The recent experience is an exact confirmation of this. Last year we closed the Nullah, and spent about Rs. 36,000 in deepening the bed at the shallowest part; and within a very short time it was just as bad as before. Nothing but making it a locked Canal, like that at Chitpur, would do good; while the cost of this has been held to be out of proportion to the volume of traffic.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram also suggests canalizing the Damuda River, by which I understand he means providing the river itself with weirs and locks, as has been done on the Thames and on several of the rivers in France. The cost of doing this would be enormous, and it is altogether out of the question. The Damuda is a large river when in flood, to which a river such as the Thames is a mere trout-stream. As far back as 1866, a project was considered for a Canal from the Damuda near Raniganj to lock into the Hooghly at Serampore, with the object of conveying coal. Detailed plans and estimates were prepared for such a Canal which was also to supply water for irrigation. It was, however, held that there was no prospect of the scheme being a success financially, and it was therefore dropped. Colonel Strachey wrote then on behalf of the Government of India, what is equally true now. He said:—

'With regard to the coal traffic, it must be recollected that the rail in every case can be carried to the pit's mouth. In the case of the Canal on the other hand there must be land carriage from the pit's mouth to the bank, and transhipment is therefore inevitable.'

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram asks that the Eastern Bengal State Railway may be pressed to provide better facilities for Fish traffic. The Hon'ble Member is doubtless aware the Bengal Government does not control or intervene in the working of the Railway. The Manager of the Railway has, however, favoured me with some information on the subject. In 1903, it was decided, in consultation with the Agents of the Linde Refrigerating Company, that refrigeration vans were not suitable, but that the fish traffic could be carried more conveniently and safely packed in ice and in ventilated wagons. A low wagon rate for ice was introduced in January, 1904, and ten properly ventilated fish-wagons were placed in the line in the half-year ending December, 1906.

"The Hon'ble Member has asked that the marbles, brasses and historical tombs in St. John's Church may be renovated by Government. I am informed that these are at present held to be private property; but that it is under consideration to bring those of importance or interest on the register of Historical Monuments which are maintained from the public revenues.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose has drawn adverse attention to the fact that a sum of Rs. 75,000, which was provided in last year's Budget, for a navigation scheme on the Bhairab River at Jessore has not been utilized. I may explain for the information of the Hon'ble Member that it was found that the scheme, the object of which was to deepen the river in the interests of navigation, would cost not less than four lakhs; while it would be of small value. The Bhairab is at present navigable up to Singhia, about 10 miles below Jessore, where there is a direct connection with the Railway. The scheme was not one to improve drainage, and the fact that it has been decided not to go on with it, in no way affects the scheme which is under the consideration of the District Board, for the drainage into the Bhairab of certain bhils in the vicinity of Jessore town.

"The Hon'ble Member suggests that the charge for the establishment of the Public Works Department employed on Civil Works, and which in the present Budget he shows to be equivalent to 14 per cent. on the outlay on works, is excessive. He has not given any reasons for his belief that the establishment might be reduced. However, I may say that a rate of 14 per cent. for all charges, direction and account as well as executive, is a very low one. We obtain from the Government of India a rate of 23 per cent. on outlay on Imperial Works, and this is the rate which has to be provided in all schemes for Productive Works. As lately as 1903, the Government of India reviewed this charge and adhered to the rate as being generally fair. So far as figures are an indication, they indicate that our present establishment is too small for the work to be done and not too large.

"The Hon'ble Member also draws attention to the reduction in the tollage receipts from the Nadia Rivers. He has perhaps omitted to read the note in the margin in the Financial Statement, page 23, which explains that the reduction in tolls is due to a reduction in the rate of tolls, and to the bad rice-crop in certain districts which caused a diversion of traffic. It had nothing to do with the state of the channels.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji takes exception to the orders of the Government of India, which regulate the purchase in this country of stores of European Manufacture. This is of course not a matter in which the Local Government has any jurisdiction, but I may perhaps explain, for the information of the Hon'ble Member, what the present conditions really are, as he appears to be under some misapprehension. Under the present rules, which have been in force since July, 1904, an Executive Engineer can use his discretion within a limit of Rs. 200 for individual articles. A Superintending Engineer can authorize purchase in this country up to a limit of Rs. 1,000, and a Local Government can authorize purchase in this country without any limit as to amount. That this discretionary power is made use of, the following figures will show. In 1905-06, European stores to the value of Rs. 2,53,595 were purchased in this Province, and in 1906 07 the purchases amounted to Rs. 3,62,500 approximately.

"It is of course as a rule preferable to get such stores by indent from England, because they then cost less and there is a wider market to draw from. On the other hand, it is often not convenient to wait, and it is necessary to purchase in this country. It is a matter in which discretion is required, and in which it is used. It cannot be said that there is anything to complain of in the rules as they now stand.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has drawn a sad picture of the ill-doings of the Port Commissioners with respect to a part of the riverside lands. I think that what he describes as apparent ruin is really the temporary dislocation due to advancing commerce, and I hope it will be soon remedied. I may, however, point out to the Hon'ble Member that not very long ago he was himself a Port Commissioner, and as the state of affairs he has so vividly pictured can hardly have arisen in a day, I am sure he is willing to receive himself the censure he wishes conveyed to those who were lately his fellow Commissioners, for their default.

"The Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has asked that something should be done to improve the volume of water in the Bhagirathi River as a source of water-supply for drinking. So far as my present information goes, although there is not sufficient depth of water in the Bhagirathi for navigation during the dry season, there is no lack of water in the river to meet the requirements of the people on its banks for drinking or for watering cattle. If, however, it is the case that the supply is really deficient in this respect, it would not be a very expensive matter to increase it as we have done in the present season for the Bairab-Jellinghee, by dredging at the intake from the Ganges.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has asked for some information with respect to the addition which is being made to the buildings of the High Court. The present addition provides a waiting-room for the Jury; it also provides separate waiting-rooms for ladies and gentlemen, both Indian and European; but it has not been found practicable within the space available to provide refreshment-rooms.

"Now, Sir, I desire with your permission to say something on a subject which is rather of the nature of a perennial than an annual in this Council—I mean the connection between obstructed or defective Drainage and Malarial Fever. It is a large and complex question, and I wish it to be understood that in the remarks I am about to make, I am expressing my personal views and that these are not necessarily the views of Government. I have, however, been recently engaged as a Member of a Committee on an inquiry into the matter in the districts of the Presidency Division, and it may be of some interest if I state very briefly the conclusions that we have arrived at.

"This is not the place, nor have I the knowledge required, for a dissertation on the cause of Malaria. I speak subject to correction, but, as I understand, Medical Science is at present unable to say anything definite about the original source of the germs which cause the sickness. What is known is, that the germs are communicated from man to man through the agency of a certain variety of mosquito. The mosquito for its development requires moisture in some form, either in the form of water or in damp soil and undergrowth. It would seem then clear that drainage, so far as it will deprive mosquitos of their breeding-grounds, must be beneficial.

"It is, however, of great importance to know what we really mean when we talk of drainage and of obstructed drainage. I think from what Hon'ble Members have said to-day and from what has been said on former occasions in this room, that there is a somewhat general impression that it is desirable to restore to their former state, as flowing effluents of the Ganges, those channels which have by the operation of natural causes ceased to distribute its waters to the part of the delta in which they are situated. There appears also still to be an impression, which is perhaps less general, that the banks of roads and railways have caused and are causing some general obstruction to the drainage.

"As regards the former of those ideas, it is I daresay the case that if the operations of nature could be altered it would do good to one part, though in all probability at the expense of another. However, for practical purposes it must, I think, be accepted that it is not possible to fight with nature in this matter, and that what is necessary is to try to improve the existing conditions. I would also just point out that drainage means drawing water off land and not bringing water on to land, which is what it is desired to do in restoring the dead rivers. Then as regards the Roads and Railways. There may of course be places where small areas are affected by the want of sufficient water-way and which can be remedied if brought to notice; but there does not appear to be anything to show that there is any serious obstruction from this cause.

"The serious obstructions appear to be due to two chief causes,—first, the pits and holes in and about the sites of villages; and, second, the cultivation of the winter rice. The former provides the best of breeding grounds for mosquitos; while the latter, which requires the holding up of the water close to the villages up to the middle of November, supplies more mosquitos and aids in keeping the village damp. Another factor which in the eyes of the Medical Officers is a very large factor is, the dense undergrowth which there is in so many villages. I am very glad to see that the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has spoken so clearly about his matter, because it seems to be of the greatest importance.

"There is a large extent of swamp-land in the bheels, which undoubtedly is prejudicial both to cultivation and to health; but as regards the latter, it does not appear to be of such great importance as the obstructions in and immediately around the village sites. We are beginning to know something about the conditions under which the fever is most prevalent; but there is probably still much to learn. One thing that strikes me as interesting is this. In Orissa, which is a country growing almost nothing but rice, there is comparatively little malarial fever. The recorded ratio of mortality from fever in the Orissa Division, as a whole, is much less than in any other part of the Province. I think it is well deserving of inquiry whether there are reasons to be found which can explain the difference.

"Now although the lands in the delta of the Ganges are necessarily low, there is still no physical difficulty in draining them, that is in drawing off the water from them. I suppose there is no part much worse than that on which the town of Calcutta stands, and one has only to look at the Maidan to see what can be done.

"On the other hand, as this would imply the abandonment of the cultivation of winter rice near all village sites, it may be said that this is quite impracticable. I said last year that judging from the experience in Italy on this question, I thought it would be found impracticable in India to restrict the irrigation of rice near inhabited places, and it might be still more difficult to restrict the cultivation when only the natural rain-water is used.

"At the same time this is a question that must be thought out by the zamindars and cultivators themselves, and they must consider the question with their eyes open to the fact that, at all events in some situations, rice cultivation close to the villages means Malaria.

"What is certainly practicable is, to drain swamps as has been done in the Hooghly and Howrah districts, which improves cultivation and at all events gets the land dry by January. I am afraid, Sir, that my friend, the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, will tell you that drainage-works of this class are expensive luxuries to the zamindar, whatever they may be to the cultivator. There are, however, many places in which the works would be much less expensive than those draining to the Hooghly, where the great rise and fall of tide necessitate expensive sluices. Here, again, we want the fully-considered opinion of the landholders and representatives of cultivators, whether such measures can be left to the parties directly interested to take action under the Drainage Act or the Sanitary Drainage Act, or whether Government should exercise the powers it possesses to compel action under the Embankment Act.

"As regards the improvement of the village-sites, I hardly know what to say. The Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad would apparently invoke the direct action of Government. He says: 'Government must step in to do for us what we cannot do ourselves.' But think what it would mean to have a Government Department interfering directly with the surroundings of the homes of the whole rural population. Surely, this is a matter in which the cure must commence from within. We cannot make people moral by law or edict, and I doubt if we can make them healthy by compulsion.

"We hear, Sir, much at the present time of the very laudable desire of Indian gentlemen to take a larger share in administering the affairs of their country. I can imagine no better way of taking such a share than for the landholders and representatives of the peasantry to co-operate with Government in this matter. What we require is their aid in suggesting what can be done, and not mere demands to do something which is impossible. Is it possible to restrict cultivation of winter rice? Can we compel villagers to clear undergrowth through the agency of District Boards or Union Committees? These, Sir, are questions which I think it is for Government to ask, and for Hon'ble Members and their friends to answer.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose advocates spending crores of rupees and doing great deeds with borrowed money. When dealing with the report of the Irrigation Commission which had recommended that Loan Funds should be applied to the construction of protective, that is of unremunerative, works of Irrigation, the Government of India who did not accept the recommendation said: 'We do not affirm that there are no circumstances in which it would be justifiable to spend Loan Funds on non-productive purposes. That course may occasionally be unavoidable as in the case of a great work or of urgent military preparations.'

"I can understand the Hon'ble Member arguing that a war against Malaria is a better cause than a war against another State, and the argument might possibly be held sound if it could be shown that we know exactly what we want to do and what the effect will be. But we are very far from this. We are at present only in the stage of rather fruitless theoretical discussion. I think it is time that we entered on the stage of experiment which is the only way of testing theory.

"I quite sympathize with the Hon'ble Member in his desire that something should be done, and I hope that it may be found possible to set aside each year, from Provincial Revenues, a certain sum for expenditure on experimental measures of Rural Sanitation.

"I must apologize to you, Sir, and to the Members of the Council for the length of my remarks."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"Your Honour, I do not propose to inflict on the Council a long speech. I will touch mainly on a few points relating to the Departments specially under my charge, but I will also briefly refer to a few remarks of the previous speakers during the debate.

"As regards the Agricultural Department, I have laid on the table a Note by Mr. Oldham, showing the main items of progress during 1906-07.

"The first thing that has to be done before the Agricultural Department can really do all that an Agricultural Department should do is, to get its Experts. We must, at starting, be dependent on Experts from Home, but I hope this will not last long. We have pressed on the Government of India the importance of giving such terms to men who entered the Department, as to enable us to enlist men of the same class as those who now enter the Provincial and Subordinate Executive Service and the Subordinate Judicial Service. Till we have a sufficient number of Experts, progress must necessarily be comparatively slow; and we cannot turn out our Experts in sufficient numbers until our Agricultural College has been started for some years.

"Land has been purchased for the Provincial Agricultural College, which is to be established near Bhagalpur. I hope the building will be ready next year.

"Over 200 acres of land have been acquired for an Agricultural Experimental Station near Bankipur, and the necessary establishment has been appointed. A tassar-silk farm has been opened at Chaibassa. At the Cuttack and Burdwan stations, practical demonstrations have been given, showing that paddy and jute can be grown in the same year and on the same land in rotation with much profit. This is a matter to which, I think, you will agree with me in attaching very great importance. Important results have been obtained as regards sugarcane and cotton in various districts. Another very important step in advance that has been made during the year is, the issue of leaflets in the vernacular, describing the results of work done at Agricultural Stations, and indicating important methods of cultivation of certain of the most important crops. Important proposals are under consideration which would enable us to supply a much larger quantity of good seed to the silk-rearers than is at present the case. These proposals were framed after a careful inquiry into the subject by a Committee, over which the Director of Agriculture presided and of which the Maharaja of Cossimbazar was a Member. We are awaiting a reply from the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam as to the amount they are prepared to contribute, as the scheme, if fully carried out, will benefit both Provinces.

"The Hon'ble Members will, I think, agree with me that Mr. Oldham's Note shows that a very satisfactory start has been made by the Agricultural Department in its first year under a separate Chief.

"The expenditure during the year was Rs. 4,09,000. It is hoped to spend over 2 lakhs more this year, namely, Rs. 6,15,000.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remarks regarding Agriculture I hope my remarks on general questions have already made clear that there are limits to what it is possible to do at present. We must have our competent men to place in charge of Model Farms, and I believe that Mr. Oldham has done all he can to utilize the staff now at his disposal. To appoint incompetent men, would be worse than useless. It would lead merely to results which would be untrustworthy, and which, if pressed on the Agricultural population, would discredit the Department.

"I entirely agree with the Hon'ble Member as to the necessity of improving the local type of Cattle. This is a matter which is being specially attended to at the Sibpur Farm, which is maintained by the Hathwa Estate under the advice of the Agricultural Department.

"With regard to Forests, I am glad to see the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remark that the matter is one in which the non-official circles take interest. With reference to the suggestion that a more vigorous policy might be adopted, I would inform the Hon'ble Member that the matter has had the constant attention of Government and of the Conservator of Forests. I believe the Conservator of Forests is spending every rupee that it is possible for him to spend to advantage with his present staff. I hope the staff will soon be strengthened.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remarks regarding the inquiry into the possibilities of developing the Fish Industry in Bengal, this Government is fully aware of its importance. It is hoped that the Secretary of State will agree to the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta being deputed to the United States and Canada to investigate some of the measures adopted in those countries, and that on his return an Expert from Home will be associated with him in his labours.

"As regards General Administration, I would notice the criticism of the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose on the expenditure of large sums for the Sundarbans reclamation. He objects to it on the ground that it violates the principle hitherto followed that, Government should not compete with private capitalists in such work to the detriment of the latter. The question, of Government undertaking the reclamations in the Sundarbans, was forced on us by the very unsatisfactory relations between the lease-holders and the raiyats in many of the cases where reclamation leases have been given, and it seems very desirable to try the experiment of Government dealing direct with the raiyats. In connection with this main object, when reclamations commenced in Fraserganj, it was found it might at no very great cost also be made a Sanitarium for residents of Calcutta, especially during the hot weather and after the rains.

"The Hon'ble Member has criticised at some length the Government policy in connection with the prevention of Malaria. This is not a matter dealt with by any of the departments under my charge, but, as an old District Officer, I would ask the Members of Council to bear in mind the extraordinary difficulty of dealing with the matter, not merely on account of the expenditure involved but also on account of the great difficulty in carrying with us the masses of the population (and it is necessary to carry with us the masses if any real improvement is to be effected) where any questions of sanitary reform are concerned. I believe there are many parts of the country, where to suggest that jungle should be cut down round the villagers' houses would cause a rising of the population. The jungle has been planted to secure privacy, and no amount of arguing on our part as to its insanitary nature would, in the smallest degree, reconcile the mass of the population to any attempt on the part of Government to deal with the question on sanitary lines.

"I know of no ground for the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji's allegation as to mortality in Darbhanga. The death-rate is and has for some time been unusually low. Famines are no more a terror than they used to be. Distress is now at once brought to notice where in former days no remedial measures would have been adopted, and outside the local area no one would have known.

"With regard to the remarks that have fallen from the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, on the subject of the necessity of careful work in connection with Survey and Settlement Operations and the appointment of more experienced men for decision of objections under section 103 (a), this is a matter which has constantly been drawing the attention of Government. In future, as soon as a sufficient number of Sub-Deputy Collectors have received sufficient training to enable them to do Settlement Work, no outsiders will be appointed as Settlement Officers, and I hope it may hereafter be possible to get a certain number of officers with more judicial experience. It must, however, be remembered that a more highly-trained staff involves as a rule larger expenditure, and Government has always to consider the question of preventing the costs from bearing too heavily on the people.

"Police Department.—Steady progress has been made in carrying out the reforms sanctioned by the Government of India. A Deputy Inspector-General has been appointed in special charge of the Crime Department and of Railways, and a third Range Deputy Inspector-General has been appointed. These reforms are of great importance, as it is necessary to have a senior Officer-in-charge of the Crime Department which has now become a very heavy and important one, and Railways also need special attention. The third Range Deputy Inspector-General was necessary to enable the Deputy Inspector-General to deal properly with other matters than office inspection. A very important departure has been made in the appointment of Deputy Superintendents. These appointments can only be given to Indians or Statutory Natives. A number of additional Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, Head Constables and Constables have been appointed, and 500 town chaukidars have been replaced by constables. Grade promotion has been given to a number of officers. Local and house-rent allowances have been granted to officers stationed in Howrah or Calcutta.

"Two lakhs of rupees have been spent on improvements to Police Buildings in the Mufassal and on quarters for Officers. The Police Commission specially noted the very unsatisfactory accommodation provided at many of the thanas in Bengal, and the expenditure under this head is most urgent.

"The work of the Criminal Investigation Department continues to develop, and it has during the past year achieved much success in dealing with organized crime.

"I notice that the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has criticised the allotment of funds to the District Police and the Subordinate Police Force, respectively. Out of the Government of India's grant for the years 1905-07, Rs. 11,67,000 has been given for the Provincial Police. Of this sum, Rs. 2,18,580 has been given to the Superior Force, and Rs. 9,48,420 to the Subordinate Police Force, i.e., the grant is being divided in the proportion of 18·7 to the Superior Force, and 81·3 to the Subordinate Force. This is in accordance with the ratio of the present grant to the total sum to be finally given to this Province. A comparatively large grant has been given this year to the Superior Force, as the reforms commenced with the Subordinate Establishment. In 1905-0-6, only Rs. 80,000 were spent on the Superior Force as against Rs. 7,11,000 on the Subordinate Force. A larger grant of Rs. 1,37,700 to the Superior Force this year was necessary, in order to give the same rate of progress to that branch of the Force. I would also point out to the Hon'ble Member that the grant to the Superior Police Force this year includes provision for 16 Deputy Superintendents of Police.

"Before leaving the subject of Police, I would notice a rather singular suggestion by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, regarding the reduction of Military Police. I think that instead of having too large an Armed Force it is perhaps too small. The Armed Reserves in each district are not in any sense of the word a Military Force. They merely consist of a few armed men, contantly shifting in personnel, taken temporarily from the general Police Force of the district. Their numbers vary from 20 to 50 in a district, e.g, a district like Midnapore with a population of over two million and-a-half has only an Armed Force of 50 men to prevent disturbances. Law-abiding as the population no doubt is on the whole, there are times when serious trouble is possible, and it must be remembered that these small armed bodies are only reinforced, so far as the Police are concerned, by three companies with more or less Military training. Should at any time serious trouble arise, we would have to fall back upon our troops, and I think the Hon'ble Member will recognize that it is most undesirable that troops should be, except on the most pressing emergency, called out to deal with internal troubles.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's criticism of the item of Rs. 25,000 for House-allowances to Officers of the Criminal Investigation Department, I would point out that the allowances are given to all the Subordinate Officers attached to the Criminal Investigation Department. It is a Department which is steadily increasing in importance, and it is most necessary that we should get for it the very best officers available, and we can only do so by compensating them handsomely for the extra expense involved by their appiontment to the Department and also for the more important nature of the work.

"Co-operative Credit Societies.—Mr. Gourlay, the Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies, has supplied me with a Note on the subject, from which it appears that progress during the year has been very satisfactory. The number of registered Societies has increased during the year from 57 to 151, while the unregistered Societies have decreased from 34 to 25. This is exclusive of grain banks, of which there are about 20, not including the large grain business which is being carried on in the Sonthal Parganas. A capital of 25,000 maunds is being dealt with in that district on co-operative lines.

"Mr. Gourlay has during the winter visited over a hundred villages in which Societies exist, and has gone into details regarding some 4,000 loans. He is of opinion that the movement has made great progress, and he believes the number of members in the old Societies will greatly increase when more capital is available. He is of opinion, however, and I entirely agree with him, that it is not desirable that the numbers should increase too fast. He remarks that it is better that the few should thoroughly learn their lesson rather than that many should be given a little assistance.

"A matter of very great importance is the formation of a Co-operative Central Bank, of which the village banks should be share-holders. Mr. Gourlay holds, and here again I entirely agree with him, that outside capital should rather be raised with certain Government concessions than that it should be supplied by the State. The ultimate object is to make the Co-operative Credit Societies entirely independent of the State. I believe it would be a great mistake to introduce in Bengal anything like the system of the Egyptian Land Banks. I refer to this, as it has been mentioned in the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram. Merely to facilitate borrowing would have no permanently beneficial results on the raiyats. The only effect would be to encourage them to borrow large sums of money at lower rates of interest than is now the case, but their indebtedness would remain the same. What is wanted is to provide the check of fellow-villagers on the improvident borrower. Men who know thoroughly the resources of every fellow-villager will not allow excessive borrowings by any member of the community who belongs to the bank in which they are concerned. A Central Bank, however, is necessary in order to provide capital at the time when it is needed, and to take it back at those seasons when business is slack.

"I think, in conclusion, no greater mistake could be made than to try to force the pace too much. It is essential that the banks should be built up on a solid basis. If this is done, I have no doubt that in 10 or 15 years Co-operative Societies will have afforded incalculable benefits to the rural population of this Province.

"Registration.—In connection with the Registration Department, the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh has spoken of an increase of 2 lakhs in Registration Fees. About two-thirds of this increase appears to be due to the normal growth of revenue. One-third is probably attributable to the abnormal increase in sales and mortgages of property of small value and in obligations for payment of money due to a bad year. The total increase, therefore, due to an unusally bad year is only about Rs. 66,000. The increase is regrettable, but is not so serious, I think, as the Hon'ble Member imagines.

"Appointment Department.—As regards the Appointment Department, effect has been given to the scheme for increasing the cadre of the Provincial and Subordinate Executive Service. This is a reform which has been pressed on the Government of India for several years, and it is very satisfactory that it has been possible to give effect to it during the year. The immediate effect on the administration will not be apparent, as it will take two or three years before the newly-appointed officers are fully qualified for their work. As they become available, the present strain on the administration will be sensibly reduced.

"I may perhaps refer to the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu's attack on the unsatisfactory nature of the answers given in Council. The Hon'ble Member reminds me of the benevolent Roman who shouted with the crowd: 'The Christians to the lions', not because he himself desired to see any one eaten alive but to please the populace. So too the Hon'ble Member would like to see a certain section of the Indian Press gratified by the daily sacrifice of a District Officer. The temper of that section of the Press which he would gratify revealed itself lately in its ready acceptance of a palpably forged letter, notwithstanding the District Officer's denial.

"I may note I do not accept the Hon'ble Member's version of the Sultanganj incidents derived no doubt from one of the papers belonging to that section."

'BRIEF NOTE, DATED THE 3RD APRIL, 1907, OF THE MAIN ITEMS OF PROGRESS IN THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, BENGAL, DURING 1906-07.

'1. Administration.—The separate appointment of Director of Agriculture was created with effect from the 3rd of April, 1906, and the Department of Agriculture finally established as a distinct Department of Government.

'2. Mr. H. H. Corbin, B SC., joined the Department towards the close of the year. This Officer, after undergoing the necessary training, will, it is proposed, undertake the duties of Principal of the Provincial Agricultural College.

'3. Experiment and Inquiry.—Four special Jute Farms were established during the year under the direct supervision of the Deputy Director of Agriculture for the production of specially-selected seed. Three hundred maunds of jute-seed were selected from these farms, and the demand for the seed was so great that it was all distributed by February, 1907.

'4. Some 340 acres of land were acquired at Sabaur, in the Bhagalpur district, for the construction of the Provincial Agricultural College and connected buildings, and for an Agricultural Experiment Station in connection therewith. Considerable progress was made during the year in laying out the land for the farm, in fencing, construction of cattle-sheds, clearing of trees and basti, ploughing of the land and growing fodder crops for the farm stock, and providing implements and machinery. The construction of the Superintendent's quarters was started by the Public Works Department.

'5. More than 200 acres of land were acquired for an Agricultural Experiment Station near Bankipore. The necessary establishment was appointed. The whole area ploughed up during the year and a considerable portion put under crops. Much progress has been made at this station in the construction of roads, erection of fencing, construction of cattle-sheds, manure pits, special canal distributary, etc. The farm has been fully stocked with cattle and implements. The construction of the Superintendent's quarters was started by the Public Works Department.

'6. In all, 156 bullocks were purchased at different fairs during the year for working the Departmental farms.

'7. A tassar-silk farm was opened at Chaibassa, an area of more than 50 acres being acquired for the purpose. Cattle were purchased and the necessary farm buildings and Superintendent's quarters were almost completed during the year. The land is being planted with Asan seedlings for the rearing of the tassar moths. Meanwhile, the land was ploughed and utilized for the growth of suitable crops.

'8. Special measures were taken at two centres in the Singhbhum district and in the Sonthal Parganas for disseminating a knowledge among the cotton-growers of the value of the cotton known as buri kapas. These measures have been so successful that the lint has found a ready sale, and more than 50 maunds of seed have been obtained for the Departmental Seed Store, and the cultivators were even loath to part with the seed.

'9. At the Cuttack and Burdwan stations, practical demonstrations were given that paddy and jute can be grown in the same year on the same land in rotation, with much profit. This is a matter of the utmost importance to the Bengal cultivator. Important collections were drawn as a result of the experiments on paddy at the Burdwan stations, and instructions issued in regard to the varieties, method of cultivation and manuring to be adopted in that district. Important experiments were carried out in connection with jute at the Burdwan station. All these results have been published in special leaflets which have been widely distributed both in English and in the Vernaculars.

'10. Similar action was taken in connection with jute at the Cuttack station, and an impetus given to the cultivation of jute in Orissa.

'11. At the Cuttack station, it was demonstrated that ground-nut could be profitably and suitably grown on a poor sandy loam, and seed was distributed to many districts.

'12. At the Dumraon station, it was demonstrated that the khari variety of sugarcane can be most successfully grown, and that this variety resisted the attacks of pigs, jackals and white-ants much more than the local varieties.

'13. At Jagdispur, in the Shahabad district, an important experiment was conducted through Mr. E. Mylne with a flood-resisting variety of sugarcane, known as the ikri variety, obtained from the Faridpur district. The importance of this work lies in the fact that large areas in the canal-irrigated tracts of Shahabad are liable to water-logging, and the local variety of cane, known as mango, will not stand such water-logging.

'14. At the Cuttack farm, demonstration was given of the working of a good sugarcane press, and some dozen presses were lent out in neighbouring villages for actual use.

'15. At this station, a number of apprentices were housed on the farm and given practical instruction in our farm methods.

'16. At this station also, an impetus was given to the cultivation of potatoe in the Orissa districts by practical demonstration of the cultivation of approved varieties on the farm and the distribution of tubers therefrom. There was evidence during the year of the result of this work, and that the cultivation of this valuable crop is being taken up in the Orissa districts.

'17. Measures were taken to disseminate a knowledge of the value of mangolds, field carrots and cattle parsnips as cattle-food, by having the crops grown in different parts of the Province through selected correspondents.

'18. Agricultural Education.—The plans for the Provincial Agricultural College, hostel, residences, workshop, quarters, etc., were prepared during the year and the manufacture of bricks started.

'19. A syllabus for the teaching of Agriculture in the higher classes at certain selected zilla and collegiate schools was drawn up, and a scheme prepared in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction for the preparation by competent authorities of a suitable text-book for such teaching.

'20. Two more selected students who had passed through the Sibpur Agricultural Classes were deputed to the Cornell College of Agriculture in America for two year's further training.

'21. Distribution of Literature and Informati n.—A great advance was made during the year in connection with the preparation of leaflets describing the results of the work done at the several Agricultural Stations and indicating approved methods of cultivation of certain of the most important crops. The distribution of information in this way was placed on a systematic footing during the year. Some ten leaflets were prepared and published during the year and distributed. Vernacular translations were made, where required, and distributed.

'22. Supply of Seeds, Manures and Implements.—The work in connection with the above at the Departmental Seed Store increased to such an extent during the year that the accommodation in the large godown in Pollock Street hired for the purpose, was found to be scarcely sufficient and it is possible that fur thera ccommodation will be required.

'23. Ten tons of Russian flax seed were received by the Department from Russia under the orders of the Government of India, and the greater portion of it distributed to all parts of India for experimental cultivation.

'24. Agricultural Associations.—District Agricultural Associations were established in nearly every district and Divisional Agricultural Associations in all Divisions, except Bhagalpur. Pecuniary aid was afforded to these Associations to start them in their work.

'25. The Divisional Agricultural Associations were provided with a small collection of standard-books on Agricultural subjects to form the nucleus of an Agricultural Library. Copies of all the reports, leaflets and printed papers issued by the Department were distributed to all the Associations, both divisional and district. Instructions were drawn up for the guidance of these Associations and a list of items of demonstration work recommended by the Department was drawn up and d stributed to them.

'26. The kinds of seeds to be stocked in the Departmental Seed Store was decided by a Sub-Committee of the Provincial Agricultural Association, and a list thereof printed with the earliest date of sowing, latest date for receipt of indent, seed-rate per acre, etc., and a form of indent and a form for reporting the results of experiment circulated.

'27. The formation of the Provincial Agricultural Association Library was pushed on during the year. The books arranged and a provisional catalogue prepared.

'28. Divisional Agricultural Inspectors were appointed for the Patna, Orissa, Burdwan and Presidency Divisions during the year. A Supernumerary Inspector was also entertained to fill vacancies caused by illness or leave.

'29. Agricultural Exhibitions and Shows.—Mr. N. G. Mukherji was placed on special duty for some four months in connection with the Calcutta Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, and a very fine collection of Agricultural exhibits was made by him and exhibited in a special shed, the whole cost being borne by Government. A model cattle byre was also exhibited by the Department. A complete catalogue of the exhibits was printed. All the best specimens have been carefully packed away, to form the foundation of a collection for the museum at the Provincial Agricultural College.

'30. Local Exhibitions and Shows were much encouraged by the Department, and suitable financial assistance given to them.

'31. A special staff of two Travelling Overseers was entertained to attend such shows and demonstrate the uses of approved implements, seeds and manures. These two men were specially trained for their duties. A list of all fairs was prepared in correspondence with the local officers and circulated to all District Officers, so that they might arrange that no two Exhibitions will be held on the same date, if possible, and all the fairs in the Province were divided between the two Travelling Overseers.

'32. A special grant was made to the Bihar Indigo Planters' Association to enable them to obtain the services of a Flax Expert from Europe, to teach them the best methods of treating the fibre and placing it upon the market. The Expert joined during the year.

'33. Sericulture.—A Commission was held under the presidency of the Director of Agriculture to inquire into the causes of the decline of the silk industry in the Province. The Committee submitted a report to Government, recommending certain measures for improving the condition of the industry. These recommendations are now under the consideration of this Government and of the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam.

'34. A Manual of Arboriculture was drawn up by the Director for the guidance of officers dealing with tree-planting operations, which is now in the Press.

'35. A handy list of the Chief Economic Plants grown in the Province, with their English, Botanical and Vernacular names, was drawn up by the Director for the use of Revenue-officers and Members of the various District and Divisional Agricultural Associations.'

The Hon'ble MR. K. G. GUPTA said:—"Your Honour, I propose to make a few observations with reference to the remarks made by some Hon'ble Members regarding the administration of those branches of Revenue with which I am directly concerned.

"Income-tax.—As regards Income-tax, the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji repeats his complaint about the conduct of the assessing agency. He adduces no new facts or arguments, but simply states his belief that some portion at least of the increase of Revenue must be due to the undue zeal of the subordinates. He is sceptical about 'normal expansion,' but is it not a fact that in the absence of any great and widespread calamity such as famine, war or pestilence, there is in every civilized country such a thing as normal growth of population and normal increase in its commercial, industrial and agricultural resources? And as revenue represents the tax on the aggregate productiveness of a country, it stands to reason that an increase of one must be accompanied by an increase of the other.

"Since the raising of the taxable minimum, the number of persons who are dealt with by the assessors is now less than 30,000, and the work of assessment is so closely supervised that there is little reason for the display of any undue zeal in the interest of revenue. Those who are engaged in the actual work of Administration are aware what difficulties are thrown in the way of the staff by various subterfuges assessing that are often had recourse to, to conceal the real income, and that many of the present complaints would disappear, if the assessees on their part always met the Revenue-officers frankly and honestly.

"Excise.—Coming to Excise, I fully endorse every word that has fallen from the lips of the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad and concur with him in thinking that an expansion of the revenue, which is the direct result of increased consumption, is much to be deprecated. Before proceeding further, I wish to assure my hon'ble colleague that the opening of spirit depôts need not cause any alarm, as they are a necessary part of the Contract Distillery System and that they will only supply liquor to the retail shops.

"Excise Revenue, as Hon'ble Members are aware, is made up of various items, but the three principle sources are Country Spirits, Hemp Drugs and Opium, the three together yielding about 85 per cent. of the total revenue, the share of the first being nearly 50 per cent. Figures of consumption are known in regard to hemp drugs and opium and in regard to country spirit in distillery areas, and during the 9 months of the year just closed, for which I have seen the figures, although the receipts show a heavy increase, there is a falling off in the consumption of both ganja and country spirits, opium alone exhibiting some increase. In pursuance of the policy of checking consumption by raising the tax, the duty on opium has this year been enhanced in the Orissa Division, in which the drug is very largely consumed.

"Complaints against Excise Administration are generally confined to spirit, not only because its consumption is more general but also because the evil effects of indulgence in it are more conspicuous.

"I do not think that those who advocate the closure of all liquor shops intend that they should be taken seriously or that they realize what the consequences of such a measure would be. It is well known that in countries where such an attempt has been made and under conditions more favourable than could be expected here, it has ended in sad failure. The craving for stimulants is universal and is as old as the human race, and so long as this craving exists, it is futile to attempt any measures of absolute repression. If unduly checked in one direction it will find vent in others, and the sudden and widespread growth of the cocaine habit and increased consumption of morphia pills ought to furnish a sufficient warning.

"As regards the object aimed at, viz., the promotion of temperance and sobriety, there is no difference of opinion. Everyone is agreed that all intoxicants are poisons of various degrees of potency and that their habitual use is seldom beneficial and is often most harmful. But since it is not possible to stop consumption, the wisest course is to check it by raising the cost and by regulating sale, and this, in short, is the principle upon which the Excise Revenue is raised. There have been errors and omissions, but those who have carefully studied the Excise policy of Government will admit that it has not been influenced primarily or chiefly by revenue considerations.

"In Bengal, I frankly concede that the great blot in our Excise Administration is, that outstills still prevail in a considerable part of the Province. But this is the unfortunate outcome of the endeavours made to carry out the recommendations of the Bengal Excise Commission of 1883, having for their object the establishment of a system of regulated outstills. It was, however, soon evident that the task undertaken was an impossible one and the attempt had to be given up, but it put us back for several years. Even sometime before the appointment of the recent Excise Committee, the gradual abolition of outstills was decided upon, and now that that Committee have definitely condemned the system, the process of abolition will be greatly accelerated, and it is hoped that in a few years' time they will practically disappear.

"The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh has spoken strongly on the evils of drink in Chota Nagpur. The subject has received much attention, and he will be glad to know that outstills have been abolished in Manbhum from this year, and that the question of extending the Contract Distillery System to other parts of the Division is under consideration. It is unnecessary, therefore, to take up his criticisms in detail; for it is hoped that with the disappearance of outstills and better regulation of sites and number of shops, much of the present complaints will lose their force. The opening up of the country by railways, the exploiting of its mineral resources, the starting of new industries and the extension of collieries have all tended to bring in a sudden influx of wealth, which has had its inevitable effect upon an ignorant and simple people naturally and greatly addicted to drink.

"The Excise Committee have completed their labours, and their recommendations have on the whole met with general approval. It is confidently anticipated that when under the orders of the Supreme Government effect is given to them, the Administration of Excise will show further improvement. But after all, when all is said and done, the craving for intoxicants, like any other evil propensity, cannot be eradicated but only kept under check, and that to a limited extent, by any measures of Government. The real reform must come from within, from the people themselves, by the spread of education, by the growth of a healthier public opinion and by the efforts of voluntary associations

"I have not considered it desirable to weary the Council with a mass of details, however much they might have been necessary to elucidate or support my remarks, but I have ventured to touch on a few of the more salient aspects of Excise Administration, in the hope that they may tend to remove some at least of the misconceptions that seem to exist on the subject."

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH said :—"Your Honour, I will not detain the Council for more than a moment at this late hour. I thank the Members of Council for what, I think, I may call the appreciative manner in which they have received the Budget, and for the many interesting suggestions they have made.

"Most of the points raised have been answered or touched upon by the Hon'ble Members who have spoken immediately before me, and I do not propose to go over the same ground again.

"I have listened with close attention to all the speeches, and there is one point that strikes me forcibly. On all sides, there are many urgent and pressing demands for more expenditure in one direction or another. These are a common feature throughout the debate. Here and there I heard a quiet suggestion for reducing the revenue from Income-tax, Excise or some such source. But I heard few suggestions as to where the money is to come from to meet the largely-increased expenditure which is demanded on all sides. This is a matter of much practical importance, which must always be borne in mind when making proposals for fresh expenditure.

"There are one or two points to which I may perhaps make special reference. The Hon'ble the Nawab of Murshidabad and other Hon'ble Members have pressed upon Government the need for greater activity in promoting Sanitation throughout Bengal. This is a large and important question which will receive special attention this year when the Report of the Presidency Drainage Committee is received. The difficulties are great, and I think it must be admitted that the matter is one in which Government cannot act alone. Without the aid and co-operation of the great mass of the people and of the local bodies throughout the Province, it can hardly be that the direct action of Government will serve to do all that is required. Meanwhile it cannot be asserted that Government stands idle and does nothing. Large sums have been and are being spent on the improvement of Drainage and Water-supply, mostly, but not all, through grants to Municipalities and District Boards. Our Loans Budget also makes large provision for loans to local bodies for such objects. The report of the Drainage Committee will show what further action it will be practicable to take in the near future.

"Several Hon'ble Members have referred to the improvement of the pay and prospects of Ministerial Officers. As to this, I need only repeat what I have already said in this Council. The details of the scheme are still under consideration, and there is no intention whatever of dropping it. Pending the final scheme, provisional arrangements have been made for giving a large number of officers increments in the shape of personal allowances. The provision on account of this is distributed over many heads in the Budget.

"The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh observes that under the head 'Civil Works', some of the provisions made last year have been carried over to this year. This is undoubtedly the case. The reason is, that the schemes were not sufficiently matured to admit of the expenditure for which provision was made, being incurred. Among others, the Puri Drainage Scheme was not ready. Government proposes that both the Drainage Scheme and the Water-supply Scheme at Puri should be proceeded with.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has referred to the rate of interest charged on Loans to Municipalities, District Boards and Cultivators. I would remind him that the Local Government is responsible to the Government of India both for the interest and for the principal, and that the rate of interest charged by the Local Government covers such part of the principal as becomes irrecoverable and has to be written off.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji is of opinion that the Financial Statement is not prepared in such a form as to give him all the information he wants. I will bear his remarks in mind. But it must be remembered that the first function of a Financial Statement is a Budget function. The various departmental reports issued by Government will, I expect, if read, be found to give, much if not all, of the information he seeks for in the Financial Statement. As for example, I think he might refer to the Income-tax Report for facts and figures regarding the detailed administration of that Department. I do not admit that there is any justification for the supposition that the expansion of the receipts from Income-tax is due to improper action on the part of the Assessing Officers.

"As to his remarks about the absence of details for the 'Road Cess,' I would remind the Hon'ble Member that the Budget under discussion deals only with Provincial receipts and expenditure, and not with local receipts, such as the Road Cess, which is the principal source of income of the District Boards and District Road Committees and is applied to local works and needs.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose draws attention to a number of projects for which Budget provision was made last year, but which have not been executed yet. The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis has explained about the Bhairab Valley Drainage Scheme. None of the other schemes mentioned, so far as I recollect, have been abandoned, though progress was not made with them owing to their not being ready. It frequently happens, especially when we provide for grants to Municipalities and District Boards for particular purposes, that the schemes take longer to elaborate than was expected. The alignment of the drains for the Presidency Jail refers to the new Jail now under construction and not the old Jail."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I congratulate my hon'ble friend, Mr. McIntosh, on the approval with which his Budget has been received in the Council, and Hon'ble Members generally on the manner in which they have presented their views. I do not propose to follow Hon'ble Members through all their criticisms of the Budget. It must not for a moment be presumed from my silence in regard to any of these criticisms that I do not attach importance to the matters discussed. But the Hon'ble Members who represent the various Departments of Government have given such information and explanations as appear to me to be necessary; and I need not repeat what has been already said. I shall confine my remarks to a few only of the subjects which have been brought before us.

"The high price of grain has been referred to by more than one Hon'ble Member. It is not attributed in any way to the action of Government; and no specific measures on the part of Government have been advocated. It is undoubtedly a matter which seriously affects certain classes of the community; but it is very difficult to see what action can reasonably be taken. It is desirable, however, if possible, to ascertain what are the causes that have led to these high prices. We hear of the great benefit which is accruing to many of the cultivating class; and that can only be regarded as cause of congratulation. We hear also that in many places cultivators, by taking the opportunity to replenish their stocks, are doing what necessarily conduces to high prices; but this also must be regarded with satisfaction, as it is dictated by wise regard to their interests. The crop in Eastern Bengal was a good one, but by no means a bumper crop; and the mere fact that the cultivators are keeping a certain amount of grain out of the market would tend to keep up prices. There is no doubt also that the amount of money that has come into the country has to do with this result. There are other causes which are at work, and which we are endeavouring to ascertain. We believe that, if there is a good monsoon, prices will undoubtedly fall. Meanwhile, however, Government will continue to make inquiry, and will gratefully welcome any sound information in regard to this matter.

"It is with satisfaction that I see the attention given by many Members to the important subject of Sanitation. I especially congratulate the Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur on his practical contribution to the discussion. What we want in this matter, more than anything else, is the dissemination of correct views in regard to Sanitation among the people. However anxious Government may be to secure sanitary improvement, its efforts must be futile without the co-operation of the great mass of the people. Government can direct and advise. It can undertake a few large schemes. It can give contributions to District Boards, Municipalities and other local bodies, to assist them in carrying out schemes of their own. But for real and effective progress throughout the Province reliance must be placed, as has been already said by the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis, mainly on the people themselves. Government cannot possibly take in hand schemes for cleansing and freeing from jungle every village of the Province, or for filling up or otherwise dealing with all the little breeding places for mosquitos, which exist without number in certain districts. Government may be able to conduct here and there experiments on approved lines as an inducement to the people to take the matter up for themselves; but after all, it is to the people that we must look for carrying out detailed sanitary work.

"In regard to the action that Government is taking, it is scarcely a fair way of putting it to say that 'beyond half a lakh provided for sanitary improvements in Darjeeling and certain allotments to Municipalities for Civil Works, there is no provision in the estimates for the general improvement of the sanitation of the Province.' Apart from the total provision for the maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries, leper asylums, medical and vaccination staff, and the like, which are all more or less directly connected with sanitation, there are Rs. 96,000 provided for expenditure during the prevalence of epidemics, besides allotments for experiments in connection with anti-malarial work. There are also several grants, ranging from Rs. 10,000 to Rs. 75,000 each given to various localities for water-supply and drainage. There is a large provision in the Loans Budget for advances to local bodies on account of sanitary schemes. There are five and three-quarter lakhs provided on account of the Magra Hât Drainage Scheme. And there is a reserve of about one lakh for contributions, the greater part of which will probably be devoted to grants for the improvement of sanitary schemes. Besides this, there is at work the Drainage Committee, whose report is still awaited; and it is probable that some action will have to be taken on that report.

"Altogether, I think that a careful examination of the Budget will establish that this Government is by no means indifferent to this most important subject. But, as I have said, Government can advise, lead the way, and give some assistance in regard to sanitation generally, and in regard to Plague and Malaria in particular; but the great bulk of the work has to be done by the people themselves. I think that I cannot do better here than quote an allusion to this subject in the Presidential Address at the Conference recently held at Berhampore. Mr. Deep Narain Singh said:—

'Another urgent work that the people must take in their hands is the sanitation of the Province. Facts, as disclosed by Government reports, show that there is fearful mortality in the Province * * * * * * If one were to ask what may be the foremost factor of national life, the inevitable answer comes—the physical powers of the nation, its numbers and effective fertility, its health and sanitation, the energy, vigour and absolute strength of individuals. Depreciated vitality does not help in the growth of nationality; and I appeal to my countrymen to take up the question of sanitation and hygiène in right earnest. And in this direction, I may suggest that much may be done by a band of Missionaries going into the interior, educating the people in the ordinary principles of hygiene and taking such sanitary measures as the destruction of mosquitos and rats, the cutting of jungles, the digging of tanks and wells and starting practical schemes of drainage.'

"I naturally pass from this subject to the remarks that have been made in regard to Hospitals. I am glad that the improvements that are being effected in the principal Calcutta Hospitals have attracted attention and met with approval. It appears to me that in a very short time it will be possible for this City to regard with great pride such Hospitals as the Presidency General, the Medical College, the Campbell Memorial and the Sambhunath Pandit Hospitals. The improvements that are being effected in these are altering them almost out of recognition. The subject of the paying-patients' wards in the Medical College Hospital, again referred to by my hon'ble friend, Raja Ban Bihari Kapur, has not, as he is very well aware, been neglected during the past year. It was necessary carefully to consider and to consult Indian gentlemen about the plans for these wards. It has also been found necessary to acquire new lan. for them, inasmuch as there was no suitable site available on the land at present occupied by the Medical College Hospital. This has caused delay; but the land is now being acquired; funds for the construction of one ward are at my disposal; and I expect through private liberality soon to have the funds for another. The work is being pushed forward as fast as possible.

"I note the suggestion of the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram that some of the balance of the Hospital Port Dues might be utilized for providing special accommodation for sailors. That suggestion will receive my careful consideration. I am glad to be able to add that the improvement in the accommodation and equipment of hospitals is not confined to Calcutta, but is to be found throughout the Province. In this connection, I would solicit the co-operation of the wealthy and benevolent, so that the liberality of Government may be worthily assisted. There is surely no object of benevolence that should appeal more forcibly to men of means than the provision of well-equipped hospitals for the sick.

"I should like to say one word in regard to the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, which has been referred to by more than one Hon'ble Member. There is no doubt that great delay has taken place in coming to a final decision in regard to this matter. But it must be borne in mind that the whole scheme, both in regard to the measures of improvement to be adopted and in regard to the method of financing them, has had to be referred to the public, and to be discussed by the Local Government, the Government of India and the Secretary of State. All this takes time; and it is not an easy matter, in regard to so great a scheme, to arrive at a decision which will commend itself to all those authorities. I am glad, however, to say that, with the consent of His Excellency the Viceroy, I convened a Confidential Conference at Belvedere on the 22nd of January last, which consisted of the Hon'ble Members and Secretaries in the Finance, Home and Commerce Departments of the Government of India, the principal Officers of this Government, and representatives of the Corporation and of the non-official community of Calcutta. We had before us all the opinions that had been received; and the result of that Conference I was able to submit the scheme to the Government of India in a form which will, I trust, lead to early orders being passed in regard to it. I cannot at present give information in regard to the details of the scheme on which the orders of the Secretary of State and the Government of India must be awaited.

"I sympathize with the impatience of Hon'ble Members in regard to the action to be taken in respect of the Smoke Nuisance in Calcutta. The Hon'ble Mr. Collin, however, has explained to the Council how the case stands. Nothing effective can be done until the rules under the Act have been passed. They are still under consideration; but they have advanced so far that I do not anticipate any delay in having them finally approved by the Government of India. Meanwhile, the Inspectors have been working; and I am glad to say that they have found the Mill authorities ready to accept the advice they offer. Real improvement, however, cannot be expected until the Inspectors have authority under the rules to enforce their advice.

"I do not propose to say much in regard to the Presidency College, although it is a subject to which I attach very great importance. Opinions are still being received; and I heard only this week that one of our leading Associations has some difficulty in coming to a conclusion. Like the public generally, the Members of this Association are divided in opinion on this matter. Subject to anything further that may be laid before me, I am of opinion that the Presidency College ought not to be removed from its present site, and that we ought to improve it where it stands. I cannot enter on a scheme of improvement, however, until this question is finally decided. I propose to take it up as soon as I reach Darjeeling; and I hope that before many weeks are over we shall have framed a complete scheme and shall have begun to carry it into effect.

"In regard to Education generally, I have first of all to invite attention to what has been said by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gait. I do not intend to repeat what he has said in answer to the criticisms of Hon'ble Members in regard to our educational policy. I do think that considerable progress is being made. Our object is to afford sound education in all departments and to push this forward as fast as we can. One important requirement in securing efficient education is a sound system of inspection and direction; and I am entirely in accord with what Mr. Gait has said on this subject.

"Hon'ble Members are aware of the scheme which is under consideration for providing free Primary Education. In regard to this scheme, public bodies and gentlemen interested in the subject have been consulted; and a report will be submitted to the Government of India with as little delay as possible. I hope that the schools at which this free education is given will be efficient institutions.

"We are anxious to secure good teachers; and as you have heard, we are establishing training colleges for the training of teachers who teach through the medium of English and training schools for vernacular teachers I cannot avoid mentioning here the generous endowment provided by Syed Badshah Nawab Razvi of Patna, for the training of female teachers at Bankipore. That scheme has already been submitted to the Government of India; and we expect to be able soon to submit a similar scheme for Calcutta.

"The Government of India have called for proposals for the improvement of Secondary Education; and our report will be submitted as soon as possible. In this connection, I may mention that my hon'ble friend, the Vice-Chancellor of the University, has made, on behalf of that body, a very urgent request for four Inspectors to assist the University in the work of inspecting recognized schools. My hon'ble friend has assisted this Government in the difficult task of finding in our depleted establishment the officers to conduct this inspection; and I trust that the work will be begun within two months from the present date. I think that we ought to acknowledge gratefully the great work which is being done by the University in regard to the Colleges. In this matter, the Government will render all the assistance that it can; and I trust that it will be found that something will also be done by private liberality.

"In regard to Technical Education, the conclusion at which we arrived after full discussion of the subject by experts, is that our best plan is to provide further facilities for education at the great Engineering College of the Province; and steps have already been taken to carry out that decision. Besides this, as Hon'ble Members are aware, schools for technical education generally or for particular industries are being established throughout the Province. This Government is quite prepared to go, as fast as it can, in regard to this matter; for I yield to none in regard to the importance of technical education in the development of the country. Finally, on this subject, I would say that I hail with great satisfaction the efforts that are being made by private liberality to assist in the work, both of general and technical education. I hope that those who are taking part in this good work will co-operate with the Government, and that we shall be able also to assist them. We are aiming at the same object; and it will be well for the cause that we should work in harmony together.

"In regard to the Ministerial Officers' salaries, I must say that I cannot understand how there should be any idea that there was any intention whatsoever of withdrawing from the scheme which Government had worked out. The whole subject is, however, still under consideration in connection with the report of the Committee appointed to make inquiry. At present, we are awaiting a reply from the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court whom we have consulted on the report of that Committee. It is no doubt unfortunate that there should be delay in carrying out this scheme; but it is absolutely essential that it should be fully considered in every detail before final orders issue; and in the meanwhile we have given provisional increments of pay to a large number of officers.

"I do not propose to add anything to what has been said by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gupta, in regard to Excise. The policy of Government has been frequently stated. A Commission has been appointed by the Government of India to consider the whole question for all Provinces. Orders on the report of that Commission are in course of issue; and I trust that defects which have been found to exist in our Excise system will be remedied. The circumstances of Excise Administration in certain districts of this Province are receiving special attention. The matter is not one in regard to which this Government is indifferent. The action of Government must always be cautious and circumspect; but I am very far from viewing with dissatisfaction the earnest advocacy of temperance principles. It has my entire sympathy.

"I take the keenest interest in the development of Agriculture. A separate appointment of Director of Agriculture was created with effect from the 3rd of April, 1906. But for some months before that date my friend, Mr. Oldham, who was then appointed Director, had been on special duty during the cold weather, maturing plans for the organization of the department. In my opinion, Mr. Oldham has very fully justified my selection of him for this important office. I commend to the attention of Hon'ble Members the 'Brief Note' prepared by Mr. Oldham, which has been laid on the table by the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle. It is indeed brief, and contains only the barest statements of fact. But it well deserves perusal. Among the points to which I especially invite attention is, the acquisition of land at Bhagalpur for the construction of the Provincial Agricultural College and connected buildings and for an agricultural experiment station in connection with the college. Plans for the buildings have been prepared and materials are being collected. In addition to this, steps have been taken for the teaching of agriculture in selected schools. Farms or agricultural experiment stations have been established in several centres already. Valuable experiments have been conducted. The results are published in special leaflets which have been widely distributed in English and Vernacular.

"Excellent work has been done in the distribution of seed and in the dissemination of knowledge of the value of certain crops and vegetables. Exhibitions and agricultural shows have been encouraged by the department; and trained officers have been especially employed to demonstrate the use of approved seeds and manures. The Provincial Agricultural Association has been put on a satisfactory footing; and Divisional and District Associations have been created throughout the Province. These are some of the facts which you will find stated in Mr. Oldham's note; and they indicate in how thorough and business-like a manner the work of this most important department has already been inaugurated.

"I may in one word refer to the Fishery inquiry, which has been conducted by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gupta. It has had such favourable results that proposals have been made to the Government of India and the Secretary of State which may lead to great development of the fish supply of the Province.

"I do not consider it necessary to discuss the expenditure on Police after what has fallen from my hon'ble friend, Mr. Carlyle, who has fully replied to the criticisms that have been made. As the President of the Police Commission, I am of course deeply interested in carrying out such of the measures of reform recommended by that Commission as have been accepted by the Government of India and generally approved. A great deal has already been done in this Province; and we are introducing the reforms as fast as possible. The Government of India has generously aided us, as well as other Provinces, in meeting the financial burdens which these reforms have entailed; and I gratefully acknowledge the liberality with which we have been treated.

"This leads me to say that I do not quite understand what the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji means by speaking of the precarious nature of the assistance to be rendered to us by the Government of India in regard to Famine. What has been decided on is this, that the Government of India shall assist this Government in building up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government, on which it will be at liberty to draw when it becomes necessary to incur expenditure on famine relief. To form this reserve of credit an assignment of Rs. 2,60,000 is to be made annually up to a maximum of twenty-five lakhs. When famine occurs, the Local Government will draw upon the amount standing to its credit to meet its famine expenditure; and the expenditure will thus be Imperial expenditure. If the reserve of credit is exhausted, any further expenditure on famine relief will be shared between the Imperial and Local Governments. Thus, in ordinary cases, the expenditure will be Imperial; in more severe cases one half of the excess over the amount to the credit of the Local Government will be Provincial; and in extreme cases, the Government of India have intimated their intention of rendering special assistance. This constitutes a very considerable safeguard against dislocation of finance by famine, and leaves any great burden to the Provincial revenues only, in case of unprecedentedly severe distress. This has certainly placed us in a far better position than we were in before, and seems to me to be for us a very satisfactory arrangement. My hon'ble friend advises that we should save for famine; but the position is that the Government of India have agreed to save money for us, and that is better.

"I cannot pass over the speech of my hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, without one or two remarks. His remarks regarding Education (though not always well considered) have not fallen in this Council on unsympathetic ears. It is not possible, at a day or even a few years' notice, to accomplish all that one would desire to accomplish in regard to Education. But as I have already said, we are making marked progress; and I welcome the appreciative language in which the Hon'ble Member has referred to the good work which is being done by the present Director. Mr. Earle is putting the Education Depart-

Department of this Province on a sound footing; and his success in this work is due both to his special administrative capacity and also to the fact that the sphere of his operations is now such as may be dealt with more effectively by one man. I trust that the era of progress which has been inaugurated will continue to the great advantage of this Province.

"In the second part of his speech the Hon'ble Member refers in caustic language to some of the replies to interpellations in Council. It has been the object of this Government to make these replies in Council as clear and full as possible. The law, as it stands, does not allow a meeting of Council purely for the purpose of interpellations; but as most of the Hon'ble Members know, this Government has sometimes even adopted the device of announcing purely formal business, so that there might be a meeting at which the right of interpellation might be exercised; and it has been the object of Government to give courteous and clear answers to questions put. Occasionally, however, the answer must of necessity be unsatisfactory, if the object of the question is one which the Government cannot approve.

"Of the cases particularly referred to by the Hon'ble Member, one was a prosecution which led to a conviction before a Magistrate and to an acquittal by the Appellate Court. It seemed altogether unnecessary for the Government to intervene in this particular case. If the conviction was wrong, it had been set aside. If the acquittal was wrong, the Government was not justified in criticising it unless it desired to make an appeal to higher judicial authority. The other case was one in which what professed to be a report of certain confidential conversation between the Collector and some gentlemen of the district was published; and the Government was asked whether it would deal with the Collector in respect of these conversations. The Government refused; because it is considered very inexpedient that there should be any interference with the confidential relations that naturally exist between zealous and kindly officers and Indian gentlemen.

"The Hon'ble Member himself has not infrequently, either on my invitation or on his own motion, discussed with me privately the propriety or wisdom of certain courses of action which he has followed. I have frankly given him my advice. He has sometimes taken it; and he has sometimes rejected it. I should have considered it a grave breach of confidence if, in either case, he had published it, and had attributed his line of action to me. I hold that these gentlemen were justified in seeking the advice of the Collector, and the Collector was justified in giving it. The Collector had no desire to enforce his advice; and the Government has no desire to prevent him from giving friendly and confidential interviews to gentlemen of the district.

"With reference to another remark of the Hon'ble Member, I may add the expression of my satisfaction that there has been no abuse in this Province of the important provisions of the law regarding the employment of special constables; and I decline altogether to follow the Hon'ble Member in his somewhat distorted review of the recent history of another Province.

"The suggestion has been made by some Hon'ble Members that the Budget might give more adequate information as to what is being done. I think that there has been some confusion of idea. A Budget is not an Annual Report. All the same, I think myself that it would be a very good thing if the Head of each of the principal Departments would draw up, in time for the Budget discussion, a brief statement showing its actual expenditure and the work that he has done during the past year, and also briefly indicating what he proposes to do during the coming year. I do not mean that this statement should indicate only any changes that are to be introduced, but the general work of the department. I shall think this matter out; and I shall also consult non-official Members of Council before deciding as to the orders which I shall issue on the subject. Our object is to make our position, as indicated in the Budget, intelligible to the ordinary reader; and I trust that we shall be able to do something in this respect.

"I am glad to hear the acknowledgment made of the informal action which I took this year in inviting non-official Members of Council to meet with the Secretaries in the various departments of Government and discuss the Budget before it was submitted to the Council. This was the first experiment in this direction. I hope that next year I shall be able to take measures which will make this even a more effective means of ascertaining opinion in regard to the work of Government. I shall certainly allow Hon'ble Members who attend the Conference to have an opportunity of studying the Budget, beforehand; and I hope that the advice and assistance which they will give me will be of no mean value.

"I should like to see the Province, in its different parts and its diverse interests, more fully represented in the Council than it is at present. It is a great regret to me, for example, that I have no non-official representative of the Patna or Orissa Divisions in the Council. This is due to circumstances over which, in the present constitution of the Council, I have really no control. I am very anxious that this difficulty should be removed; and as you are aware, I have, in this matter, the entire concurrence of His Excellency the Viceroy and the Government of India."

REPORT OF THE BRUCE INSTITUTION FOR THE YEAR 1906.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 48T.—G.—The 15th April 1907.—The following is published for general information:—

W. S. MILNE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT OF THE BRUCE INSTITUTION
FOR THE YEAR 1906.

1. Control.—(1) During the year under review Sir Alexander Pedler, F.R.S., C.I.E., Director of Public Instruction, and ex-officio Governor and Honorary Secretary, Bruce Institution, retired from Government service and was succeeded by Mr. A. Earle, I.C.S.

(2) The following gentlemen were appointed to be Governors during the year:—

(1) Mr. A. M. Monteath, vice Mr. D. M. Hamilton, resigned.
(2) Mr. E. Upton (Barrister at-Law), vice Mr. L. P. Pugh (Barrister-at-Law), resigned.
(3) The Ven'ble Archdeacon Luckman, vice the Ven'ble Archdeacon Saunders Dyer, deceased.
(4) The Revd. Father A. Van de Mergel, S.J. (re-appointed).

(3) The following is a list of Governors holding office at the close of the year:—

The Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal ... ... } Ex-officio.
The Most Revd. the Lord Bishop of Calcutta ... ...
The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals ... ...
The Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality ... ...
The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal (Honorary Secy.)
Mr. A. M. Monteath.
Mr. E. Upton.
The Ven'ble Archdeacon Luckman.
The Revd. Father A. Van de Mergel, S.J.
The Revd. Titus Lowe.

II. Capital and Income.—The capital of the Institution stood, as in the previous year, at Rs. 10,51,200, of which Rs. 10,46,200 are in the form of a 3½ per cent. stock certificate of the year 1865. The balance, viz., Rs. 5,000, is invested in 3½ per cent. Government securities. The annual interest on the capital amounts to Rs. 36,792. The year opened with a balance of Rs. 1,661-3-5, and closed with one of Rs. 20,388-5-5. The reason why the opening balance was unusually small is that the second half-yearly interest of Rs. 18,396 for the year 1905, which is generally received in December, was not received till January 1906.

III. Election to vacancies, etc.—(1) The annual election of foundationers was held in the month of January as usual. For the 21 vacancies advertised, 56 applications were received. Three more vacancies having subsequently occurred, 24 girls were elected on the recommendation of a sub-committee consisting of the Ven'ble the Archdeacon Saunders Dyer, the Revd. Father A. Van de Mergel, S.J., the Revd. Titus Lowe, and Mr. W. W. Hornell. Of the girls elected, 12 were placed at the Loreto Convent, Entally (10 at the Orphanage and 2 at the Boarding school), 7 at the Calcutta Girls' School, 1 at the Pratt Memorial School, 1 at St. Paul's Mission Home, 2 at La Martinière, Calcutta, and 1 at the Old Church Parochial Home.

(2) Of the 25 girls who were withdrawn during the year, 16 had attained the age of 17 years—the limit of age ordinarily allowed under the rules; while 4 were withdrawn for various reasons before they had attained that age. The names of the 5 remaining girls were removed on account of continued absence.

(3) Of the eleven girls who were withdrawn during the course of the year and in respect of whom reports have been received, three are learning shorthand and type-writing, while a fourth is seeking employment in that line; two are employed as assistant teachers; two are studying for the High School examination, of whom one intends later on to apply for admission into the Government Training College at Kurseong; one has been married and another is about to be married; while the eleventh is studying at school in the Middle standard. At the close of the year there were 131 girls on the foundation—the same number as in the preceding year. They were distributed as shown below:—

(4) The following table affords particulars as to the class and religion of the foundationers at the close of the year:—

Total ...	55	44	32	131

IV. Education and Maintenance.—(1) The nature of the education imparted to the girls on the foundation is generally that prescribed for primary and middle schools for Europeans. In exceptional cases a higher education is given. Parents and guardians are allowed to choose any school for the education of their children or wards, provided that such a school is approved by Government as suitable. A sum of Rs. 21-8 or of Rs. 16 a month is paid for the education and maintenance of each foundationer in a boarding school or an orphanage, as the case may be. A sum of Rs. 40 or of Rs. 25 is also allowed for each foundationer for outfit on joining a boarding school or orphanage, as the case may be. Under the rules a girl is not ordinarily allowed to remain at school after she has attained the age of 17 years, when an outfit grant of Rs. 50 is given to enable her to make a start in life. If, however, a girl elects to take up teaching as a profession, some extension of time is generally allowed. One such extension was granted during the year. Short extensions, not exceeding a few months, are also generally allowed to enable foundationers to appear at the examinations prescribed under the Code of Regulations for European Schools. Five such extensions were granted during the year.

(2) The average monthly cost of the education and maintenance of each girl on the Fund amounted to Rs. 18-12-1, as against Rs. 18 12 in the preceding year.

(3) The total amount paid under the different heads of expenditure was as shown below:—

V. Inspection.—The Revd. Father A. Van de Mergel was appointed Visiting-Governor for the first half-year, and re-appointed to the same office for the second half-year. He stated in his first report that he had visited all the schools in Calcutta where Bruce foundationers were being educated, and that he was very favourably impressed by the good work done in the different institutions. His second report was to a similar effect.

VI. Meetings of the Governors.—Four meetings were held during the year.

• The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

1. A measuring tape.
2. A magnetic compass.
3. Squared paper and tracing paper.

5. A globe, not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface, and with lines of latitude and longitude, and outlines only of the land-masses, marked upon it.

13. Physical maps of the continents and of the British Isles.

It is essential that the students should be provided with atlases, or with the necessary hand-maps. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail, or be crowded with names.

II.—The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided:—

1. A wet and dry bulb thermometer.
2. A barometer.
3. A rain gauge.
4. A large globe coloured to indicate land relief and ocean depths.
5. A relief globe.
6. Small hand globes for the use of pupils.

16. Mill's International Geography.
17. A geographical gazetteer.
18. Geographical wall pictures.

The total cost of this supplementary equipment need not exceed Rs. 400, and can be reduced if Schools will make their own collections of rocks and typical products.

III. (1) Valuable information regarding geographical equipment and all other matters connected with the teaching of geography is to be found in the Geographical Teacher, the organ of the Geographical Association, published three times a year, at one shilling a copy.

(2) Globes of all kinds are made by George Philip and Son, London, W. and A. K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston, London.

Small hand globes of German make can be obtained through the Calcutta School Book Society for about a rupee each.

(3) The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Philip and Son is good and up to date; so also are the Orographical wall maps published by Edward Stanford. Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which includes maps of India illustrating various distributions.

Messrs. Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B. Chatterjee publishes District maps; also ordinary and relief maps of the Province.

Babu L. M. Basu, the drawing master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Lablache French wall maps on strong card board, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armand Colin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs. 4-14 each.

(4) The hand maps, coloured to indicate relief, published by the Diagram Company, West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each, are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half-penny maps, showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company, are excellent for class use.

The Autograph hand maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Edward Stanford London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15 inches map of the World on Mollweide's equal area projection is especially to be commended.

(5) Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Messrs. Hachette of Paris, and Messrs. Hölzel of Vienna. They cost, delivered in India, from two to three rupees each.

Map lantern slides, and view slides especially prepared for geography teaching, are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each.

6. The best meteorological atlas published in Britain is Bartholomew's, and the most recent geographical gazetteer in English is that published by J. B. Lippincott, of Philadelphia and London.

The 22nd April 1907. } Registrar.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

PROSPECTUS FOR ADMISSION.

THIS school is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Majesty the King when Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The school was formally opened on the 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60. Preference is to be given to Biharis. Failing, however, a sufficient number of Bihari applicants, students who are natives of other provinces may be admitted, preference being given to Bengalis domiciled in Bihar over non-domiciled Bengalis or other applicants.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final "B" class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference again being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

3. The school, as at present constituted, is chiefly engaged in training students for appointments as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of elementary mathematics.
(2) Careful training in survey work.
(3) Drawing both free-hand and engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice, with hand tools and machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department. The necessary additional buildings have now been completed; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this school, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next session will commence on 1st July 1907.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8, except for non-domiciled Bengalis, who shall pay Rs. 4. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the school, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below :—

(1) The Entrance examination of an Indian University in English and mathematics
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests, and who are otherwise eligible, will have to pass an examination in English and mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 4th and 5th July, respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars :—

(a) Name, address, and occupation of father or guardian.
(b) Race and religion. (A domiciled Bengali must produce evidence to show that his father with his family have taken up their residence in Bihar.)
(c) A certificate of good moral character from last head-master.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age).
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.
(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin-student is taught elementary surveying with a corresponding amount of mathematics and of geometrical drawing. He will not be admitted to the workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department, who fails to pass the examination, for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of elementary surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class may, at his option, leave the school with an Amin certificate.

Candidates for Amin class, who have not passed the middle English or middle vernacular examination, will be examined at the school on the 4th July; candidates failing at this examination will not be admitted.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the session that commences from 1st July 1907, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1907.

10 All candidates for admission to the school should present themselves personally at the school on 1st July.

11. There is a hostel in connection with the school. The fees are Re. 1-8 for room and Re. 1 for light. Students make their own mes arrangements. Students joining the Overseer classes must reside in the hostel unless they are residents with parents or with nearly related guardians whose homes are near enough to enable them to attend the school at the required times. The Principal of the College will decide whether a student should reside in the school hostel, or whether the guardian proposed can be accepted as such.

And whereas a Convention was concluded on the twelfth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and five, between His Majesty and the President of the United States of America, for the mutual extradition of fugitive criminals, which Convention is in the terms following:

His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Emperor of India, and the President of the United States of America, being desirous of enlarging the list of crimes on account of which extradition may be granted under the Conventions concluded between the United States and Great Britain on the twelfth July, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and the thirteenth December, one thousand nine-hundred, with a view to the better administration of justice and the prevention of crime in their respective territories and jurisdictions, have resolved to conclude a Supplementary Convention for this purpose and have appointed as their Plenipotentiaries, to wit:

Resolution No. 7057-Exc., dated the 18th December 1906.

Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution be published for general information in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

J. S MESTON,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

No. 7057Exc, dated Calcutta, the 18th December 1906.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance Department.

THE Government of India propose to deal separately with the various portions of the Report of the Excise Committee appointed by their Resolution No. 5001-Exc., dated the 7th September 1905, and simultaneously with the connected parts of the Report by Major C. H. Bedford, I.M.S., on the "quality, manufacture and Excise control of alcoholic liquors in India," which have been already communicated to the various Local Governments and Administrations. The present Resolution is concerned with the matters dealt with in Chapters II and IX of the former report, namely, arrangements or concessions outside the scope of the ordinary Excise systems and country beers.

2. The concessions outside the scope of Excise systems are classified by the Excise Committee under two heads, viz., (a) personal privileges, and (b) concessions to backward tribes. As stated in paragraph 8 of the Committee's Report, personal Excise privileges are at present allowed only in three provinces (the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Ajmer-Merwara), and in the first two of these they will shortly disappear. As regards Ajmer-Merwara, the Committee express the opinion that the concession of the free distillation of spirits for personal consumption which is allowed to the tasimi istimrardars here leads to the demoralisation of the younger men of the privileged families, and they accordingly recommend that it should cease with the lives of the present holders. This suggestion commends itself to the Government of India.

3. The concessions to backward tribes are enumerated in paragraph 9 of the Committee's report. They relate mainly to the free brewing of country beers, while in respect of spirits and tari they are comparatively insignificant. The Committee have found (paragraph 11 of the Report) that drunkenness in many of the privileged areas is "undoubtedly prevalent to a lamentable extent, and is, generally speaking, limited by the opportunities and habits of the aborigines to the season when there is abundance of tari or mahua for distillation or of rice or other grain for the making of beer." Their general recommendation in regard to the continuance of these concessions is (paragraphs 11, 13 and 16 of the Report) that while the progressive restriction of the areas of privilege, and the gradual introduction of control with a view to the diminution of intemperance, should be kept steadily in view by the local Governments concerned, no attempt should be made to introduce a regular Excise system in places where the Government have not the means of exercising complete control over the operations of the liquor seller. The Government of India entirely concur in this view.

4. The Committee (paragraphs 12 and 14 of the Report) are not agreed as to the desirability of imposing nominal fees for the exercise of the privileges above referred to, a policy which has been defended as a first step towards regular control and criticised as giving trouble to the people without affording any real check on consumption. They hold, however, that if such fees are maintained they should be made more uniform and the method of collection put under better control, especially in Bengal. While the Government of India are inclined to favour the retention of such fees, they propose to leave the matter to the discretion of the Local Governments concerned.

5. In paragraph 15 of the Report the Committee refer to the difficulties which are entailed by the enforcement of a limit of individual possession of liquor in the privileged tracts such as has been prescribed in Bengal and in Eastern Bengal and Assam. They find that such restrictions have been of use in the direction of diminishing illicit sales and excessive private possession, but have sometimes been used as a means of extortion by Excise subordinates. As they point out, this policy of restruction on possession should only be undertaken when the establishment which has to work it can be effectively supervised and controlled.

6. As regards particular provinces, the Committee's suggestions (paragraphs 13 and 14 of the Report) are as follows:—

(1) In Bengal the suppression of home-brewing of pachwai should begin with the withdrawal of the privilege from the isolated aboriginal settlements in which a system of house-tax is now in force and should be gradually extended to other areas as the country is opened up and regular administration established. The varying fees levied for the privilege in question in certain districts should be made more uniform and the method of collection put under better control.

(2) Similar steps in regard to the suppression of home-brewing should be taken in Eastern Bengal, while in Assam the Local Government is already taking steps towards the withdrawal of the right of free distillation of spirits in the Khasi and Jaintia Hills.

(3) In the Punjab, wherever the privilege of home-brewing is granted subject to the payment of a nominal fee, arrangements should be made for the grant of licenses with as little trouble to the people as possible.

(4) In Madras—(a) Certain areas within the privileged tracts, especially along the banks of the Godavari and Sabari rivers, should at once be brought under more regular Excise administration, and a similar policy should be applied in the near future to the country to be opened up by the Vizianagram-Raipur Railway.

(b) The whole of the privileged tracts should be brought under the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, and the Commissioner of Abkari should be empowered to advise and investigate in regard to Excise matters in these tracts. This should not, however, involve any obtrusive interference with the authority of the Agents to the Governor or the introduction of special Excise establishments.

(c) The poll tax levied from the Koyas and Reddis of the Godavari district for the privilege of free distillation of spirits should be abolished along with the privilege itself.

(5) In Bombay the question of introducing a light tree-tax in the Panch Mahals district (which is already under the consideration of the local authorities) should be pursued, and as the condition of the kaliparaj (backward aboriginal races) improves, the specially low rates of tree-tax which are at present levied on trees tapped by them for tari should be gradually increased.

(6) In the Central Provinces the existing prohibition against the location of shops in or near what is known as the Baiga reserve, which the local authorities desire to withdraw, should be maintained unless it can be shown that, in the absence of licensed shops, unlicensed sales are responsible for a large amount of drunkenness, and that the licensed shops which it is proposed to open can be properly controlled.

These conclusions and recommendations have the approval of the Government of India.

7. As regards country beers, which are discussed in Chapter IX of the Committee's Report, Major Bedford has, as the result of his enquiries, arrived at the following conclusions:—

(1) The liquors in question have, generally speaking, a lower alcoholic strength than spirits, but are consumed in larger quantity, the net results being that about the same amount of absolute alcohol is consumed by the drinker of either class of liquor.

(2) At the same time, in consequence of the fact that in drinking spirits the toxic amount of alcohol is more quickly reached and more easily exceeded than in the case of fermented liquors, the former may be regarded as more noxious than the latter.

(3) The noxious effect of bye-products is in either case negligible.

(4) In nutritive value country beers, though inferior to toddy, are, generally speaking, superior to beers manufactured after European processes in and out of India.

(5) The yeast from which country beers are manufactured is generally weak and is not infrequently drugged with poisonous alkaloids, such as aconite, nux vomica, dhatura, etc. (The yeasts actually examined by Major Bedford were, however, not found to contain any poisonous ingredients.)

8. The views of the Excise Committee on the question of the improvement of the Excise system in respect of country beers in areas outside the privileged tracts are stated in paragraphs 175—181 of their Report. As they explain, the policy hitherto adopted has been to favour the consumption of country beers on the ground that they are a wholesome and moderate form of stimulant, the result being that the number of licenses granted for the sale and home-brewing of these beers and the revenue derived therefrom have steadily increased. After summarising and discussing the objections to the continuance of this policy, the Committee express the opinion that "while there may be grounds, hygienic or other, for the favourable treatment of these liquors among the hill tribes in Assam and elsewhere, there are, generally speaking, none entitling them to be treated differently from other alcoholic liquors; that, in the matter of inducing drunkeness, they are entitled to consideration on the ground of their low strength but on no other; that the present method of sale tends to be both a public nuisance and a public danger; and that a much greater measure of control than is at present exercised is necessary if they are not to be a serious impediment to progress in Excise reform in the districts in which their consumption is most common."

9. Apart from the proposals for the restriction of the privileges of home-brewing referred to above, the Committee recommend the application of the following further measures of reform—primarily to the Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura and Murshidabad districts of Bengal (where the consumption of the liquors in question is most general), and secondarily to other areas in so far as circumstances may admit of their application there:—

(1) As the restriction of home-brewing proceeds, the policy of supplying the legitimate demand for the liquors in question by licensed shops should continue, but the sites for the shops should be selected judiciously, care being taken on the one hand that no undue temptation is put in the way of aboriginal tribes and, on the other that they are not driven to the use of country spirits

(2) Taxation should for the present be realised by the existing system of simple auctions.

(3) The question of imposing a minimum price should be considered.

(4) Licenses should be granted for a term of years and the licensees' liability in the matter of providing better and more sanitary premises, good wells, and proper utensils should be strictly enforced.

(5) The possession on licensed premises of nux vomica, dhatura or other similar poisons should be made punishable, and licensees should be required to submit periodically for chemical analysis samples of liquors as actually sold by them.

(6) Local enquiries should be made as to the possibility of introducing a system of licensing the manufacture of bakhar, and a scientific investigation should be set on foot with a view to determining the proper ingredients of the stuff. The Committee prefer this latter proposal to Major Bedford's suggestion (page 202 of his Report) for the official issue of yeast.

(7) Lastly, responsible officers should be employed to control the shopkeeper's operations to see that good rice and clean water are used, and to check the occurrence of drunkenness.

10. The Government of India accept the Committee's suggestions subject to the following remarks: (a) Licenses for the manufacture and vend of pachwai and other similar liquors should be auctioned for a longer period than one year, so as to give the licensees larger interest in maintaining proper premises and appliances. Such licenses should not, however, be granted for a term exceeding three years, inasmuch as it is undesirable to allow the growth of anything of the nature of vested interested in Excise shops.

(b) If the fifth proposal in paragraph 9 above means that special penal legislation should be undertaken to deal with the possession in licensed vend premises of poisonous materials, such as dhatura, the Government of India are entirely averse to such a course They consider that action with regard to the possession of materials of this description quâ poisons should be taken under the Indian Penal Code or the Poisonous Act, and not as a matter of Excise law. Their possession by Excise licensees ought. however, to be made a ground for the cancellation of a license.

(c) The Government of India are altogether opposed to Major Bedford's suggestions that Government should make and supply yeast to liquor manufac turers The local enquiries suggested by the Committee as to the possibility of introducing a system of licensing the manufacture of bakhar should, however, be instituted. Meanwhile Major Bedford will be asked to undertake a scientific investigation with a view to determining its proper ingredients.

(d) The action proposed in paragraph 9 (7) should be taken by the regular Excise staff of the Province and not by a special agency appointed for the purpose.

(e) The Government of India would not object, where this may be deemed necessary, to shops being provided with good wells at Government expense.

11. They would further suggest, for the consideration of other Local Governments, the desirability of enforcing the responsibility of a licensee for the sobriety of his customers by a provision, similar to that already in force in Assam, that, in cases where drunkenness amounting to a public nuisance occurs in the vicinity of a shop, the shopkeeper will be liable to have his license cancelled and to forfeit his earnest money. Care must, however, be taken that this measure, if adopted, is not used as a means of blackmail by departmental subordinates.

12. The attention of the Government of Bengal will be drawn to the remarks made in paragraph 18 of this Department's letter to the address of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, No. 3947-Exc., dated the 11th July 1905,* with reference to the consumption of country beers in the Sambalpore district, where it appears that some restriction on the sale of this article is very desirable.

* Copy forwarded herewith to the Government of Bengal for ready reference.

13. It is requested that the Local Governments concerned will report, as soon as possible, the extent to which they will be prepared to give early effect in the areas administered by them to the recommendations of the Committee in so far as these have been approved by the Government of India.

ORDERED, that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations, for information and guidance, and also to Major Bedford, with reference to paragraph 10 (c) above, with the request that he will undertake the necessary investigation to determine the proper ingredients of bakhar.

NEW MEMBER.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT, C.I.E., took his seat in Council.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the articles headed "Howrah Rate-payers and the Assessments" and "Howrah Municipal Methods" which appeared in the "Statesman" of the 23rd and the 26th March, respectively, to the report of the proceedings of the Protest Meeting, held at Sibpur, which appeared in the issue of the Bengali of the 27th March, and to the correspondence regarding Howrah Municipal Assessment in its issue of the 28th instant, and also to the editorial remarks on the same subject in the Statesman of the 28th March? If so, does the Government propose to make any inquiry as to the alleged illegality and oppressiveness of the recent re-valuation of the Town of Howrah?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied:—

"Government has no reason to suppose that the re-assessment has been made otherwise than in accordance with law. It is open to any assessee who is dissatisfied with his assessment to apply to the Municipal Commissioners for a review."

MUNICIPAL TAXES IN HOWRAH.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—

In view of the fact that Howrah is already the most heavily-taxed Mufassal Municipality in Bengal as admitted in the last Report on Municipal Administration, the rate per head being stated therein as Rs. 3-8-3, which works up to about Rs. 36 per head of the rateable population, will the Government be pleased to take any steps to prevent further increase of taxation in that Municipality?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied:—

"It rests with the Municipal Authorities to levy their rates and taxes in accordance with law."

RE-VALUATION OF HOLDINGS IN HOWRAH.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the previous valuation and the present re-valuation of each of the holdings situated within the limits of the Howrah Municipality?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied:—

"The valuation lists are open to inspection in the office of the Municipal Commissioners."

SALARIES OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to state when effect will be given to the scheme for improvement of salaries of ministerial officers, which has been deferred for a long time and has in consequence retarded the grant of relief to these hard-worked officers?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied:—

"The details of the scheme are still under consideration. The Hon'ble Member is perhaps aware that a provisional increase of pay in the shape of personal allowances has already been sanctioned for a large number of officers pending the elaboration of the final scheme."

EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH asked:—

Is the Government aware that the recent re-organization of the Educational Service, which has benefited to some extent the officers of the Upper Subordinate Service and for which the country feels immensely grateful, has yet failed to give relief to the very large class of useful officers who have constituted what is called the Lower Subordinate Service and in whose case the relief was all the more needed, and if so, will it kindly take early steps to better their position, especially in view of the desirability recently expressed by the Government of India that the lowest salary of a teacher employed in a Secondary School should be at least Rs. 40 month?

In connection with the above question, will the Government be pleased to take into consideration the following points:—

(a) Instances are numerous to show that, so far as these hard-worked but poorly-paid officers are concerned, the re-organization, instead of removing, has rather created discontent, the result having fallen far short of the expectations raised at first. The very grading of this branch of the service with the annual increment of only one rupee a month, in all classes but one, is the most discouraging, and the number of appointments in the senior classes being disproportionately low, many officers find themselves just where they were years ago, in spite of the re-organization, with hardly any prospect in the near future to cheer them up.

(b) Under existing arrangements, an officer entering on Rs. 15, and this sum hardly suffices in the present age to support one man, may expect to draw Rs. 45 after full 30 years' service, assuming that his promotion is uninterrupted, though that is by no means the case, the maximum of a grade being the halting station in the upward march for many a weary year. As an example of the disappointing character of the present scheme, I may point out that an officer, who has been working since 1883, and who rose long before the re-organization to Rs. 20 a month, is now in the Rs. 15-1-20 grade, and that pretty low down the list, so that it will yet take him two to three years to rise to the next higher grade and then stop there for another year to draw his first annual increment of Re. 1. There are, I believe, many such cases on the list.

(c) Again, officers who were getting Rs. 30 a month before the re-organization, plus Rs. 3 as grain compensation allowance, so kindly granted by Government, have been deprived of the latter, simply by virtue of their being placed under the new scheme in Class II (Rs. 30—1—35) of the Lower Subordinate Service and entitled to get an increment of Re. 1 a month on that account. In their case, therefore, the intended blessing has only proved a curse, causing an actual loss of Rs. 2 a month in these hard times.

(d) A state of things like this is sure to give rise to a spirit of disinclination to work, and calls for early remedy. In whatever shape the remedy is to come, it may be urged, it would cost an extra expenditure. But considering the importance of the matter, a lakh or so would be a sum well spent in this direction, at a time when Government is finding huge amounts for re-duplicating the inspecting agency, the necessity for which is open to question.

(e) If progressive salaries are absolutely necessary, and there is no reason why they should be so, when the Provincial and the Upper Subordinate Services can do without them, the minimum pay and the periodical increment should at any rate be raised to such an extent as may afford adequate relief to these qualified officers, most of whom are graduates or undergraduates of the University.

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member's question is in a more argumentative form than is authorized by rule. But the Government has no objection to reply to it.

"The question of the re-organization of the Lower Subordinate Educational Service will come under consideration in connexion with the proposals made by the Government of India in regard to Secondary Education and the Director will be asked to submit his proposals on this subject when reporting on the letter of the Government of India.

"The Director will also be asked to consider the cases referred to in paragraph (c) of the question; and if he finds that hardship has occurred in any cases to submit separate proposals in regard to them, pending submission of his general report."

DRUNKENNESS IN RANCHI.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said :—

I have the honour to invite the attention of the Government to a memorial on the subject of excessive drunkenness in the district of Ranchi which was adopted at a meeting of some of the representative people in the district presided over by the Bishop of Chota Nagpur and submitted to Government through the Deputy Commissioner of the district in the beginning of January last?

Will the Government be pleased to state if any inquiry has been instituted in the matter and any steps taken to check the excessive growth of drunkenness in the said district?

The Hon'ble MR. MCINTOSH replied :—

"The memorial has been submitted to Government by the Commissioner and will receive most careful consideration. The prevalence of drunkenness in the district is admitted, and both the local officers and Government are anxious to take whatever steps are possible and right to check it."

CIVIL JUSTICE IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

Does the High Court exercise any powers of superintendence over the Civil Work of the Sub-divisional Officers in the Sonthal Parganas and do the Administration Reports issued by the High Court deal with the Civil Work of such Sub-divisional Officers?

The Hon'ble Mr. GAIT replied :—

"(a) Under section 8 of the Sonthal Parganas Justice Regulation No. V of 1893, the Local Government may appoint any Sub-divisional Officer to exercise the powers of a Subordinate Judge and Sub-divisional Officers are ordinarily invested with such powers.

"These Courts are established under the Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Assam Civil Courts Act (XII of 1887), and section 10 of the Regulation gives the High Court power to hear appeals from such Courts.

"The High Court, however, has not a similar authority over the Courts of the Sub-divisional Officers established under section 2 of Act XXXVII of 1855.

"(b) The answer to the Hon'ble Member's second question is in the negative."

THE BENGAL TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1906.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and supplement the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"The amendments to be proposed by me are substantially drafting amendments, to remove defects found in the drafting of the Bill since its presentation in the form recommended by the Select Committee. Their object is to put into their proper position in the Act new sections which it is proposed to insert, to improve the wording in some cases, and in other cases to make provision to prevent the clashing of the jurisdiction of Revenue and Civil Courts. None of the amendments in any way change or affect the principles of the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 1.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that sub-clause (2) of clause 1 be omitted as being unnecessary. He said:—

"I have been advised that, as a matter of drafting, the sub-clause is quite unnecessary, and I therefore propose that it should be omitted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Section 3 of Act VIII of 1885.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion standing in his name, that in clause (9) of section 3 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, after the word "raiyat" the words "or held under the entire body of landlords or under some of them under a separate contract" be inserted.

Clauses 5 and 6.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that sub-clause (3) of clause 5 be omitted, and for clause 6 the following be substituted, namely:—

"6. After section 18 of the said Act, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"CHAPTER IVA.

"PROVISIONS AS TO TRANSFERS OF TENURES AND HOLDINGS AND LANDLORDS' FEES.

Saving as to statements in instruments of transfer where landlord not party.

"18A. Nothing contained in any instrument of transfer to which the landlord is not a party shall be evidence against the landlord of the permanence, amount or fixity of rent, area, transferability or any incident of any tenure or holding referred to in such instrument.

Saving as to acceptance of landlords' fees.

"18B. The acceptance by a landlord of any landlord's fee payable under Chapter III or Chapter IV in respect of any tenure or holding shall not operate—

(a) as an admission as to the permanence, amount or fixity of rent, area, transferability or any incident of such tenure or holding, or

(b) as an express consent under section 88 to the division of such tenure or holding or to the distribution of the rent payable in respect thereof.

"18C. All landlords' fees paid under Chapter III or Chapter IV, which are held in deposit on or after the commencement of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1907, may, unless accepted or claimed by the landlord within three years from such commencement or from the date of the service of the notice prescribed in section 12, section 13 or section 15 (as the case may be), whichever is later, be forfeited to the Government."

Forfeiture of unclaimed landlords' fees.

He said:—"This is a purely drafting amendment, and it puts the section in a somewhat improved form."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that the new sub-section (4) to be added to section 12 of the Act by sub-clause (3) of clause 5 of the Bill be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE then moved that the following be added to the proposed new section 18A, namely:—"except as provided by section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872." He said:—

"The proposed new section reads as follows:—

'(4) Nothing contained in any deed of transfer to which the landlord is not a party shall be evidence against the landlord of the permanence, amount or fixity of rent, specification of area, transferability or any incident of any tenure or holding referred to in such deed.'

"I do not think that it was intended by the framer of this section that they should exclude thereby the operation of section 13 of the Evidence Act, which runs thus:—

'13. Where the question is as to the existence of any right or custom, the following facts are relevant—

(a) any transaction by which the right or custom in question was created, claimed, modified, recognized, asserted or denied, or which was inconsistent with its existence;

(b) particular instances in which the right or custom was claimed, recognised, or exercized, or in which its exercise was disputed, asserted, or departed from.'

"There have been several cases in the Calcutta High Court, especially one reported in I. L. R., 24 Cal., page 426, and also in I. L. R., 23 Cal., in which the Judges say that where the question of the incidence attaching to a tenure by custom, such as transferability as in the case of a Putrapautradik grant arise, it can only be decided by having recourse to section 13 of the Evidence Act; and in another case, in 3 Weekly Notes, the Judges say what is necessary to establish a local usage is evidence of transfer by persons other than the landlord. Therefore, if the operation of section 13 is excluded by this new clause, it will be an act of very great hardship and it will exclude proof of custom by any person alleging it in case of a tenure."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. The object of the Select Committee was precisely what he has supposed it was not. We did intend to exclude the operation of section 13 of the Evidence Act. It is very doubtful, as the law now stands, whether section 13 of the Evidence Act has any bearing in the case at all. If it has, we desire to exclude it. The whole mischief of the present state of things has arisen from the fact that zamindars are unwilling to accept fees for fear lest their acceptance will be held as a bar to their denying afterwards the transferability of the tenure or other incidents mentioned in a deed."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE also, by leave of the Council, withdrew the following motion standing in his name namely :—

"That to the new section 17A, to be inserted by clause 6 of the Bill, the following be added, namely :—

'But in no suit or proceeding between the parties, shall the landlord be entitled to deny the validity of the transfer without returning to the transferee the amount received by him as fees.'

"That to the new section 17B, in the same clause, for the words 'be declared to be forfeited to the Government', the words 'shall be returned to the person who paid them after deducting the cost that may be incurred in doing so', be substituted."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE then moved that in the new section 17B, after the word "Government" the following words be added: "and it shall be assigned by the Government to the District Board Fund." He said:—

"I wanted to move that the words 'be declared forfeited to Government' be omitted, and to substitute the words 'shall be returned to the person who paid them, after deducting the cost that may be incurred in doing so'; but, having regard to the opinion of my other hon'ble colleagues, I have decided not to press it, though I must say that, in strict justice, Government has no right to the fees thus deposited. They do not belong to Government, and Government has no right to them. But, probably, it would be to the best interests of the country that instead of Government taking the fees it assigned them to the District Board Fund. Why I say that they should be assigned to the District Board Fund is this: that it is a fund by which the person depositing the fees may directly benefit; Government has no right to take his money and to spend it for the benefit of a District other than the district in which he lives. Therefore, I humbly submit that this money, to which Government has no right, should be assigned by Government for the benefit of the district in which the person depositing it lives."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I beg to support the amendment. The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur last year in his Budget speech alluded to this matter He urged that all the fees which may lapse to Government might be utilized in such things as excavating tanks, etc. I think if I remember right that was exactly what the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur said last year, and I agree that the purpose for which these fees ought to be spent by Government is for some such purpose, and the best thing to do is to make over such fees to the District Board."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"I also beg to support this motion. The principle of taxation that has been followed, so far as I can gather, is this: that where people of a certain locality are specially benefited by certain local measures they should pay more than those who are not so benefited; in other words, the general revenue should not be devoted to purely local purposes as much as possible. If that be the principle of taxation, which has been largely adopted by the Government, I think it is entirely consistent with that principle to adopt this amendment; because in that case the people of the locality, who make the contribution, will be benefited more by this money than if it lapsed into and thus formed part of the general coffers of the State. I, therefore, think the principle embodied in this amendment is sound and Government should give effect to it."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I believe the amendment that has been moved by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose represents the wish of the community to which we belong. It has been said over and over again in this Council, as well as in Government Resolutions, that the funds at the disposal of the District Boards are inadequate to the requirements of the district. Here, Sir, a certain sum of money will be in the hands of Government which will come from the people of the district, and which does not belong to Government, and it is but fair that this money should be devoted for the purposes of the improvement of the district. I am sure, having regard to the express desire of Government and the willingness with which Government helped the District Boards, that this amendment will be accepted by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill; and this is a matter in which the opinion of the community, I venture to submit, should receive consideration."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"I also support this amendment. I believe that under the law, as it will stand after this Bill, there will not be much surplus left in this connection. The funds which will lapse to Government will be very small indeed, for the principal difficulty in the way of the landlords receiving these moneys will be removed. Having regard, therefore, to the smallness of the amount and to the fact that the people who pay these sums ought, if possible, to be the first claimants upon any use that may be made of these fees, it is but right and proper that the fund should be so applied as to render it more useful or available to those who pay it. I do not suppose Government is anxious to get hold of this small sum of money, and I do not anticipate there will be any difficulty in making over this money to the District Board Fund. In the Select Committee, we had before us the opinions of various bodies and most of the local public who were consulted, and their opinions supported this proposal that the money should be made over to the District Board Fund, and I hope that the Official Members of Council will also support this amendment. It means no loss to Government and not much trouble to adjust the accounts, whether it is made over to Government or to the District Board; and I am absolutely certain Government is not anxious to utilize this revenue for its own purpose."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I regret I must oppose this amendment, which has been supported by several of the Indian Members of Council. My chief reason is, that it might wreck the Bill, as we have not received the sanction of the Government of India, and I doubt if we are authorized to introduce such an amendment at this stage. As the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has observed, the income from these unclaimed fees will probably be very small in the future, and it seems hardly worth while to risk the Bill for such a small point."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 7.	Noes 11.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Mr. Spink.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram.	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gait.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.
	The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.
	The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.

So the amendment was lost.

Clause 7.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE also moved that for the proposed sub section (2) to be inserted in section 19, by clause 7 of the Bill, the following be substituted, namely:—

"The exclusion of any area from the operation of the Act under sub-section (3) of section 1 shall not affect any right, obligation or liability previously acquired, incurred or accrued with regard to any land affected by such exclusion."

He said:—"This amendment is a mere verbal one. I propose to make the sub-section shorter."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Member. The wording of this clause has been carefully considered, and I would ask the Council to accept the clause as now drafted. It is not at all certain that the effect of the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Member would not be to forfeit rights previously acquired in Calcutta, in the areas not included in the town of Calcutta by notification under section 639 of the Calcutta Municipal Act."

The motion was put and lost.

Clause 8.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that in clause 8 of the Bill—

(a) in sub-clause (a), for the words "such landlord shall obtain thereby no right to hold the land as a tenant" there be substituted the words—

"such person shall have no right to hold the land as a tenant, but shall hold it as a proprietor or permanent tenure-holder (as the case may be);"

(b) the proviso be omitted from clause (b).

He said:—"With regard to the first point, the object is merely to make the clause clearer than it now is. The amendment makes it clear that a co-sharer landlord buying the holding will hold it as a proprietor, while a permanent tenure-holder will hold it as a permanent tenure-holding. This amendment also now covers the case, not generally provided for, where an occupancy raiyat purchases the entire right as proprietor or permanent tenure-holder of the estate or tenure in which the occupancy right exists. I may point out the present section of the Act covers both cases, and that it was merely due to an error in drafting that the Bill did not provide for both.

"As regards the second point, I move that the proviso be omitted, as on further consideration it seems to be unnecessary. There does not appear to be any danger of a Court holding that the special incidents, attaching to a proprietor's private lands under Chapter XI, would apply to the lands dealt with by this clause. It might also happen that the land acquired was actually proprietor's private land, and there appears to be no reason why it should cease to be so."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Section 22.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the following motions standing in his name, namely:—

"That sub-section (2) of section 22 of the Act be omitted.

"That, if the above amendment be lost, the words 'shall be deemed to be a tenure-holder, or' and the words 'as the cases may be' be omitted from sub-clause (b) of clause 8 of the Bill."

Section 38.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, then moved that in sub-section (1) of section 38 of the Act, after the words "suit for" the words "or claim in defence to a suit for the recovery of rent" be inserted. He said:—

"The object of my amendment is this: it is doubtful whether a tenant in a suit for rent can claim a reduction. Under the old law, he was so held to be entitled, and that was held in the cases of Mohesh v. Gungamoni, 2 Hay., 495, and Gourkisore v. Bonomaly, 22 W. R., 117; but it is a matter of doubt whether. under the present Rent Law, a tenant in a suit for rent can plead a defence of the reduction of rent upon the grounds mentioned here. Therefore, I submit that this should be made clear in the interests of the rayat. Furthermore, these words should be added in the interests of the landlord. It was only last Thursday that a Bench of the High Court held that, under this section, a tenant can make a defence, say when the suit is for rent, for 100 bighas of land that for a year or two, temporarily, 5 bighas of the land had become uncultivable and get a reduction in that suit. If that be so, it would be dangerous for the landlord; for, in every suit, the tenant could come in and plead a deduction of rent upon any ground other than the grounds mentioned in section 38. I do not believe the Legislature meant that an occupancy raiyat could make a defence for a reduction of rent upon grounds other than those mentioned here. This is, therefore, a matter of very great importance, not only to the tenant but also to the landlord.

"I am sorry that the last decision of the High Court has not yet been printed, nor could I get a copy, and I cannot therefore place it before the Council; but that was a case in which I was engaged, and I urged before the Judges that this was not the intention of the Legislature that a tenant should be able to plead a reduction of rent upon any ground other than the ground mentioned in section 38 in a suit for rent. They held that the tenant could do so. I have given the Council an extreme case which the High Court held to be good law.

"I humbly submit, therefore, that section 38 should be amended in the manner suggested by me, so as to give the tenant a right to plead reduction of rent in a rent suit without making him undergo the expense of a suit for rent under section 38; and also to safeguard the interests of the landlord in a suit for rent, by precluding the tenant from pleading a defence which is not contemplated by section 38."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose this amendment. The hon'ble mover appears to suggest that a raiyat should be allowed to mix up two entirely different classes of cases in one suit. A suit for rent due has nothing, so far as I can see, to do with a claim for alteration of rent, and it could only lead to confusion and to prolonged litigation if the amendment were accepted. It seems to me clear, under the present law, the rent, legally due cannot be altered till it has been reduced by agreement or by suit, and I think to accept the amendment would be to introduce great confusion."

The motion was put and lost.

Clause 9.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that in sub-clause (i) of clause 9, for the words "or partly in cash and partly in one of these ways" the words "or partly in any of those ways and partly in cash" be substituted. He said:—

"This is a purely verbal amendment, which I hope the Council will accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 11.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that in the new sub-section (6) of section 52 of the Act, in clause 11 of the Bill, for the words "or, where there is a corresponding entry of area in a counterfoil receipt, in any rent-roll" the words and brackets "or (where there is an entry of area in a counterfoil receipt, corresponding to the entry in the rent-roll) in any rent-roll" be substituted. He said:—

"This is a purely verbal amendment, which seems to express the matter better than the words in the Bill as proposed to be amended by the Select Committee."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 16.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that the proviso to be added to section 88, by clause 16 of the Bill, after the word "entry" the words "by the landlord or by his agent as above mentioned" be inserted, and that after the word "distributed" the words "or if the landlord or his agent as above mentioned has granted a receipt recognizing the division or distribution" be inserted. He said :—

"The object of this amendment is in consequence of a decision of a Full Bench of the High Court, which held that the granting of a receipt is consent under section 88 of the Act. In order to avoid the effect of that Full Bench decision, I propose that this amendment of the law be introduced. This may or may not do away with the effect of the Full Bench decision, but it is intended to make the law stricter than at present. If it is intended that no consent, except it be the express consent of the landlord or of his agent duly authorized in this behalf, should be sufficient, how can it be said that an entry in a rent-roll by a gomasta, who is not an agent duly authorized in this behalf, can be sufficient ? It is simply making the law strict in one section and absolutely lax in the next section.

"In the absence of the words of my proposed amendment, an entry by any gomasta would bind the landlord; and, in the second place, if you make an entry in the rent-roll sufficient evidence of consent that is in favour of the tenant, why should you not give effect to the opinion of the whole body of the Judges of the High Court and make a receipt granted to the tenant evidence of consent ? I would simply add words to make it clear that if an agent, duly authorized in this behalf, grants a receipt to a tenant that should be considered as a sufficient consent. Now, a tenant, when there is a proper division recognized by the landlord, can only produce a receipt that is in his power. Therefore, to make a receipt inadmissible is to go against the tenant to an extent to which I am not prepared to go, and I humbly submit that this Council should adopt the words of my amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I am in favour of this amendment. When an entry in the rent-roll is to be made binding, it is desirable that that entry should be made either by the landlord himself or by an authorized agent in that behalf. To make an entry binding on the landlord is certainly an important matter, and in a matter of this kind, I submit, it is desirable that the entry should be made by a responsible person and not by an ordinary gomasta or amla; and if such an entry is made by such a gomasta or amla, without the knowledge of the landlord, then it ought not to be binding.

"As regards the second portion of the amendment, as to how far a receipt which recognizes the division or distribution ought to be binding on the landlord, I think that where a division or distribution has been recognized by the landlord it ought to be binding upon him. It does not require any legal knowledge to say that, as it is a very common-sense view."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I cannot support my friend's amendment. The landlord is responsible for his rent-roll. It is his own rent-roll, and any entry made therein the landlord is responsible for. I cannot, therefore, understand why my hon'ble friend wants the additional words to be inserted, which will place the raiyat at a great disadvantage. The rent-roll will be under the control of the landlord and any entry which is made there, whether by the landlord himself or by any of his gomastas, the landlord will be resposible for that entry and ought to hold himself liable for any consequences, good or bad, in which it might involve him. I do not, therefore, see any reason why this further addition is required to be made to this proviso."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"I must, on behalf of the Government, oppose this amendment. The Bill, as now drafted, goes as far as it is right to go in favour of the zamindars. The practical effect of the amendment would be to prevent any mutations being binding as against a zamindar. Now, we know that in many cases mutations are made and are recognized in practice for years, but it is pretty certain that it would never be possible to show that an entry that has been made in a rent-roll was so made by the landlord or by his agent authorized in writing for the purpose. It appears to me that zamindars cannot have it both ways. If weight is to be attached to a rent-roll where it is in their favour (e.g., section 52 as now amended), they must be prepared to allow some weight to be attached to a rent-roll where it may tell against them. I may point out the evidence is only presumptive. Probably no Court would attach much weight to one year's entry, but it would attach weight to entries made in previous years. This consideration is, I think, a sufficient answer to the objection that one man's consent however obtained would bind the landlord."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 4.	Noes 12.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gait
	The Hon'ble Mr McIntosh.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.
	The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.
	The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.
	The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.

So the amendment was lost.

Clause 17.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE, by leave of the Council, moved that in sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 101, to be inserted by sub-clause (1) of clause 17 of the Bill, before the words "a proportion" the words "a landlord or" be inserted. He said:—

"It has been suggested that the new sub-clause (3i) as drafted, would not enable a single co-sharer owner of an 8-annas share in an estate to apply for a record-of-rights. In order to provide for this, I would ask the President's permission to move that the words 'a landlord or' be inserted at the beginning of the paragraph. It was an omission in the draft."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 18.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the following motions standing in his name, namely:—

"That in sub-clause (2) of clause 18 of the Bill, the words, figures and brackets 'and shall be deemed to have been so inserted from the commencement of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1898,' be omitted.

"That if the above amendment be not carried, the following be added to section 102, namely:—'The provisions of clause (gg) shall be considered to have effect from the date when the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1898, came into force."

He said:—"These amendments are the same as those proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, and I think I had better accept the wording of his amendment as stated in item 21 of the List of Business."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH moved that in section 102, in clause 18 of the Bill, the following proviso be added, namely:—

"Provided that in case of particulars as specified in sub-clauses (i) and (ii) of clause (gg) that may have been entered in the record-of-rights before the passing of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1907, the party aggrieved by such entries shall have the same remedies as are provided in this Act as if the entries had been made on the date the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1907, comes into force."

He said:—"This amendment is made simply with the object of giving remedies to parties who may have been aggrieved by the wording in this clause. Practically, this clause gives retrospective effect to all entries that might have been made since the passing of the Amendment Act of 1898, but at the same time it gives no remedy by way of objection or appeal to any party who may be aggrieved by such entries. So I submit that my amendment is simply to give that remedy, and I hope it will be accepted. It may be said that if any entry that was made so far back as 1898, or even after that, the party ought to have appealed against those entries, and if they did not appeal, they cannot have their remedy; but my submission is, that the law, as it then stood, did not authorize any entry of the nature contemplated by sections 1 and 2, it did not authorize a Revenue-officer to make such entries, and if such entries were made they were ultra vires, and in the eye of the law the parties were not bound by such entries. Now, by this clause a party aggrieved by that entry ought to have a remedy either by objection or appeal. I think it is a fair amendment, and this right of appeal or objection ought not to be taken away by giving this section a retrospective effect."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"I beg to support the amendment. In my experience, I have come across many cases where Settlement Officers have made an entry in what they call 'village notes', and the public were given to understand that those entries did not form part of the record. Now, I apprehend the effect of this legislation will be to legalize those notes. The public being under the impression that no procedure was necessary by way of objection or appeal, because those entries had no legal effect, did not take any action with reference to those entries, and I think, Sir, if these sections are meant to have retrospective effect these persons will be precluded without having been given a chance of contesting their claims; so that I think the amendment proposed is a very fair one, and I trust the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill will not find it difficult to accept it."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"I also support the amendment. Acts done without authority by Revenue-officers to confirm by subsequent enactment is always an exceptional proceeding, and it is the more objectionable in the present case as it deprives persons, the incidents relating to whose holdings have been entered in the record-of-rights and who should be deprived of the remedies against error which the law provides in other cases. So that it is clear that these persons would be greatly aggrieved and injured if no remedy is given to them of protesting against any of the entries against their interests, or should appeal to the authorities provided for in the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I have to explain why Government cannot accept this amendment. The history of the matter is this: One Advocate-General was of opinion that the rights and obligations of tenants as regards the use of water, etc., might be recorded under the Tenancy Act, as it now stands. Another Advocate-General has given a contrary opinion. It is, therefore, desirable that the matter should be placed beyond all doubt, but the Government does not admit that the records already prepared are illegal. Landlords and tenants in whose cases such records were prepared could have filed objections, and the only effect of the change proposed and accepted by the Select Committee is, to prevent the possibility of litigation on the subject of the validity of these records in future. The amendment would merely give an opportunity for vexatious litigation. The parties have been quite happy so far with a record-of-rights prepared, and it seems undesirable to encourage them now to enter into litigation. The 'village notes' are not part of the record, and this section does not affect or touch them. The entries were made in a regular record after full publication."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH in reply said:—"My object is certainly not to create vexatious litigation, as the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill is inclined to think, but it is simply to give a remedy which the party aggrieved can fairily claim. It would have been very satisfactory if the Hon'ble Member could have seen his way to make the matter clear by accepting this amendment."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 8.	Noes 9.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon ble Mr. Carlyle.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.	The Hon'b'e Mr. Gait.
The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.

So the amendment was lost.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that in clause (b) of section 102 of the Act, after the word "tenure" the words "and if he is an occupancy raiyat, whether his holding is transferable by custom or not," be added. He said:—

"I find that the question whether the right of an occupancy raiyat is transferable by custom is very often a subject of litigation. A very large number of cases come up to the High Court upon this question, whether the right of an occupancy-raiyat is transferable by custom or not? Therefore, I would propose my amendment. It may be said that it might come under clause (8), special condition of incidents of the tenancy, but I found that in several record-of-rights cases that that entry had not been made. In a case in which I was personally interested I wanted the Revenue-officer to make an entry to that effect, and he did not. Therefore, I would humbly ask that it be made compulsory upon the Revenue-officer to make a record as to whether there is a custom of transferability in a village or not."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I have to oppose this amendment, and must confess I am rather surprised that it should have been moved by a member of the legal profession. He proposes that every Revenue-officer, preparing a record-of-rights, shall try a very large number of such questions regarding custom."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 4.	Noes 12.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gait.
	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.
	The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.
	The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.
	The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.

So the amendment was lost.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that for the new clause (i) of section 102, to be inserted by sub-clause (3) of clause 18 of the Bill, the following be substituted:—

"(i) any right of way or other easement attaching to the land for which a record-of-rights is being prepared."

He said:—"It has been pointed out that the wording of the section, as proposed by the Select Committee, is legally incorrect. There can be no custom regarding an easement, the right to which may accrue by usage for a definite, and not very large, number of years. The words 'attached to land for which a record-of-rights has been prepared' have been inserted to make it clearer what rights of ways and easements can be recorded. An easement is a thing that can be acquired in a limited number of years."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"I am surprised that the Hon'ble Member should oppose a small thing like the one I moved, namely, whether a custom is transferable by custom or not and should at the same time propose such complicated questions as easements—questions much more difficult to decide than questions of transferability."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"Does the Hon'ble Member oppose the amendment?"

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE in reply said:—"No, I do not oppose it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Clause 20A.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that clause 20A be re-numbered clause 21, and clause 21 be inserted before it as clause 20A. He said:—

"This is merely a verbal amendment, which the Council will, I have no doubt, accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 21A.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that in clause 21A of the Bill for the words from "after the word 'tenancy'" to the end of the clause, the following be substituted, namely:—

"for the words 'have not been recorded or have,' the words 'or any right of way or other easement attaching to the land which is the subject of the tenancy have not, or has not, been recorded or have, or has' shall be substituted."

He said:—"This amendment is partly consequential on the amendment already accepted by the Council relating to clause 18 of the Bill and partly purely verbal."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 21B.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that in clause 21 of the Bill, in the new section 105A,—

(a) for the word "question" the word "issue" be substituted;

(b) in sub-clause (f), for the words "or any custom relating" to the end of the section, the following be substituted:—

"or any right of way or other easement attaching to the land have not, or has not, been recorded or have, or has, been wrongly recorded;"

(c) for the words from "the Revenue-officer shall hear" to the end of the section, the words "the Revenue-officer shall try and decide such issue, and settle the rent under section 105 accordingly," be substituted.

He said:—"The first alteration is merely verbal. The word 'issue' is better than the word 'question.'

"In sub-clause (f), the alteration is merely intended to bring the sub-clause into line with clause 21 (a), as just amended by the Council.

"The third amendment is intended to make the wording of the clause somewhat clearer. The provision regarding the force to be given to the Revenue officer's decision has been transferred to section 107 by paragraph 29 of the list of amendments."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH moved that the following proviso be added to section 105A, in clause 21B of the Bill, namely:—

"Provided the Revenue-officer shall not hear and decide any of the issues mentioned in this section if it has already formed the subject-matter of a suit under section 106."

He said:—"In the amendment which I have moved some verbal alterations are necessary, and the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle has drafted an amendment and I accept the wording of that amendment in lieu of the one I have just moved."

"The amendment which I now beg to move will run thus:—

'Provided that the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue under this section which has been, or is directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, and has been tried and decided, or is being tried, by a Revenue-officer in a suit instituted before him under section 106.'

"The intention of the amendment is simply to prevent proceedings being simultaneously carried on under sections 105A and 106. Certain questions, or issues as I may call them, may be decided under section 105A, and the very same question may form the subject of a suit under section 106; but it is certainly not desirable that the same matter should form the subject of dispute before two authorities under two different sections. I find that the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle has subsequently drafted an amendment to meet such contingencies when he comes to motion 40, in which he has provided for staying of certain proceedings, simply with the object to prevent these matters from being proceeded with simultaneously; but I find that the amendment of that section could not cover my amendment, so I am obliged to put it and I hope there can be no objection to its acceptance."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I think it is quite right that there should be such an amendment of the Act. I am willing to accept this amendment, if the Hon'ble Member will alter the wording, so as to bring it in line with the wording suggested for the proviso to section 106."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Section 106.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that to section 106 of the Act the following proviso be added, namely:—

"Provided also that in any suit under this section the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue which has been, or is directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, in proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, where such issue has been tried and decided, or is being tried, by Revenue-officer under section 105A."

He said:—"This proviso is necessary to be added to section 106, in order to prevent disputes being fought out about the same matter in two different Courts—one under section 105A and another under section 106. The proviso is on all-fours with the one just accepted by the Council in the case of section 105A."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said :—"Before this matter is put to the vote I think there is one matter which requires consideration. As amended, the section indicates that where a question has formed the subject-matter of a suit, under section 106, no issue under section 105A shall be tried when it is practically the same in both. Similarly, where such is the case with reference to an application under section 105 and questions under section 105A have arisen, the 106 Officer cannot try them where they are the same in proceedings under that section as well as those under section 106. The result will be that there will be two negatives. The question for consideration is, whether there being these two negative aspects of the question the 105 as well as the 106 Officer will have to stop the hearing of both the suits. As I understand the amendment, it contemplates cases which are pending besides those which have been already decided. In both the amendments proposed, the same elements are present and both the Officers, viz., 105 and 106 Officers will have to stop their proceedings, and the question may not be decided at all by any of them."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"Might I ask that this matter be postponed to be considered later on? I have not had time to consider it."

The motion was then postponed for further consideration.

Section 107.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that in section 107 of the Act, for the words "In all proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, and in all proceedings under section 106" the words "In all proceedings under section 105, section 105A and section 106", be substituted. He said :—

"The amendment suggested is merely to make it clear that section 107 applies to section 105A as well as to section 105 and section 106."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 22.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that in the new sub-section (2) to be substituted in section 107, by clause 22 of the Bill, for the words and figures "disputes under section 106" the words, figures and letter "issues or disputes under section 105A or section 106" be substituted. He said :—

"The same reasons apply here as in the amendment which I have moved in section 107."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that in the new sub-section (2) to be added to section 107, by clause 22 of the Bill, before the words and figures "section 106" the words, figures and letter "section 105A, or" be inserted.

Section 108.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE then moved that in section 108 of the Act, before the words and figures "section 105" the words, figures and letter "section 105A" be inserted.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I accept this amendment, although I am not sure it is strictly necessary, as in the majority of cases the rules of revision would affect the rent settled under section 105, but I do not think there can be any objection to it."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 22A.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that in section 108A, in clause 22A of the Bill, after the words "bonâ fide mistake" the words "of a clerical nature" be added. He said:—

"I find that the next amendment which is going to be proposed by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, not only covers my amendment but is rather an improvement. That being so, I would ask Your Honour's permission to permit him to move his amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI moved that at the end of the first clause of the proposed section 108A, in clause 22A of the Bill, the following words be added, namely:—

"of a clerical or arithmetical nature."

He said:—"The wording has been adopted by me from the Civil Procedure Code, section 206, and it was intended by the Select Committee, so far as I remember, that this was the class of cases contemplated by the new section 108A; but as there is nothing in the section itself to indicate that the only class of cases that can come under it is the one covered by the amendment as proposed by me. I think it would be better, in order to make the section clear, that these words should be added. As the wording of the section stands, it may be interpreted to mean a great deal more than what the Select Committee contemplated. In the Report of the Select Committee, Hon'ble Members will find that the words 'of a clerical nature' are to be found, and from those words it will be quite apparent that the Select Committee intended that the mistakes that Revenue-officers, specially empowered in this behalf, can correct are only those which are of a clerical or arithmetical nature. Therefore I think, Sir, the Council will have no difficulty in accepting this verbal alteration."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I beg to support the amendment of my friend. I submit that the words 'bonâ fide', if allowed to remain as they are, would be a vague and too wide expression. Any kind of a mistake may be considered bonâ fide by one person and may not be so considered by another person. I do not think that is the intention of section 108A. Any mistake of a substantial character can be rectified by the power of revision which section 108 gives to a Revenue-officer. Section 108 of the Act empowers a Revenue-officer, either of his own motion or on the application of a party, to revise certain matters which are decided under section 106. So that that is the substantial section, and this section 108A has been added simply with the object of empowering Revenue-officers to make corrections of a clerical nature; otherwise the result would be, if the words 'bonâ fide' stood, that by this section a Revenue-officer can even alter entries to any extent and there would be no finality of record. It can be changed by section 108 and by section 108A. I submit Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act is a very complicated Chapter, and even it puzzles a Lawyer to find what remedies are given and what remedies are taken away; so if we have after section 108 another section 108A of the same nature the people may not know under which section to proceed, and matters would be complicated by having sections, the scope of which would be almost similar. Even, from the Report of the Select Committee, I find that what was really intended was to empower Revenue-officers to correct mistakes of a clerical character. I think that is what was intended and that is what should be made clear in this section."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"My reason for opposing the amendment of the Hon'ble Member is, that I think there might be obvious mistakes in the record which yet were not of a purely clerical kind. It is difficult to say how the words 'of a clerical kind' would be interpreted. It will be noted that, under the Bill, notice must be given to the parties concerned before corrections are made, and any order would be subject to appeal. Section 108 only applies to orders under certain sections."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 8.	Noes 9.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Mr. Spink.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.	The Hon'ble Mr Gait.
The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.

So the amendment was lost.

Clause 23.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that sub-clause (2) of clause 23 of the Bill be omitted, and that after section 109C, as re-lettered in clause 24 of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely:—

"109D. A note of all rents settled and of all decisions of disputes on revision or appeal under section 108, section 109A, or sub-section (3) of section 109C, shall be made in the record-of-rights finally published under sub-section (2) of section 103A; and such note shall be considered as part of the record."

Note of decisions on record.

He said:—"This is an amendment which I have no doubt the Council will accept. It merely provides more fully than before for all cases in which notes of appellate decisions are to be made in the record. With the leave of the President, I would propose that after the word 'sub-section' the figures and word '(2) or' should be added. These were omitted by mistake in the original draft."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 24.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that in sub-section (1) of the new section 109D, to be inserted by clause 24 of the Bill, after the word "Act" the words "and by the terms of which, when there is an enhancement of rent by such agreement or compromise, the enhancement is such as could not be made under the provisions of this Act regarding enhancement by suit", be inserted. He said:—

"As it is, an agreement regarding an enhancement above one-eighth of the existing rent cannot be taken cognizance of by a Revenue-officer, but the landlord is entitled, under the Act in a suit for enhancement of rent, to get a higher rate than one-eighth by suit under the provisions of the Act. If that be so, what he can get by a suit, why should not he be allowed to get that by an agreement? This section goes against the other provisions of the Act, and can only be made consistent with them, if the words as I have put them be added to it; that is to say, if a landlord enters into a fair agreement, entitling him to an enhancement of rent to which he may be entitled by suit, there is no reason why a Revenue-officer should not give effect to such an agreement? In the first place, this section is subversive of all principles of law: if an agreement is fairly entered into between the parties, there is no reason why any Court should not take cognizance of it. But certainly if it is obtained by fraud or collusion, the Court may not give effect to it. I supported this provision when the Bill was first introduced that in order further to safeguard the rights of the tenants, in view of the larger rights given to the landlords, this might be accepted; but it will be going too far now to say that a Revenue-officer shall not record any enhancement of rent, even such as a landlord can get by suit. By the previous section, he cannot give effect to any agreement which contravenes the provisions of section 29. Clause 2, in my humble opinion, seems to be an attempt, but a futile attempt to remedy the mischief which the previous section does."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I am not sure if sub-section (1) of section 109D does take away the landlord's right to get such an enhancement as he could only get by a properly-framed suit for the purpose. If it really does, then I am in sympathy with the object of the amendment; although I must say the wording of the amendment requires some modification."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"The Government cannot accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. It would cut at the root of the provisions regarding enhancement by agreement between parties. One of the most important principles embodied in the Tenancy Act is, that there is not freedom of contract as between zamindar and raiyat. If a zamindar wishes to get an enhancement above a certain amount, he must either go to the Civil Court or to the Settlement Officer as the case may be. Were the amendment to be accepted, this principle would be entirely abolished. I would also point out that the amendment involves the adoption of a new principle, and it would not be in the power of the Bengal Council to pass, until it had been approved by the Government of India and the Secretary of State."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI moved that in clause 24 of the Bill, sub-section (3) of the new section 109D, be omitted. He said:—

"When an agreement or compromise is entered into by two persons, no third party can be affected by it. Third parties' rights will not be jeopardised by any settlement or stipulation mentioned in such agreement or compromise. It is on this ground that I beg to move my amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I regret the Government cannot accept the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji. The record-of-rights is one which is prepared for the use of the public generally, and not merely for the benefit of the two parties to a dispute. If this is so, the Revenue-officer is clearly bound to see that he does not, without due inquiry, make an entry which might injuriously affect third parties. The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji has contended that an entry giving effect to a settlement of a dispute between two parties does not legally affect a third party, but in practice it would affect third parties very seriously. If, for instance, a zamindar and tenure-holder were to enter into a fraudulent agreement that the tenure-holder is to be recorded as an occupancy raiyat, the tenure-holder's tenants would find it almost impossible in practice to establish that they held occupancy rights. It is probably well-known to many Members of Council that for many years, in partition cases, raiyats submitted to entirely illegal enhancements of rents; simply because if a raiyat's holding was partitioned between two zamindars, the partitioning officer allotted to each portion the rents stated by the zamindars, even though the result was to make the raiyat pay a much higher rental than he had given for the undivided holding or than could have been demanded from him under the law."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI also moved that in the same clause, the proviso to the new section 109E, be omitted. He said:—

"Sub-section (3) of section 109E gives the Board of Revenue power to direct a Revenue-officer to revise a record-of-rights and to settle fairs or equitable rents; so that this sub-section gives the Board a power which cannot be exercised even by Your Honour yourself without the sanction of the Government of India. By section 112, Your Honour has the power of directing a revision of rent, which means either the raising of the rents or reducing of the rents; but before issuing orders to that effect Your Honour has to get the sanction of the Government of India. Here it is proposed to give the Board of Revenue power much in excess of what Your Honour enjoys. It has been pointed out to me that the Board of Revenue already enjoy that power in certain cases, as for example under section 104; but it is no argument that because a power has been unjustly vested in the Board in one instance that it should be repeated again in a subsequent enanctment. I submit, therefore, that sub-section (3) and the proviso should be omitted from section 109E."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"It is quite necessary that there should be some supervision over the work of Revenue-officers under this section, and that supervision can best be exercised by the Board. The Special Judge will only take up appeals, but the Board will call for explanations whenever necessary. The Government has gone a long way to meet zamindars, and do all that can be done to prevent hardship on them, by section 109E, and is entitled to ask that there should be some supervision of Revenue-officers to whom this very great power has been given. There is nothing unjust in giving the Board power of supervision, and I cannot agree with the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji that the powers already given, under section 104. are unjust. Section 112 is quite a special case, and I do not see that it is unjust or improper to give powers of revision to the Board where an altogether new provision has been inserted in the Act."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that the new sections 109D and 109E, to be inserted by clause 24 of the Bill, be re-lettered 109B and 109C, respectively.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 24A.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"As I had something to do with the framing of the next amendment which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, he has asked me to move it and I have great pleasure in doing so.

"I beg to move that after clause 24A of the Bill the following clause be inserted, namely:—

'24B. After section 111A of the said Act the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"111B. (1) Where a record-of-rights has been prepared and finally published in respect of the lands in any area in which a settlement of land-revenue is not being made, or is not about to be made, no application or suit affecting such land or any tenant thereof shall, within three months from the date of the certificate of final publication of such record-of-rights, be made or instituted in any Civil Court for the decision of any of the following issues, namely:—

Stay of applications and suits in which certain issues are raised.

(a) whether the land is or is not liable to the payment of rent;

(b) whether the relation of landlord and tenant exists;

(c) whether the land is part of a particular estate or tenancy; or

(d) whether there is any special condition or incident of the tenancy, or whether any right of way or other easement attaches to the land.

(2) If, before the final application of the record-of-rights in such area, a suit for the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) has been instituted in a Civil Court, the Revenue-officer shall not entertain any suit under section 106 involving the decision of the same issue.

(3) Where, in the course of settling fair rents under section 105, the Revenue-officer finds that, by reason of a suit involving the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) having been instituted in a Civil Court, before the final publication of the record-of-rights, or before a Revenue-officer under section 106, he is unable to settle a fair rent until such issue is decided, the Revenue-officer shall stay the proceedings for the settlement of a fair rent, pending a final decision on the issue; and, after the issue has been finally decided, he shall settle a fair rent as if the record-of-rights had been framed in accordance with such decision.

(4) Where the making of an application or the institution of a suit has been delayed, owing to the operation of sub-section (1), the period of three months therein mentioned shall be excluded in computing the period of limitation prescribed for such suit or application." '

"It is necessary to explain the reasons which necessitated this amendment, and some slight history as regards the process of framing records is necessary to be placed before Hon'ble Members. Those Hon'ble Members who are not very familiar with the proceedings under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, in a permanently-settled area, do not probably know that there are several stages through which the record of-rights is taken. The first stage is the demarcation of the boundary of villages; then comes the stage when officers of subordinate rank fill in different columns tentatively, and then the next year the attestation stage comes, that is, an officer of superior rank verifies the entries in the record-of-rights and decides any matter necessary for him to decide in order to retain the record as far as possible at that stage in a correct way; then the preliminary publication of records takes place, and after that objections are invited and considered by the Settlement Officers. After the decision of objections under section 103 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the final record is framed and published and very often at this stage, when a person who has preferred an objection in respect of an entry in the record-of-rights, finds that his objection has been lost he files a suit in the Civil Court.

"When the final publication takes place, the zamindar, or rather anybody who has benefited by the record, comes in and files an application under section 105 for settlement of a fair rent, and generally it is the zamindar who does so. When an application like that is put in, various questions are raised by the party against whom that application is preferred; the objections may be on the ground that the man who has been entered as a tenant is not really the tenant, that he holds his land rent-free or it may be that the status which has been recorded has not been correctly recorded, that is that he is not a tenure-holder but a raiyat and so forth.

"Section 105A, which has been accepted by Hon'ble Members to-day, provides for contingencies of settling fair rents under section 105; because unless and until those questions are decided a Revenue-officer cannot settle a fair rent, for it may be that the land is really rent-free, not rent-paying. In such a case, it will be a pure waste of time for a Revenue-officer to settle fair rent and then to unsettle it, after it is decided that the land is not rent-paying. The whole of his labour is lost in that case. I need not go into the history of this section 105A, which has been accepted to-day; it will suffice for me to say that, if that section had not been adopted matters would have been made considerably difficult. That is one stage of the case.

"The tenant, it may be, after an application under section 105 has been filed —this has to be filed within two months after the date of certificate of final publication—and before he gets a summons in the case or before he is called upon to appear and put in his written statement, may go to the Civil Court or to the Revenue Court under section 106 and file a suit. Provision has been made covering this contingency, and the freedom of choice of the plaintiffs as to the venue of their suits at this stage has been left untouched. There is, however, no provision in the Bengal Tenancy Act providing against a contingency like the one contemplated by this new section 111B.

"I have already submitted that, before final publication of the record and after the decision of an objection under section 103A, a person may go to the Civil Court and file a suit. But what is the Settlement Officer, under these circumstances, to do for instance when there is an application under section 105 pending before him? Up to this time, parallel cases have been going on simultaneously in the Civil Court as well as in the Settlement Department. The Revenue-officer may now sometimes say that he had the first seisin of the case, and the Civil Court therefore has no jurisdiction to try the issues that has arisen before him at that time; the Civil Court saying, on the other hand, we are a Civil Court and there is no authority by which we can be divested of jurisdiction. In this way, considerable difficulty has ensued, and the difficulty has been experienced not only by the landlord but by the raiyat as well. In order to prevent this double mode of procedure, this section 111B has been proposed.

"Three months after the final publication of the record, I may repeat, is the period during which a person can file a suit under section 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act; so that by the provision contained in the proposed section 111B, time is given to a party to elect whether he should go to the Civil Court or to the Revenue Court as plaintiff. The issues covered by this section are the following, namely:—Whether the land is or is not liable to payment of rent; whether the relation of landlord and tenant exists; whether the land is part of a particular estate or tenancy, a tenancy and whether there is any special condition or incident of or whether a right of way or easement attaches to the land comprising the tenancy? Now, these are questions which very generally crop up in connection with the decision of cases under section 105, and it may be questioned why is it that the wording of this section is somewhat different from the wording of section 105A; as it will be seen that there are four classes of issues contemplated by this section 111B, whereas there are more than four classes of issues contemplated by section 105A? Evidently, it was intended that the nature of the questions or issues intended to be dealt with should be the same in both these sections.

"It will be remembered, however, that section 105A was worded with reference to the record as finally framed, and because the consideration of any issue mentioned in section 105A has to proceed upon the record as framed. Therefore, the wording of section 105A is slightly different from the wording of section 111B, so far as the classes of issues mentioned in each of these sections is concerned; but it will be seen that practically every question that comes up in section 105A comes also in section 111B, when coupled with section 111 which forms a complement to it. The wording is different, because of the fact that the wording of one section is directed to the record itself; whereas the other is independent of any such basis. I, therefore, submit that the matter of section 111B, together with that of section 111 and the matter of section 105A, are practically identical in point of the questions which they are intended to cover. Then we go on to the second clause:—

'If, before the final publication of the record-of-rights in such area, a suit for the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) has been instituted in a Civil Court, the Revenue-officer shall not entertain any suit under section 106 involving the decision of the same issue.'

"This is a matter, the principle of which has already been accepted by the acceptance of the two amendments adopted by the Council, in the shape of the two provisoes added to sections 105A and 106; and it is only with a view; to prevent simultaneous suits in a Civil Court, and before the section 106 Officer, that this clause (2) is proposed.

"The third clause where, in the course of setting fair rents under section 105, the Revenue-officer finds that, by reason of a suit involving the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) having been instituted in a Civil Court, before the final publication of the record-of-rights or before a Revenue-officer under section 106, he is unable to settle a fair rent until such issue is decided, the Revenue-officer shall stay the proceedings for the settlement of a fair rent, pending a final decision on the issue; and, after the issue has been finally decided, he shall settle a fair rent as if the record-of-rights had been framed in accordance with such decision. This is in exact consonance with existing practice. Where there is a parallel suit before the Civil Court the Revenue officer while proceeding under section 105 or 106 is at sea and he does not know which way to turn; and this clause lays down the procedure for him.

"The last clause (4), where the making of an application or the institution of a suit has been delayed owing to the operation of sub-section (1), the period of three months therein mentioned shall be excluded in computing the period of limitation prescribed for such suit or application.

"This is a necessary clause; because when a plaintiff is stopped from filing a civil suit, it may be he loses his right to bring a suit in the Civil Court upon the expiry of the period of three months during which such suits are stopped. I have already submitted to the Council that the reason why the filing of civil suits is forbidden for three months after the final publication of records, is, to give time for election to the party concerned, and therefore it is right and proper that the period of limitation should operate in his favour during this period of three months. That is the object of clause (4).

"I think I have now briefly explained the object of section 111B, and I hope Hon'ble Members will agree with me in thinking that this is a very necessary section. Great difficulties have been experienced for want of a definite procedure which would control parallel suits or stop parallel suits in the settlement and the Civil Courts, and the proposed section 111B is calculated to give relief not only to the officers of Government concerned but to the general body of both landlords and tenants. With these words, I recommend this section."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I have no intention of opposing this section; but I may be permitted to make a suggestion to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill as to whether the period of three months, which has been mentioned in clause (1) of section 111B, covers all cases which, by this section, he intends to provide. The period of three months has been taken, because it coincides with the period mentioned in section 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act; but in cases where a suit has been instituted, under section 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, within three months of the final publication of the record, say after two months and twenty days and necessarily some time will be taken up in the final decision and it may continue for some months, the question is, if the very same matter regarding which a suit has been filed under section 106 be taken to the Civil Court, after the expiry of three months from the final publication of the record but before the decision of the suit under section 106, whether the Civil Court's jurisdiction would be barred in such a case? If not, a distinct difficulty arises which the Hon'ble Member wants to remove by section 111B."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI remarked:—"I think the Limitation Act covers that."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH continued:—"I am not speaking of the time. The question is, when a suit is pending under section 106 and the same matter is taken up by the Civil Court, can the Civil Court be prevented from proceeding with it?"

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"You cannot have the same question tried over again by the Civil Court. You cannot have two suits running on at the same time."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"I would suggest another thing, namely, that the question or issue involved in clause (e) of section 105A has not been specifically mentioned. If it has been intentionally left out, some difficulty will arise. So far as I see, it does not expressly come under the new section 111B and I think it ought to be specifically mentioned."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"I think section 111 deals with the question of determination of the status of a tenant, and therefore corresponds to clause (e) of section 105A."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I agree with the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji. I think the difficulties raised are sufficiently provided for."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Sections 116 and 120.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH moved that in section 116 of the Act, after the word "proprietor's" the words "or tenure-holder's" be added, and that the alterations that may be necessary in sections 117, 118, 120 and 129A for such addition be made. He said:—

"Section 116 as it stands only protects the private lands of proprietors as defined in this Act, and thereby it excludes the private lands of all tenure-holders. This is a very important question, and I hope it will engage the careful attention of the Council; because, in this Province, there is a very large class of tenure-holders who have private lands, and I may say that the private lands of the tenure-holders may be greater in extent than those of the proprietors. One and the same landholder may be a proprietor and a tenure-holder. I do not think it can be the intention of the Legislature that private lands of tenure-holders should be excluded from the operation of section 116, and only a proprietor's lands should be protected by that section. It may be said that this is a new addition which I want in section 116, but section 116 as it stands only protects one class of lands; and I submit that a tenure-holder's private lands are not protected and the right of occupancy should not be allowed to accrue in such lands."

We know that there are a very large number of mukararidars and patnidars in this part of the country, and as a matter of fact the private lands of such tenure-holders have been recognized as such even in the settlement proceedings; so I simply ask that the words 'or tenure-holders' may be added, so that no difficulty may arise in interpreting this section and that it may not be said that the private lands of tenure-holders have been intentionally left out."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"I beg to support this amendment. It is a plain omission in section 116, but if the amendment is carried the omission, which is in favour of the tenant, will be removed; but in other sections of the Act, which gives the zamindar's rights in the khamar lands, the defect may not be removed. Section 116 is now before the Council for consideration, and I submit the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh is a reasonable one and should be adopted."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I also support the amendment. Section 116 expressly protects Government land, Railway land, and proprietor's private lands from the accrual of occupancy rights. Tenure-holders are persons who have acquired from the proprietors a right to hold land, for establishing tenants as well as for collection of rents; and I think that their interests are, so far as these lands are concerned, practically the same as those of the original proprietors from whom they have got the land. I think, therefore, that the interests of the tenure-holders ought to be safe-guarded by the addition of the words 'or tenure-holder's' after the word 'proprietor's', as suggested by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"The Government cannot accept this amendment. A fatal objection to it is, that it involves a new departure, which would require to be accepted by the Government of India and the Secretary of State before legislation could be introduced into the Council on the point. Section 116 is quite clear; it does not apply to permanent tenure-holders and is not intended to apply. Independently of this objection, I would resist taking it up now. I doubt whether permanent tenure-holders can anywhere claim rightly to hold private lands of the same character as Bengal and Bihar zamindars. A full inquiry would be necessary as to whether such rights should be allowed. I am not prepared to give an opinion off-hand, but my impression is that the cases are not parallel. I may point out the Hon'ble Member's proposal would apparently have the effect of enabling even temporary tenure-holders to acquire private lands, and to bar the accrual of occupancy-rights by tenants admitted to occupation of the land by temporary tenure-holders. This is altogether a new principle, which has been raised in Council for the first time to-day."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH in reply said:—"I admit my amendment involves a new principle, but the question is of such serious importance that I had expected it would have been carried; its non-acceptance will render tenure-holders' lands unsafe, and I hope steps will be taken to remedy this omission in section 116. I do not think it was an intentional omission, but an oversight."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH also moved that in section 116 of the Act, the words "and Orissa" be added after the word "Bengal." He said:—

"This amendment has also reference to the same section, and its object is to safeguard any misinterpretation that may arise by not having the word 'Orissa' in that section. My reason is simply this: that the section as it stands classifies certain lands in Bengal by certain names, and also similar lands in Bihar. As this section has been introduced into Orissa, I think it would be desirable to add the words 'and Orissa' after the word 'Bengal,' so that there may not be any misinterpretation that this section does not include lands in Orissa."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose the Hon'ble Member's amendment. This Chapter of the Bengal Tenancy Act was not in force when the settlement was made in Orissa, and if inserted it would probably have the result of giving zamindars the right of holding land as private land in many cases where it was not the intention that such rights should be given. I do not think the Council ought to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH then, by leave of the Council, withdrew the amendment as also the following motion, which stood in his name, namely:—"that in clause (a) of section 120 (1) of the Act, after the words "this Act" the following words be added, namely:—

"and, in case of the Division of Orissa, twelve continuous years immediately before the date of extension of this section to that Division."

Clause 29A.

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI moved that clause 29A of the Bill be omitted. He said:—

"Section 29A is open to very grave objections. In the first place, it is opposed to all recognized principles of judicial procedure, to dictate to an officer engaged in a quasi-judicial inquiry as to the nature of the evidence on which he is to come to a conclusion. His discretion should not be fettered. In the second place, it is beyond the power of this Council to enact a law which would enable a District Officer to go counter to the principle of res judicata. When a decree has been passed by a Civil Court, whether ex-parte or upon fraudulent representations, that decree will have the force and validity of a decree of a Civil Court, so long as it is not set aside by the Civil Court. The dictum of a Revenue-officer, holding that a decree is invalid or fraudulent, does not in the least take away from the validity or weight of a Civil Court decree. The person who has got the decree—I mean the decree-holder—will, if he applies to the Court, get every relief ordered by that decree; the Civil Court will be bound to give him such relief in spite of the dictum of a Revenue-officer.

"I submit, therefore, that, having regard to the serious objections I have pointed out, this clause of the Bill should be omitted. Your Honour will see that cases of fraudulent decrees are not unprovided for by the Evidence Act. Section 44 of the Evidence Act provides that, when a decree has been proved in a suit or other proceeding by a party, the adverse party is at liberty to prove that that decree was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation; so that all that clause 29A proposes to provide has been already authoritatively provided for in the Evidence Act; and I think that this Council should be content with the provision of the law as it exists at present."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, I beg to support my hon'ble friend in his opinion that this clause be omitted from the Bill. On the face of it, it looks very improper and unjust that a decree of a Civil Court passed on a suit (even if it be given under a decision of the Hon'ble High Court) can be nullified by a Settlement Officer. A Revenue-officer, possessing a doubtful experience, is to be empowered to set at naught the judicial finding of the highest Court, if on inquiry he finds that what is stated in the deed of compromise, agreement or the decree, is not borne out by the evidence recorded by him at the time of the local inquiry, he is not to give effect to such decree, etc This is virtually giving the Settlement Officer much greater power than it is fair and safe to entrust him with, specially as there is no time-limit to the re-opening of the question.

"I need hardly say that it is not uncommon that only the members of a combined body sometimes are brought before the Settlement Officer at the time of the inquiry, and that the subordinate officers of the Settlement Department sometimes have favourable evidence recorded on behalf of such persons as pay them well or are otherwise able to secure their sympathy. I think, Sir, the directions given to the Settlement Officers under section 120 of the Act, as they now stand, are quite sufficient, and further provision, which is under discussion, need not be made. Besides, Sir, a good deal of injustice, I fear, may be done to those land-lords that have extensive sirat or nijjote lands. Hence, I consider that the proviso be expunged from the Bill.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"I also support my friend, the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, in this amendment. In the Note of Dissent that I have appended to the Report of the Select Committee I have taken exception to this clause, both on the ground of principle and as being of very doubtful value in practice. From the Notes circulated to us, I find that exception is taken to the proposition which I ventured to lay down, that it is objectionable on principle. The principle is this—that a finding of a Civil Court shall not be disturbed, and I think it would be a mistake to invest a Revenue-officer with authority to inquire and decide whether a decree of a Civil Court in a contested suit was obtained by collusion or fraud which is practically the effect of clause 29A; it is objectionable on principle and of very doubtful value in practice. The clause fixes no time within which a Civil Court decree may be challenged before a Revenue-officer, and the provision will lead to settled questions being re-opened after lapse of considerable time and to unnecessary litigation. That is a well recognized principle in criminal proceedings; its application occurs every day in cases of trespass and for offences against property. The counter-proposition is stated in the Note thus:—

'This clause in the main re-asserts the principle already accepted in clause 24 that, agreements or compromises made before a Revenue-officer should not be held to affect the rights of third parties. But in regard to the record of proprietor's private land, the majority of us consider it necessary to go further and to provide that the Revenue-officer shall not be bound to record land, as proprietor's private land, because it has been declared to be so in a decree which has been obtained ex-parte or by collusion or fraud. The question whether land is proprietor's private land affects not merely the parties to a particular suit, viz., the landlord and the tenant for the time being, but also all future occupants of the land, and it is necessary to safeguard their interests as far as possible. It would be easy for a landlord to obtain an ex-parte or collusive decree, declaring certain land to be proprietor's private land, by suing a non-existent or fictitious defendant who had no concern with the land. We consider, therefore, that in framing a record-of-rights regarding such land, the Revenue-officer should not be bound by decrees of the nature referred to, but should be required to satisfy himself by independent evidence as to the real nature of the land.'

"We do not question that a Civil Court can set aside its own decree if it is satisfied from a regular hearing that the decree was obtained by fraud or collusion, but that Court must be a Court which can exercise jurisdiction in the matter. It has also been established that a party may take the defence in a Civil suit of a decree having been obtained by fraud or collusion. That also will have to be tried by the Civil Court, but the principle that I was contending for was this: that the Court is not a Civil Court and that a mere Revenue-officer should not be allowed to interfere with decrees of Civil Courts. It will impair the value of our Civil Court decrees, and I submit it would introduce a very dangerous innovation. It is possible if a Revenue-officer finds that there is anything suspicious in a Civil Court decree, he can easily remit the parties to their remedies in the Civil Courts. Therefore, I think that on principle this is objectionable. It is also, as I have said, of very doubtful value in practice, for I am quite sure that very few Revenue-officers, unless they are possessed of an extraordinary amount of 'zid' in a certain matter—which unfortunately is not absolutely uncommon—will disregard Civil Court decrees. That being so, I do not see the use of introducing a principle of legislation in a Rent Bill which, as I say, cannot be justified."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I rise to support the motion of the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, that this clause be omitted from the Bill. Section 120 lays down rules for the determination of a proprietor's private land. In a Civil Court, if the question of right has been thrown out and a decree is obtained, I do not think it would be to the interest of the landlord or the tenants that the matter should be re-opened by the Revenue-officer at a subsequent stage, and especially when there is no time to make inquiry. It has been often remarked and often brought to Your Honour's notice, that litigation is the bane of this country that the raiyats in many cases are ruined in litigation in which they are involved with the landlords of the country. In this case, I do not think that any benefit will accrue to the raiyat; but, on the contrary, he will be plunged into litigation again over a matter which has been settled and decided by a constituted Court of Law, and the raiyat will, in the long run, be worsted by the re-opening of the whole question of his rights which has been once decided by the Civil Court. In these circumstances, I support the motion."

The Hon'ble MR. ALLEN said:—"I am rather doubtful whether all the Hon'ble Members, who have spoken on this subject, have appreciated the exact bearing of this section 29A upon the law, and I would ask Your Honour's permission to say a word or two about the law as it stands before dealing with their observations. Under section 120, a Revenue-officer has to make an inquiry in order to frame his record as regards a proprietor's private lands, and he has to record as proprietor's private lands all lands which are defined as such under section 120. The effect of that record will be found in section 116, which provides that nothing in Chapter V, which is the Chapter which deals with accrual of occupancy rights, shall confer a right of occupancy in, and nothing in Chapter VI shall apply to, lands so recorded; in other words, no tenant may hereafter acquire occupancy rights in any land which the Revenue-officer has recorded as being proprietor's private lands.

That is a very important penalty upon the raiyats of a village, and the Select Committee have very carefully considered how far they ought to go in protecting the raiyats of a village against a wrong record of what is proprietor's private land. It might well happen, the Select Committee thought, that a collusive decree might be obtained by a zamindar, against one or more of his raiyats, in a suit in which the raiyat did not attempt to fight the claim of the zamindar; the result of which might be that all or a very large portion of the lands of a village might be decreed, as between the parties, to be proprietor's private land. If then a Revenue-officer going into the village, after that decree had been passed, were to adopt that decree as the basis of his record and were to record all the lands or such of the lands as were affected by the decree as being proprietor's private lands, very grave injury would be dealt to the raiyats of the village, and not only to them but to their descendants for all time; in other words, a decree which is passed between certain parties only might prejudicially affect the interests of a very much wider circle of tenants.

"It appeared, therefore, to the Select Committee that some special provision was necessary in the law to prevent such a result occurring. Some of the Members of the Select Committee thought that a Revenue-officer ought to go behind any decree that might have been passed; in other words, in spite of any decree that might have been passed, after due inquiry and whether contested or not, he yet ought to disregard it if he came to the conclusion that the decree was wrong. On the other hand, other Members pressed before us the view, which has been pressed upon the Council to-day by the Hon'ble Members who have spoken upon this amendment, and they said it would be wrong that a Revenue-officer should have power in that way to override the decrees of a Court passed after a full hearing and on a proper consideration of the evidence.

"The Select Committee adopted a middle course: they accepted the view that had been pressed and they said that where a decree had been passed with the parties before the Court and after due consideration of the evidence, effect must be given to the decree by the Revenue-officer; but they held and they were advised that there were other decrees, which could not be so described and which might have been obtained ex-parte or by collusion or fraud. Such decrees, the Select Committee thought, should not protect the zamindars against the accrual of occupancy rights for all time; and it was in adopting this middle course that the Select Committee have framed the section as it stands to day. I would press upon Hon'ble Members the view that the wording of the section as it now stands is the reasonable one; for while on the one hand it will prevent a certain class of decrees which are described as being ex-parte or obtained by collusion or fraud from interfering with the accrual of occupancy rights it will on the other hand protect bonâ fide decrees and their decree holders in the enjoyment of rights decreed to them."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I cannot accept the proposal entirely to omit the section; and for the reasons given by the Hon'ble Mr. Allen it is very important. As regards the objection raised by the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji as to the matter being res judicata, I do not see how that objection can possibly arise. A matter is res judicata merely as between parties. It may be res judicata as between a zamindar and his tenant, who is a party to a fraudulent or collusive decree, but it is not res judicata as regards the public, and the provision of the Bill is not in conflict with legal principles.

"I am prepared to omit, and will myself move, if necessary, that the words 'which has been passed ex-parte or' be omitted, but I am not prepared to go further. Every Civil Court has a right, and is in fact bound, to refuse to act on a decree obtained by collusion or fraud, and there is no reason why a Revenue-officer should accept a collusive or fraudulent decree, especially when it is remembered that the question he has to decide affects not only the parties between whom these suits have been brought but the public generally. I can see no reason to believe that Revenue-officers are likely hastily to conclude that decrees are collusive or fraudulent any more than Munsifs or Subordinate Judges. The decision of the Revenue-officer will of course not alter the effect of the decree as between the parties to the suit in which it was obtained.

"The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu's suggestion that they are liable to abuse and that it would be introducing a dangerous innovation, I can see no reason for this. I think it is important that very careful inquiry should be made before any Revenue-officer passes an order.

"I am, therefore, opposed to the omission of the whole clause, but I will move that the reference to 'ex-parte decree' be omitted."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU moved that in clause 29A of the Bill the words "or in any decree which has been passed ex-parte, or which is proved to his satisfaction to have been obtained by collusion or fraud", be omitted. He said:—

"I will not go into the reasons because I have already explained them."

The Hon'ble MR CARLYLE said :—"I have already given my reasons for refusing to accept this amendment in dealing with the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, and I do not wish to take up the time of the Council in again giving my reasons for rejecting it."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU also moved that in clause 29A of the Bill, the words "or which is proved to his satisfaction to have been obtained by collusion or fraud" be omitted. He said :—

"It has been said that ex-parte decrees are often obtained without serving the summons of the Court, and consequently it would be injudicious and probably unsafe to attach the same importance to ex-parte decrees as a decree obtaind in a contested case, though, in the strict interpretation of legal principles, an ex parte decree has the same force as a decree in a contested case ; yet, I fully admit that there are cases where summonses are not served, and consequently the mischief that may be done by an ex-parte decree will be avoided if we re-open that portion which has been passed ex-parte and omit the portion 'or which is proved to his satisfaction to have been obtained by collusion or fraud.'"

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said :—"One of the arguments advanced as regards this point is, that the entry which the Revenue-officer will make will be evidence against the public, and therefore he can go behind a decree which might have been obtained by fraud or collusion and he may or may not accept this decree if he is satisfied that it was so obtained. Of course so far as those who are not parties to that decree are concerned, there may be much force in the argument, but as regards the parties themselves, I do not see how a Revenue officer can go behind such a decree, which may have been passed years and years ago and he may make an entry against such a decree. It is objectionable in principle, and I submit, therefore, that the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu should be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"As regards the effect of a collusive or fraudulent decree, no entry of a Revenue-officer will affect any decision passed between the parties, but I must oppose the amendment for the reasons I have already given in dealing with the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji's amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU also moved that the following be added after clause 29A, namely :—

"Provided nevertheless that a Revenue-officer shall give effect to a decree of a Civil Court which is more than six years old and under which such land has been held by the landlord as his private land for a continuous period of six years."

He said :—"I move this amendment with some amount of confidence, though I must admit my confidence has been somewhat shaken by the vote on the previous amendment. Section 120 of the Act provides that—

'The Revenue officer shall record as a proprietor's private land—

(a) land which is proved to have been cultivated as khamar, sirat, sir, nij, nijot or kamat by the proprietor himself, with his own stock or by his own servants or by hired labour for twelve continuous years immediately before the passing of this Act, and

(b) cultivated land which is recognized by village usage as proprietor's khamar, sirat, sir, nij, nijjot, or kamat.'

"So that whatever may be the antecedent history of the land, whether originally it was khamar land or other land, the tenants had a right to have occupancy rights in. If it is proved to a Revenue-officer that such land has been held for twelve years continuously by the landlord and cultivated by him, then I say that, notwithstanding anything which may have preceded this state of things, the Revenue-officer is bound to record this as the proprietor's private land. If that be so, is it too much to ask my hon'ble friend to accept the principle I now seek to place before the Council, namely, that if there has been a decree of the Civil Court, either ex-parte or contested, and if in pursuance of that decree the landlord has taken possession of the land as his private land in the face of the whole village and in the presence of all the villagers, and has for six continuous years kept possession of the land and cultivated the land as his zirat or khamar land, I say would it be too much to ask that the Revenue-officer should recognize such lands as the landlord's private lands? I submit, with considerable confidence, that there is no objection to such land being recognized as the landlord's private lands.

"If the decree is ex parte but if it is followed by possession, then the ex-parte character of the decree altogether vanishes; because as soon as the landlord takes possession the fact of the decree is brought home to the tenant. If the decree is fraudulent or collusive, that only means that there is some sort of an arrangement between the tenant and the landlord for some ulterior object; the direct object not being the dispossession of the tenant in favour of the landlord. It can only be either collusion or fraud. I take collusion first; if it is collusion, then, Sir, the meaning is that there is an underhand arrangement between the proprietor and his tenant, and that underhand arrangement is for the purpose of defeating some other right. That is collusion. We have instances like that in many phases of life, such as in benami transactions.

"I submit, however, that if, under a Civil Court decree, the landlord takes possession under a so called collusive decree and retains possession for six years, and receives the profits of the land, certainly the presumption of collusion is at once negatived. I say, with considerable confidence, that in such a state of things my hon'ble friend will not be able to charge the landlord or the tenant with collusion. There is no collusion nor fraud, because fraud means that the landlord obtains a decree in suppression of the tenant's rights, by some fraudulent method: for example, A, a landlord, obtains a decree against B, whereas the real tenant is C, that is a fraudulent decree; but when A seeks to obtain possession of the land against C, the latter is at once apprised of the fact that there has been a fraudulent decree behind him, and then he has got the remedy which the general law provides, namely, that even after three years he can go and set aside the decree.

"It may be said that a collusive decree may be kept quiescent and may be brought up in time for the purpose of asserting a false claim, but the amendment which I propose is, that even if there is a fraudulent decree—a supposition which I humbly submit under these circumstances which I suggest would be impossible—the man must come forward within three years from the time the decree is executed to assert his right; if he does not, his right goes. It may be said that so much time may elapse that the landlord may hereafter be prevented from proving fraud, but it is well-known that if a decree-holder makes default in executing his decree for three years he loses his right to execute the decree, unless he has made a previous attempt to execute and failed. Consequently, I submit this amendment to my hon'ble friend in charge of the Bill with considerable confidence.

"I am aware that cases have been known where powerful landlords have so conducted themselves as to deprive their tenants of their just rights, but I humbly submit the safeguards I propose would operate against such a pratice; and, Sir, powerful landlords are not very common in Bengal. In Northern Bengal and Bihar, we have to deal mostly with co-sharer landlords or landlords belonging to the upper middle classes; but I say if the law, as it now stands, not only allows but makes it obligatory upon a Revenue-officer to record the land as the landlord's private land if the land has been in possession, it stands to reason that if there has been a decree of a Civil Court ex-parte or otherwise and if that decree has been followed by possession and used for six consecutive years, there is no reason why that decree should not be recognized and given effect to and no reason why a Revenue-officer should go behind such a decree and take evidence as to whether it was a fraudulent or collusive decree."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"I beg to support the amendment on the ground that a tenant, affected by a decree obtained by collusion or fraud, cannot after three years but be cognizant of the fact. My friend, the mover, has given six years; under the Limitation Act, the period is three years. Upon the wording of the amendment, when the land has been in possession of the landlord for six years that is sufficient notice. I submit that if this amendment is not carried the provision of the law proposed would go against the Limitation Act."

The Hon'ble Mr. ALLEN said:—"I should like to say a word with reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. He dwelt upon the fact of the possession of the landlord's private land as being some overt act which would be performed in the face of the whole village, but as a matter of fact the private land of a landlord is not as a rule cultivated by himself at all. It is usually cultivated by tenants very much in the same way as the ordinary raiyati land; the only distinction between the zamindar's private land and the ordinary raiyati land of the village being that the tenant does not get occupancy right in the former lands. Therefore, the argument that because the landlord has held this land as private land for a continuous period of six years therefore it must be recognized in the village as his private land falls to the ground, because the villagers would not necessarily know and would not probably know that the zamindar claimed this land as his private land."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"I support the amendment. Every tenant in a village knows which is really private land and which is, what I may call, public land, that is land belonging to tenants; and it is a mistake to urge that the contrary is the case. Every tenant knows every inch of the land which is under cultivation and which is the zamindar's private land. Therefore, Sir, what my hon'ble friend has suggested that the six years' limit might be introduced has my full support; but I should like to say one thing more.

"With the permission of my hon'ble friend, there is some provision in the Act that if a tenant occupies the land for 12 years he acquires a right of occupancy. Here my hon'ble friend is proposing that even if the land was not his, but still if the land was occupied for six continuous years, that ought to be recognized as his private land. I should like to make a further amendment, if this amendment is lost, that this period may be extended to 12 years; and that when a tenant is able to acquire a right of occupancy by continuous possession for 12 years the zamindar should also be allowed, even if the land be not his own private land but used as such for a continuous period of 12 years, that he should acquire the right of occupancy as his private land."

The Hon'ble Mr. GORDON said:—"I should like to make one observation, because it seems to me that the Hon'ble Member who has put forward this amendment and the Hon'ble Member who has just spoken are under some slight misapprehension as to the actual state of the law. The law does not say that any proprietor who has cultivated land for 12 continuous years shall be able to claim it as his private land. It says that land which has been for 12 years immediately before the passing of the Act proved to have been cultivated as zirat, khamar, etc., shall be put down as private land. I think the Hon'ble Member who put forward the amendment argued that if land was cultivated by a proprietor for 12 years it became ipso facto his land, but I do not think that is the law; or that the proposition is correct that if a decree has been in existence for six years and for six years previously the proprietor cultivated the land, then you are only following the principle of law which provides for 12 years. The law is, that it must be distinctly recognized by village usage to be private land or have been cultivated as such for 12 years before the passing of the Act."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I regret I must oppose the amendment. The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur is no doubt quite right in saying that every raiyat knows exactly what is private land and what is not; but every raiyat in a village does not know what land has been converted into private land, by a collusive or fraudulent decree. There is no more reason for accepting a collusive or fraudulent decree 15 years old than there is for accepting such a decree only 6 years old. It must be remembered that we are dealing with rights which affect the public and not merely parties to any case. I do not think we should allow a limitation of 12 years only for the acquisition of such rights by a fraudulent or collusive decree. The present Act prescribes that such rights must have been obtained 12 years before the Tenancy Act was passed, namely in 1873. It is proposed practically to have a new period of limitation of 6 or 12 years, within which the proprietor may give rights adverse to the principle. This cannot possibly be admitted. As the Hon'ble Mr. Allen has very well pointed out, there is no overt act to show that the land is private land; that is a matter between the zamindar and the raiyat who happens to cultivate the land."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"I have been very anxiously considering this section and it seems to me that the decree of a Civil Court in the present instance is not an ordinary decree of the Civil Court, and I invite the attention of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill to section 120, clause (3), which provides that:—

'If any question arises in a Civil Court as to whether land is or is not a proprietor's private land, the Court shall have regard to the rules laid down in this section for the guidance of Revenue-officers.'

"So it seems to me that if a decree is sought to be obtained in a Civil Court, the Civil Court is to be guided by the rules laid down for the guidance of Revenue-officers and these rules are contained in the previous part of section 120; so that unless those conditions are satisfied, I think it would be very difficult for a Civil Court to come to the conclusion that the land in question is khamar, zirat, etc., of the proprietor. There is a further condition attached to a question of this kind and that is contained in clause (2). In clause (2) it is stated that:—

'In determining whether any other land ought to be recorded as a proprietor's private land, the officer shall have regard to local custom and to the question whether the land was before the second day of March, 1883, specifically let as proprietor's private land, and to any other evidence that may be produced; but shall presume that land is not a proprietor's private land until the contrary is shown.'

"It will appear that the privileges that the zamindar may claim under Chapter XI are fenced in with very many difficult conditions, and a Civil Court cannot say that it shall not observe those conditions. Therefore, it seems to me that if a decree has been obtained in a Civil Court, in respect of the zamindar's private lands, that decree to all intents and purposes serves as a decree obtained in a Revenue Court.

"Now the question is, whether in this particular instance it can be said that the decree is a decree which does not affect public rights and is merely a decree between parties? It seems to me that as the Civil Court has not been given a very free scope in this matter and as the Civil Court is to proceed in the way a Revenue Court is to proceed in a matter of this kind, I find it difficult to distinguish between the two. The only question that has to be considered is, whether if a man has obtained a decree in the Civil Court, satisfying all the conditions laid down in section 120 and has been in possession for six years on the strength of that decree, he should not be allowed to get the benefit of such a decree. I think, Sir, the proposals of my hon'ble friends, who have spoken in favour of the amendment, have considerable force. To reject the amendment would be simply encouraging litigation."

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKE said:—"My remarks will be confined chiefly to what has fallen from the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji. He says he cannot understand how a Civil Court could possibly come to any conclusion without reference to the procedure laid down for the guidance of Revenue-officers. I think the Hon'ble Member forgets that Civil Courts decide on what is put before them and they have no means of discovering facts other than those which are put before them, and therefore they are not in the same position as a Settlement Officer. Here is a case in point in which certain raiyats came into Court and relinquished possession of their lands, and, on the strength of their admissions, the Munsif decreed the land to be zirat, thereby placing the public at a disadvantage; though there was nothing save these admissions to prove that the land was zirat. I think, Sir, if the amendment which is proposed be accepted it would be dangerous; it would tend to increase the extent of the zirat lands and gradually most of the good lands of a village would became zirat lands of the proprietor and the public would be prevented from acquiring occupancy rights."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU in reply said:—"With reference to the observation of the Hon'ble Mr. Allen, that I was probably not justified in assuming that the action of the zamindar in taking possession would be an overt act, I humbly beg to differ from him, notwithstanding his great experience of Settlement operations. It is a matter of common knowledge that the village-headmen know every inch of the ground in the village, trees, fences and water-ways. I have had some experience of village life, and I have never known a villager who has not been thoroughly conversant will all the tenures and all the particulars of his village. If Your Honour were to go down to a village, the Village Elder will show you the trees which belong to the tenants and landlords and boundary marks; and if a plot of land is held by a zamindar for six years as his private land I cannot conceive of the villagers not knowing it.

"In the next place, with reference to what the Hon'ble Mr. Gordon has said, it is quite true that the 12 years possession would have been before the commencement of this Act; and if I had omitted to state it. It was unintentional and owing to inadvertence, but what I say is this: Why should there be a suspicion and a feeling of distrust against our Civil Courts in this Council? Is it for a moment supposed that the Civil Court will not take the evidence that they are bound to take under section 120? It is not an ordinary ex-parte money decree in which a man comes forward with his bond or promissory note and gets his decree; it is a decree in which a custom has to be proved, they daily crop up and are daily decided and are taken up from the Munsif to the High Court and sometimes to the Privy Council. In customs of great intricacy, such as in cases of adoption of affiliation of parentage and various other things, there are certain recognized rules in the Evidence Act. Even in an ex-parte suit, to establish an adoption a Civil Court will not give a decree declaring somebody to be an adopted son, merely upon the ex-parte statement of an individual; it will require evidence and evidence of the closest kind before it gives a decree.

"Take the custom of primogeniture or succession by daughters' sons, or the custom of shibartship prevailing in a certain family. In these matters, Civil Courts are excessively jealous, very much more jealous than Executive Officers are and more jealous in an ex-parte suit than in a contested suit. What I was saying is this: the same conditions which must be proved before a Revenue-officer have got to be proved before the Civil Court. Why does my friend suppose the Civil Court will be less strict than a Revenue-officer in requiring the requsite amount and quality of the elements to establish that right?"

Ayes 7.	Noes 11.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gait.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Spink.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram.

So the amendment was lost.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH moved that in sub-section (3) of section 120, in clause 29A of the Bill, the words "or which is proved to his satisfaction to have been obtained by collusion or fraud" be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by way of amendment, moved that in sub-section (3) of section 120, in clause 29A of the Bill, the words "has been passed ex-parte or which" be omitted. He said:—

"I beg leave to move this amendment which the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle said would be accepted if altered."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"I accept the amendment."

The motion was then put in the amended form and agreed to.

Clause 30.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that sub-section (3) of section 147A, inserted by clause 30 of the Bill, be converted into a proviso to sub-section (2) of the said section, and sub-sections (4), (5) and (6) be re-numbered (3), (4) and (5), respectively. He said :—

"This is only a drafting amendment, which I have no doubt the Council will accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that in sub-section (3) of the new section 147A, to be inserted by clause 30 of the Bill, the following words be inserted after the word "Act," namely :—

"except when the Court is satisfied in case of an agreement or compromise about rent, that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, although the terms of the agreement or compromise are such that if they were embodied in a contract, they could not be enforced under this Act."

He said :—"I take the words of my amendment from section 109E. As this section stands, Your Honour will see that any agreement or compromise which contravenes the provisions of section 29 of the Tenancy Act, that is, which gives the landlord a rent of more than two annas in the rupee, cannot be taken cognizance of by the Civil Court, but in section 109E, which has already been passed, we find this—

Power of Revenue-officer to settle rents on agreement.

'Notwithstanding anything contained in section 109D, if in any case, while the record is being prepared, the landlord and tenant agree as to the rent which shall be recorded as payable for the tenure or holding, a Revenue-officer especially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government may, if he is satisfied that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, but not otherwise, settle such rent as a fair and equitable rent, although the terms of the agreement are such that, if they were embodied in a contract, they could not be enforced under this Act; and the provisions of section 113 shall apply to a rent so settled.'

"All that I propose is, that what has been provided for in section 109E should also be provided for in section 147A. If a Revenue-officer can take cognizance of such agreement when he is satisfied that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, I do not see why a Civil Court, when it is satisfied that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, should not have power to give effect to such an agreement? I submit that this is an anomaly which should be remedied."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"I regret that the Government cannot accept this amendment. There is a specious appearance of fairness about it, which may perhaps appeal to some of the Members of Council. It may be urged that, if Revenue-officers can give effect to an agreement or a compromise regarding rent, where they consider it fair and equitable, why should not Civil Courts also have this power? My answer is, that a Civil Court has absolutely no means of determining whether the terms are fair and equitable. A Revenue-officer has to deal with the whole area under settlement. He is constantly going about, and he is intimately acquainted with the circumstances of each village he deals with. For him there should be no difficulty in deciding whether the rent is on the whole fair and equitable or not. As I have already said, a Civil Court has no material whatever which would enable it to decide the question. I must accordingly ask the Council to refuse to accept this amendment I am making no attack on the Civil Courts, but simply pointing out that they have no opportunity of judging of the fairness of a rent, while the Revenue- officers have."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that in clause 30 of the Bill, sub-section (5) of the new section 147A, be omitted. He said:—

"The arguments that I intended to address to Your Honour with reference to this omission have already been addressed by me with reference to clause 24, section 3; and as they have not been accepted by Government, I do not wish to repeat and press this argument over again with reference to this clause. I therefore withdraw the amendment."

Clause 31.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that in the new clause (bb) to be inserted in section 148 of the Act, by clause 31 of the Bill, the words from "unless the Court is" to the words "furnishing such statement" be transferred to the end of the clause after the word "record-of-rights", and that the words "list and" be inserted after the words "furnishing such". He said:—

"This is a purely drafting amendment, which I have no doubt the Council will accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 32A.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE moved that clause 32A be omitted, and that to section 143 of the Act the following proviso be added, namely:—

"Provided that an applicant for an order to set aside a decree passed ex parte or for a review of judgment shall at the time of presenting his application either deposit in the Court the amount due from him under the decree, or in pursuance of the judgment or give security to the satisfaction of the Court for the performance of the decree or compliance with the judgment as the Court may direct.

"Where a person has become liable as surety under the above proviso, the security may be realized in the manner provided by section 253 of the Code of Civil Procedure."

He said:—"The words are taken verbatim from the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act. I think this is the proper place where the provision about setting aside a decree under section 108 should be inserted, and I further submit that the provisions of section 153A do not seem to me quite logical. It says:—

'Every application for an order under section 108 of the Code of Civil Procedure to set aside a decree passed ex-parte, or for a review of judgment, under section 623 of the said Code, shall contain a statement of the injury sustained by the applicant by reason of the decree or judgment; and no such application shall be admitted—

(a) unless the applicant has, at or before the time when the application is admitted, deposited in the Court to which the application is presented the amount, if any, which he admits to be due from him to the decree- holder, or such amount as the Court may, for reasons to be recorded by it in writing, direct; or

(b) unless the Court, after considering the statement of injury, is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded by it in writing, that no such deposit is necessary.'

"The statement of an injury is a very superfluous thing, and the provision of clause (b), that if from the statement the Court is satisfied of an injury, seems to place the applicant under a great disadvantage. In cases like this, the tenant should be allowed either to deposit the money or to give security to the satisfaction of the Court. I submit that the provisions of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act should be adopted in this Act in their entirety."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must ask the Council to reject the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. To allow an additional element of litigation to be introduced by permitting the giving of security will, I think, not commend itself to Council. The object in rent-suits is to make the proceedings as simple and speedy as possible, and I am afraid the amendment proposed by my hon'ble colleague would have the opposite effect. I would also point out that, under the Hon'ble Member's proposal, the alternative to furnishing security is deposit of the full decretal amount. In some cases, it might be impossible for the tenant to find the money, and such a provision would then amount to denial of justice. I can see no reason why discretion should not be left to the Court, as proposed in the Bill."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE also, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that, if the above amendment be not carried, the above proviso be substituted for section 153A, omitting the words "Provided that" and inserting the word "every" before the word "applicant."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that in the new section 153A, to be inserted by clause 32A of the Bill, after the word "Code" the words "in a suit between a landlord and tenant as such" be inserted. He said:—

"The amendment I propose supplies an obvious defect in the wording of the section as submitted by the Select Committee."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 33.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH moved that section 158A, in clause 33 of the Bill, be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU moved also that clause 33 of the Bill be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH said:—"This clause introduces an altogether new principle into the Rent Act of the Province, and I may say much of the agitation against the Bill centred on this clause. Opposition came not only from persons representing the tenantry, but also from a body of landholders in the Province. When this clause was taken up in the Select Committee, it was hoped that in view of the decided opposition to it and of the strong dissent which was expressed by two of the Hon'ble Members—Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu and Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji—that the Select Committee would have seen their way to recommend the omission of this clause or at least make such modification as would make it acceptable to the general public. Some modifications have been made, but those modifications certainly do not take away the objectionable feature of this clause. I submit that this clause is objectionable on principle and so far as practical expediency goes it is equally objectionable, if not more. I say it is objectionable in principle because we find that although this clause has been inserted simply for the benefit of the landlords, but the way in which this clause has been drafted does not, I think, extend the benefit to the general body of landlords.

"It is laid down that an application can be made under this section to the Local Government through the Collector and that the application may be allowed or refused and certain conditions may be laid down, but in no case any reason shall be assigned for the action of the Local Government. As a matter of fact, when an application is made to the District Officer it will be in the usual course forwarded to the Local Goverment; but we have reason to believe that the decision of the Local Government will practically rest on the report of the District Officer, so it will practically rest with the District Officer to allow such a prayer or to refuse it.

"Now, Sir, a landlord may be a perfectly good landlord, but he may not be in the good graces of the District Officer; and it may so happen that when he makes an application under this section his application may be rejected, and he may not be informed for what reasons it was rejected. We understand that the criterion for deciding a point like this would be the landlord's conduct, and if that be so, then the rejection of an application means that the landlord is not a landlord with a good conduct. If that be so, I think, Sir, very few landlords, with their ideas of self respect, will avail of the remedy which this section proposes to give them. The method of selection will create an invidious distinction amongst landlords. And I further submit that it is also objectionable in principle from the tenant's point of view. This section practically ousts the jurisdiction of the Civil Court in a matter which may come within the purview of this clause. Hitherto, Sir, all rent-suits were tried by Civil Courts, and we were not aware of any such procedure in our Rent Act.

"Now some cases will not be tried by the Civil Court but by a Certificate Officer. We know also that the Certificate Procedure will be summary, and the tenants may not have before the Certificate Officer their defence sifted so thoroughly as they can now have in the Civil Courts in an ordinary rent-suit. The tenants may very properly object to this section because it introduces a new principle, a principle which is objectionable so far as their interests are concerned. Then as to the practical expediency of this section. The true reason for inserting this clause is, to secure to the landlords a speedy remedy for realizing their rents. The question is, whether the clause secures that privilege to the landlords; and to determine a point like this brings us to the consideration of some sections of the Certificate Act, where a certain procedure has to be followed before a certificate can be made absolute.

"Those who have practical experience of the working of the Certificate Act are aware that, to avail oneself of the Certificate Procedure, one must file a requisition before the Certificate Officer, and when that requisition is filed the Certificate Officer has to satisfy himself as to whether the amount claimed is justly recoverable or not; and when he is so satisfied he makes a certificate and issues notice, giving 30 days' time. So, to start with in this Certificate Procedure, the tenant will have to be given 30 days' time to file his objection to the certificate; and then when he files his objection the Certificate Officer can dispose of it, or if the application of objection contains any bonâ fide claim of right then the Certificate Officer will have to refer the matter to the District Collector who can cancel the certificate if he likes: but supposing the officer makes the certificate absolute, the tenant, the judgment-debtor, will have a right of appeal, and in fifteen days he can appeal; and when the appeal is decided then he has another remedy and that is, that within six months from the date of the disposal of the appeal he can file a civil suit for cancelling the certificate.

"Is this a speedy procedure as compared with the procedure under the Act? In a rent-suit, 14 days' time has to be given to the tenant for filing his written statement, and in certain suits where the amount claimed is below Rs. 50 and when such suits are tried by judicial officers specially empowered in that behalf, the decision is final, and I believe section 153 of the Bengal Tenancy Act lays down such a provision: but when we find that in place of 30 days 14 days is only necessary in a rent-suit and an order of Court is final, then can we say that the Certificate Procedure will be a speedier procedure than the procedure which has now to be observed. I do not see that any practical advantage will be gained by the landlords by adopting this procedure, whereas this procedure as laid down operates with hardship on the tenants as a class.

"Sir, certificates are now-a-days allowed in respect of demands which are of a public character, in which an officer or authority making the requisition has no sort of personal interest as they are either the Managers of Government Estates or officers of similar description. They cannot be said to have any personal interest in the amount which is claimed; whereas in the case, which will come under this clause, it cannot be said that the landlord has no personal interest in the requisition which will be filed on his behalf. It is too much to expect that a landlord will have time enough to go through all the details of a requisition, and it is not possible that he will himself verify the accuracy of all these details made in a requisition. The matter will have to be entrusted to his amlas and gomastas, and most of them may be low paid amlas; they may not be above suspicion, and it may happen that several of these entries in a requisition may be prejudicial to the interests of raiyats and the summary procedure to the landlord may carry victory. I submit that considering the fact that this section will not give any speedier remedy to the landlord and the fact that the general body of the landlords will not benefit, and on the other hand that the interests of the tenantry as a class will be jeopardised by this clause, I submit that it ought to be omitted."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"I am unable to appreciate the force of the argument that, because the privilege which Your Honour's Government propose to give to landholders under this clause has been safeguarded, by certain conditions and restrictions, that the clause should be eliminated from the Bill. It is avowedly an experimental measure. If the experience of its operation be found to be satisfactory, Government would doubtless have no objection to modify and extend it. It is a valuable privilege for which the landholders should be grateful to the Government. Hon'ble Members have attempted to discredit the clause on the ground that in the hands of low-paid zamindari amlas it may prove an engine of oppression; and it has at the same time been urged that the clause does not give adequate facilities to the landholders for speedy recovery of their rent, inasmuch as the raiyat could keep his landlord at bay by protesting against the certificate to the Collector and by instituting a suit in the Civil Court to contest it. For the purpose of attacking the clause, Hon'ble Members have been compelled to blow hot and cold in the same breath. When Government has found the procedure satisfactory for recovering their dues, I do not see why landholders should not find it equally satisfactory."

The Hon'ble MR. BERTRAM said:—"I have not intervened in this debate, but this clause seems to be one to which there is a great deal of opposition all over the country; and when one hears the representations of the non-official Members who have spoken on this subject, one cannot but come to the conclusion that there must be something very unanimous in the opposition to this measure and it shows that that opposition is very strongly backed. It seems to me that the proposed provision is radically wrong, and unless Your Honour or the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill can tell me of any other part of the world where the Government goes out of its way to give such privileges to the temporary owners of the soil, I shall certainly not vote in favour of the proposed change.

"It seems to me that, by this provision, the Government are going to offer a bribe to the zamindars in the hope of collecting revenue quicker; they are certainly giving them facilities to be able to screw the noses of the poor tenants. If this is passed, the landlords will be very sure to get their revenue, and at a very early period, by the Certificate Procedure which was spoken of. Of course, all landlords are strongly in favour of it; the tenants are the poor people who will suffer. Your Honour will say that it is good that the landlord should have his books made up to the satisfaction of the Revenue-officer; still I say the tenant is the one who will suffer, because when the law is put on to him in that strong way the poor wretch will have no mercy; he will be sold up neck and crop, whereas if he goes to the Court he will get justice. We are told you will have quiet in the Mufassal and that the landlords are all in favour of this. It is a mistake on the part of Government to have incorporated this in a Rent Bill. They should not have incorporated it in an amending Act, because this being an experimental measure must unsettle the minds of all tenants all over the country."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, I beg to thank the Government for understanding the grievances of the landlords and for arriving at the conclusion that a summary procedure is really necessary to be granted to the landlords, for the speedy realization of their rent from their tenants.

"The cumbersome and expensive procedure which the landlords have to follow at present, for the realization of their just dues, is very tedious and troublesome; and I need hardly say that, in the ordinary course, it takes more than three years to get money from the date of institution of a rent-suit in contested cases. Then, again, in the case of wicked well-to-do and designing tenants, it takes six years or more to get the money due, after protracted litigation in every stage of the progress of the suit and the execution of decrees. It is an admitted fact that this kind of litigation is very costly and ultimately the tenants have to pay a good deal more than it was necessary for him to do, had he not taken upon himself the pleasure of opposing the zamindar

"The Certificate Procedure will prove a much speedier machinery for the realization of rent. It is comparatively less costly to the landlords and the tenants alike, and any measure which lessens the cost of the procedure for collection of rent from the tenants must be in the long run more suitable to them than a ruinously costly and lengthy procedure.

"The Summary Procedure which is to be introduced in the Statute Book is really a welcome inauguration of the legislator, and as such I, for one, must heartily move that the clause under discussion be accepted by the Council and passed into law. In this connection, Sir, I cannot help observing that the Summary Procedure, when it becomes law, will serve as a boon to those landlords who will have the good fortune of getting the privilege from the Government for its use in their zamindaries. But, Sir, at least as far as Bengal proper is concerned, it cannot expect to enjoy this advantage for another twenty to twenty-five years; because, above all other consideration, the condition which must be satisfied before one can hope to get the boon is that the properties must be surveyed, a record-of-right prepared and finally published, and an agency is provided for for the maintenance of the records. Thus it will be seen, Sir, that the advantage is only remotely prospective and is not so very easy to obtain.

"Then, Sir, speaking personally, I, for one as a small zamindar, will never reap the benefit which I have the honour of trying to secure for the landlords of the Province; because, in my time, the arrangement necessary for granting the permission for the use of the Certificate Procedure will never be completed. Then, Sir, the Summary Procedure like, everything else, has both its advantages and disadvantages; and it is not an unalloyed blessing on the whole to those who will have the privilege of using it. The working of the system will most probably require further amendments when the procedure is put into actual working, especially as we have combined the procedure of Chapter XIV of the Bengal Tenancy Act, for the execution of the decree with sub-clause (5). But this must be left, Sir, for the gentlemen who come after us; therefore, I refrain from discussing this point further.

"Your Honour, some of my colleagues have remarked that the Government should not make any distinction among the zamindars, even at the beginning by granting the privilege of using the Summary Procedure to some and refusing it to others; and that the words 'bad zamindars' and 'good zamindars' have unhappily been used in discussion. But, Sir, the fact must not be lost sight of that a zamindar must have all his zamindari papers and records properly kept up and the settlement records properly maintained, before he can ask the Government for the privilege of using the Summary Procedure; and this is meant for all zamindars, big or small, and bad or good. No distinction can possibly be made as far as this important point is concerned. Secondly, he must prove himself to be a good zamindar according to the Government standard, before he can expect to get the use of the Summary, Procedure.

"There is no doubt, Sir, that the Government have the right to judge and distinguish between different classes in the community, and I do not, therefore, see why the Government should not make a distinction between good and bad landlords. Besides, Sir, this very fact when it becomes widely known to the zamindars, I feel will have a salutary effect upon them, as many landlords that are now in the bad books of the Government and are noted by the officials as bad landlords, would try to mend their ways and in time become good zamindars. So this distinction would really have the effect of gradually inducing the zamindars to try to become good according to the Government standard. Therefore, Sir, instead of finding fault with the clause, I think it to be most wholesome, and as such I strongly support the Bill on this head.

"Then, again, any person whose conscience is not clear and whose record is not properly kept, need not take the advantage of the Summary Procedure. He can follow the ordinary course, considering that it is entirely optional with the landlord to ask for the Summary Procedure or not. Sir, many critics have asked why the zamindars should be helped by the Government in speedy realization of rents from their tenants? Why should Summary Procedure be granted to them? They forget that while the zamindars have to make the payment of their revenue to Government in a given time (under the sun-set law) the zamindars are not able to collect their rents for years together. It is to remove this hardship that the Government must help the zamindars in the speedy collection of their rents."

"Besides, Sir, the persons who profess themselves to be the friends of the tenants should bear in mind that it is also good for the tenants if they be induced to pay up their rents quickly and thus avoid the accumulation of interests on, and the addition of costs of litigation to, their rents. As the speedy realization of rents would help both the landlords and the tenants, the Government must help the zamindar in realizing their just dues; while protecting the tenants from unlawful exaction. Besides, Sir, the zamindar pays his revenue in a lump sum in four kists to the Government, thus saving the Government the trouble and expense of direct management and the writing-off of bad debts and the granting of remission, which are inevitable when a property is managed khas; surely all these require some consideration.

"Then, Sir, the local authorities form the connecting link in the management of the whole Empire. The zamindar, if he chooses to do good to his country and people, can do so very well if he is wise enough to keep himself in touch with the District Officers. It cannot be denied that the District Officer is the person through whom the Government can know the zamindars individually. A zamindar can see his District Officer often if he desire to do so, and the Commissioner less often; while he can approach Your Honour very rarely: therefore, it follows, Sir, that if a zamindar wants to be in the good books of the Government he should work in harmony with and seek the advice and help of the District Officer, if he require any, and be ready to help the District Officer whenever he can. Surely, I cannot agree with the remark which has been made by my hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, that the zamindars try to curry favour with the Government officers, simply with a view to obtain some recognition from the Government with their help: this is casting a slur on his brother zamindars.

"I venture to state with your permission, Sir, that what the Government want is, that the zamindars should be fair and just in all their dealings with their tenants, upright, candid and well-behaved; and that they should be fair and above-board in all their actions, be on good terms with the District Officers and all men of the district and treat their tenants kindly.

"Your Honour, I will not detain the Council very long: there is one point only which I wish to touch upon, Sir—nothing has been done in the present amended Bill to relieve the difficulty of the landlords who will not have the good fortune of using the Summary Procedure, nor has anything been done to make the present procedure cheap and less cumbersome.

"Besides, Sir, nothing has been done to remove one of the chief defects of all such proceedings, viz., the mode of process-serving to which a good deal of importance is attached. I need hardly say, Sir, that on account of the absence of the improvement on this particular head, we are really left where we were when the amendment of the Tenancy Bill was taken in hand. Further, most of us must continue to labour under all the usual disadvantages for at least another 20 or 25 years, because we cannot use the Summary Procedure which we are providing for in the Act until the Province is surveyed and Settlement is concluded. Therefore, Sir, I venture to state that sooner or later this process-service question will have to be taken up in the Council and some further amendments will have to be made."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said :—"Though my amendment comes after that of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, I have been asked by him to submit my observations before he takes up the question. I have submitted the chief points of my case in the Note of Dissent which has been appended to the Report of the Select Committee, and I do not think I should be justified in taking up the time of Hon'ble Members by going over the same ground again. I will, however, touch upon a few points which have arisen in the course of the debate, and to those points I beg to address myself.

"The first point that I take up is this: that we, the opponents of this measure, are told that we are blowing hot and cold. We have said that it is a measure which is not calculated to give adequate relief to the zamindars, and it is a measure which is calculated to put the raiyat in a difficult position. I think anybody who takes an impartial view of the situation will agree with me in thinking that these two aspects of the question are really what we have stated them to be, and that we are not really blowing hot and cold. In this respect, I have been supported by my hon'ble colleague, Raja Ban Bihari Kapur, who says that the measure is not an unalloyed blessing to the zamindars; so that what my hon'ble opponent has said is perhaps without any basis or foundation.

"In the course of our deliberations, in connection with this Bill, we received a letter from some one in the District of Muzaffarpur, who says that he is a zamindar and that he has taken up certain questions on behalf of the raiyats. I can, therefore, submit to Hon'ble Members that it is quite possible for a man who has landed interest to say that the Bill, so far as this portion is concerned, does not operate entirely in favour of the landholders. The fact stands thus: a zamindar who has a long purse and a big zamindari is always in a position to bring down on his knees a recalcitrant raiyat who shows fight, and it is not often that a big landlord is brought down on his knees by a fighting raiyat. It is just the other way about. The zamindar can afford to wait, and when in the end, if he has a good case, he wins; the raiyat is dead by that time. I mean dead from a financial point of view. The small proprietors will have no chance of coming under this section, they are the men who are likely to suffer even without the Certificate Procedure and their case will now stand precisely as before. If the argument that is advanced by some of my friends that our zamindars, who pay Government revenue, ought to be placed in a position in which they can collect their rent quickly is to be accepted, it should be held to be a principle more applicable to the case of small proprietors than to the case of big zamindars. Therefore, I submit that the proposed section will not affect the situation, so far as affording relief to the main body of zamindars is concerned.

"There is another point and it is this: when a zamindar pays his revenue to Government he pays it on the expectation of certain profits, and it is contrary to all principles of ordinary law of property that he should avoid all trouble and that the State should collect his money for him. For instance, if I lend a person Rs. 5,000 or Rs. 500, say at 9 per cent. interest,

I cannot say here is my money, and when the borrower will refuse to pay Government will have to recover it for me. That will be a very preposterous idea. Some such idea is latent in this section. The zamindar says: 'I pay Government revenue, rent is due to me from certain tenants, but because there is trouble involved in putting them into Court Government must recover the rent for me.' Government does it in a way in all cases, but on evidence. This is a matter which must not be lost sight of. I may further say that the margin of profit that was left to the zamindars at the time of the Permanent Settlement was left to them because they undertook to collect the rent from the tenants, and in view of the trouble they undertook to go through in collecting the rent they were given 10 per cent. by the State. It was not a gratuitous act on the part of zamindars. That profit of the zamindars is perhaps 50 times more now. The value of land has gone up and the profit, where it was Rs. 10 at the time of the Permanent Settlement, is now perhaps Rs. 200 or Rs. 500; so that it does not do for the zamindars to say that, because they have to pay revenue, all evidence, must be done away with? Then I must submit that the section as it has been framed is not an unmixed blessing, as has been admitted by the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.

As I read this section, I see before me practical difficulties which will probably work against the zamindar. One is about limitation. Under the Bengal Tenancy Act, he can sue for four years' rent in one suit. Although certain sections have been extended to the Certificate Procedure, under section 158A, yet the schedule regarding the Law of Limitation remains the same as before; and as the procedure under section 158A is not a suit that the Law of Limitation will not apply. No argument will convince me that the zamindar will not suffer thereby. When the position is this, that this measure, for certain superficial reasons, recommended itself to a certain class of zamindars or gentlemen who had the good fortune to be consulted, but upon further examination of the principle underlying it great difficulties have been disclosed. It should not be that, because upon a superficial consideration sanction was given to it by some zamindars, we should stick to that sanction in spite of the difficulties that may be seen. I am not one of those who wish to throw any obstacle in the way of zamindars, but my wish is, that everything should be fair and square; that things should not degenerate, and that the law should not be in such a state as to put temptation in the way of ill-paid officers of zamindars.

"As regards supervision, I may say that I cannot think of any means to devise a machinery by which Government can undertake to keep control over zamindars, who have been given power under this section. The mere record-of-rights is not enough; the record simply determines the rent that is paid but the amount of rent that is paid, month by month, or quarter by quarter, is not entered in the record-of-rights. We all know that amlas have to be satisfied, and I do not think Government can devise any means by which the difficulties arising out of this state of things can be met. The result will be that first will come the attachment and the hearing afterwards. This is a state of things, Your Honour can easily understand, will bring the raiyats down on their knees. They will probably then think of avoiding all their troubles by paying tips. That will be the result to which they will have to submit. Even the zamindars, many of them very good and kind-hearted men, will not be aware of what is going on. The matter now before this Council was considered by many eminent Civil Servants, and many of them did not approve of the principle of this Bill, and those who approved of the principle of the Bill did so with considerable reservation. Taking a broad and impartial view of the question, Your Honour and the Hon'ble Members of this Council will perhaps have no difficulty in coming to the conclusion that, it is a most dangerous experiment that is being tried under colour of this section. With these remarks, I beg to support the motion."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must, on behalf of the Government, oppose the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh. Before I deal with this amendment, I must express my surprise that several of the Hon'ble

Members who have spoken should wish to have all rent-suits tried by the Civil Courts. I would like to bring it to the notice of the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram that in Bombay, under the Bombay Land Revenue Code, superior holders are entitled to collect their rents by Summary Procedure, and I would refer him to the Calcutta Small Cause Court Procedure. I do not wish to go in detail into the history of the question. Lord Kimberley, in paragraph 10 of his Despatch No. 24, dated the 23rd June, 1885, on the Bengal Tenancy Act, expressed his regret that it had not been found possible to give greater facilities for the realization of rent by an abbreviation and simplification of the procedure of the Civil Courts, but most Members of Council know that Government long ago promised, if possible, to provide zamindars with some more speedy methods of recovering rent than they have now got. The difficulty has always been to provide safe-guards, which would prevent a Summary Procedure from being turned into an engine of oppression. I believe that the provisions of the Bill have solved the problem, and, if so, it would, I think, be wrong and contrary to the repeated statements of Government now to withhold from zamindars the boon so long asked for.

"I would also point out that, even from the point of view of the raiyats, these provisions should prove a boon. Costs will be reduced; and as in the great majority of cases rent-suits are decided against raiyats, the greater part of the benefit will accrue to them. I hope also that if the provisions regarding the Summary Procedure prove a success, it will have a great effect in bringing zamindars to keep their accounts in better order than is now the case. I do not of course refer to the numerous large and well-managed zamindaris which do exist in the Province, but in a great majority of the zamindaris, I think, I am not wrong in saying that accounts are not properly kept, and it would be a great inducement to improve this state of things, if the zamindars knew that by keeping their accounts properly, they would be able to reap the benefit of the provisions now under discussion. I will close by reading the remarks of a zamindar, Babu Raghunandan Prasad Singh, on this section. He says:—

'The introduction of the certificate system to realize rent with proper safeguard will benefit also raiyats who have to pay heavy cost of rent-suits and execution proceedings when a suit to realize rent is instituted; whereas in the certificate system of payment they will have to pay only one process-fee.'

"I may also add that they will not have to pay the fees at the time of the institution and hearing of the suit and the execution of decree as is at present the case in rent-suits. As regards the question of limitation, I think the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji is in error. As I understand Article 2 of Schedule 3, the limitation will be exactly the same whether the suit is under the Civil Court Procedure or under the Certificate Act. As regards the political objection, I will only say that, if the provisions are not successful, the Government cannot make use of it as a political weapon. As regards the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur's remarks that very little good will be done at present because nothing has been done to improve process serving, I agree that there are great difficulties at present, but we are attempting to improve the process serving and I hope in a few years there will be a great difference in the present state of things."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"My hon'ble friend, Mr. Bertram, has said that this is an attempt to bribe the zamindars. I will not follow him in that language, but with the courtesy of an Oriental I will call this not a bribe but a bait; and notwithstanding what I have heard from my hon'ble friends, the two leading zamindars of this Province, I still adhere to my opinion. For nearly 20 years now or more, the zamindars have tried to obtain this privilege from Government and this has been up to now denied to them. After 20 years, a privilege is sought to be conferred upon the zamindars and why? My friend, the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur, says that the zamindars of Bengal are in a very bad way. It is stated that there ought to be some compensation to the zamindars for the sunset law; one can understand the argument but such is not the fact, and I do not think that because the Government is supposed by our zamindars to be hard on them, that they should be allowed to oppress their raiyats.

"I am reminded of a story which is well-known among my own community, where a poor clerk in a Government office used to get a great deal of abuse and ill-treatment from his superiors. Being unable to vent his feelings on him, he used to come home in the evening and vent his feelings against his poor and unoffending wife. I am afraid that is the position with my friends, the landlords of Bengal, who believe that they have got a grievance against Government for the sunset law; and they now want the license of Government to go forth amongst their tenants and oppress them in their turn.

"The Land Revenue of Bengal was settled more than a century ago on a permanent basis. The rent from land has grown by enormous bounds, the Government portion has remained fixed and stationary. Have the landlords any right to complain? European capitalists have sunk their capital in our country; trade and commerce have increased the value of land; railways have enabled the produce of the country to be exported, and the value of land has risen enormously. Does it lie in the mouth of the zamindars to turn round and say that the Government of Bengal have treated them badly and that therefore they should be allowed to treat their raiyats badly? I suppose, Sir, that no man in his senses would for a moment put forward such an argument.

"If the conditions of the country were investigated and inquired into as they existed in the year 1793 and as they exist in the present year of grace 1907, it will be found that the benefits which the landed classes have derived from the Permanent Settlement have been enormous; but apart from that, in what connection is it that my friend, the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohun Mukharji, says that we have been blowing hot and cold. I can assume that it has been very far from our intention to do so. What we have said is, that if there are powerful raiyats who can combine to oppose the landlords the new procedure will help them.

"The difficulties which a refractory tenant may throw in the way of the landlord have been well put by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, and I will not repeat them. They are known, I believe, to most Members of Your Honour's Council. They may not be known to my friends, the representatives of trade and commerce in this Council, but they may take it from me that if a raiyat has got the means he can hold the zamindar at arm's length for a much greater period under the Certificate Procedure than he can under the Tenancy Act; but Your Honour knows, and my friends in Council know, that powerful tenants, specially in the Western Province of Bengal, are not very common commodities; combinations among them are not frequent as in the sister province of Eastern Bengal and that the vast majority of our tenants are poor and law-abiding people.

"Then, Sir, that being the state of things, so far as powerful landlords are concerned, you propose to hand over the raiyats, bound hand and foot, to the tender mercies of the landlord and his amla. I am not overdrawing the picture. Where have you heard of a piece of legislation by which, as soon as a certificate is filed, the whole property of the raiyat, both movable and immovable, is bound? Is that a condition of things which Your Honour and Your Honour's Advisers in this Council can contemplate without any feelings of apprehension? Are there not powerful landlords enough in the Western Province who can utilize this section of the Act to the utter ruin of their tenantry? Your Honour and Your Honour's Advisers and the predecessors of Your Honour, who framed this Act, have laid down elaborate precautions for the protection of the raiyat. Has the time come and is the necessary evidence available that this should be done away with? In the papers before us and in the opinions submitted to us, we have not got evidence to show that the condition of things is such as to justify these powers being given to the landlords, and the question has been asked, why? It has been answered by the Public and the Press.

"Your Honour's Government is not laying down any conditions under which this privilege may be granted; the one condition is, that there must be a record-of-right and that record-of-right must be kept up to date; but that is not enough. If that were the sole condition and guiding principle, I for one and the public would understand and appreciate the generosity of the Government to our landed classes, but the whole thing reminds us of the Star Chamber of England. You cannot grant a power without assigning any reasons. Reasons, however, are not given, and you can withdraw the privilege without assigning any reason and without affording the zamindar an opportunity to exculpate himself, if there is anything said against him.

"May I ask what would be Your Honour's opinion and the opinion of Your Honour's Councillors, as to what would be a greater weapon in the hands of the Government to coerce the zamindars if occasion arose? There have been occasions where zamindars and the landed classes have taken a prominent part in agitations against Government; private and confidential interviews between the District Magistrate and the people of the district have probably served their purpose to some extent, but private and confidential interviews are not enough; you grant me a substantial privilege which you can withdraw without assigning any reason, without being answerable to any body, and I suppose the Government has got no conscience. It is not possible that in many instances the privilege which Government retains is liable to abuse, and, Sir, may I ask would it be for the benefit of the Government that that such a power should be retained by them?

"The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur has said that I threw some slur upon the landed aristocracy of the country. Far be it from me, a humble citizen, to throw any slur upon that mighty and august body—the landed aristocracy of Bengal. I have derived untold benefits from them, but I might tell them that they know not what they are jumping at—that it may be a veritable engine of destruction alike to them and to their tenantry.

"If, Sir, an Inspector of Police can start a prosecution against an innocent man for an alleged theft of benches which were taken away from a school for a temporary purpose, what may not happen? What is the effect of a zamindar incurring the displeasure of a Collector of the District? It makes the whole landed aristocracy of Bengal, about whom I am so proud, entirely subservient to Government; and apart from that aspect, is that a position which is beneficial to Government? Is it not of the greatest benefit to Government that in all public agitations the sober and staid judgment of the community and landed classes should be closely associated, so that the agitation may be carried on on reasonable and constitutional lines.

"I say it is in the highest degree to the interest of the State that such a procedure should not be reserved to Government, and, Sir, what is the answer of the zamindars themselves and of those officials to the Government whom the Government must trust? I will not say it is the unanimous opinion, but by an overwhelming majority they are against the grant of this privilege. The British Indian Association, from which comes the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, has given it but a qualified support, and so the Bihar Landholders' Association. If Government Officials, whose advice is always entitled to the greatest weight, are opposed to it, why then, Sir, should Government be so anxious to thrust its power upon the zamindars? If I had understood that this power would not be abused, that it would be both to the good of the landlords and the tenants, I, for one, would have accepted it; but the tenants have protested against it and the landlords have protested against it.

"The power proposed to be given is so hedged in and so much surrounded by technical and legal difficulties, that probably it may never come into operation. If, as my friend Raja Ban Bihari Kapur has said, that another 25 years may elapse before the provision can be put in force in Bengal, why then is this hurry; why should this measure be introduced now? I would appeal to Your Honour and to Your Honour's Council to stay their hand as regards this provision of the Bill. I admit there are provisions in the Bill which are calculated to do good, but why introduce a provision which is alike harmful to the landlords and the tenantry? On these grounds, Sir, I oppose the introduction of this provision."

The motions being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 6.	Noes 11.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji.	The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gupta.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collin.
The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal.	The Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle.
The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis.
The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh.	The Hon'ble Mr. Gait.
	The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Gordon.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Allen.
	The Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur.
	The Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji.

So the amendment was lost.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU also moved that sub-section (2) of section 158A, in clause 33 of the Bill, be omitted, and the following sub-section beadded after sub-section (1), namely:—

"(2) The Local Government shall lay down the terms and conditions on which such application may be granted, and may at any time add to or vary such terms and conditions, the Local Government shall allow an application which complies with such terms and conditions.

"And the Local Government may withdraw its allowance of any application if the applicant shall have violated any of such terms or conditions, but before any such allowance is withdrawn, two months' notice shall be given to the party concerned to conform to such terms or conditions or to show cause why, in default thereof, such allowance shall not be withdrawn, and no orders shall be passed without considering the representation, if any, of such party.

"The decision of the Local Government shall in all cases be final."

He said:—"Anticipating that the amendment of which I have given notice would be lost, I have tried to provide what I consider a reasonable safeguard for the exercise of this power. We will now assume that the Council has decided that this privilege should be conferred. If it should be considered conferred, is it not reasonable that it should be conferred upon certain distinct zamindars and on certain conditions? If those terms and conditions are carried out, I respectfully submit that the privilege should be allowed to continue; if those terms and conditions are violated, then it may be withdrawn and I have provided that the decision of the Local Government shall in all cases be final.

"I have also suggested that the party concerned shall have an opportunity of clearing himself of any charges that may be made against him. It is a trite saying that the lowest criminal in the land shall have his say before he is condemned, and here you are admittedly dealing with a class of people who possess and enjoy the highest social position in the land, who have at one time merited the confidence of Government but for some supposed offence this privilege may be sought to be withdrawn. I appeal to my friends, as Englishmen, with their inherent sense of fair play and justice, whether it is fair not to give them an opportunity of being heard? To men like myself, brought up under English ideals and steeped in the history of the English constitution, it does seem to be highly unconstitutional and unfair. Therefore, with some confidence, I submit this amendment for acceptance."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"My amendment is in almost the same words and may be dealt with at the same time. The main amendment having been lost, the question arises whether the powers which are given to the landlord by this section should become a matter of personal consideration alone. It seems to me that it is in the highest degree undesirable that such should be the case. We are day by day drifting away from a primitive state of society, and while we are realizing this in one part of the world in another part of the world we find that the forces of Government are driving us back into it. The whole idea of Government is based upon law, and if in a matter of so much importance a person should be allowed to exercise the powers under this section, simply upon a personal consideration, it will be doing great injustice to the whole community, not only of landlords but of everybody concerned. The amendment which I propose is that, in the event of the above amendment being lost, for sub-section (2) of the proposed section 158A, in the said clause, the following be substituted :—

'(2) The Local Government shall prescribe the terms and conditions upon which such applications by landlords may be granted, and may at any time add to or vary such terms and conditions; and the Local Government shall allow all applications under this section by landlords who undertake to comply with such terms and conditions.

'The Local Government may withdraw the powers granted to a landlord under this section if such landlord shall have violated any of the terms and conditions upon which the powers under this section were granted to him, but before any such powers shall have been withdrawn, three months' notice shall be given to the party concerned to show cause why such powers shall not be withdrawn; and no decision withdrawing such powers shall be passed without considering the representation, if any, of the landlord to whom such notice may have been issued.

'The decision of the Local Government shall in all cases be final.'

"If the law laid down in this amendment were accepted, everybody would know that by fulfilling certain conditions he could obtain the privilege. So that Your Honour can see that if this was not granted the result would be that somebody might—I do not say that everybody will, the law contemplates everybody—curry favour with the Head of the District and obtain the privilege and then do what he liked with his tenantry. The amendment also suggests that the Local Government may withdraw the power under fixed conditions. This is also very fair; and if Government wishes to withdraw the power it must do so on specific grounds."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said: -"I rise to support the motion of my hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. I may tell Your Honour at once that the section, as it stands, has been received with almost unanimous disapproval by the entire community representing the landlords. I do not pretend to speak here on behalf of the landlords, but I may inform Your Honour that, at the conference which was held by the Bengal Landholders Association, this section, by which Government reserved to itself the power of refusing to grant an application, was opposed almost unanimously by the land-holding community. I think, under the circumstances and having regard to the fact that the landholders, generally speaking, do not want this provision, the amendment which has been placed before this Council will go a great way to inspire confidence in the concession which the Government has offered to the land-holding class and it will also do away with any possible favouritism which this section, as it now stands, may give rise hereafter.

"It has been openly said by the land-holding class, residing in the Mufassal, that they are afraid the provisions of the Bill will remain a dead letter, that they will not avail themselves of it for fear of being branded as bad landlords when the application is refused without any reason assigned for it; and, speaking as an Oriental, I may say that the fact of an application of this nature, having been submitted by a zamindar of a district to Government and having been refused by it, lowers the zamindar in the estimation of not only his community but also of his tenantry, and this apprehension, I must frankly tell Your Honour, will, I am afraid, keep away many landlords from approaching the Government on the subject. We are accustomed to live under well-defined rules and regulations, we know we have to conform to the rules; whether any individual is a bad individual or a good individual, so long as he complies with the laws of the land and with the rules and regulations which are prescribed by Government, he is entitled to all the privileges of British citizenship.

"Under these circumstances, I would implore Your Honour to accept this amendment which has been placed before you and thereby inspire confidence in the minds of the people; and at the same time impose such stringent conditions as Your Honour thinks fit to safeguard the interests of the raiyats, whose destinies are also committed to Your Honour's care.

"I have only one observation to make in conclusion and that is, with reference to the speech of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. He has vigorously attacked this provision of the Bill, and I may be permitted to tell Your Honour that although he is a leading Lawyer of this Province he is also a zamindar and a zamindar of no mean status; and when he has spoken with such emphasis in this matter I am sure that he has spoken from deep-seated conviction and he has thereby reflected not only his own opinion but also the unanimous opinion of the country on the subject."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose this amendment on behalf of Government. I understand the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to say that the Government has no conscience. I have heard a remark about this in the Corporation. I can assure him that the Government has a conscience.

"The provisions regarding Summary Procedure are tentative. The Government must keep the most strict control over their working, and cannot accept any proposal which would tend to weaken its powers. However clearly the Bill may declare that the powers of the Local Government are to be subject to no appeals, provided it complies with certain conditions, I defy this Council to invent a section which it will be beyond the ingenuity of lawyers to impugn in Court, and the Government cannot risk having its orders set aside by a Civil Court on the ground that its proceedings were informal or for some reasons invalid. As a matter of fact, the Government will, of course, give zamindars a hearing before withdrawing the privilege."

The motions were then put and lost.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that in clause 33 of the Bill, above the heading in italics, the word, figures and letter "Chapter XIIIA" be inserted. He said:—

"This is a mere drafting amendment, and, I have no doubt, will be accepted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that sub-section (8) of section 158A be converted into a proviso to sub-section (5), and sub-section (9) be re-numbered sub-section (8). He said:—

"This is a drafting amendment, which the Council will probably accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 34.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE also moved that sub-section (2) of the new section 158B be transferred as a separate section to be inserted after section 148 in Chapter XIII as section 148A to the following effect, namely:—

Rent suits by co-sharer landlords.

"148A. Where a co-sharer landlord who has instituted a suit to recover the rent due to all the co-sharer landlords in respect of an entire tenure or holding, and has made all the remaining co-sharers parties-defendant to the suit, is unable to ascertain what rent is due for the whole tenure or holding, or whether the rent due to the other co-sharer landlords has been paid or not, owing to the refusal or neglect of the tenant, or of the co-sharer landlords defendant to the suit, to furnish him with correct information on these points, or on either of them, such plaintiff co-sharer landlord shall be entitled to proceed with the suit for his share only of the rent, and a decree obtained by him in a suit so framed shall, as regards the remedies for enforcing the same, be as effectual as a decree obtained by a sole landlord or an entire body of landlords in a suit brought for the rent due to all the co-sharers."

He said:—"This is a merely drafting amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 3rd April, 1907.

THE BENGAL TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1906.

Section 106.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI moved the following amendment which stood in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle and had been held back for further consideration, namely:—

"That to section 106 of the Act, the following proviso be added:—

'Provided also that in any suit under this section the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue which has been, or is, directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, in proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, where such issue has been tried and decided, or is being tried, by the Revenue-officer under section 105A.'

He said:—"This amendment stood over yesterday in consequence of some defects which seemed to require consideration, and since yesterday we have been able to give this matter some consideration, and after consultation the following slight alterations in the original amendment appear to be necessary. After the words 'or is', in the second line of the proviso, the word 'already' may be inserted. The same word 'already' should be inserted in the last but one line, and the letter 'a' substituted for the word 'the' before the words 'Revenue-officer' in the last line of the original amendment as it stood on the notice paper. These being put in, the amendment will read thus:—

'Provided also that in any suit under this section the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue which has been, or is, already directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, in proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, where such issue has been tried and decided, or is already being tried, by a Revenue-officer under section 105A.'

"These additional words seem to me to meet the situation, and I hope Hon'ble Members will see their way to accept the amendment. While on this subject, I beg to draw the attention of Hon'ble Members to the amendment regarding the proviso to section 105A which was passed yesterday. The additional words I have just proposed appear to be necessary in that amendment also, and I beg Your Honour will permit me to move an amendment introducing the word 'already' after the words 'or is' and before the words 'directly and substantially' in one place, and also the same word 'already' after the words 'or is' and before the words 'being tried' in another; and a further alteration that instead of the word 'the' the word 'a' be inserted where it occurs between the words 'being tried by the Revenue-officer.' The amendment being introduced, the section will read thus:—

'Provided that the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue under this section which has been, or is already directly and substantially in issue between the same parties under whom they or any of them claim, and has been tried and decided, or is already being tried, by a Revenue-officer in a suit instituted before him under section 106.'

"I have talked over the matter with the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill and I am told he has no objection to accept this amendment, and on the whole it would make it better."

The motions were put and agreed to.

Clause 36.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU moved that clause 36 of the Bill be omitted. He said:—

"Section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code is sought to be introduced in section 170. Section 170 of the Act provides that sections 278 and 283 shall not apply. The Select Committee has sought, by introducing section 310A into that section, that that section should also be excluded from the operation of the Rent Act. Under section 310A, after a property has been sold in execution of a decree the judgment-debtor or any other person interested in the property may put in the purchase money into Court within 30 days plus certain compensation by way of interest and costs, and thereupon the sale is set aside. In zamindari matters, it often happens that holdings are recorded in the name of a particular, individual as a tenant whereas the real tenant may be a different person altogether.

"Section 170 of the Rent Act allows the judgment-debtor or any person, having an interest in the tenure or holding, to pay the money into Court, before the sale. Section 310A was introduced into the Civil Procedure Code with the object of allowing judgment-debtors or other persons interested in the property sold to pay into Court, within 30 days after the sale, the purchase money, plus interest and costs, and in that case the sale would be cancelled. The operation of section 310A was extended to the Rent Act by decisions of the High Court. The High Court has held that even under the Rent Act Procedure, if a tenure or holding is sold the judgment-debtor or any person, interested in the tenure or holding sold, may put in the purchase money, interest and costs and get the sale cancelled. What we are now seeking to do is, to deprive a large class of tenants of this right. Once the tenure is sold, he cannot save his property by paying in the purchase money and damages and costs; and I find in the Notes circulated that a learned Judge who had differed from the High Court Ruling stated, that the change in the law to the prejudice of the tenant is justifiable, because, after a sale, it would not be desirable to have the whole proceedings re-opened and the realization of the landlord's due delayed.

"I will not tire the patience of Your Honour's Council by referring to the Note of Dissent of myself and of my friend on my right. We have stated it, and it is well known, that there are numerous holdings and tenures in respect of which the recorded tenant is not the real tenant. Hon'ble Members are probably aware that that is the state of things in many zamindaries, either because the zamindar refuses to recognize the right of transfer or because the raiyat, who has purchased the holding, has failed to satisfy the amla. The old name remains recorded; the zamindar goes on; gets a decree against the old tenant, who has nothing more to do with the tenure. The result is, that he obtains a decree against the recorded tenant in execution of which the holding may be sold, and the real tenant may know nothing about it. He may not know anything about the decree, because the process is not served upon him but upon the recorded tenant. He may not know anything about the sale, because the proceedings will not be brought home to him but to the old recorded tenant, who has no interest. The only time probably when he will come to know of this is, when the property has been sold and the zamindar goes to take possession.

"I, therefore, submit that this privilege which has been extended to the raiyats by the High Court should not be withdrawn. It will operate as a very great hardship upon a numerous class of raiyats. To the zamindar, it makes very little difference; he gets his money, his damages and his cost. I, therefore, respectfully submit that this clause 36 should not be allowed to find a place in the Rent Bill: it will be hard, oppressive and inapplicable."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, In supporting the retention of the amendment of section 170, in clause 36 of the Bill, as it stands, I cannot do better than quote in extenso the opinion of an eminent Judge of the highest Court in Bengal on this point:—

'Extract from a Note on clause 36 of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1906, by the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rampini, dated the 14th March, 1907.

'Clause 36.—The intention of the framers of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, with regard to sales of tenures or holdings for arrears of rent, was that any one having in the tenure or holding an interest voidable on the sale (e.g., a mortgagee or an unrecognized transferee) might pay in the decretal amount with costs before, and so stop, the sale. This is provided for in section 170, sub-section (3). But it was intended that, after the sale, only the judgment-debtor should have the privilege of having the sale set aside by paying up the decretal amount and costs with compensation to the auction purchaser of 5 per cent. of his purchase money. The object of these provisions was to induce persons, having an interest in the property to be sold, to pay in the amount of the landlord's debt before the sale, so that the landlord (decree-holder) might get the money due to him quickly, and the matter might be settled and set at rest once for all. This was no hardship to the landlord, because (1) he got his money quickly, (2) his old tenant still remained his tenant, and (3) all risk of future complications and expense was obviated.

'The provision that after the sale only the judgment-debtor should be allowed to pay up the decretal amount presented no practical obstacle to the setting aside of the sale, and was no hardship to any one, because the decree-holder could always be compelled to take the money, whoever paid it, by the simple device of paying in the amount in the name of the judgment-debtor.

'The provisions of section 310A have, however, by the Rulings of the High Court, been extended to sales in execution of rent decrees, and the result of this has been (1) to take away from the mortgagee or unrecognized transferee all inducement to pay in the decretal amount before sale, (2) to force the landlord (decree-holder) to take the money from a person whom he may not recognize, or wish to recognize, as his tenant, and (3) to give rise to the probability of protracted proceedings and long and expensive litigation. For, in the first place, the decretal amount is often paid in with a request that it may not be paid out to the landlord (decree-holder) till applications by the judgment-debtors for setting aside the sale, on the ground of irregularities or fraud in the sale proceedings, have been disposed of. Simultaneous applications under section 174, and to set aside the sale on the first of these grounds, have now been provided against by clause 37 of the Bill. But there is no remedy for a simultaneous application under section 174, and one to set aside the sale on the ground of fraud. These applications to set aside the sale may be opposed both by the decree-holder and the auction-purchaser; for the latter may not wish to part with the tenure or holding purchased by him, and to whom the statutory allowance of 5 per cent. on the purchase money may not be a sufficient compensation for the loss of his bargain. The decree-holder may also oppose the application to set aside the sale, not only on the ground that there was no fraud, but because the amount paid in was insufficient, or was not paid in due time. These proceedings, with the inevitable appeal and second appeal or application for revision, to the High Court, may last for years. All this time the landlord does not know who his tenant is—whether he is the old tenant (i.e., the judgment-debtor) or the auction purchaser. He cannot be certain, then, whom he should sue for rent. He may sue the wrong person, and some of his lawful demands for rent may consequently become barred by limitation.

"It clearly expounds the reason why the amendment has been made in the Bill, and bearing in mind that the granting of means of speedy realization of rent due to the landlord is the object of the Legislator, it is proper that the amendment should be accepted as it now stands. Therefore, I beg to support that the clause be accepted and passed."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"I too, Your Honour, oppose the motion for the omission of clause 36. Section 174 of the Tenancy Act gives a judgment-debtor the right to get the sale set aside by depositing the money, and section 170 entitles any one who is at all interested in saving the tenure from sale to deposit the money and protect the tenure from sale; so that everybody, who is nearly so interested in protecting the tenure from sale, is allowed an opportunity of doing so by depositing the money. Where is the necessity for a double provision, especially when it leads to this—that if, after the sale, a mortgagee or somebody else, who is interested in getting the sale set aside, deposits the money and the landlord is obliged to take the money in satisfaction of the decree, it would be compelling the landlord to recognize a stranger as his tenant? Your Honour will see that in the earlier clauses of the Bill much facility has been given to transferees of holdings to get their names registered in the zamindar's sherista, so that the objection which the hon'ble mover of the amendment raised on the score of the mortgagee and other persons being ignorant of the impending sale, is, at any rate, mitigated, if not wholly removed. I submit, therefore, that no necessity whatever exists for making section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code any longer applicable to rent suits, and that the clause in the Bill as it stands is just and desirable."

The Hon'ble BABU KALI PADA GHOSH, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that clause 36 of the Bill be omitted. He said:—

"I beg to support the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. It is said, Sir, that unless section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code is included in section 170 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, or otherwise unless any person other than a judgment-debtor be debarred from paying the decretal amount after the sale, certain complications will arise; and in order to meet these difficulties or complications, it is said that section 310A has been included in section 170 of the Tenancy Act. The first point urged is, that if any person other than the judgment-debtor is allowed to pay the decretal amount after the sale, then practically this will take away from the mortgagee or unrecognized transferee all inducement to pay the decretal amount before the sale. I submit that such a contingency is remote, and my reason is this: there is substantial difference between payment of a decretal amount before the sale and after the sale; if the money is paid before the sale under section 170, then a certain right is created in favour of the person who pays that money. Section 171 of the Bengal Tenancy Act is quite clear on the subject. It provides that:—

'171. (1) When any person having, in a tenure or holding advertised for a sale under this Chapter, an interest which would be voidable upon the sale, pays into Court the amount requisite to prevent the sale,—

(a) the amount so paid by him shall be deemed to be a debt bearing interest at twelve per centum per annum, and secured by a mortgage of the tenure or holding to him;

(b) his mortgage shall take priority of every other charge on the tenure or holding other than a charge for arrear of rent; and

(c) he shall be entitled to possession of the tenure or holding as mortgagee of the tenant, and to retain possession of it as such until the debt, with the interest due thereon, has been discharged.'

'So the payment before the sale secures in favour of the person who pays the amount all these rights, and none of these rights can be secured by payment after sale. Is not this a sufficient inducement to any person to pay the money before the sale? When he finds that the amount which he pays will secure for him all these rights, I submit that in all cases he will try and pay the money before and not after the sale provided he has notice of the sale. Then, again, payment after sale will also necessitate his paying 5 per cent. as a penalty, but before sale there is no such penalty. Therefore, it is quite unreasonable to say that this inducement is taken away, by allowing a person to pay after the sale; that argument falls to the ground: certainly, if he be a person who has an interest in the property and he is anxious to stay the sale, he will come in before the sale. It is only in cases where a man has no notice of the sale, then of course if the sale takes place and he comes in after the sale, he pays the amount with 5 per cent. penalty, and that remedy he now has under section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code; and the present clause 36 proposes to take away that remedy, and I submit it would be a great hardship on the people who have an interest.

"Then, there will be another practical difficulty in this connection, and it is this: under section 170, the judgment-debtor and any person having a voidable interest in the tenure or holding may pay the money. I submit that this does not contemplate the case of a co-sharer in the property, who is not a judgment-debtor and his interest is not in the eye of the law an interest voidable on the sale; this interest being almost co-extensive with the interest of the judgment-debtor is void, and if he does not happen to be the judgment-debtor and if his interest is not voidable, then he cannot pay under section 170; and the only remedy left to him at present by the law is after the sale, under section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code; and if that remedy is also taken away, then all such co-sharers who do not happen to be registered tenants and therefore not made parties to the suit, will have no remedy to pay the money after the sale, because it is the judgment-debtor alone who will be able to come in after the sale.

"Then, it is urged there cannot be any practical obstacle to the setting aside of the sale, because he can adopt the device of paying the money in the name of the judgment-debtor; but that argument is also fallacious, because after the sale the judgment-debtor must apply for setting aside the sale; it is not that any person can pay the money in his name; unless he signs an application, the sale cannot possibly be set aside: so it will not do to pay the money in his name, but it is only the judgment-debtor who can do so; so that in many cases it happens that the judgment-debtor, having no interest in the property, may be in collusion with the decree-holder, and thereby the person interested may not have any remedy to have the sale set aside when once it takes place. For these considerations, I submit the law should not be disturbed and the people should have an opportunity of paying the money after the sale, and thereby to have the sale set aside."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI, by leave of the Council, also withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that clause 36 of the Bill be omitted. He said:—

"Instead of moving my amendment separately I beg to accord my support to the hon'ble mover of this amendment, because our amendments are practically the same. It would not have been necessary for me to say anything at all on this subject after what has fallen from my hon'ble friends on my left, had it not been for the Note of an eminent Judge which was referred to by the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur. I am afraid this Note will have a considerable effect on the minds of Hon'ble Members, some of whom are not familiar very much with the operation of the Bengal Tenancy Act. It is, therefore, necessary for me to allude briefly to that Note and confine my arguments to the points made in that document. It is necessary first to understand the purport of section 170. It provides that:—

'(2) When an order for the sale of a tenure or holding in execution of a decree for arrears due thereon has been made, the tenure or holding shall not be released from attachment, unless, before it is knocked down to the auction-purchaser, the amount of the decree, including the costs decreed, together with the costs incurred in order to the sale, is paid into Court; or the decree-holder makes an application for the release of the tenure or holding on the ground that the decree has been satisfied out of Court.

'(3) The judgment-debtor or any person having, in the tenure or holding, any interest voidable on the sale may pay money into Court under this section.'

"Very many of the questions which have been raised in this Note can be disposed of by reference to clause (3) which I have just read, because the question of recognizing a stranger as the tenant, which was raised by one of the Hon'ble Members who is opposed to the amendment as an argument against the amendment, is raised in practice before the sale; and no time is saved by going into this question before the sale just as no time is saved by going into it after the sale. I submit that the question is not the stage at which such objections are disposed of, but whether these objections are to be disposed of at all. It is necessary for every Court to dispose of these objections under section 170 if the law permits it, otherwise the fact remains that the money may be paid by a stranger, and when paid, it goes to the liquidation of the debt without any inquiry as to the person paying it; and the matter ends there.

"Is it contended by those Hon'ble Members who are against the amendment that the Court is bound to go into this question under section 170? Can the Court say, under section 170, that because the person making the payment is not a recorded tenant it will not allow him to pay the money? Certainly not. Can the landlord say, at this stage and before the sale, that the person making the payment is not his tenant, and therefore if such a person is allowed to pay the money into Court he will jeopardize the landlord's interests and the landlord will be forced under these circumstances to recognize a person whom he does not want? Certainly not. But supposing that such a question is allowed to be raised under section 170, the Court is bound to decide it; and so, whether it is decided before or after the sale, there is no saving of time or trouble. After the sale I submit the question becomes simpler, because the money being paid and the sale being set aside there is an end of the whole matter. There is no opportunity given at this stage to the man who pays to raise the question of title to the tenancy; nor is any time given to the zamindar to raise such a question: he is bound to accept the money in any case, whether it is paid before or after the sale, as the law now stands. The distinctions, which are somewhat prominently referred to in the Note, are distinctions, if I may say so, without a difference. It has been said in the Note that decretal amounts are often paid in, with a request that it may not be paid out to the landlord (decree holder) till applications for setting aside the sale, on the ground of irregularities or fraud in the sale proceedings, have been disposed of. Now, section 311 is the section in the Civil Procedure Code by which a judgment-debtor or any person whose property has been sold in execution of a decree, may apply to the Court to set it aside on any of these grounds. This question, however, is not at all affected by the payment, as it has been, as a matter of fact, excluded by the substantive law on the subject. Section 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act distinctly excludes section 311 of the Civil Procedure Code from the operation of that section. It says:—

'Provided that, if a judgment-debtor applies under section 311 of the Code of Civil Procedure to set aside the sale of his tenure or holding, he shall not be entitled to make an application under this section; and if he applies under this section, he shall not be entitled to make an application under section 311 of the Code of Civil Procedure.'

"This portion of the Note therefore goes. It will, therefore, be noticed that the mortgagee or the unrecognized transferee cannot put in the money and at the same time raise an objection under section 311 of the Civil Procedure Code. Then, coming to the wording of section 310A, the distinction noticeable is, that under section 174 only the judgment-debtor can pay and not any person whose tenure or holding has been sold, as provided by section 310A; and the language of section 174 runs thus:—

'Where a tenure or holding is sold for an arrear of rent due thereon, then, at any time within thirty days from the date of sale, the judgment-debtor may apply to have the sale set aside, on his depositing in Court, for payment to the decree-holder, the amount recoverable under the decree with costs, and, for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to five per centum of the purchase money.'

"That is the distinction. It is stated in the Note that if it was intended that section 310A should have application, why is it that section 174 was enacted? But that is more than we can tell. Section 310A did not form part of the original Civil Procedure Code, it had to be added by a subsequent piece of legislation; but section 174 follows to some extent section 310A, and I may say the Public Demands Recovery Act also which contains a section similar to section 174. Although all these correlated sections embody one general principle, it cannot be said that when this section 174 was enacted the Legislature had in contemplation the exact wording of section 310A. It seems to me to be practically certain that the wording of section 310A was not contemplated at the time the Bengal Tenancy Act was passed; because we find that in section 170 no reference is made to section 310A. If it was the intention that section 310A should not have application, it could have been specifically excluded, just as certain other sections of the Code of Civil Procedure were excluded by section 174; but for the reasons I have placed before Your Honour, it will appear that the wording of section 310A was not considered at all.

"We are, therefore, relegated to this position; we are not concerned to know whether certain decisions of the High Court are right or wrong; we are concerned to consider the question upon its merits, namely, whether the right, after having been extended to all persons whose property has been sold, and not to the judgment-debtor alone, should now by specific legislation be taken away from all such persons: and my submission is, that no case has been made out for taking away these rights from the people.

"With regard to the question, whether the operation of section 174 having been extended by the Ruling of the High Court nobody would think of paying beforehand the decretal amount, I would beg to draw the attention of Hon'ble Members to the fact that a man who allows a sale to take place, that is, a judgment-debtor or any person who is entitled to pay the money before the sale who allows the sale to take place, has to pay a penalty of 5 per cent. on the purchase money. This penalty, I submit, ought to act as a sufficient deterrent; apart from the advantages which a person, who pays the decretal amount before the sale under section 170, can expect, and which have been pointed out by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, as accruing under section 171 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. All this is really a deterrent.

"Now, I ask why should those persons, who have the misfortune to be mortgagees in respect of a holding or tenure, as well as other interested persons who do not find a place in the records of the zamindar, be left in the lurch? The zamindar frames his suit against the recorded tenant, but the real man who is interested in the prevention of the sale never gets notice. Section 85 of the Transfer of Property Act provides against such contingencies, and says that in the case of a mortgage every person who has an interest in the mortgaged property should be made a party. No corresponding section is to be found in the Bengal Tenancy Act. The result is, that those persons who are not on the records of the zamindars sel om if ever get any notice through the Court. According to the law, the rent is a first charge on the tenure or holding and, therefore, the tenure passes by the sale and not merely the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor; and if the tenure passes, what is the really interested man to get? He has not been given a chance, by section 174, of depositing the money. The language of section 174 is undoubtedly narrow; but inasmuch as section 310A has not been excluded by express provision, and inasmuch as the High Court Rulings have held that in such cases section 310A applies, such persons have been allowed to deposit the money: and now it is proposed that this right should be taken away by legislation for no palpable advantage to the zamindar.

"It is said that bad law very often encourages corruption. If anybody makes bad law, people try to get round it by various means; and one should always try to avoid making bad laws. As it has been pointed out by my friend, a person who is not on the record cannot sign the name of the judgment-debtor; he cannot forge his name in order to be able to pay the money after the sale. It is said in the Note—

'These applications to set aside the sale may be opposed both by the decree-holder and the auction-purchaser; for the latter may not wish to part with the tenure or holding purchased by him and to whom the statutory allowance of 5 per cent., on the purchase money, may not be a sufficient compensation for the loss of his bargain. The decree-holder may also oppose the application to set aside the sale, not only on the ground that there was no fraud, but because the amount paid in was insufficient or was not paid in due time. These proceedings, with the inevitable appeal and second appeal or application for revision, to the High Court, may last for years. All this time the landlord does not know who his tenant is—whether he is the old tenant, (i.e., the judgment-debtor) or the auction purchaser. He cannot be certain, then, whom he should sue for rent. He may sue the wrong person, and some of his lawful demands for rent may consequently become barred by limitation.

"These are also questions which seem to me not to depend upon the person who pays. If the money is not paid in time these questions can always be raised if allowable, even before the sale. Section 316 of the Civil Procedure Code answers the point raised in the last part of the above paragraph. So long as there is no certificate the title does not pass. The zamindar, I think, can always sue the old tenant till the sale is confirmed. Thus it will be seen that the remarks lose much of their force by reference to section 316 of the Civil Procedure Code.

"Further, why should we feel so anxious about the purchaser, whose rights do not even commence till after two months from the date of the sale?

Then again in case of fraud, if such matter be not allowed to come into execution proceedings after the sale, the aggrieved party can raise the question by a regular suit. A party really injured will seldom refrain from asserting his rights, and it is only a matter of procedure whether he should have his remedy in the execution proceedings or by a regular suit? If he can file a suit, it will go from the Original to the Appellate Court, and from the first Appellate Court to the High Court. At what time does the zamindar get his money in that case? Further, in course of the regular suit, the plaintiff may obtain an injunction from the trying officer stopping further progress of the execution proceedings. So that, considered from any point of view, it seems to me that the limitation that is being proposed is hardly called for by the circumstances of the case, and, as I have submitted to Hon'ble Members, the question is not an academical one at all, but that it is a practical one and is fraught with grave consequences to the parties concerned. It is not, I repeat, a question as to who is right and who is wrong, but that it is a question as to whether a person who has enjoyed a right up to the present time should be deprived of his right?"

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said :—"The amendment proposed in clause 36 is in consequence of several cases in the High Court, in one of which I had the honour of being engaged. The true reason for the amendment has not been appreciated by the Hon'ble Members who have opposed it, and the reason is, that there should not be a double remedy given to the judgment-debtor in a sale. A remedy is given by section 174 of the Tenancy Act, and the Judges have with reluctance been obliged to give effect to the contention that section 310A also should apply. Section 174 ought to have been fuller, I admit, but the enactment of section 36 is wholly unobjectionable. It would be logical not to omit it; and there is another reason which has led to the enactment of this clause, and that is this: several cases have arisen in the High Court in which purchasers or alleged purchasers of occupancy holdings have come in under section 310A, and the difficult question arose whether the transferability of occupancy holdings should be gone into before section 310A could apply; and in all these cases, so far as I remember, the Judges were very reluctant to give effect to section 310A, but there is no force in the objections put forward by the Hon'ble Member who opposed it.

"There is absolutely no force in the case of alleged transferees of occupancy-holdings; but in the case of collusive sales, to avoid mortgages of under-tenures by permanent transferable tenure-holders, there is an apparent hardship. These cases are very common, that a permanent transferable tenure-holder colludes with a zamindar and gets his tenure sold in order to avoid his mortgage or an under-tenure. These cases should, I very humbly submit, be provided for; but that cannot be provided for by the omission of section 36. That should be provided for by the amendment of section 174, and clause 36 should in no case be omitted. I have mentioned this matter to the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, and he agrees with me. I also mentioned this matter to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, but he tells me that the Act will probably have to be re-cast and this matter will be considered then. I only mention this matter now, so that it may not be lost sight of when the Act is again amended."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said :—"I must ask the Council to reject the proposal to omit this clause. It is desirable that everything, in connection with rent-suits, should be as simple and speedy as possible. No hardship will, I believe, be caused by refusing to allow a sale to be set aside in Court by third parties. It should almost always be possible for third parties to get the judgment-debtor to pay in the money, and I believe in practice they could always, as a matter of fact, get the money paid in; but their present intervention as third parties to the case is undesirable.

"With reference to the remarks just made by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, I must explain that if proposals be brought forward for changes, as is possible, especially in connection with the Certificate Procedure, which, if successful, may require the amendment of section 33 as now laid down, and any other questions, such as the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji has raised, the matter could be considered and brought up. I do not pledge myself that the Bengal Tenancy Act will be amended at an early date; but if, as I have said, the recovery of rents by the Certificate Procedure is a success, it is practically certain that considerable amendments will have to be made in the new section 158A, to provide for difficulties which may arise in practical working. In that case, the point now raised by the Hon'ble Member will be considered. The whole point is not what the law now is, nor as to what the interpretation of the Judges of the High Court who gave effect to it meant it to be, but the question is what the law ought to be.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji argued, as I understand, that section 310A not having been specifically excluded from the Bengal Tenancy Act, it must be held that it was the intention of Government that it should apply. Section 174 was passed in 1895, while section 310A was passed in 1894. With regard to the distinction between section 171 of the Bengal Tenancy Act and section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code, the great difference is, that section 171 provides specifically what is to be the position of an interested party who pays before the sale. Section 310A does not provide for his position with reference to the landlord, and hence section 310A is objectionable for rent-suits, though section 171 is not. The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, I understand, argued that if there were co-sharers who were not affected by a decree for rent they would not be protected by section 171. I do not understand how a decree for rent could affect one co-sharer tenant only: all would be judgment-debtors and all or any of them could pay in the decretal amount before or after the sale.

"In connection with this subject, I will read a letter to the Government of India by the Government of Bengal in regard to the observations of the High Court, giving our reasons for inserting section 36 in the Act:—

'The High Court propose that in the case of a transferable tenure, the transferee should be enabled to apply to have a sale in execution of a rent decree set aside. In the abstract, there would be no objection to such a provision; but in practice it would give rise to complicated disputes, as to whether the tenure concerned was transferable or not. Such disputes would have to be decided in execution proceedings, which are only of a summary character; and the decision arrived at would have no binding force. The objection to the proposal is, that it would interfere with one of the main objects of the Bill, which is to render rent-suits and the subsequent execution proceedings as simple as possible, and to prevent the intervention of third parties. It is believed that, in practice, the transferee has little or no difficulty in avoiding a sale by paying the decretal amount into Court in the name of or through the judgment-debter. The question whether the transfer was valid then lies between the transferee and the landlord, and is not allowed to complicate the execution proceedings in the rent suit. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that this course causes little inconvenience and is preferable to allowing the intervention of third parties in execution proceedings in rent-suits. He would, therefore, propose to retain the clause as drafted.'

"I think this states briefly, clearly and completely the reasons for maintaining clause 36 as it now stands."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI in reply said:—"As I have pointed out, the reasonableness of the law as it at present exists and as it has been interpreted by the Rulings of the High Court, will appear from the Rulings themselves, and the reasonableness of those Rulings we are not assembled here to discuss. There is, however, one aspect of the case to which allusion has been made by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, namely, whether third persons should be allowed to interfere in execution proceedings, which I propose to touch upon now. I venture to submit that third persons have been allowed to interfere in execution proceedings by the law itself; the only question now is, the time or stage at which such interference should be allowed, and I have already submitted that, so far as the decree-holder is concerned, whether the consideration of this question relating to the interests of third parties is taken up at an earlier stage or at a later stage, it is perfectly immaterial to him as long as he is kept out of his money. He can never get his money until the sale is confirmed; and my submission is, that whether the confirmation of the sale takes place after the disposal of objections in execution proceedings or after the disposal of a regular suit instituted by a man who expects to lose his property, the consequence is the same. Therefore, I submit that as a principle a statement like the above is not entitled to any consideration. The last thing I will repeat is, that the question before us is not an academical question at all, but we are taking away the rights of parties by legislation; and if legislation is to come up again, for purposes of reform, why not allow the present state of things to continue till then, and after the matter is more thoroughly considered, change section 174, if that is necessary, or introduce any other amendment? We are concerned with clause 36 of the Bill, and if the law can be amended, in a better way than I have proposed, by all means do it. But it will be better, under the circumstances, if the consideration of the matter of clause 36 is deferred till another Bill comes up for consideration."

The motion was then put and lost.

Section 178.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that in clause (f) of sub-section (3) of section 178 of the Act, after the words "apply for" the words "or claim in defence" be inserted.

Section 181.

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI moved that in section 181 of the Act, after the words "service-tenure", in both places where they occur, the words "or holding" be inserted. He said:—

"Whenever a question arose in a case in the High Court whether a service-holding or a patni-holding acquired a right of occupancy, it was invariably held that the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not apply to such holding. The most recent case on the subject was decided only a few weeks ago, and it is reported in the current number of the Reports. I think that the use of the word 'tenure' in section 181 instead of both 'tenure' and 'holding' was an oversight, because the same principle held good in both cases of tenure and holding; and in regard to both tenures and holdings the judicial decisions have been in favour of the view, that the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act did not apply to service-tenures or holdings.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill observed to me, some time ago, that my amendment might give rise to objections on the score of ghatwali holdings. With reference to that observation, I beg to submit that the question of ghatwali holdings and their incidents have been very often definitely settled by law, namely, Regulations 29 of 1814 and 5 of 1859; so that no sort of complication or difficulty will arise if the meaning of section 81 were made clearer, and if it were put down in the law itself that by service-tenure is meant both tenures and holdings."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must oppose this amendment on behalf of the Government. The sanction of the Government of India, to the raising of the question, has not been obtained as regards holdings; and the whole question of service holdings is a very difficult one. The Government has had a great deal of difficulty in securing the fair treatment of holders of piekhan lands in Midnapore, and I am not prepared to accept anything which would increase our difficulties. It would be impossible for the Government to accept legislation on this subject, without very full inquiries not only from public bodies and associations but also from District Officers and District Judges."

The motion was put and lost.

Section 188.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that to section 188 of the Act, the words "except as otherwise provided in this Act" be added.

Clause 39.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI moved that in clause (c) of the proposed section 188A, in clause 39 of the Bill, after the word "landlords" the following be added, namely:—

"whose shares of the rent of a tenure or holding are collected separately."

He said:—"I propose to amend the above slightly with Your Honour's permission. I omitted to notice one matter and it is that, under certain circumstances specified in the Bill, a co-sharer who does not collect his rent separately can sue. So I propose to add after the word 'whose' the words 'share or,' and after the word 'separately' the words 'or who are otherwise entitled to sue.' There are certain sections in the Bill, as I have said, permitting one co-sharer, whose share in the rent is not collected separately, to sue separately.

The object of the amendment is this: this section, as it was originally framed, contained the words 'whose share or shares of the rent of a tenure or holding are collected separately', but these words were dropped in the Select Committee; and I for one did not at the time very well understand the significance of the proceeding. Examining the words of section 188A closely, it seems to me that if these words were added they would make the section clearer than at present. As the law stands at present, no co-sharer whose rents are not collected separately—in other words, who has not entered into a separate contract with the tenant to pay him rent separately—can sue separately; and therefore in the original draft of the Bill these words had been introduced. The provision now is—

'Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every suit between landlord and tenant as such instituted by

(a) a sole landlord,
(b) the entire body of landlords, or,
(c) one or more co-sharer landlords, shall be subject to the provisions of sections 148 to 153 (both inclusive):

and to every decree passed in a suit framed under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 158B, the provisions of Chapter XIV shall, so far as may be practicable, be applicable.'

"This may mean that an independent right has been conferred upon co-sharers, whose rents are not collected separately. Evidently, that is not the intention of the framers of the Act, and if the words suggested by my amendment were inserted; they would make the section clear and prevent any mis-construction of the law. Such mis-construction is not the intention of the Legislature, and there can be no harm in introducing the words contained in my amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"The addition that the Hon'ble Member has just made in his amendment has altogether altered its meaning, and I cannot express any opinion on it now. I think it would be safer for the Council not to accept it with these additional words, particularly as we have not had full time to examine them. I was prepared to oppose the words as they stood, as they were obviously wrong, but I am not sure whether the words now are right or not, and we have not, got time to examine them now."

The motion was put and lost.

Clause 40.

The Hon'ble Mr. CARLYLE moved that in clause 40 of the Bill, after clause (2), the following be inserted:—

"(3) to prescribe the manner in which landlords' fees shall be transmitted to the landlord."

He also moved that clause (3) be re-numbered clause (4).

He said:—"This amendment is consequent to the amendment already accepted by the Council in Chapter IVA of the Bill. As the Government has taken on itself the power of transmitting fees to the landlord, obviously they require power to provide how such fees are to be transmitted."

The motions were put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion, standing in his name, that the new clause (3) of section 189, to be inserted by clause 40 of the Bill, be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that the Secretary be directed to re-number the clauses of the Bill in consecutive order, and to make corresponding alterations in all cross-references thereto.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"I beg to suggest that as the Bengal Tenancy Act has become disfigured with so many sub-sections—A, B and C, I submit as an amendment that all the sections of the Act be re numbered."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"I must ask the Council not to accept this proposal, as it would lead to great confusion. All the references are to the present numbers of the Act, and it would cause great confusion if we were now to alter them."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE's motion was then put and agreed.

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed. He said:—

"I trust Hon'ble Members of Council have not got the impression that because I gave in some cases short replies to some of the amendments that matters have not been fully considered. I have tried to give full consideration to everything that came before me, either in the wayof suggestions of Hon'ble Members or from outside the Council."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"The original objects of the Bengal Tenancy Act (Amendment) Bill were to make provisions to prevent landlords from evading the grant of rent receipts to their tenants, to prevent illegal enhancements of rent by means of unfair and inequitable agreements and compromises, to amend Chapter XII of the Act relating to record of-rights by placing it on a satisfactory basis and to give facilities to landlords for the collection of their rents. In giving effect to some of these objects, powers have been vested in Revenue-officers to the exclusion of the legitimate functions of the Civil Courts, and judicial decisions have, in some respects, been subordinated to the orders of the Executive. It is a procedure open to grave objection. I cannot conceive of any circumstances in which disputes, relating to land, could be decided with greater justice and equity than by upholding the authority and independence of the Civil Courts. Every attempt to interfere with the functions of the Judiciary is a move in the wrong direction, and this is to be regretted the more, as we have for some time been led to indulge in the hope that, at last a boná fide attempt would be made to remove a long-standing grievance by effecting a separation of the Judicial from the Executive functions of public officers.

"It would be wrong, however, to say that the new clauses of the Bill, intended to enforce adherence to the law, involve a new principle. In no one respect does any of the clauses of the Bill go beyond the policy of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The stringency of the new provisions would, in no way, affect law-abiding landholders; while those who have hitherto complained of the injustice and hardship of a law, which threw obstacles in the way of recovering admitted rates of rent by suit in Court, would find ample reason to congratulate themselves on the many important changes which have been made in the Act of 1885. The sections relating to transfers and devolution by inheritance of tenures and holdings, which have hitherto been a prolific source of dispute between landholders and raiyats, have been satisfactorily modified; the provisions relating to the merger of holdings in superior interests have been so modified as to reduce to a minimum the chances of litigation; the provisions relating to commutation of rent-in-kind to money rent have been modified so as to remedy the defects brought to light by their practical operation; the section providing for the assessments of additional rent on excess land held by raiyats has been modified so as to give landholders a workable provision for the realization of their just dues; the division and sub-division of holdings without the landlord's consent have been adequately safeguarded; the admissibility of copies of collection and measurement papers in current use by landholders, as evidence in rent suits, has been clearly provided for; false pleas of disclaimer of landlord's title have been made penal; effective restrictions have been placed in the way of fraudulent attempts to keep landlords at bay, in the matter of recovery of rent by vexatious applications, for revival of suits decreed ex-parte, by false pleas of title in third parties and by equally false pleas of the claim for rent being in excess of the actual rate, and an earnest attempt has been made to solve, with the aid of the best available expert knowledge and experience, the difficult question of the rights and liabilities incidental to sales of holdings in execution of decrees for rent obtained by co-sharer landholders.

"Not the least noticeable clause in the Bill is the one which makes the Certificate Procedure available for recovery of rent, by those landholders in whose estates a record-of-rights has been made. The importance of this measure cannot be overrated. In every country, the State reserves to itself an exceptionally Summary Procedure for the recovery of its dues. In the case of the State, there is every guarantee for the correctness and validity of its claim, and there is no room for apprehension that it might be vitiated by interested motives. To make such a procedure applicable to the claims of private persons, means the granting of a privilege of which landholders may well feel proud. The privilege has, it is true, been guarded by conditions and limitations which would greatly circumscribe its use; but if there be any measure which should not be made widely applicable, without an experience of its operation within defined limits, it is this. It is poor wisdom to find fault with the Legislature for not legislating for a nation on à priori reasoning alone. No longer with Coke do we look upon law as 'the perfection of reason.' In civilized communities, the life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience.

"For the purpose of discrediting this clause of the Bill, Hon'ble Members have thought fit to decry the Permanent Settlement and the whole body of landholders of Bengal. I have heard persons, wholly innocent of the history and literature of the Permanent Settlement, speak in irreverent terms of the measure, as the blundering work of Lord Cornwallis; but I was not prepared to find such abysmal ignorance on the subject in Hon'ble Members of Council. A measure conceived and matured by Pitt, the greatest Statesman of the age and his Colleagues in the Cabinet, it was intended to save the East India Company from financial ruin, to bring the country, more than one-third of which was filled with jungle, into a state of cultivation and to increase the wealth and prosperity of the people by recognizing their just rights, and thereby stimulating them to improve their estates.

"The effect, however, of the settlement on the first owners was disastrous. It was no easy matter to have to pay, year after year, irrespective of the caprices of the seasons, the land-revenue assessed at ten-elevenths of the rent-roll of estates. The majority agreed, looking more to the distant future than to the immediate present; but most of the estates, more than 90 per cent., changed hands within the following 20 years, and even such a rich house as Burdwan had to part with a considerable portion of its estate, consisting of Parganas Mandalghat, Arsa and Chetooa, for defaulting payment of revenue. Nothing, therefore, is more groundless than the supposition that the present body of landholders are in the enjoyment of the profits arising from land, since the date of the Permanent Settlement. The number of zamindars who can trace their title, from the time of that Settlement, can be counted on the fingers.

"Practically speaking, the whole body of zamindars, with a few notable exceptions, have paid extravagant prices for the estates they now hold. It passes my ability to understand either the logic or the ethics of the argument for imposing obligations upon landholders, because a few of them are wealthy. It would be quite as reasonable to impose obligations upon a person who makes a large profit by investing his money in shares of the Bengal Bank. The contention has no more root in history or law than in common sense. The property created by the Permanent Settlement is the property of the nation. It belongs to no section or caste of the public. It behoves every one, who desires to pose himself as a friend of the country, to support the Settlement to the best of his ability, instead of throwing further obstacles in the way of landholders which is already thorny enough.

"The great Historian, James Mill, was no friend either of the Settlement or of the Zamindars; yet he was compelled to say:—

'To draw from the raiyats the duties or contributions which they owe is well known to be a business of great detail and difficulty, requiring the strictest vigilance and most minute and persevering applications. Anything which strikes at the credit of the zamindar, farmer or other functionary, by which this duty is performed, immensely increases the difficulty, by encouraging the raiyat in the hope of defeating the demand by evasion, cunning, obstinacy or delay.'

"It is therefore, in sincere appreciation of the value of the changes made by the Bill, in the law of landlord and tenant, that I feel grateful to Your Honour's Government. When landlords and tenants have assimilated these changes and judged correctly their bearings upon what was indefinite and uncertain before, they would feel deeply grateful to the Government for having set at rest disputed points of substantive law and procedure, which were a prolific source of litigation, and for placing the mutual relations of landlord and tenant on a fairly satisfactory basis. The staunchest advocates of the zamindari system and the most ardent champions of tenant rights would felicitate Your Honour's Government for having given the country a law which would engender more cordial feelings between landlords and their tenants, and tend to the improvement of their mutual relations.

"No small part of the result is due to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. Although the zamindari interest is very inadequately represented in the Council, and the majority of the Hon'ble Members are frankly democratic in their proclivities, I cannot help saying that it is with conspicuous ability and admirable tact and judgment that the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle has piloted the Bill through the Select Committee and the Council; and that when he takes count of his stewardship of the Bill, he will have the gratification of feeling that he has succeeded in presenting to the Council a measure which will have a beneficent effect upon the largest section of His Majesty's subjects in the Province."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"I also offer my congratulations to the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle for the way in which he has piloted this Bill. I do not take account of some of the most important amendments that have been brought forward and which were rejected at his instance. We had anticipated defeat and were not surprised at the result. Our regret is, that when the Bill was matured, the provisions were considered by a Committee in which the tenants were not at all represented, except through the instrumentality of Government Officials. We do not claim to have democratic principles, but we have tried to induce the Council to take a view which would, we thought, make the Bill more beneficial to the raiyats and the country at large. Our attitude here was not the attitude of representatives of a special class, but of the great mass of our countrymen. Speaking for myself—and I am a small landlord in my own way—I have tried sedulously to put away from my mind my own interests in the question, and to view the matter from a different aspect.

"In the Select Committee we, who have been accused of democratic proclivities, have tried to help the landlords, so far as the realization of their dues were concerned. In Your Honour's Council, I have tried to press, with what little force I could muster, the propriety and the necessity of recognizing the proprietor's private lands. I can honestly say that I have not, and I can also say, on behalf of my colleagues who have supported me, tried to advance any particular interest in connection with this Bill in this Council.

"I do not wish to say anything at the present stage about the beneficent results of the Permanent Settlement. My hon'ble friend is probably right when he says, that the original proprietors, with whom the Permanent Settlement was entered into, are but very few now in the country. Greater, therefore, is the reason for our contention that the present body of zamindars have no right to complain. When we go to the market we pay a value upon the rent-roll as it now stands, and those, who purchase at the present day, get their money's worth; they, I humbly submit, have no right to complain: nor do I wish to say anything against the landlords or zamindars as a class. What I wanted to impress upon the Council was, that the increase in the value of land is due more to the enterprise of European capitalists, to the beneficent measures undertaken by Government to various natural causes, more than to the exertions of the zamindars themselves. Railways, irrigation-channels and trade have been developed; and I may say, without offence, that all that has been done without receiving any adequate support from the zamindars, and, in many cases, in spite of their opposition.

"It is, I believe, known to every Member of this Council that whereas the Permanent Settlement on an average reserved to the landlords one-tenth of the net profits, in several cases of the Bengal zamindaris the proportion is reversed: the State now gets one-tenth and the private landlords nine-tenths. Whether that proportion is or is not accurately correct, it may be fairly said, and said with a great deal of accuracy, that in most cases the zamindaris, which at the time of the Permanent Settlement yielded a definite share of the profit to the landlords yields at the present moment a much greater income, without any money having been spent upon it by the landlords themselves. This must be, as political economists have all admitted, a source of great loss to the Government and the State. The revenue of the landed estates in Bengal would have been available for many reforms being carried out in the Government, if it had not been given away in the days of Lord Cornwallis; and so far as my countrymen are concerned, though I fully appreciate the many blessings also which have accrued from the Permanent Settlement, I may say, without any fear of reasonable contradiction, that the balance has not always been in favour of the Permanent Settlement.

"Of all the Provinces in India, Bengal is the Province most backward in trade and commerce. The reason is not far to seek. The investment of capital in landed properties provides a safe source of income; any one who makes some money goes at once to land as an investment, and the result is, that the people have not yet taken to commercial pursuits in the same way as the more go ahead Province of Bombay or even the backward Province of the Punjab. To the Government, it has been a great loss; it has given to us indeed a wealthy class, but can it be said honestly that that measure has been utilized for the benefit of the nation or the State, except in very rare cases? These, however, are questions which do not arise upon the discussion of the present Bill. There are many defects upon the Bill, and it would have been better if a more careful consideration had been given to these matters and the defects removed.

"I have already had my say upon the Certificate Procedure, and I do not wish to repeat what I have already said; but I accept the Bill as a frank recognition on the part of the Government of the many difficulties which have arisen in the present Tenancy Act: and I welcome the desire of Government to meet them, but I may take Your Honour's leave to warn Government that it will be a great mistake and much more than a mistake, nay a national calamity, to go back upon the principles upon which the Act of 1885 has been framed; to give the go-by to the experience of those eminent Civil Servants and distinguished Jurists upon whose opinions that Act was framed, and to upset them."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, I must thank Your Honour, the Government of India and the Secretary of State for India for allowing the present amended Bill to become law, as it contains the much-needed Summary Procedure, and many wholesome provisions which will help both the landlords and the tenants.

"Sir, although some provisions of the Bill do not commend themselves to some of us, yet I consider that the Bill, as a whole, deals fairly with the difficulties which have arisen, and with the defects which have revealed themselves, within recent years, in the working of the Tenancy Act. I hope that it will improve the relations between landlord and tenant generally. Therefore, Sir, I feel great pleasure in congratulating Your Honour, and my hon'ble friend the Chief Secretary, Mr. Carlyle, for successfully passing the Bill into law. I would particularly thank the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle for the courteous and careful way in which he has listened and dealt with our proposals. In offering these congratulations, I would specially mention the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rampini to whose advice we owe much."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I think that Hon'ble Members will expect that I should say a few words before putting to the Council the motion that this Bill be passed. I shall not allow myself to be led into the discussion of certain matters on which some Hon'ble Members have given us their views at considerable length. I shall not, for example, take up your time with a discussion of the principles, objects and effects of the Permanent Settlement; for, as was admitted by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu himself, 'such questions do not arise in the discussion of the present Bill.'

"My purpose is a simpler and less pretentious one: namely, to state in a few sentences the principal objects which we had before us in undertaking this legislation. Our first object was to remedy certain defects in the Bengal Tenancy Act, and to render it more effective for the purposes for which it was intended. A number of defects had been brought to light by experience; and we set ourselves first of all to consider these. It was in the consideration of these, that our work began. I do not think that, judging from our motives at all events, we stand in the smallest need of the warning addressed to us by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, that we should not forsake the principles on which the Tenancy Act of 1885 was passed. Our object has been to make it possible to carry out the principles of that Act more effectively and more easily.

"While we were considering this matter, however, there was another matter that was brought very clearly to our notice, in respect of which it seemed to us necessary to try to do something. I may refer to the enormous difficulties which have, in certain places especially, grown up in respect of the realization of rents by the zamindars. It seemed to me that if duty requires us to protect the raiyats against certain zamindars, it is nothing less than fair to endeavour to protect the zamindars also in the just enjoyment of their rights. I desire here to repudiate very strongly the language which has been used by two Hon'ble Members in connection with this matter. The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram has said that the provisions of the Bill to which I am now referring are 'a bribe' on the part of Government to the zamindars; and the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has stated that in his view they are 'a bait.' If the Hon'ble Members really believe what they are saying, then I think that their view of the action of Government is an ungenerous one. I do not believe that they mean precisely what they say; and therefore I am rather inclined to call their language unwise. If it were uttered only for this Council, it would be regarded as one of the so called pleasantries of debate; but as this language may be read by ill-informed persons outside, ignorant of our motives and ignorant of the provisions of this Bill which has been so fully discussed, I desire to repudiate the language emphatically. Every beneficent measure ought to give satisfaction to certain classes, if not to the whole community. But to say that the object of beneficent legislation is to curry favour with certain sections of the community is, grossly, to misrepresent the characteristic attitude of Government.

"As I have said, we desired to remove a grievance under which the zamindars suffered in the great difficulty which often arose in regard to the collection of rents. We wanted to facilitate the collection by zamindars of their just dues. What we have done is to a large extent an experiment. It is an experiment which we must carefully watch. It is an experiment in regard to the effects of which we are very anxious; and it is therefore an experiment which we have hedged in by serious limitations and conditions. We look forward with interest to see how far this experiment may succeed. If it succeeds, undoubtedly we must expect to modify the conditions of its operation; but until we see how it is to succeed, we must proceed cautiously.

"Another thing which came very clearly before our notice, and pressed itself on our attention, was the question of giving greater authority to the record-of-rights, when such record has been duly prepared and published. We were face to face with what appeared to us a perfectly unjustifiable waste of public money. Enormous expenditure is incurred in preparing an elaborate and accurate record-of-rights, and it has been the tendency in the past to prevent any notice being taken of this record-of-rights by any Department of administration, except perhaps the Settlement Department. We have a record-of-rights prepared on the spot, in presence of all who are interested, by a thoroughly trained and competent establishment; and this valuable record-of-rights is pushed on one side as if it were absolutely useless. I should like to know any large business concern which would willingly see its books and records, which had been carefully kept and prepared, set aside to make away for vague and often untrustworthy evidence as to the details of its position and business. We want to give the record-of-rights its due place and to have it utilized. That will be to the advantage of the landlords and tenants alike.

"These are the principal objects which we had before us in undertaking this legislation, and I think it will be admitted that all the conferences that have been held, the Committees that have sat on the Bill, the discussions that have taken place, and the consultation of all those likely to be able to give any assistance in the matter, have indicated an open minded desire to do the right thing in regard to this question. The work yesterday and to-day has been fairly hard: but we have been able to push through the discussion in Council promptly and satisfactorily, because of the full discussions of all the details of the measure which had preceded our meeting in Council.

"I desire to express my full concurrence with what has fallen from the Hon'ble Raja Ban Bihari Kapur, regarding the eminent services rendered to us in this matter by my friend, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rampini. It was with great hesitation that I made up my mind to ask Mr. Rampini to act as President of the Committee of experts which I appointed to consider this Bill. It was a great tax on his time and energy. It must be a great satisfaction to him to think that he has been able to bring the measure so far on its way ; and it must be especially gratifying to him to know that this is due to the great confidence with which he inspired the Zamindars, Revenue-officers and Members of the Bar, with whom he kindly co-operated, by his great knowledge of the subject and his fairness and uprightness. I also desire to thank all the officers and gentlemen who have served on the Committees, taken part in conferences, and otherwise advanced the work in which we have been engaged ; and perhaps I may be especially allowed to mention my friend Mr. Kerr, the Director of Land Records, whose untiring labours have been invaluable to us. I need not say that I concur fully in the congratulations offered to Mr. Carlyle, the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, on having carried it through the Council. He has worked ungrudgingly, tactfully and successfully; and it must be a great satisfaction to him as he is about to go on leave that, even if his other heavy labours had not earned for him his rest, he has earned it by his work over this Bill. I desire finally to acknowledge the assistance which Government has received from all sides in the Council. The discussion yesterday and to-day has been long and arduous; but very little if anything has been done or said which has not seemed quite necessary. There has been no semblance of obstruction; and thanks to the full and free discussion of details which preceded our work here, we have pushed through the work in Council, as I have already said, promptly and satisfactorily."

The motion that the Bill be passed was then put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to Saturday, the 6th April, 1907.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COURT-FEES IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked :—

Will the Government be pleased to state whether any additional Court-fee is leviable on a suit or on an issue raised therein, when such suit or issue has been referred to the Subordinate Judge for decision under the Sonthal Settlement Law? If not, will the Government be pleased to state if any Court-fee has been levied on such suits or issues in the Sonthal Parganas, and when not paid on demand, such suits have been dismissed?

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE replied:—

"This Government was advised in 1901 that no Court-fees are leviable under the Regulations at present in force in the Sonthal Parganas on a suit or issue raised therein, when such a suit or issue has been referred to the Subordinate Judge for decision under section 5 of Regulation III of 1872. Court-fees are, however, leviable on documents filed, exhibited or recorded after the transfer. Government was not aware before the receipt of the question that a different practice was followed. A report will be called for."

SUB-DEPUTY COLLECTORS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked :—

(a) Has the attention of Government been drawn to a leader in the Behari newspaper of the 22nd January, 1907, and letters from its correspondents appearing in that newspaper of the 25th January, 1907, and 5th February 1907, regarding the injustice done to Sub-Deputy Collectors in general and Bihari Sub-Deputy Collectors in particular, in the matter of promotion to the grade of Deputy Collectors?

(b) Are the allegations made in the said letters and leader to the effect—(i) that over 20 Sub-Deputy Collectors of the lowest grade have been promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors superseding old and experienced officers of the first four grades; and (ii) that a Sub-Deputy Collector, who is not a graduate and who had not then passed the departmental examinations, was promoted from the fifth grade to the second grade?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to state its reasons for so doing.

(d) Is the Government aware that there is a general feeling of disappointment and dissatisfaction among the officers who have been serving for the last 10 or 12 years, but whose claims have been altogether overlooked in favour of quite junior officers?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state under what circumstances extraordinary grade promotions such as those which were made in the cases of the Sub-Deputy Collectors referred to in (b) above are generally made?

(f) Is it necessary that officers receiving grade promotions, ordinary or extraordinary, should, before receiving such promotions, pass the Departmental Examinations? If so, will the Government be pleased to state why the Sub-Deputy Collector referred to in (b) above was promoted when he had not passed the departmental examinations?

(g) If the answer to question (f) above be in the negative, will the Government be pleased to state why other officers who had completely passed the Departmental Examinations before the introduction of the new rule, which makes passing in a second vernacular language compulsory, were not promoted to the next higher grade?

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE replied:—

"(b) and (c) Twenty Sub-Deputy Collectors of the 5th grade were made Deputy Collectors. These were officers who had been selected by Government in 1905 as suitable for Deputy Collectorships. They could not be provided with appointments as Deputy Collectors then, as at that time the Provincial Civil Service cadre had not been increased. They were accordingly given appointments in the 5th grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors, with a promise that their claims to appointments as Deputy Collectors would be considered when the cadre of the Provincial Civil Service was increased, provided of course they did well meanwhile.

"It is correct that a Sub-Deputy Collector, who is not a graduate and who had not passed the departmental examinations, was promoted from the 5th to the 2nd grade. This was done under exceptional circumstances.

"(d) It has been brought to the notice of Government that there has been some misunderstanding amongst some Sub-Deputy Collectors, and Government is glad to have the opportunity of removing it. The answers to questions (b) and (c) above will show that the appointment of the Sub-Deputy Collectors as Deputy Collectors was merely a matter of deferred appointment.

"(e) Extraordinary promotions such as that referred to in the case mentioned by the Hon'ble Member are made under very special circumstances. Each case is decided on its merits.

"(f) Officers receiving ordinary grade promotion should, before receiving such promotion, pass the departmental examinations according to the rules laid down by Government in its Resolution No. 3297A.D., dated the 29th September, 1906, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 17th October, 1906.

"In the Resolution it is mentioned that extraordinary promotion may be given in special cases.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

(a) Did not the Government promise at the time the Budget for 1906-07 was discussed that by the increase in the cadre of Deputy Collectors (which has since been effected in the financial year 1906-07) a number of senior Sub-Deputy Collectors would be promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors? If so, will the Government be pleased to state why out of about 80 appointments made during the year in the last grade of Deputy Collectors, only 10 Sub-Deputy Collectors were promoted to that rank?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state why, in making appointments of Deputy Collectors, the claims of Sub-Deputy Collectors of approved merit and ability have been overlooked in favour of outsiders with inferior educational qualifications and with no experience whatever?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it considers it desirable that the period of sub. pro tempore service of Sub-Deputy Collectors should be counted as one of qualifying service in calculating their claim to pension and leave? If not, why not?

(d) Does not Government consider it feasible to include the case of sub-pro tempore or officiating Sub-Deputy Collectors, in Article 375 of the Civil Service Regulations?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to consider the general question regarding the travelling allowance of Sub-Deputy Collectors, which it was pleased to state in reply to a question put in Council on the 7th April, 1906, that it had not considered till then? Does not the Government consider it very hard for such officers, in view of the work they are generally required to do, that, ordinarily speaking, they should pay their travelling expenses from their pay? Does not the work of Government suffer in consequence of the rule that now exists on this point?

The Hon'ble MR CARLYLE replied:—

"(a) It does not appear from the discussions on the Budget for 1906-1907 that Government promised that, on the increase in the cadre of Deputy Collectors taking effect, a number of senior Sub-Deputy Collectors would be promoted to the grade of Deputy Collectors. Owing to the increase in the cadre, 53 officers were appointed substantively pro tempore to the last grade of Deputy Collectors, and 33 Probationers were appointed. Of the 53, 37 were promoted Sub-Deputy Collectors, or if the 20 Sub-Deputy Collectors of the 5th grade who received deferred appointment to the grade of Deputy Collectors under special circumstances be excluded, 17 Sub-Deputy Collectors were promoted.

"(b) The answer to this question is that the claims of Sub-Deputy Collectors of approved merit and ability were not overlooked.

"(c) and d) The period of substantive pro tempore service of Sub-Deputy Collectors counts, under certain conditions, as qualifying service in calculating their claim to pension and leave. The case of substantive pro tempore Sub-Deputy Collectors is already covered by Article 375 of the Civil Service Regulations. The attention of the Hon'ble Member is drawn to the answer given to him in Council on the 7th April, 1906, on the subject. There are no Officiating Sub-Deputy Collectors.

"(e) The general question regarding the travelling allowance of Sub-Deputy Collectors has been referred to the Government of India."

APPELLATE COURTS IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI asked:—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of withdrawing the power which Appellate Courts in the Sonthal Parganas now possess, of enhancing punishments in criminal appeals, and of bringing the law in this connection into conformity with the General Criminal Law of the country?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what local exigencies necessitated the introduction of such a law, and its perpetuation in the face of the fact that, out of a population of 1,809,737 souls in the Sonthal Parganas, 1,144,266, that is nearly two-thirds are non-Sonthals, and that the number of the non-Sonthal population of the area has been rapidly increasing in consequence of the development of trade and of the natural resources of the country?

(c) Does not Government consider that, even in the interests of the aboriginal population, it is more necessary that such a law should be abolished in the non-Regulation, than in the Regulation, districts?

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT replied:—

"I propose to give a general reply on the points raised in the questions of the Hon'ble Member. It must be remembered that the peculiar Sonthal system of criminal administration cannot lightly be set aside, and that it is very necessary to protect the interests of the aboriginal races for whom the ordinary Judicial system is in some respects unsuitable.

"The Hon'ble Member has alluded to the power of enhancing punishments which the Sonthal Appellate Courts now possess. The attention of the Lieutenant-Governor was drawn to this provision of the law in an address presented by the people of the district, and this subject as well as the whole question of the Judicial Administration of the Sonthal Parganas is now under the consideration of Government."

THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1906.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said :—"I desire to inform Hon'ble Members that the Government has come to the decision to postpone the consideration of the Bill to amend the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885. The principal reasons which have led to this decision are two. In the first place, the Government of Bengal entirely agrees with what appears to be the unanimous opinion of the non-official Members of this Council, that the Road Cess should be devoted to the objects for which it is collected. The difficulty in the way of bringing this into an Act is a technical one, namely, that it is regarded as inexpedient to bind the hands of the Government and the Local Authorities alike by the provisions of an Act. Inasmuch, however, as we are all agreed as to the propriety of ear-marking the Road Cess, I am anxious to consider at leisure whether it may not be possible to get over this technical difficulty. My second reason is, that I hail with satisfaction the strong feeling in favour of Sanitary legislation ; and I am somewhat loath to proceed with the Bill without making some effort to devise some sanitary provisions which may be acceptable to the Government of India, and may find a place in the Bill. I regret that this decision should be arrived at so late in the Session; but I think that I shall carry the unanimous approval of the Council with me in deciding not to take the Bill up this Session at all."

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1907-08.

The Hon'ble Babu KALI PADA GHOSH said :—"Sir—Before entering into the dry details of the Financial Statement placed before us, I may be permitted to offer our thanks to Your Honour for inaugurating a happy change in the procedure connected with the preparation of the present Budget, a change which was foreshadowed in Your Honour's Budget speech of last year. Unlike the stereotyped method of enveloping the settlement of Budget details with official secrecy, Your Honour thought it proper to invite suggestions from some of the non-official Members of Council who were summoned to attend a Conference that was held for the purpose. I am not aware on what points the suggestions of the Hon'ble Members were sought or to what extent they were accepted. But what little share they might have been allowed in the preparation of the Budget, the principle of associating non-official Members with a matter which plays perhaps the most important part in shaping the affairs of the Province is indeed noble in its conception and may be far-reaching in its consequences. The greater the confidence reposed by the Government on the people entrusted to its charge, the more solid does its foundation become. In this connection it may not be out of place to observe that the suggestions made on the Budget by the non-official Members from their places in the Council do not count much. They are invited to offer their criticism at a stage which may be considered too late for any material modification of the Budget, and such criticism, as a matter of fact, is more often explained away than given effect to. The procedure adopted this year has at least afforded to some of the non official Members an opportunity of offering suggestions at a time and in a manner which may be fruitful of results hereafter.

"In reviewing the Budget Estimate of 1906-1907, the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary has shown that the actual receipts of the year have exceeded the originally estimated amount by over 10 lakhs (Rs. 5,03,37,000 minus Rs. 4,92,72,000) and this increase has been shown as the net result of improvements under certain heads, such as Stamps, Excise, Assessed Taxes, Registration and Irrigation. The first-mentioned three heads are so elastic in their character that they can admit of any expansion or what is called progressive increase, without calling for special comment. But the increase of two lakhs under the head of 'Registration' is so unusual in its character that it is bound to attract notice. It is said that this increase is due in part to the unfavourable character of the season in some localities which necessitated the execution of a larger number of bonds. No other cause having been specifically mentioned, one may infer that the increase is mainly due to the above cause, and if it be so, it is certainly not a matter for congratulation; on the other hand, it reveals rather an alarming state of things and presents a sad outlook for the Province. We are not also told which particular localities have contributed to this increase, but having regard to the excessive rise in the price of food-grains throughout the Province, one may presume that the people under the pinch of distress and poverty have had recourse to the borrowing of money to meet the necessaries of life.

"It is indeed gratifying to find that the Government of India have formulated a scheme for relieving the burden of the Provincial Governments on account of Famine Relief Expenditure and have made it possible for this Government to provide for about 8 lakhs to be spent for this purpose in the current year. We are grateful to the Government of India for this help in a matter of such vital importance. But regard being had to the distress that has prevailed in the Province during the last year, and to the high prices of food-grains in the current year and to the emergency which may arise through failure of rains or any other cause, the provision already made may not be adequate.

"In paragraph 14 of the Financial Statement where provision has been made for recurring outlay, no amount has been shown under the head 'Increase of pay of Ministerial officers in addition to the special grant made by the Government of India,' although we notice that a sum of Rs. 1,50,000 was put under this head in the last Budget. In Appendix B, under the head 'Land-revenue,' a sum of Rs. 1,40,000 has been shown in the place of Rs. 2,30,000 provided in the last Budget, and under the head 'General Administration' a sum of Rs. 2,17,000 which stood in the last Budget has also been provided in the present Budget. I hope the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary will favour us with an explanation as to the cause of this apparent omission or decrease, and give us an assurance that these changes do not affect the main object in view. All that we are anxious to know is, when Government will be in a position to give effect to this long-deferred scheme, so that relief may at last reach the hardworked and poorly-paid Ministerial officers.

"Turning to the vexed question of Sanitation which carries in its train the question of Water-supply, we do not find anything in the present Budget which may lead us to think that this question is engaging the special attention of Government. Instead of any increase in the provision under this head, the special allotment for anti-malarial measures which was put down at Rs. 20,000 last year, finds no place in the present Budget.

"It is said that the whole Medical Department is maintained for the purpose of combating all sorts of diseases, Malaria including, and there is therefore no need for making any special provision for Malaria. It is true that a sum of Rs. 23,63,000 has been provided under the Budget head 'Medical,' but the question is, how much of it is available for medical relief of the rural population stricken with Malaria. Out of this amount, if anything can possibly be claimed for such relief it is the provision of Rs. 1,25,200 shown under the sub-head 'Grants to Mufassal Hospitals and Dispensaries,' but we know it as a matter of fact that the major portion of such grants is given to hospitals and dispensaries which are mostly situated at the head-quarters of districts and sub-divisions. It is superfluous to say that no appreciable relief can reach the rural population out of this grant.

"We have been further told that it is the duty of the District Boards to give adequate relief in the matter of Water-supply, and that the Government is prepared to contribute towards the expenditure for this purpose. It is certainly not our object to quarrel with the Government as to the source from which relief ought to come, and we shall be satisfied so long as we find that steps are being taken to remove this grievance, perhaps the greatest grievance of people inhabiting the rural parts of the Province. Sir, this question has been pressed upon the attention of the Government times without number, but as it is a question of life and death, it can bear repetition. It would certainly be a matter of great disappointment if Government would simply rest contented by throwing its responsibility in a matter of such importance on the District Boards. It is said that the District Boards do not appear to regard the matter as one of urgency and are not therefore keenly interested in it. I do not think that any District Board is prepared to plead guilty to such a charge. So far as I am aware the District Boards are keenly alive to the importance of this question, but, limited as their resources are, they find themselves unable to afford material relief in this direction. Unless Government would take up the question in right earnest and be prepared to place funds at the disposal of the District Boards, specially for this purpose, there is little chance of anything substantial being done out of the funds of the District Boards. If the wealthier classes of the people are convinced that the scheme organized for affording relief in this matter has found favour with Government, they will join hands with it with as much liberality as they do in many works of public utility initiated by Government.

"With special provision in the Budget for Water supply and a portion of the annual grant to the District Boards ear-marked for the purpose and with private contributions which, we are sure, will be forthcoming, a practical scheme for such water-supply may be effected. I feel assured that the country will welcome such a scheme with feelings of deep gratitude to Government, even if it be effected at the curtailment of expenditure on other projects.

"I may be excused for taking the time of the Council by speaking on a matter which, it may be thought, has been rendered stale by repetition, but it should be borne in mind that I am pleading the cause of millions of suffering humanity whose voice is too feeble to reach the ears of Government.

"Under the head of 'Excise Receipts,' we find that the revised estimate for the year 1906-1907 has been passed for Rs. 1,60,80,000, showing an increase of more than 8 lakhs over the actuals of the preceding year. We are told and told on high authority that mere increase in the Excise revenues is not necessarily an indication of greater consumption of intoxicants, and such increase is quite compatible with the avowed Government policy of discouraging drinking. We do not certainly claim to possess what may be called expert knowledge of Excise Administration but to us, the uninitiated, the above statement seems rather inexplicable in the light of stern facts which we come across in our every-day experience. I may be permitted to place before the Hon'ble Members of the Council certain facts which are within my personal knowledge and leave the Members to draw their own conclusions from them.

"In the Division of Chota Nagpur where there is a large class of aboriginal population who are notorious for their drinking tendency, we find that the Excise revenue is steadily increasing and within the last 10 years it has doubled itself. In the year 1897-98, the revenue was Rs. 8,64,880 and in the year 1906-1907, it swelled to over 16 lakhs. It is said that the increase is due partly to the greater prosperity of the labouring class owing to a rise in their daily wages, but, so far as Chota Nagpur is concerned, there has hardly been any appreciable increase in the wages of the labouring class, except that last year owing to a rise in the price of food-grains the wages have slightly risen, and what was two annas before is two-and-half-annas now. There can be no doubt that the excessive drunkenness instead of indicating prosperity in the lower classes is contributing to the increase of poverty amongst them. This undisputed fact is noticed by an officer possessing long experience and an intimate knowledge of that part of the country, no other than the Hon'ble Mr. Slacke who is now sitting with us and who in his report on the administration of the division, when he was its Commissioner, made prominent mention of it.

"None can fail to admire the avowed intentions of Government as far as they appear in Circulars and Regulations and in Statements emanating from high authorities. We are assured that it is the intention of Government to keep the prices of the stimulants reasonably high and not to afford undue facilities in the way of obtaining intoxicants and we know that Circulars have been issued prohibiting location of liquor shops in the markets or at their entrances or near the main roads. If this be the settled policy of Government to check undue growth of drunkenness, it has, so far as I am aware of the circumstances of Chota Nagpur, been lamentably disregarded The price of liquor, I mean of ordinary mahua liquor, in which the lower classes of people generally indulge, has been kept steady for years and years and except in the immediate neighbourhood of head-quarter stations, the price has not undergone any appreciable change, and a bottle of mahua liquor which was selling ten years ago at one anna in the interior of the districts, is still selling at that price. As regards the location of liquor shops, we find that in the case of 156 shops in the district of Ranchi, 110 are situated at or in the immediate neighbourhood of markets, and the rest on the main roads or close to them. The sites of the shops, so far as the other districts are concerned, are equally objectionable.

"Sir, may I ask whether in a country inhabited by people of known drinking habits, the existing circumstances, as indicated by the above facts, afford proper check on their drinking tendency, or whether they are not calculated to stimulate such tendency? To show to what extent the habits of intemperance in drink are prevailing among the aborigines and the deplorable consequences resulting therefrom, I cannot do better than refer to a passage in a Memorial which was submitted to Government sometime ago by some of the representative people in the district of Ranchi, and to which I have already invited the attention of Government. After stating certain facts, the Memorial goes on to say:—

'Colonel Swaine, I.M.S., for many years Civil Surgeon and Superintendent of the Jail in Ranchi, writes thus of his experience: - "I found that a large proportion of serious crimes, such as assaults and murders, were committed during the state of intoxication, and not only this, but numbers of persons die from exposure and congestion of the lungs, especially in the very cold weather. They leave the liquor shop hopelessly drunk, usually late in the evening, they stagger along for a time, then fall down and are found dead in the morning. In my experience, I have seen many such cases brought for post mortem examination." That deaths directly due to over indulgence in daru still occur, is the experience of many.

'On bazar days, it is a common sight to see the road side strewn with men and women in various stages of advanced intoxication

'Besides this, many of the people waste a large proportion of the money they have brought for purchasing necessary articles for home use in the liquor shop.'

"In the face of these facts, can we become convinced of the increasing prosperity of the labouring class which the increase in the Excise Revenue is supposed to indicate? True, the Government is not openly inviting people to indulge in drinks and it is equally true that no compulsion is placed on licensees to take out licenses, but that is not certainly the means to keep a check on the growth of drunkenness in a country where the people cannot help themselves. I am indeed thankful to Government for the most sympathetic answer that was given to my question on this subject, and I am glad that a matter which is demoralizing these pepole and ruining them in body and mind has engaged the special attention of Government.

"On the subject of 'Education,' the tabular statement given in page 11, showing the growth of expenditure under this head does not form a very useful guide, as it presumably contains the combined figures for both the Provinces up to the year 1905-1906. But even the statement as it stands affords sufficient materials for reflection. 'Direction' which cost only Rs. 78,000 in 1901-1902 for both the Provinces now rises to a lakh for only one of them, and what is more striking is that 'Inspection' which cost Rs. 2,47,000 in 1901-1902 for United Bengal has swelled to Rs. 4,78,000 only for this Province. These have evidently gained at the expense of some worthier objects of State support, the University and the Government Schools General, for example, the wants of which are many but for which no liberal provision has been made. Certainly the expenditure on 'Education' is growing year after year and we are immensely grateful to the Government for this increased appreciation of our educational needs, but if the objects of lesser importance swallow up the increase at the expense of comparatively worthier objects, the full measure of the blessing cannot be appreciated.

"Against grants-in-aid, it is presumed, are shown all sums paid to Primary as well as Secondary Schools. If so, there is no means of finding to what extent each of these two important branches of instruction is receiving the treatment it deserves There are reasons to believe that while Primary Education is justly receiving its due share of attention, as far as possible, Secondary Education, both English and Vernacular, is not being dealt with in the same spirit and that accordingly most of the aided High and Middle Schools in the Province are in receipt of exiguously small grants, which again are being unsparingly reduced every time when an application comes up for renewal.

"While it is a matter of sincere gratification that the Government of India have allotted large sums for Education, it is disappointing to find that no adequate provision has been made in the Budget for Technical Education. I believe I voice the feelings of the entire public, when I say that a Polytechnique on a broad basis is the crying need of the country at the present day.

"I cannot conclude without expressing my thanks to the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary for presentation of a Budget containing several useful schemes for reform proposed to be undertaken during the current year. Generally speaking, these projects have been fairly distributed all over the Province, but one thing that we cannot fail to notice in this connection is, that some of the provisions that were made last year under the head 'Civil Works' have been carried over to the present year apparently for non-execution of the works. In the division of Orissa, the only project proposed to be taken in hand this year is the drainage for Puri Municipality at Rs. 75,000, but a similar provision was made in the last Budget. I hope the amount allotted last year has all been spent for this purpose, and the present year's allotment is a supplementary grant."

The Hon'ble RAJA PEARY MOHAN MUKHARJI said:—"By giving Hon'ble Members an opportunity of examining, in Chamber, the Financial Statement by the light of the information which the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary could place at their disposal, Your Honour's Government has done all that an honest Government, sapiently bent upon allowing its policy to be submitted to the search-light of unsophisticated criticism, can do to avoid error. The procedure calculated to raise the Council in the estimation of the country has been eminently satisfactory in its results.

"The Provincial Revenues and Expenditure have been brought into a condition of proper equilibrium, and adequate provision has been made for the requirements of a progressive civilization. Far be it from me to assume the pontifical attitude in criticising the Financial Statement. I am quite content to rely on the judgment of the responsible Officers of Government in the matter of the distribution of the assets for meeting the demands of the different departments of the State.

"I cannot, however, disguise from myself the fact that the provision relating to Famines is anything but satisfactory. Instead of relying on precarious assignments from the Government of India for meeting the demands of famines which ever and anon afflict the country, it would be more satisfactory if a part of the money raised by the Public Works Cess be set apart for the purpose. This would be in consonance with the declarations made at the time that the Cess was imposed. Famines should not be treated as abnormal or exceptional calamities. Sound financial principles require that the obligations entailed by famines upon Government should be expressly recognized and provided for among the ordinary charges of the Provincial Government.

"There are two other questions—the improvement of the Police and the improvement of the Ministerial Staff of the Courts—to which I would invite the particular attention of Government. I am pleased to find that provision has been made in regard to both these questions. I would, however, beg leave to suggest that an inconsiderable part of the money allotted for the re-organization of the Police and for increasing the pay of ministerial officers of Courts should go to establish and maintain Vigilance Committees in every district. The reform of the Police and of the Court Officers would be a hopeless task, unless the people co-operated with the Government for effecting it. The action of organized bodies in this respect would not only be more effective, but would also be free from the stain of interested motives which might otherwise be cast upon it."

The Hon'ble RAJA BAN BIHARI KAPUR said:—"Your Honour, the Budget before us to-day, which has been very admirably framed by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary, must be declared a Prosperity Budget.

"It is a matter of great satisfaction indeed that our finances are steadily improving, and that we can safely look forward to an increase of receipts from all sources of Revenue from year to year.

"I feel very great pleasure in congratulating Your Honour and the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary on such a good Budget. The Budget is clear, simple and comprehensive. It fully supplies all necessary information, and its allotments are reasonable and fair. I shall not detain the Council long, as I do not consider it necessary to discuss the Budget in detail. I shall confine myself to two heads only.

"It is a matter of satisfaction to find that the Imperial Government have been pleased to make a separate grant for the building up of a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government on which your Government will be able to draw when they have to cope with Famines. The Provincial Funds, being thus relieved to a certain extent, will be better able to meet other necessary calls for the benefit of the Province. I desire to offer through Your Honour our thanks to His Excellency the Governor General in Council for the inauguration of the system under which the Provincial Government will be spared the obligation of meeting the whole cost of Famine.

"I am thankful to Your Honour for the provision of Rs. 1,50,000 made in the Budget for the 'paying patients' block for Indians in the Medical College Hospital, Calcutta.' But I understand, Sir, that the whole of this amount will be required for the purpose of acquiring land for the building of the blocks, and nothing will be available for the construction of any of the five separate double-storied blocks for the accommodation of the patients. I have not seen the estimate as to what each block of building is likely to cost, but I am informed that each block of building will probably cost about Rs. 30,000 to Rs. 35,000; may I, therefore, be allowed to ask Your Honour to set apart Rs. 60,000 to Rs. 70,000 more for this work from our estimated surplus and to order the construction of at least two blocks of building for receiving inmates before the closing of the present financial year?

"If this proposal meets with Your Honour's approval, then we shall have three blocks of buildings completed during the year, viz., one with the handsome donation made by the worthy citizen, Seth Seoprasad Joonjoonwala and the other two from the surplus of the Provincial Funds. I need hardly repeat, Sir, that this is a real want, and sincerely hope that Your Honour will be pleased to remove it at an early date."

The Hon'ble IHTISHAM-UL-MULK RAIS-UD-DOWLA AMIR-UL-OMRAH NAWAB ASEF KUDR SYUD WASIF ALI MEERZA KHAN BAHADUR MAHABUT JUNG, Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad, said:—"I think the present Budget offers few points for controversy, and as such I have very few observations to submit by way of criticism.

"The Budget Statement discloses the fact that though high prices prevailed during last year, Government Revenue did not suffer and, in fact, considerably exceeded the estimates, thus enabling Government to meet the unexpected demand consequent upon Famine expenditure, which has not been anticipated originally, but which unfortunately was incurred, without having recourse to the necessity of curtailing expenditure on other heads. This, no doubt, reflects credit upon those concerned in the collection of the revenue. It is always prudent to make provision for Famine expenditure. It is, however, a relief to be told that such provision is not necessary to be made now, although a large amount will possibly have to be incurred on account of Famine, because the expenditure on that account will, under the new scheme, be met from Imperial Revenues, which will be some relief to the Local Government.

"Speaking of last year's receipts, an increase of nearly two lakhs in the Revenue, derived from Excise, is an increase which is liable to be viewed with dissatisfaction, if it indicated an increased demand for and an increased consumption of exciseable articles, a state of things which is not much to be desired; but it is some satisfaction to know that this increase is ascribed to more satisfactory settlement than to anything else. It is to be hoped that the increased estimate in the present Budget will, if approached, be not due to increased consumption, for nothing can be more objectionable than any increase of the Excise Revenue from an expansion of the traffic in exciseable articles, the disastrous consequences of which, as much their cause, it should surely be one of the foremost thoughts of Government to avoid. The allotment of a larger amount for the construction of small spirit depôts seems to be an objectionable item, to which advocates of temperance will, no doubt, take exception; for the greater are the facilities offered by placing exciseable articles within easy reach of consumers, the more will be the opportunities afforded to obtain without difficulty supplies resulting, as a matter of course, in more consumption.

"Though the expenditure under the head of 'Education' has been an ever-increasing item, for which we must all be grateful, yet less cause for complaint would have been given if it were found possible to provide a still increased allotment, for there are few causes which demand the yet greater attention and deserve the yet further help of Government than the cause of Education. Looking to the fact that great importance is now rightly attached to more extensive Primary Education, the larger the sums spent thereupon, the better for the country.

"The provision for a class for the training of Motor-car Driver Artisans is as opportune as it is necessary and, being in the right direction, will be hailed not only by those who own or desire to own motor-cars, but by the public generally, in view of the possibility of minimising accidents, which untrained or imperfectly trained drivers are now responsible for.

"The handsome provisions for Maktabs will be welcomed by my co-religionists, who are so much in need of help and encouragement, so far as matters educational, in particular, are concerned. Properly administered, the allotment is bound to work out good results.

"Equally satisfactory is the large allotment for training institutes for Primary School Teachers. It is of the utmost importance to put pupils in charge of well-trained and duly qualified teachers, and no provision can be too high for institutes designed for the proper training of those who in their turn will have to take charge of the training of the youth of the Province. Whatever might be said of the sufficiency of the total allotment under the head of 'Education', the sum of four lakhs and fifty-four thousand for Primary Education seems to be a fair proportion, though a larger allotment would no doubt have been much more appreciated.

"I am sorry the improvement of the Bhagirathi River finds no place in the estimate of the year. That is a subject upon which, to a large extent, depend the life, health and happiness of the population of a large area, bordering on the river. Though the Railway lines on both sides of the river will, to some extent, remove the inconveniences to traffic which the silting up of the river has caused, yet they would not in any way, I respectfully submit, improve the river as a great source of water-supply. The stagnation of the water is attended with all its evil consequences, and the opening up of the mouth, as also the keeping up of the canal, by inducing a current from the Ganges, would be a great boon to suffering humanity. A dredger has more than once been demanded. One costing four and-a-half lakhs has been brought out from England. If possible that should be spared for work in the river. Considering that the Bhagirathi, even in its moribund condition, brings in a large income in the shape of tolls levied on all boats which pass up and down the river, two or three years' proceeds spent upon a dredger will not be money misspent. The necessity of providing an adequate and healthy supply of drinking-water to the riparian villages still exists, and ought never to be lost sight of.

"The provision for the construction of residences for Munsifs is one in the right direction. Considering how hard-worked these officers are, and the difficulty of procuring decent rented houses in the Mufassal, the construction of quarters in each chowki should be carried out as soon as possible.

"I am glad to find that the Budget provides for the erection of an Obelisk at the battle field of Plassey. I hope the proposed monument will be majestic in proportion to its importance. The rest-house at Plassey, already constructed, has removed a great want, but the several pillars and other land-marks, which have been erected throughout the field, are too small and liable to be concealed in the growing crops. These might well be substituted by larger pillars with descriptive tablets. The plan of the field might with advantage be hung up on the walls of the rest-house, and the whole of the field, which was the scene of operations, might, if possible, be acquired and converted into a Park for the hard-worked people of Calcutta to resort to, to spend a holiday, now that Plassey is within easy reach by the opening of the Murshidabad branch of the Railway, which with an increased speed, for which there is room, will bring Plassey nearer to Calcutta and render it capable of being done in less than 24 hours' journey both ways, and halt included. In this connection, I beg to draw the attention of Government to the desirability of transferring Plassey from the jurisdiction of Nadia to that of adjoining Murshidabad, with which it is so indissolubly connected and associated.

"There is no subject to which Government can bestow greater attention, and for which more outlay can with propriety be made than Sanitation. Beyond half a lakh provided for Sanitary Improvements in Darjeeling and certain allotments to Municipalities for Civil Works, I regret to miss in the estimates any scheme for the general improvement of the sanitation of the Province. There are parts of it which may require greater and earlier attention than others, but there can be little doubt that the necessity exists of thoroughly investigating into the general unhealthy condition of most districts, most prominent among which I regret to have to mention my own. If the matter were inquired into, it would at once become apparent that unhealthiness is commensurate with the exuberance of rank vegetation, which unfortunately is showing signs of increase all round.

"True it is that in Urban and Municipal areas, the law gives ample powers to local bodies to cut down and remove vegetation noxious to health, but the appearance of such areas does not at all show that the provisions of the enabling sections of the Municipal Act are carried out with any degree of vigour. The case of areas covered by the Local Self-Government Act seems to be still worse. Here whole villages are removed from the action of free air by the high and impenetrable walls of trees and jungles with which they are surrounded. The removal of trees, which are sometimes fruit-trees and sometimes timber, is not free from difficulty; but the rank vegetation and the undergrowth can surely be dealt with and the arms of law can surely reach them.

"In Sanitary matters as in most other matters, we are in need of Government help, and unless Government takes the initiative, there is little hope of our being relieved of our sufferings. The people are already thankful for the inquiries which have been started by members of what is known as the Drainage Commission; and when they have gathered statistics and completed their investigation and submitted their report, there is little doubt a scheme will be formulated, whereby the drainage of the Province, obstructed by railways and embankments and otherwise, will be improved and defective drainage, now one of the fruitful sources of Malaria, will be a thing of the past. The cases are worst where deficient drainage, coupled with superfluity of vegetation, which prevents sun, light and air to have free access, brings suffering to humanity.

"I think there ought to be in Bengal a regular and thorough organization for the extermination of jungle, that is showing an ever-growing tendency to increase. If a Commission is appointed, or the Drainage Commission, already appointed, be instructed to direct their inquiries with special reference to the cause of unhealthiness so far as it is due to the overgrowth of jungle, any additional money, spent in that direction, will be money not spent in vain. I crave leave to plead specially the cause of my own district. Murshidabad is an old historic place, full of historic associations, and no one would like to see it reduced and converted into a great jungle. If any experiments have to be made, let us begin with Murshidabad. If my information is correct, the death-rate in the old city, its suburbs and adjoining villages exceeds the birth-rate, and I am afraid that if things go on at that rate the time is not distant when there will be left not one human being in this area to tell the tale of its misery.

"I think this is a matter which should invite the earnest attention of Government. I confess that much of what is required to be done may be done by local bodies, but they are hampered by the insufficiency of the funds at their disposal, and an organized scheme, capable of coping with the exigencies and requirements of the occasion and the enormity of the subject, is beyond the power and purse of most local bodies. Here it is that Government must step in to do for us what we cannot do ourselves. It is not for me to suggest, much less to dictate, what exact line of action Government should adopt. All I wish to press for is, that anything which persons in a position to give authoritative opinion upon can suggest should be attended to in order to improve the sanitary condition of the Province, as much by expeditions against mosquitos and the proper drainage of low and marshy tracts, as by the cutting away and removal of rank, unnecessary and obnoxious vegetation, which has encroached to a large extent on most villages in Bengal, and to which hitherto has not been paid that degree of prompt, earnest and systematic attention which the serious evils resulting from them so urgently demand.

"There is one other matter which should engage the first and foremost attention of Government, and that is the high prices of Articles of Food, specially rice that has become, so to speak, chronic. The fact that notwithstanding the harvesting of a comparatively bumper crop, high prices, almost famine prices, still prevail, is a matter for very serious consideration. We have been told that this state of things is due not to increase of exports but to the encroachment made by jute upon paddy land and the abnormal storage of rice by growers and others for their consumption as a safeguard against a recurrence of famine. Whatever may be the cause, to whatever this state of things may be ascribed, there is a growing feeling that rice at any rate and at any cost must be made cheap, so that the classes that are affected most by high prices may afford, with their limited means, to have at least two full meals in twenty-four hours. People would not grudge so much at the high prices of luxuries or even of things not so absolutely necessary as the high price of what forms the staple of Bengal. Give them rice, the same weight for the rupee as it used to fetch twenty years back, there will then be not that general complaint which now so unfortunately prevails That is a common-sense view of things.

"I hear very little now-a-days of the golas or rice depôts that were started or proposed to be started with a view to meet the requirements of a bad year. I do not know if much has been done in that direction. Hence it is that Government intervention and Government action are necessary to devise means, which will induce or enable the actual tiller of the soil to devote more attention and give more land to the cultivation of paddy and less to that of jute, and which will place his neighbour, whose profession is not to hold the plough, but whose life, health, ease and comfort depend to a large extent upon the extended cultivation of paddy, to give himself and his family, dependent upon his earnings, two full meals a day.

"Your Honour, the matters relating to Sanitation and high prices upon which I have taken the liberty of addressing the Council are of such general importance that the appointment of one or more Commissions to thoroughly investigate is a matter for the serious consideration of Your Honour's sympathetic Government, and will, I have no doubt, be greatly appreciated by a people who are already grateful for your beneficent rule."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"Your Honour' it would be ungrateful on our part not to acknowledge the great concession made by Your Honour of allowing the non-official Members an opportunity of considering the Budget before it is placed in the Council. This year's experience has been rather disappointing on account of the fact that we had the Budget placed in our hands at the Meeting and had no time given to us probably because it could not be given to us of considering it, excepting there. To make the experiment a success, two things are necessary, first, a desire on the part of the Officials in charge to seriously consult the non-official Members and to ascertain from them the needs of the country and not to be impatient of their criticisms and suggestions; second, on the part of us, non-official Members, industry, knowledge of the country and a courageous and earnest striving, to make the country advance in all matters, in co-operation with the Government.

"It is usual to congratulate the Financial Secretary on the Budget, and I do so with pleasure. But if I linger long on felicitations or on idle criticisms and high politics and fine phrases, I shall miss the opportunity of directing the attention of the Government and of the Council to matters on which depend the true welfare of this country.

"Now I shall go to the consideration of the Budget. I must say it discloses a condition of lamentable inaction on the part of the Government for the good of the people, which is wholly at variance with the known earnest desire of Your Honour to help the people, and for which probably you are not responsible. If we look at page 4 of the Budget, we find that most of the improvements for which money was sanctioned last year have not been carried out. The grants for the paying patients' block for Indians in the Medical College Hospital, acquisition of the Haritola Bustee, near Campbell Hospital, double-storied block in Campbell Hospital, Calcutta Municipality Incinerator, Bhagalpur Municipality Water-works, Nadia Municipality repairs to Embankments, Monghyr Municipality Water-supply, Berhampore Municipality Drainage, Puri Municipality Drainage, made last year have been repeated this year. I find also that many of the improvements for which money had been budgetted the year before last have not been carried out. Indeed, very little of the good contemplated by Your Honour during the last two years has been carried out.

"Further, we have gone back. Last year Rs. 75,000 was sanctioned for the Bhairab Valley Drainage, this year it has been struck out altogether on the ground, I understand, that the project is not ready. My complaint is, that we are never ready. Again, I do not understand why, as regards the grant of Rs. 75,000 to the Puri Municipality, while last year it was stated that Rs. 25,000 was for Drainage and Rs. 50,000 for Sanitation, this year the entire amount has been ear-marked for Drainage only. Probably the words 'and sanitation' have been omitted by mistake. But it is a mistake which ought to be rectified.

"I further do not see why the India Government should not pay the sum of Rs. 1,50,000 budgetted for the new Presidency Jail consequent on the building of the Victoria Memorial on its site. Again I do not understand why a sum of Rs. 1,20,000 has been budgetted for the re-alignment of the drains of the Presidency Jail, by which I understand the present Jail, when it is going to be removed within a very short time.

"There is no reason assigned for the fact that for the Obelisk at Plassey, the sum budgetted this year is Rs. 25,000, while last year it was only Rs. 15,000.

"Again the large sums granted for Sundarban reclamations should be objected to on the ground, first, there are more urgent needs of the country, and second that it violates the principle hitherto followed that the Government should not be competitors with private capitalists in such work to the detriment of the latter.

"At page 13 of the Budget, I find under heading 'Civil Works' the expenditure for original works and repairs is estimated at about Rs. 60,50,000 and the establishment cost is laid at Rs. 8,80,587. The establishment cost is thus about 14 per cent. of the expenditure. I believe that it is possible to reduce the establishment cost to 10 per cent., especially when all Government work is done by contractors, and a saving of about Rs. 3 lakhs should be made if possible for original works. The works in the districts may be done by District Board Engineers without any payment if they are required to do so by the Government. Indeed, it is possible greatly to reduce the establishment cost.

"This brings me to my main contention. The Government is aware of the extraordinary unhealthiness of the districts of Murshidabad, Krishnagore and Jessore. Life is one continued suffering for the people in the interior of these districts on account of Malaria. The deterioration of the rivers and the water-channels is mainly responsible for the result. The Government has up to this time simply stood by and looked at the result in mute despair. Difficult to mend matters. Rivers, if excavated, will again silt up. Impossible. Inquiries have been set on foot. Inspections made. These are the explanations for inaction we are accustomed to. The Government is aware of the vast schemes of Canal carried out in France, Germany and Russia for commercial and military purposes. Here, in Bengal, for internal commerce and for drainage and for keeping out the salt water of the sea, we require to keep alive the dying rivers of the Presidency Division. We require it for our lives. We can certainly canalize the existing rivers and have Canals at very much less cost than in the European countries mentioned above.

"At page 23 of the Budget, I find that the toll receipts of the Nadia rivers have, within the last 3 years, fallen by Rs. 70,000 a year. The revenue is thus also suffering. Now to mend this state of things is certainly possible but it will entail a large expenditure. But it is possible for the Government to incur a large expenditure. It is doing so for the Town of Calcutta where the European residents have become very much afraid of the Plague. So far as the districts are concerned, we have been standing still in all things, as I shall presently show. I earnestly ask Your Honour's Government to be more courageous and make the country advance. My contention is, that all works of public utility should be done not out of Capital but out of Loan account. We spend 70 lakhs for works every year. We can at once spend 7 crores of rupees on works, if we do the works by loan, leaving still a large margin for ordinary expenditure. In 20 years' time the loan may be paid up, and we may take up other works. That is how work is done in every progressive country. And many of these works will be productive.

"I found no reason in the criticism of the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale in the Imperial Budget discussion that the Government should only make unproductive expenditure. Only ball-rooms, Government buildings, decorations and the like are strictly unproductive. Everything that is truly good for the people is worth paying for by them and can be made to yield a return if necessary. If the Government will not do such works, the people themselves will do them at their own cost. I trust the Government will not adopt the policy advocated by Gentlemen whose forte is high politics. We want water-ways for the development of the inland trade, for the carriage of our jute and rice. We want a proper Drainage system for the districts. We want also more Railways. We want to fight Malaria which prevails not only in the districts I have mentioned but in Western Bengal, and is advancing to Midnapore, Baukura and Birbhum. It is no time to stand still. Bengal is advancing materially by leaps and bounds, through the development of the industries of foreign countries and through the railways built by private European companies. The Government is doing very little for the people. Excepting the Tribeni Canal, since the making of the Sone and Midnapur Canals which are paying works, the Government has simply done nothing for the Irrigation, Water-ways and Drainage of the districts.

"It is very well known that good drinking-water is essential for the health of the people. The Government, I find, has made inadequate grants to enable some District Town Municipalities to have pure filtered water. Sufficient funds should be placed in the hands of all District Towns to enable them to have filtered water at once, instead of asking District Boards to make grants for the purpose. Life is short. If the present generation of men suffer and die, what do they care for what may come to pass after them? What has the Government done for the prevention of Malaria? We hear of the mosquito theory. It may be good. But we want the remedy to be adopted—jungles to be cleared, dirty water-pools to be filled up. good drinking-water to be supplied. Large expenditure is necessary. District Boards, Village Unions and the like are not able to grapple with this great question. The Government should take it up. I plead for a change of policy, and that is, great works should be taken up and all original works should be done out of Loan account.

"I next go to the matter of Education. I find the Budget defective, as there is no heading of the expenditure under Primary Education or Female Education. It is fortunate for the Government that it is so. Here also we have been standing still, so much so that we have not been able to spend the 10 lakhs of rupees granted by the Government of India in 1905 for Primary Education and entered in the Bengal Budget. I know people find it very difficult to spend money on works of beneficence, but I did not expect to find it in our Government. The fault again is not with the Head of our Government but with those who have the carrying out of work.

"Primary Education, I understand, cannot advance because gurus require training. If we are to train gurus first and then teach our boys, we shall have to let the present generation go without education. We, who have seen the old system of pathsalas do not appreciate the difficulty. Female education is also at a standstill, because we are told we have got no female teachers. If we have to wait for female teachers, I am afraid our girls shall have to go without education. It would be a long time before we shall be able to get orthodox ladies to take to teaching. Everybody in Bengal knows that there is no objection to girls below 12 being taught by male teachers. But the Government answered to a question put by me that that was not correct, and it was not possible to start Middle Vernacular Schools without male teachers. The answer was given to me who is the Secretary of one of the most orthodox and largely attended of such schools. This year I am glad to find a lump provision of Rs. 4,54,207 for Primary Education of boys and girls, including an extra amount of one lakh of rupees granted through I believe the personal intervention of Your Honour and on account of the persistence of some non-official Members. I trust the amount will be spent.

"Similarly, Your Honour has repeatedly expressed your desire to establish a properly-equipped Technical School in connection with the Sibpur Engineering College. We find this year a trifling sum budgetted for the Industrial Chemistry Class. It has been stated that all the departments will be started in time, but the arrangements cannot be made all at once. All this is excuse for inaction. We are at a standstill in everything. In the matter of Education we are probably going back, as the remarkable falling off in the number of Entrance Examination candidates showed last year. That probably is owing to the unpopularity of the reformed University. But that we are not advancing as we should do, as Japan has done and is doing, is a fact, and we hold the Government responsible for it.

"I next go to our expensive Civil Service. The Partition of Bengal has added to our burden on that head. We have a legitimate grievance in this matter. Mr. Naoroji, during the last Congress, spoke of the fact that the Statutory Civil Service obtained by him for the people of the country has been abolished as one of the great disappointments of his life. Some few appointments, as District Judges and District Magistrates, are now given to natives of India. They may be left out of consideration. What reason is there that at least one-third of the appointments now held by Covenanted Civilians should not be given to the people of this country? The abolition of the Statutory Service has been a retrograde measure making the administration more expensive. In the interests of economy, in Bengal at least, it should be revived.

"I must thank the Government for the grant of Rs. 40,000 for the residences of Munsiffs.

"I should here mention that Assistant Surgeons are also entitled to proper houses in which they can live with their families. Now in a few districts they get two rooms in the Charitable Dispensaries for their quarters. Theirs is a hard-worked and very ill-paid service. I trust Your Honour will kindly take their case into consideration.

"This leads me to a very important matter. Your Honour has observed the extraordinary rise in the price of rice. To the cultivator, it probably means prosperity. But to the bhadrologé class it means ruin. No doubt they are not more than 10 per cent. of the population, and they are the people who are in the front of all agitations against Government measures. But their shortcomings should be forgotten in pity for their helpless condition notwithstanding the assertion made by a few irresponsible men among them that they have the power to overturn the Government and set up a Government of their own, and which they cannot do because they have not yet been able to decide whether it is to be a Monarchy or a Republic. Just now they have to depend only on Government Offices or the Law Courts for their livelihood. There are people whom the extremists sometimes cry shame upon, who are working without ceasing and who have determined to sacrifice everything in order to secure for the people independent means of livelihood and they, I hope, will succeed in their efforts. But still it behoves the Government to devise measures for the greater employment of the educated classes. In any case, having regard to the fact that the rise of food-grains means the depreciation of the value of the rupee, the Government should, without delay, consider the advisability of ordering an increase of salary, at least of the officials drawing a salary less than 100 rupees a month. It is more necessary and urgent than making provisions for the residences of high-paid Officials.

"As regards the amount budgetted for the Co-öperative Credit Societies, it seems to be very insufficient. A beginning has been made, but the progress is so slow that one despairs of seeing good results arising out of it in his lifetime. More vigorous action in this direction is also necessary.

"There is one more matter in which I am greatly interested and to which I shall revert on a future occasion. I find at page 3?, that Rs. 3,55,000 were spent on Experimental Cultivation in 1905-06. I find at page 21, the receipts on account of Experimental Cultivation of 1905 06 to have been only Rs. 1,457. The result seems to me so extraordinary that I am afraid there is some mistake somewhere.

"I have done. I have found fault with the Government in many things and have used strong words of condemnation. That is because I believe the Government to be a beneficent one, and a Government which we should consider ours, and with which we should heartily co-operate. I wish my people to advance abreast with the other nations of the East now pulsating with a new life and which have or are about to take their place among the proudest nations of the West. But the means I wish to see adopted in our present conditions are not those which high Indian Councillors are advising and, which if not adopted, they have warned the Government will lead to its early end. I should be at one with them in asking for political reforms advocated by them, but there are more urgent matters to consider. For the last two years political agitations have diverted the attention of the Government and the people from all good work, and the Government had some excuse for inaction. But now there is little excuse. Permit me to tell Your Honour that unless there is vigorous action taken for the material progress of the country, it will lead not to the end of the Government but to the end of the people over which it has been placed by Providence."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"May it please Your Honour—I have heard with great pleasure that some of the non-official Members of Your Honour's Council were taken into confidence before the Budget was prepared. A great principle is thus recognized for which we are thankful to Your Honour, but I hope from next year it will be given fuller and not partial effect as this year.

"I congratulate the Government on the satisfactory state of its finance as disclosed in the Financial Statement laid before the Council. The year 1906-1907 is strictly speaking the first year of the Administration of the Government of Bengal after the Partition. Accordingly a new Provincial Settlement has been made with the Government of India, and a generous provision made for the growing needs of the premier Province of the British Indian Empire by allotting larger shares of the divided heads of revenue to Your Honour's Government.

"The estimates for 1907-1908 show Rs. 5,20,28,000 as receipts, excluding the opening balance, and Rs. 5,36,86,000 as expenditure. The latter figure includes a non-recurring expenditure of Rs. 37,48,000 which mostly consists of grants of public utility, and in this connection I gratefully acknowledge the provision of Rs. 3,06,000 for additions to the Medical College Hospital, including a block for Indian paying patients and of one lakh for additions to the Campbell Hospital; while provision has also been made for a more generous scale of diet for patients. All this testify to Your Honour's care for the well-being of the people.

"My hon'ble friend, Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, has alluded to the grant to the Calcutta Municipality of Rs. 45,000 for an Incinerator. My friend has evidently been misled by the item in the Budget. As the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary will bear me out, it is not a grant for an Incinerator, but for the removal of the refuse platform on the west of the Campbell Hospital. I hope, however, some day in the future the Government will be pleased to see its way to make a grant for Incinerators and thus help the Corporation to abolish the refuse platforms, which are a standing menace to the City.

"The large accumulated opening balance which by gradual diminution stands at Rs. 91,14,000 at the beginning of the current year has been judiciously drawn upon to meet the non-recurring expenditure of the current year and the normal growth of revenue has on the whole met the increase in recurring expenditure. It is a sound principle of finance that the accumulated balance should be returned to the tax-payer in some shape or other and should not form the basis of recurring charges. As Member for the Corporation, I wish this principle had been followed there to bring the recurring expenditure within the receipts which alone could put a stop to the perpetual phenomenon of a deficit Budget.

"Court-fees.—The receipts from Court-fee Stamps are steadily increasing. This year's figures show Rs. 1,07,62,000 as compared with Rs. 1,02,60,000 of last year. While on this subject, I may be permitted to draw Your Honour's attention to the anomaly which exists in the Court-fee charges in the Calcutta Court of Small Causes. While in all other Courts of Bengal and even in the Appellate Side of the High Court 7½ per cent. Court-fee is leviable for the institution of suits and appeals; in the Small Cause Court of Calcutta, the suitor must pay 11 per cent. to file a suit. I do not think it can be contended that parties get superior justice in the Calcutta Small Cause Court to what they receive in the District Courts all over Bengal. I earnestly trust Your Honour will remove this anomaly by ordering a reduction of Court-fee charges in the Calcutta Small Cause Court.

"There is another matter in connection with Court-fees which is of vital importance to the rate-payers of Calcutta. Your Honour is aware that all objections against increase of assessments by the Assessor of the Corporation were formerly heard by a Bench of Commissioners, but by the Amending Act of 1888 this system was abolished, and since then these objections are heard either by the Vice-Chairman or the Deputy Chairman under the delegated authority of the Chairman. This is a highly unpopular procedure and wrong in principle, as the Vice-Chairman and the Deputy Chairman are the Executive Heads of the Assessor's Department. Of course an appeal against the decision of the Vice-Chairman or the Deputy Chairman lies to the Small Cause Court. From 1889 to 1900, no Court-fee was charged on the institution of these appeals, but since 1901 under Government order a prohibitive fee is levied, which has practically deprived the poor and even the middle classes of an opportunity of obtaining justice against the decision of the Municipal Executive.

"For better explanation I would give a concrete instance. Suppose the Vice-Chairman after hearing an objection fixes the valuation of a holding at Rs. 5,000 and the rate-payer contends that it should be Rs. 4,000. The difference in rate involved is Rs. 195 per year at 19½ per cent. If any fee is to be at all levied it should in all fairness be levied on this amount; but instead of this being done, the fee is levied on about 12 times the amount, as per calculation given below:—

"The fee is calculated not on the existing Municipal rate of taxation, but on the difference of the highest rate allowed by the law and the existing rate. Thus it will be seen that when the difference of valuation is only Rs. 1,000 the rate-payer will have to pay cost on Rs. 2,220. This, added to the risk of having to pay heavy costs to the Corporation in the event of the appeal being rejected, has practically precluded the rate-payers from seeking relief in a Court of law. I would earnestly appeal to Your Honour to abolish the Court-fee or at any rate to reduce it to a reasonable limit.

"Loans.—The interest on Loan advances made to cultivators and public bodies and other persons, accounts for the receipt of Rs. 4,80,000, the bulk of which is realized from the Municipalities, the District Boards and the cultivators. The principal of this loan is lent by the Government of India to the Local Government at an interest of 3½ per cent. and this sum is lent to the Municipalities at 4 per cent. and to cultivators at much higher rates. May I not appeal to Your Honour to reduce the interest to 3½ per cent. and thus relieve the local bodies and cultivators whom the Government, as the protector of the people, help in time of need. Considering the difficulties which local bodies have to encounter in meeting their growing expenditure out of the limited means at their disposal, such a reduction would be an act of generosity on the part of the Government which will be highly appreciated by my countrymen.

"Speaking on the subject of Loans, I cannot shut my eyes to the recent order of the Government of India fettering the hands of the Corporation by directing that no Municipal Loan is to be raised in the market till the Imperial Government has obtained all the money it requires. This is highly unfair to the local bodies and disadvantageous to the rate-payers. Ordinarily, it takes 2 months and-a-half to obtain the sanction of the Government to raise a loan, and if the Government postpone the issue of a Corporation loan to such time as suits their own convenience it would be most prejudicial to the interests of the Corporation. The Government should not forget that the municipalities and local bodies are but parts of the whole administrative machinery and that they are doing in a small way what the Government is doing on a much larger scale. I hope Your Honour will be pleased to safeguard the interests of the Corporation and other local bodies.

"Income-tax.—The Income-tax, notwithstanding the raising of the minimum limit from Rs. 500 to Rs. 1,000 a year, has brought an increase of revenue, from Rs. 46,43,405, the rise being in 1905-06, to Rs. 48,40,000 in 1906-1907. For 1907-1908, the figures have been fixed at Rs. 50,80,000, of which the receipts from Calcutta and its Suburbs amount to about Rs. 30,00,000. Direct taxation is always hateful to the people and the Income-tax being an inquisitorial tax is odious alike to the Europeans and Indians. But there can be nothing more odious to the people of this country than the imposition of Income-tax on residential houses which absolutely bring no income. If a clerk or a shop-keeper earns Rs. 50 a month and if he happens to possess an ancestral dwelling-house, which is assessed by the Municipality at Rs. 700 per annum, his earnings and the valuation of his ancestral dwelling-house are added together and the Income-tax is calculated on that total and is imposed on him.

"The Income-tax was levied, as Your Honour knows, as a temporary measure to meet the urgent needs of the State and a distinct pledge was given at the time of its imposition that it would be withdrawn as soon as the state of finance would permit. Unhappily for us, the pledge has not been redeemed and the tax to-day presses very heavily upon the middle class who can scarcely in these hard times make two ends meet. May I not appeal to Your Honour to exercise your influence with the Government of India to raise the minimum limit to at least Rs. 2,500 a year and to exempt the bonâ fide residential houses from the operation of the tax? Your Honour is no doubt aware of the attachment of the people of Bengal to their ancestral dwelling-houses which are worshipped as bastu vhitas and to which they cling even though smitten with poverty. To impose an Income-tax upon such unproductive holdings is not only hard, but unfair. An Income-tax is a tax on income, and it ought not to be imposed on Capital sunk in a residential house any more than on money sunk in books, furniture, ornaments or clothing.

"I now come to the expenditure side of the Budget.

"There is a saving of over three lakhs of rupees in the last year's Budget due to the non-utilization of the full grant for additional Deputy Magistrates and their establishments, and of the grant for the increase of pay of the ministerial establishment. Thanks to the generosity of the Government, the hard-worked and ill-paid ministerial staff had some consideration shown to them. But it is a matter of deep regret that owing to the delay in giving effect to the proposal of the Salaries Commission the grant could not be utilized. I appeal to Your Honour's generosity to give retrospective effect to the proposal for increase.

"Stipendiary and Honorary Presidency Magistrates.—I find provision has been made in the Budget for a Fourth Presidency Magistrate. Formerly there were two Stipendiary Magistrates who, with the Honorary Magistrates, disposed of all Police and Municipal cases. During recent years, a third Stipendiary Magistrate has been added, and it is again proposed to add a fourth in spite of the reduction in the number of cases owing to the establishment of a Municipal Court. It is worthy of note that the total number of cases before the Bench Magistrates was 6,185 in 1903, but since the addition of a third Magistrate in the latter part of December of that year the number of cases fell off to 1,217 in 1904. Now that it is contemplated to appoint a permanent fourth

Magistrate, the cases before the Bench Magistrates will necessarily be considerably reduced. There are no fewer than 86 Honorary Presidency Magistrates, and I believe the object of Government in appointing worthy citizens to the Honorary Bench is not only to economize expenditure but to allow them a legitimate share in the administration of justice in their own city and in the trial of their own countrymen. I am afraid that that laudable object is liable to be frustrated by the multiplication of Stipendiary Magistrates. I may be permitted to observe that much distrust and misunderstanding may be avoided by making the Honorary Presidency Magistrates more largely participate in the administration of justice rather than transforming them into so many ornamental figure-heads.

"Municipal Magistrate.—As regards the Municipal Magistrate's Court, I believe Your Honour is aware that no Court in the Metropolis of the British Empire is more unpopular than this Court. I do not in the least exaggerate when I say that rightly or wrongly the people believe that they cannot expect in this Court that independent administration of justice which is the proud privilege of the meanest of British subjects. It may be due to the peculiar constitution of the Court. It is well known that in every case before it the Chairman of the Corporation is the prosecutor, and rightly or wrongly it is believed that the Magistrate who owes his appointment to his recommendation cannot act generally with independence. It is also a noteworthy fact that the fines realized in this Court generally exceed the estimated receipts under this head in the Municipal Budget and this is a matter which is commented upon both in and out of the Municipality. It has been humourously described by some as a Revenue Department of the Corporation. Some of the cases which came up for revision in the High Court elicited trenchant remarks from the Hon'ble Judges, which were not calculated to raise the Municipal Court in public estimation. Quite recently, as Your Honour is aware, a great hue and cry was raised that the Municipal Magistrate should look for advancement to the influence and patronage of the Chairman of the Corporation. Considering all these circumstances, I would beg leave to suggest that the Municipal Court may be abolished and that the Municipal cases may be tried by the Presidency Magistrates in the Police Court, and I am sure this act of Your Honour will inspire confidence in the administration of justice in Municipal cases.

"Police Charges.—As regards the Police, the allotment for District Police Officers has been raised from Rs. 3,90,000 to Rs. 4,90,000, while that for the Subordinate Police Force has been raised from Rs. 27,30,000 to Rs. 30,84,000, i.e., an increase of 25·64 per cent. in the case of District Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents and 12·96 per cent. in the case of Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, Head-Constables and Constables. Great was the expectation of the public when the Police Commission was appointed. The Police, which, in one sense, ought to be a source of strength to the people and the Government, has unfortunately been a source of discontent to the people. The corruption and oppression of the Police have not a little contributed to this discontent, but it can hardly be expected that the meagre increase of salaries of the subordinate ranks of the Police would lead to any effective reform. Further, the difference in the percentages is so striking that when it is remembered that the higher ranks of the Police service are mostly recruited from persons of European descent and the lower ranks from pure Indians, it is possible that the inference may unhappily be drawn that it is due to considerations of race and creed.

"Police Court Building.—A provision of rupees one lakh has been made in the Budget for Calcutta Police Buildings, but no provision has been made for additions and alterations of the Police Court Building. The existing building is quite unsuited to the requirements of the Court. It is ill-lighted and ill-ventilated, and the Court rooms, especially those of the Honorary Bench, have not sufficient light even in mid-day. People are so cramped and pressed for space that literally speaking there is hardly moving space when the Courts are all sitting. There is no waiting room for witnesses and suitors, and all are huddled together in the verandah, which is packed to its utmost capacity. In short, it is a most unhealthy and insanitary building, quite unworthy of the City. I am sure the necessity of re-modelling the Police Court building is recognized by Your Honour, and that in the course of the year the matter will be taken up and a scheme matured so that the necessary provision may be made in the next Budget

"Presidency College.—I do not wish to take much time by dwelling on the question of Education which I leave to my learned and distinguished colleague the Member for the University.

"I wish to make a few observations on the improvement of the Presidency College, for which Rs. 46,000 have been allotted this year. The question is, whether the College is to be improved in situ or to be transferred to a new site. As far as the costs of the two schemes are concerned, they are roughly estimated to be the same, namely Rs. 20 lakhs. A very large section of the community are strongly of opinion that the College should be retained in its present site and that it should be expanded by the acquisition of land in its neighbourhood. This will have a double effect. In the first place, it will be within easy reach of students residing with their parents or guardians in the Indian section of the town, and it will be in close proximity to the University and other Educational Institutions. In the second place, the acquisition of land in the vicinity will remove a large insanitary area in one of the most congested wards in the town.

"Technical School.—A lump sum of Rs. 35,000 has only been allowed for Technical Education. I feel constrained to say that the grant is not adequate for the growing needs of the country. The salvation of the country depends to a great extent upon the diffusion of Technical Education among the masses. There ought to be Polytechnic Institutions in every important district and centre. True it is that certain additions in this respect have been made to the Sibpore Engineering College, but that College being in an out-of-the-way place, even the people of Calcutta cannot fully avail themselves of its benefits. Calcutta ought to have a Model Technical College within easy reach of its inhabitants.

"In this connection, I desire to draw the attention of Your Honour to the training of artisans and handicraftsmen who have a large field before them. The struggle for existence is keen amongst my countrymen. The clerical appointments are not sufficient for the growing population of the country, the emoluments are too small to meet even the bare necessaries of life. I cannot, therefore, lay too great a stress on the urgency of establishing institutions for imparting practical training in artisanship and handicraft, as is done, though on a small scale, in the Reformatory School for juvenile offenders. Encouragement should be given for the admission of apprentices to the dock-yards, telegraph works and work-shops. Much may be done in this direction if the Engineering Firms could be persuaded to kindly admit into their work-shops Indian youths as apprentices. A very good impetus may be given to this education by the Chairman of the Corporation throwing open the Municipal Workshops to Indian apprentices. The Port Commissioners may also lend their help in this direction. I cannot allow the occasion to pass without referring to the useful work that is being done at the Oxford Mission Industrial School at Ballyganj and at the Technical School established by Messrs. Labchand and Motichand in their Marble House and the Bengal Technical Institute, founded by some of my countrymen, foremost amongst whom stands Mr. T. Palit.

"Free Primary Education.—Sir, the news that the Government of India contemplate to make suitable and requisite assignment for the extension of free Primary Education, has been received with great satisfaction. If any portion of the assignment made to the Government of Bengal is allotted to Calcutta, I pray that the management of the grant be entrusted to the Corporation in the same way as the District Boards and the Municipalities in the Muffassal.

"I need hardly say that the Calcutta Municipality by virtue of its local knowledge will be in a better position to promote the diffusion of Primary Education than any other agency, and that such an arrangement will be welcomed by the people. I am sure, in this matter, I have the support of my hon'ble friend, Mr. Allen.

"High price of Rice.—I am glad that my interpellations as regards the high price of rice and the replies of Your Honour's Government attracted the attention of the Hon'ble the Finance Minister, and he admitted from his seat in the Imperial Council that the poor bhadraloge were the principal sufferers. I regret to observe that the poor bhadraloges constitute a considerable element of the population of Bengal. I am glad to learn from the replies of the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle that Your Honour's Government is aware of the marked rise in prices and is making inquiries to ascertain the cause of the rise. The price was never so high for such a length of time and it seems that in future the high prices will be the chronic condition.

"I might also tell Your Honour that not only the price of rice but also the price of every article of food-stuff has had an unprecedented rise which adds to the misery of the people. They are now in a state of suspense and anxiety for the outturn of the next monsoon harvest and they shudder to contemplate what is in store for them, should the next monsoon prove unfavourable. A solemn and serious responsibility rests with the Government to take timely steps to save the people from the grip of starvation which is looming in the not distant future. I am grateful that Your Honour is alive to the gravity of the situation. I hope the Government will lose no time in publishing the result of their inquiries to allay the public anxiety. I can assure Your Honour of the co-operation of the Public with your Government in the matter. On the initiation of the conductors of the 'Bangabashi' newspaper a very useful Committee has already been formed, with His Highness the Maharajah of Darbhanga as President, to ascertain the causes of the rise and to suggest remedial measures. I have no doubt this Committee will be able to furnish useful information to your Government.

"I take this opportunity to make a suggestion as regards grain compensation allowance. Last year grain compensation was allowed to all whole-time servants of Government on Rs. 30 and less. Never in the history of Bengal the cost of living has been so high as now. The Port Commissioners have allowed grain compensation to all their employees drawing salaries below Rs. 50 a month. It would be an act of kindness on Your Honour's part if Your Honour is graciously pleased to similarly extend the allowance to persons drawing Rs. 50 and less a month in the service of Government.

"The City Improvement.—I cannot allow this occasion to pass without referring to the City Improvement Scheme. The Public have learnt that an official Conference has lately been held in which the financial part of the scheme has been greatly re-modelled. I am sorry to observe that the representatives of the people were not taken into confidence in that Conference, so as to enable Your Honour to judge the question from every aspect. The public are anxiously looking forward for any information which Your Honour may be pleased to vouchsafe on the subject.

"The question of ways and means is agitating the public mind at the present moment. It is well known that the burden which has been imposed upon the Corporation of Calcutta and which is steadily increasing with the growing Municipal needs of the town is already too much for them. With an increasing revenue they are still unable to maintain an equilibrium in their finance. The current year's Budget shows an income of Rs. 74,00,000 and an expenditure of Rs. 76,49,000, and this deficit of Rs. 2,49,000 has been met by drawing upon the accumulated opening balance which has this year dwindled almost to a vanishing point. With the continually increasing cost of living in Calcutta which is complained of both by Europeans and Indians and also with the continually increasing assessment, any further increase in the rates of the City will be a disaster to the people. Sir, overtaxation is the seed of discontent. However strong may be the sympathy of our Rulers, however anxious they may be to bring about a better understanding between themselves and those under their rule, all their endeavours will be fruitless, when people groan under taxation and curse their fate in utter helplessness.

"The structural defect of the town, as has been amply shewn in Mr. Justice Trevelyan's Report, is a legacy made over to the Corporation of Calcutta by Government who neglected to remedy it when it could have been easily done at a nominal cost. The Corporation have done unaided all that they could do. Since the administration of Calcutta was made over to them in 1862, hundreds of lakhs have been spent on the improvement of the City. Numerous roads have been opened out and any one who had seen Calcutta 50 or even 20 years ago cannot recognize it now. The rapid strides of improvement would have continued had it not been for the amalgamation of the Suburbs with Calcutta in 1889. More than a hundred lakhs have been devoted to the improvement of the amalgamated area and several lakhs have still to be spent both on the Suburbs and the fringe area. This has crippled the resources of the Corporation and the structural improvements have not therefore proceeded at the same rapid pace as before.

"Further, the new law has imposed upon the Corporation the continuous Water-supply system. The water-supply is notoriously defective. The continuous supply which should have been completed within the statutory period of five years, is yet far from being completed, though we are now at the end of the seventh year. While the City is clamouring for water we are compelled to give away water to the outside Municipalities. All this has necessitated a new scheme for additional water-supply, which will cost another 50 lakhs. These and several other important works, which are too numerous to enumerate, will entail the imposition of additional burdens upon the rate-payers, and I am afraid that any further addition to the burden on account of the City Improvement Scheme will be the last straw to break the camel's back. This question was carefully considered by the Trevelyan Commission and they observed;—

'House owners in Calcutta have to bear taxation out of proportion to the burdens which are placed upon the shoulders of owners of other classes of property.'

"They accordingly recommended the imposition of a Jute-tax at one anna per maund on jute exported from Calcutta and used in the neighbouring Mills which they calculated would produce about 16 lakhs a year. They also observed that 'much might be done if the Government made over to the Corporation a substantial portion of Canal Dues and Excise Revenue levied in Calcutta.' The London County Council gets a substantial contribution from the English Exchequer. The Bombay Municipality receives the Excise Revenue from the Government. May not the rate-payers of Calcutta appeal to Your Honour for a similar annual contribution for the improvement of the City which is the seat not only of the Imperial, but also of the Provincial, Government? I find Your Honour has granted in this year's Budget half a lakh to the Darjeeling Municipality, the summer seat of Your Honour's Government. May not a similar favour in proportion to its needs and importance be shown to the City which is the capital seat of Your Honour's Government?

"Decentralization.—Year before last Your Honour was pleased to state in the Council that you were considering the question of decentralization of Municipal Corporation work in Calcutta. You were pleased to admit that the work was enormous and a great deal of local agency was lost by endeavouring to do the work by the central authority only. Your Honour further announced that you had appointed a representative Committee to consider the matter and that on the receipt of the report of the Committee you would deal with the matter promptly. Two years have passed since Your Honour made the pronouncement and we are yet in the dark as to the report of the Committee and the intention of the Government on the subject.

"Your Honour is aware that about a year ago the District Committees were formed and that it has been held by high authorities that they are illegal. Mr. Greer, while in this Council, stated that legislation would be necessary to give effect to his scheme of decentralization. But nothing has been done in that direction and the District Committees continue without being vested with any legal authority. I, for my part, recognize the usefulness of the District Committee. Divested, as the present Corporation is, of much of its representative character, it cannot be expected to be cognizant of the wants and wishes of the rate-payers and the urgent local necessities of districts as the District Commissioners sitting within their own districts and discussing matters among themselves. The requirements of a district are better discussed and threshed out in the District Committee with the Executive Head of the District in their midst than in a big Corporation meeting where local questions attract little or no attention. Unfortunately, the District Committees have no legal status and have no functions defined by law, and it is my experience that the General Committee refuse to recognize the deliberations of the District Committees as they are not appointed by them.

"In the absence of any legal status, the deliberations of the District Committees are confined to such matters as the Chairman may choose to commit to them from time to time; in fact they practically exist on the sufferance of the Chairman. The usefulness of the District Committees is not therefore fully brought into play, and the local experience of Ward Commissioners cannot therefore be utilized to the fullest extent. Such a state of things cannot conduce to efficient administration.

"In this connection, I cannot help mentioning that the constitution of the General Committee is such that the elected Commissioners are in a perpetual minority. Of the 50 Commissioners who constitute the Corporation, one-half is elected by the rate-payers and it is but fair and just that the General Committee should be so formed that at least half the members should be representatives of the elected Commissioners. As at present constituted, out of 12 members of the General Committee, the proportion of Commissioners elected by the rate-payers to the other half is 4 to 8 excluding the official Chairman, who is also the Chairman of the General Committee. Such a constitution cannot fail to be unsatisfactory, and I am sure Your Honour will recognize it. I confidently hope, in view of the declared wishes of the Government of the day, that an advance will be made on the lines of greater expansion of representative Government, and that this anomaly will be soon removed and greater trust will be imposed upon the people, which is the surest way to inspire confidence in the intentions of Government.

"River-side Roads, Ghâts and Landing-stages.—While speaking on the affairs of the City, I deem it my duty to bring to Your Honour's notice the grievances of the public in the matter of ghâts and landing-stages and roads in the jurisdiction of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, to the north of the Hooghly Bridge. The Strand Bank Roads are in a broken condition, full of ruts, holes and depressions. The space just below the ghâts has silted up, and at ebb-tide the bathers tumble over the pitfalls and hollows and heaps on the river bank. The landings for dinghy passengers are broken, and a portion of Strand Bank Road on the north has sunk and is in a dangerous condition. The Government has delegated its function for the preservation and maintenance of ghâts, landing-stages and roads, on the river side, to the Port Commissioners. May I crave Your Honour to move the Port Commissioners to take necessary steps to remove the grievances complained of.

"Malarious Tracts.—Year after year, Hon'ble Members representing the different constituencies have dwelt upon the unhealthy condition of the towns and villages of Bengal. Outside Calcutta people are smitten down by malaria and cholera, which not only levy a heavy yearly tribute upon the population but have debilitated the constitution of the people of Bengal. Enlarged livers and spleens and anæmic bodies are common sights outside the boundaries of Calcutta. Some of the fairest and most flourishing districts of Bengal have been laid low by the ravages of cholera and fever within the life time of a generation. A moral responsibility rests upon the Government to save the lives of the people. Just as the Government rears up an efficient Army and Navy for the protection of the people, so it is the bounden duty of the Government to whom Providence has committed our destinies, to take measures for the eradication of those insanitary conditions which conduce to enfeeble and to enervate and even to exterminate the population.

"It is commonly believed that the obstruction or diversion of the natural drainage of the country and the silting up of the rivers and channels of the Gangetic Delta leading to the gradual obliteration of the sources of pure water-supply are the fruitful causes of malaria and cholera. The congestion of Calcutta is due to the influx of population into the City owing to the dread of malaria and cholera outside. I understand Government have appointed a Commission to consider and report upon the causes of Malaria in the Presidency Division to suggest means for its prevention. We are all awaiting the Report in great expectation of vigorous steps being taken to rid the outskirts of Calcutta of the scourge.

"Health Resorts.—I am grateful to acknowledge that Your Honour takes a personal interest in the matter of establishing health resorts for the people. Large sums of money have been spent on Frasergunge, but owing to several difficulties it cannot be conveniently availed of by my countrymen. Diamond Harbour is a healthy place where my wearied and jaded countrymen after a week's hard toil can easily repair for relaxation and invigoration. It is a khasmahal property and Government can easily improve it for utilization as building sites. I am sure, the Hon'ble Mr. Collin will extend his sympathetic help in the matter and I appeal to Your Honour, in the name of my countrymen, to make a grant for the improvement of Diamond Harbour, which will serve the same purpose to Indians as Frasergunge to Europeans. The grateful thanks of the Hindu community, not only of Bengal but of the whole of India are due to Your Honour for the grant of Rs. 75,000 for the improvement of drainage of that ancient and venerated place of pilgrimage, Puri. I hope the grant will be continued till the improvement of drainage and water-supply of that town, which is now also a health resort of the Europeans, is completed."

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I regret that, owing to illness, the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram is unable to attend and to deliver his own speech; but he has requested that it should be laid on the table. This has been done; and copies of it are in the hands of Hon'ble Members."

The Hon'ble Mr. BERTRAM said:—"Your Honour, I am sorry that under section 2 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, and the Rules of the 7th February, 1893, made thereunder, the Members of the Council are not permitted to propose a Resolution or divide the Council in respect of any discussion on the Financial Statement, nor, under rule 5, is it permissible to enter upon a criticism of Imperial Finance. Perhaps this unfortunate state of things, which robs the debate in this Council of all semblance of active life in a matter of such vital importance as the Provincial Budget, may yet be altered in consequence of the proposals drafted by the Council of His Excellency the Governor General and which, one learns from the public press, are now under the consideration of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State.

"I ask, what has Government to lose by a full and free discussion of its measures and methods. In this Council there is an official majority, and in case of a tie Your Honour has a casting vote, and for a non-official Member to carry a resolution or an amendment to the Budget, he must indeed have a very strong case to put forward. Our privilege, or, I might perhaps more properly put it, our duty is 'to make observations,' and our role therefore is to be critics, though not necessarily hostile or unfriendly critics, of Government. It is in this spirit I propose to criticise the Statement the Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh has laid on the table.

"I see from the Statement laid before us that the settlement effected with the Government of India as the result of the Partition of Bengal was based on a revenue of Rs. 4,67,01,000 to which the Supreme Government added Rs. 7,39,000 as a fixed assignment to meet a total Provincial expenditure of Rs. 4,74,40,000.

"The year 1907-08 is expected to show an improvement of Rs. 31,23,000 on the normal revenue, or say 6¾ %, which appears satisfactory, and makes it clear that Bengal is not a poverty-stricken Province.

"The net amount available for expenditure is shown as Rs. 5,41,42,000, of which it is proposed to spend Rs. 53,68,600, leaving Rs. 4,56,000 still available for allotment in excess of the minimum working balance and the money ear-marked for the Calcutta Improvement Trust.

"Investment of Surplus Funds.—I would like to point out a new source of Revenue to Government, should Your Honour care to pursue it. If the net opening balance of Rs. 41,14,000, which includes the minimum working balance of Rs. 20,00,000, together with any surplus monies at the credit of Government, which cannot immediately or at an early date be applied to the purposes set forth in the Budget, say the following sums in particular:—

		Rs.
Sunderbans Reclamation ...	... ...	1,50,000
Steamer for Commissioner of Sunderbans	...	50,000
Survey of Sunderbans ...	... ...	90,000
Steamer for Forest Department	... ...	8,000
Acquisition of land for extension of Jails	...	28,000
Second Cruiser for Sandheads	... ...	4,00,000
Steam-launch to replace the launch Florence	...	13,000
Buildings for Guru training School	... ...	95,000
Civil Works in charge of P. W. D.	... ...	18,47,000
Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers ...	...	4,57,000
Irrigation Minor Works ...	... ...	3,27,000
or a total of Rs.	...	34,65,000
or say in all a sum of	...	75,79,000

was deposited at interest in the Bank of Bengal on short Loan, say at 14 days' notice, or invested in the same way as the funds of the Corporation of Calcutta are under section 119 (2) of Bengal Act III of 1899, Government might benefit considerably and probably earn two or three lakhs, at least, yearly as interest and this would be absolutely 'found money.' I throw out the suggestion for what it may be worth. If Government advice is good for the Corporation of Calcutta, it naturally follows it is good for the prescribing authority. Rupees 2 or 3 lakhs cannot be called a trifle even to a wealthy Government like the Government of India, let alone to the Government of Bengal.

"The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh may tell me again (as he has already told me Gin his office) that Government does not do these things, but my reply to him is, that it is not wise to persist in folly and to carelessly throw away opportunities to administer the public funds to the best advantage. At the present time the unemployed funds of Government might be earning probably 7 per cent. on short deposit. In passing, perhaps, I may be permitted to refer to the recently published accounts of the Victoria Memorial Fund, to show what can be done in the way of earning interest on Surplus Funds.

"Revenue.—I would like here to draw attention to one or two items on the Revenue side of the Provincial Ledger.

"Excise.—It is with much regret I see the increase of Rs. 3,60,000 in the Excise receipts over the previous year. The continued raising of duties and the pressure on the part of the Excise authorities to show more revenue must mean that bad liquor is vended at the grog-shops. If people must have strong drink, better that it should be good and wholesome, even if Government gets less duty. The policy of Government to stop drinking by raising duties is, in my opinion, a vicious one. Better far to shut up half the grog-shops in Bengal, if Government is honestly determined to make people sober by 'Act of Parliament.' Their action would then be applauded by the country. Later on, half the remaining grog-shops could be closed. The average man does not drink strong liquor wantonly. If a grog-shop is near, he will go to it, but I suppose in this country at least men will not go 3 or 4 miles for a glass of liquid poison. My constituents who are interested in Coal tell me the grog-shops are the curse of the Coal districts. I am glad to say I am heartily in sympathy with the Calcutta Temperance Federation, and hope that Government will hand over the licensing of drink shops in Calcutta to the Corporation as the Local Licensing Authority.

"Forests.—Then there is the important subject of Forest Revenue. It is generally believed in non-official circles that if a more vigorous policy on commercial lines was pursued by the Forest Department better results would accrue from sales of timber and forest produce. No doubt this important subject has Your Honour's constant attention.

"Jail Manufactures.—Show an increase in estimated receipts of Rs. 21,000. It is to be hoped this is not caused by undue and unfair competition with private enterprise.

"Hospitals.—I now turn to the expenditure side of the Provincial Budget for 1907-08 and congratulate Your Honour's Government on the generous provision made for Hospitals. I notice it is proposed to spend during the year the following sums on the three great hospitals of Calcutta :—

		Rs.
Medical College	... ...	4,56,000
Campbell Hospital	... ...	2,45,000
General Hospital	... ...	1,00,000
	or altogether ...	8,01,000

"Port Hospital Dues.—I am sorry to say complaints had been made by the shipping that European sailors cannot get accommodation readily at the Presidency General Hospital, notwithstanding that they have a preferential right by virtue of their employers paying Port Hospital Dues. To obviate this in future, I venture to suggest that a special block be built for sailors (with private rooms for officers) and be maintained entirely at the cost of the Port Hospital Dues Fund, the proceeds of which are specifically ear-marked for the benefit of European sailors. Owners of vessels visiting this Port have to pay these dues, and are desirous that full use should be made of their money, so far as allowed by law. I would here mention that sick officers have to be paid for separately, though the vessels on which they are employed have already paid Hospital Dues.

"The Mayo Hospital and Howrah Hospital also have claims on ship-owners. While the last-mentioned gets a grant, I understand the first-named gets nothing from the Fund, and I would suggest that the Port Act be amended so that the Lieutenant-Governor can give to Hospitals treating sick lascars the benefit of the Port Hospital Dues, as so many of the vessels in the Calcutta foreign trade carry lascar crews and the men are not all residents of Calcutta, or of Bengal for the matter of that.

"While on the subject of the Hospital Dues, I again put forward the demand that interest be allowed on the funds in the hands of Government, as it is trust money and not a portion of the General Revenue of the Province.

"Houses for Officials.—I am sure we are all glad to see that the superior Officers of Government in Calcutta and Howrah are to have houses provided for them, but what is to be done for the inferior, though no less hardworking, servants of the public? On them the burden of the high rents ruling in Calcutta and Howrah presses with greater severity.

"Plassey Obelisk.—I am sorry I cannot approve of the proposed expenditure of Rs. 25,000 in providing an Obelisk at the 'Plassey' battlefield. This might well be cut out with advantage. It is not politic, I think, to signalize this one battlefield for special distinction, especially at the present time, above all others. No Obelisk is needed to record the battle. History is a sufficient record, and if it has taken 150 years to evolve the idea of an Obelisk, it shows that our predecessors in Bengal did not consider such a thing needful.

"Pilot Cruiser.—The Pilot steamer Fraser is again off her station, and my constituents, therefore, appreciate the provision for the second Pilot cruiser for the Sandheads, and every effort should be made to get it on its station as early as possible. The periodical removal of the Fraser causes great inconvenience to shipping, especially as the advantages of wireless telegraphy with the Sandheads are felt by the community as a real step in advance.

"Agricultural College.—The provision of an Agricultural College at Bhagulpur is no doubt a wise measure, and also the extension of the Veterinary Institutes at Belgatchia is necessary, but it is much to be regretted that no provision is made for the establishment of model farms in various parts of Bengal, say for fruit in Behar or dairy and grass farms near Calcutta or in Jessore, where an improved class of cattle could be evolved from the local type. It is the indigenous animal we want improved. The Allahabad results show what can be done with Country cattle.

"Agricultural Department.—I venture to congratulate the Agricultural Department of Bengal on the very excellent work done for the period of 15 months from 1st April, 1905, to 30th June, 1906, as detailed in the last report of the Department.

"The results brought out by the use of bone meal and saltpetre as manure for paddy are marvellous, and the results of the cultivation of jute and paddy as successive crops on the same land open up vast possibilities for the ryot of Bengal.

"Government cannot spend too much money on pushing their experimental farms. It is a truism to say that the prosperity of the agriculturist is the test of the prosperity of the Province. In improved agriculture is bound up the well-being of the whole community. The examples of all progressive countries cannot be neglected in Bengal. The soil lends itself to kind cultivation and will give a bounteous return to good treatment. The country looks with confidence to Government to do all in its power to aid the agricultural development of the Province. There is a good market for every maund of produce raised in Bengal, and the need of increasing the outturn of food-grains is patent to the most casual observer.

"In connection with raising the material well-being of the ryot, I would press earnestly on Government the necessity of granting loans to cultivator at moderate rates of interest, and I look forward to the day when there will be a great Agricultural Bank with Government capital invested in it. Bengal is years behind Egypt in this respect.

"Roads.—Allied with agriculture is the subject of roads, and I venture to suggest that the contributions to District Boards for the upkeep of main roads in the Mufussal might be on a more liberal scale, and that special grants might also be made for the construction of new roads, as I understand that in many places the opening up of the country, bordering on newly-constructed lines of railway, is being hindered by the want of suitable roads giving access to the railway station.

"Water-works.—The proposed allotments in aid of sundry Water-works in the larger Provincial towns are to be commended: good potable water is a necessity of life. While on the subject of water, I think Government might in future years devote funds to assist Union Committees in sinking artesian wells in villages, so as to strike perennial water. Small villages cannot afford Water-works, but artesian wells are cheap and, if systematically exploited, the benefit to the people would be incalculable.

"Government has only to turn to Australia to see what can be done by the aid of artesian wells in the way of providing drinking-water and water for irrigation. The terrible outbreaks of cholera in the Mufussal are all to be attributed to people drinking foul or stagnant water. In many places they can get nothing else, and surely Government will do all in its power to keep its people alive and healthy.

"Police.—It is satisfactory to find that Government is doing something for the Police, who, generally speaking, are an under-paid but hard-working body of men—good pay usually attracts good men, which makes for good service. The public will watch the Police reform with real interest The entry in the Budget of Rs. 25,000 for 'House allowance and Local allowance of Personal Assistant to Inspector-General and Deputy Inspector-General of Police and of other officers of the Criminal Investigation Department' is a lot of money and wants some explanation.

"Monuments and Antiquities.—Out of the grant for Monuments and Antiquities I hope some small sum will be spared to thoroughly renovate the marbles, brasses and historical tombs in St. John's Church, Calcutta, and in this connection perhaps His Excellency the Viceroy will supply a new bust of his ancestor, the Governor-General, to take the place of the bust which fell down and and was broken to pieces in the earthquake of 1897. It was under the first Earl of Minto, that the Church was enlarged and re-opened for Divine worship.

"I fear I have taken up the time of the Council for an undue length of time, but the Budget discussion is the one opportunity we have during the year to bring 'burning subjects' prominently to the notice of Government. I will now, therefore, turn to a few subjects that Government might deal with generously during the coming year.

"Fish.—We have to thank Your Honour for the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta's fish inquiry, for the further prosecution of which Rs. 50,000 have been allotted. We look for great eventual results from that inquiry, and I ask Your Honour to see that energetic and sustained progress is made in opening up, in particular, the valuable fisheries on the sea face of Bengal and Orissa. We want Your Honour's Government to emulate the Government of the United States of America and be 'aggressive' in your methods and to start works for dealing with fish and its various by-products, so that in time valuable trades can be worked up.

"The jute industry of Bengal can take thousands of maunds of 'Swadeshi' fish oil for batching. Japan finds it profitable to catch herrings and export the oil therefrom to India, for use in our jute mills. Private enterprise in Bengal in this business is non-existent. Following the example of other enlightened Governments, Your Honour's Government might show the way here The residue after the oil is extracted would form a valuable manure, and would no doubt find ready buyers all over the country.

"In connection with fish, is it too much to expect that Your Honour will press the Eastern Bengal State Railway to equip their line with some properly insulated wagons to bring down the valuable fish caught at Goalundo and Diamond Harbour? At present, hundreds of maunds of magnificent fish have to be thrown away as unfit for human consumption, owing to inadequate means of bringing it fresh to market.

"Tigers.—Another subject I desire to bring to Your Honour's notice today is the unbusiness-like way of getting rid of 'man-eating' tigers in Bengal. It seems that till quite a number of people are killed, no real interest is taken in the matter by the local authorities. Quite recently a 'man-eating' tiger roamed the Kodarma Reserved Forest, and during two years some 52 people, I understand, were disposed of, without counting cattle. Eventually a large reward was offered, and a man on the East Indian Railway killed the scourge of the district. But what I want to know is this. Is it not the duty of the Police (or the Magistrate, who is the Head of the Police) to take steps to exterminate any tiger, or leopard, who is known to have killed a human being, and not wait till a number of people are killed before working up a reward to encourage a 'shikari' to try his luck? I should think the most sensible way is to offer the maximum reward at once immediately the existence of the objectionable brute is known.

"If a human murderer were at large, the whole strength of the Police would be interested in tracking him down. I ask for this policy to be pursued in the case of a 'man-eating' tiger, and I trust Your Honour will give the matter some little attention during the official year, which is now young. Force is given to what I have said by what was written in the 'Indian Forester' for January, 1907:—

'MAN EATING SCOURGES.

'The "Indian Forester" for January has an article on the mortality from wild animal in India which contains a number of valuable suggestions regarding the best means for waging war on man-eating tigers and leopards. Apart from the interest the subject will necessarily have for sportsmen, it is, we think, one of sufficient importance to receive the closer attention of Government. In the last Resolution issued by the Government of India, the number of people reported as having been killed by tigers and leopards was 786 and 401, respectively. This heavy mortality was, there can be no doubt, in a great measure due to the amount of rope given to animals which were known to have acquired a taste for human flesh, the only steps taken by the autorities to rid affected districts of these scourrges being to issue special licenses to 'shikaries' for their destruction, with what success may be gathered from the fact that in the Mandla district of the Central Provinces twenty-six such licenses were issued during the year to forest officials and police constables for the destruction of carnivora with a net result of two wounded tigers.—C and M Gazette.'

"Provincial Finance.—Though the Members of this Council are precluded from criticising Imperial Finance, we are not prevented from discussing Provincial Finance. It seems to me we should not be indebted to the Government of India for all our needs, if a proper system of decentralized finance were introduced.

"This Province has many wants which can only be supplied at great first cost or after great delay for want of funds, and consequently projects, good in themselves, are unnecessarily and indefinitely postponed and the Province suffers. Cannot Your Honour approach the Government of India with a proposal to be allowed to raise Local or Provincial loans with an Imperial guarantee, if necessary, and to be paid off by a Sinking Fund? These would not add permanently to the indebtedness of the country. In this connection, might I venture to draw Your Honour's attention to section 158 (3) of Bengal Act III of 1899, which to my mind is peculiarly suited to Provincial loans, and is on quite up-to-date lines?

"Tolly's Nullah Canal.—There is the project of the new Tolly's Nullah Canalization Scheme which is still under reference backwards and forwards, so one understands, between the Governments of India and Bengal—and apparently 'want of funds' stands in the way of progress. Surely the various Governments concerned, that is India, Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam, do not want to be told times out of number that it is a project of first rate importance to the commerce of the two Bengals and Assam, and should be vigorously pushed on without further procrastination and delay. If the Governments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam had the power to raise loans, the direct aid of the Government of India would not be required.

"In consequence of the shilly-shally policy about this Canal, Your Honour's Public Works Department do little or nothing to keep Tolly's Nullah open for regular navigation, even for the smallest boats. The merchants of Chetla are bitter in their complaints, and see no early amelioration of the present unsatisfactory state of things.

"Government and the Eastern Bengal State Railway.—One cannot think for a moment that, as the Government of India own the Eastern Bengal State Railway, their policy is to force merchants to use that railway and its connections and its southern branch in preference to sending their goods by boat. I would draw Your Honour's attention to the weighty remarks of the Chairman of the India General Navigation and Railway Co., delivered at the half-yearly meeting in London in May last, which perhaps you may have seen:—

'The Hon'ble Mr. J. Chaudhuri, to whom I referred at our meeting last year, said the other day in the Legislative Council of Bengal: "I see no reason why we should not spend as much of our Provincial resources as may be available for the improvement of our waterways, instead of blocking them up in unprofitable brick and mortar. We should also ask the Government of India, so far as it is beyond our resources, to undertake the improvement of our waterways out of borrowed capital." This is a sentiment we may cordially subscribe to, as the good of the country is bound up with the development of our own special enterprise, which can only prosper in aiding the cause of more efficient and cheaper transport.'

"While referring to the question of minimum railway rates and the rivalry between Bombay and Calcutta for the trade lying in the interior between them, the Hon'ble Mr. Nimmo pointed out that Bengal was trying to recover business that had been seduced away from it over the railways to Bombay by questionable devices. It seems to me that the Hon'ble gentleman might show that there is a simple means by which Calcutta could draw a vast amount of freight to the Eastern side of the Continent and away from the Western. The natural routes to the East are the large rivers, and if only Government took seriously in hand the improvement of the channels of the Ganges, even if railway rates were left as they are, Calcutta would gain an enormous accession of trade by means of cheaper water carriage. Your fleet is being kept fully up to the mark, and the new vessels which have been added show better results than those which went before them, being larger carriers with comparatively cheaper working charge.

"Now, what are the means by which we can achieve this end, and maintain our river services against the constantly growing railway competition? It can be done, and can be done thoroughly, but there is only one way—we must be able to carry larger cargoes for the same, or even for less, money than we do now, and this can be achieved by loading our vessels deeper. We can load our vessels deeper only if we have the water to run them in. It is for this reason we have been doing our best to urge the Government of India to adopt the policy of other countries, not in our interest alone, but with it in the much wider interest of the whole community, which must gain an enormous advantage by the cheapening of carriage. From a narrow point of view, and at first sight, the cheapening of water carriage might be taken to mean a decrease in the earnings of the Railways, but in practice this has not been found to be the result, for cheapening of transport by whatever means attained, has invariably been accompanied by such largely increased development in all directions that every means of transport has prospered in consequence. It has been said that it is the last foot in the draft of a vessel that pays. And that is quite true. When I tell you that during a great portion of the year our vessels are unable to load full cargoes, you will imagine what that means! Could they load up a foot deeper, the whole of the extra freight carried would be profit after deduction of a small extra allowance for coal?

"There is another point where much can be done to help navigation, namely, the shortening of routes. I think we have shown the Government conclusively that the route between Calcutta and Goalundo by water can be easily shortened by 266 miles; between Calcutta and Narainganj and Cachar by 197 miles; and between Calcutta and the North-West by 425 miles; this can be done by the expenditure of a very moderate capital outlay, which would be highly remunerative to Government from the tolls they would receive—if, indeed they were advised to take tolls at all for preserving and opening up the great natural water roads which the country possesses. I may add that I see in the Engineering Supplement of The Times an account of one large dredger which the Government of India have ordered from Messrs. William Simons & Co., of Renfrew. We understand that three such dredgers are going out, and we look forward with very great and pleasurable anticipation to the work they will perform in those rivers. not only to our benefit, but, as I say, to the benefit of the whole of the country.

"On behalf of the Commercial community of Bengal, both European and Indian, I ask Your Honour to vigorously support the demand for the canalization of Tolly's Nullah, and to see that the Government of India pushes on with the work.

"Railway Facilities, Sara Ghât and Wagons.—The perennial subjects of improved railway facilities. the Sara Ghat Bridge and the scarcity of wagons have been fully dealt with by the President of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar, C.S.I., in the Supreme Council, and I only refer to them here to say that the Province over which Your Honour rules is suffering grievous loss by all these drawbacks to trade.

"Damuda River Improvement.—A demand has been put forward that an alternative route is wanted for bringing down coal from the districts where it is raised. The Damuda river is said to offer facilities, if they are properly utilized. I suggest Your Honour takes up the canalization of this river as a Provincial work, for we cannot expect the Government of India to look with favour on such a project, as they own outright the East Indian Railway, and in due time will also become the proprietors of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. I refer Your Honour to what is being done in Belgium, France, Germany, Russia and the United States of America to cheapen transport by utilizing water communication to the utmost. Such a project, as I have ventured to outline, might be financed by a local loan floated in the manner I have already indicated

"Calcutta Improvement Trust.—There is one subject of absorbing interest to Calcutta, and we are all waiting to see the Calcutta Improvement Trust ushered into being. Can Your Honour yet take the public into your confidence? We shall know of the burdens imposed on the trade of the town and on the rate-payers of Calcutta quick enough. Can Your Honour tell us to-day when the necessary legislation to inaugurate the Trust will be introduced into this Council?"

The Hon'ble MR. SPINK said:—"Your Honour, it is a matter for congratulation that the Financial Statement laid before us discloses steady and marked prosperity in the Province, five lakhs of the increase of revenue over the estimates having arisen from such staple sources as Stamps, Excise, Assessed Taxes, Registration and Irrigation.

"It is a somewhat difficult task to effectively criticise the accounts from the Statement laid before us, and I do not propose to do so in detail; but I would venture to suggest that the Government should, in forthcoming annual statements, set out the actual results of at least three previous years, so as to enable Members of this Council, by comparison of the revenue and expenditure for these periods, to form a more correct estimate of public requirements, and the possibility of adequately satisfying these requirements from the revenue.

"Passing to a few of the prominent features of the Budget, it is to be regretted that the Government have not made a larger appropriation to Technical Education. The country is rapidly developing along every line, and though no doubt University Education have its great advantages, the Government should use every endeavour to encourage the practical possibilities of the people and Technical Education might, with advantage, receive closer attention and fuller aid from Government. The necessity of giving more generous support to this branch of education was strongly urged upon the authorities by my predecessor, the Hon'ble Mr. Larmour, in his Budget speech in 1905, and his views received Your Honour's cordial support; one, therefore, views the small allotment under this head with considerable disappointment.

"The Government has been addressed from time to time by the Association which I have the honour to represent, on the subject of Jail Manufactures. From the Statement before us, the cost of Jail Administration is set down roughly as 24 lakhs, and the revenue yielded by the Jails appears to be 12½ lakhs. A reference to the figures for the preceding years shows that the revenue from this source, instead of showing a decrease, marks a steady rise from year to year. We know that this matter is now receiving the careful attention of the Governments of India and Bengal, and I trust that the discussion of the various issues that have arisen in connection with the competition of jail industries with private enterprise and which are so clearly set forth in the Government of India's letter, No. 153 of 10th August last, will lead to a settlement satisfactory to the parties concerned.

"Few of the appropriations set out in the Budget will, I heartily believe, meet with greater approval than those in connection with hospital and medical needs in this City, and we have to thank Your Honour that these have been meted out with no mean hand. Owing to these liberal grants, and also to the generous allotments to Calcutta Charities from Her Excellency Lady Minto's Fancy Fête Fund, Calcutta will begin to realize that her wants are at least receiving the recognition they deserve, and we shall shortly see the paying patients' wards, both in the General and Medical Hospitals, available for the purposes for which they are so much needed.

"The want of much more accommodation for Small-pox patients has been keenly felt for some years past during which the disease has been so terribly prevalent in Calcutta; the extension of the Campbell Hospital is a step in the right direction, but it is to be hoped Government will not rest satisfied with this somewhat tardy recognition of the City's needs in this particular direction.

"It is to be hoped that the Government will devote its close attention to the improvement of the water-ways of Bengal. The network of navigable rivers intersecting the Province, if efficiently policed and otherwise rendered navigable for vessels, would do much to free the railways from their overburden of traffic, and would lessen the price of raw materials and food-stuffs now ruling in this Province. The present high prices of food-stuffs has fallen heavily upon the commercial and trading community in Calcutta, who have been compelled to grant increased wages of their employés, whilst it has also caused much suffering and distress to the people. The Government might, with advantage, examine the question of the Water-ways of Bengal and see if this amelioration would not tend to cheapen the prices of these commodities. The expenditure on Rivers and Canals is so small as to lead to the conclusion that the matter has not received the attention which it needs from the hands of the Government.

"The allotment of 50 lakhs to the much-needed scheme for the improvement of this City leads us to hope that the subject will receive the very early and energetic attention of this Government. To handle the problem in a bold and wholehearted way, much further assistance will be required, and it is to be hoped that Government will see its way to deal this out with no niggardly hand in future Budgets.

"The extension of the High Court buildings, for which I see a grant of Rs. 1,30,000 has been made, will be welcomed by all whose business calls them there, either as willing or unwilling visitors. The entire absence of any accommodation whatever for jurymen, witnesses, etc., has long been felt as a very distinct grievance by a class of the community who have, mostly against their will, to spend many valuable hours in its crowded courts and corridors and I strongly urge that under no circumstances should their claim for decen and commodious waiting-rooms be overlooked. It would be a boon to many also who come considerable distances and have not time to return home, if some accommodation could be found for a restaurant where lunches could be obtained in the brief midday interval granted by the Court.

"I notice that a sum of Rs. 23,000 is allotted for Smoke Nuisance charges in the coming year. Not very much progress has so far been made in reducing the volume of murky clouds which pour over the Strand Road during the cold weather months. Judging by my own limited experience of the Commission's activities, particular attention has been paid by the Inspectors to some of the smaller industries in the City, but the greater sinners on the Howrah shore still puff their pestilential clouds over the just and the unjust in the City to the detriment of its health and cleanliness. It may be presumed, however, that steps will be taken to remedy this defect."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—"May it please Your Honour—Before I begin my observations on the Budget, Your Honour will allow me to thank you for the announcement just now made that Your Honour's Government has, in difference to public opinion, desired to postpone the consideration of the Local Self-Government Bill. We are grateful to Your Honour for recognizing the justice of the contention that has been put forward for many years past to devote the Road Cess to its original purposes. I had taken the liberty on an earlier occasion to call Your Honour's attention to the violation of the assurance which the Government had given when introducing the Road Cess Act. It seldom falls to the lot of a critic of Government measures to see, during his life-time, the reform advocated by him carried out. To me and to the whole country Your Honour's announcement will come as an agreeable surprise, and I can assure Your Honour that it will greatly enhance the prestige of Your Honour's Government for the courage of its convictions in the sincerity of its purpose.

"The Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh deserves our congratulations for the prosperous Budget he has been privileged to lay before the Council. I wish, however, it was possible to relax the official mould in which the Financial Statement is cast, so that we, humbler mortals, not accustomed to deal with a solid array of figures, might approach it with a sense of greater ease and freedom. I am afraid I am guilty of impertinence in making this observation, but I can only plead that I voice the feeling of the lay public. I must, however, exonerate the Hon'ble Mr. McIntosh from any responsibility for the sphinx-like impassiveness of the Budget, for I recognize the difficulty of deviating from a stereotyped form.

"Budget Details.—We have to thank Your Honour for the opportunity that was afforded us of discussing the anticipatory Budget tentatively, with the Financial Secretary. I hope the precedent set by Your Honour, will develope with growing years, and non-official Members of Your Honour's Council, without any distinction, will be allowed the privilege of submitting their suggestions in writing before the Budget is finally framed.

"Sir, I am in the fullest sympathy with the public in its desire to see Budget debates curtailed, but this is the only occasion when the whole administration may be reviewed and non-official Members are naturally anxious to utilize the opportunity. I must frankly admit that though our speeches have not often times been over-conducive to a wakeful interest in the proceedings in the close atmosphere of the Council Chamber, we have always received the most considerate attention from Your Honour and our Official Colleagues, who have bravely fought against the ennui of the whole proceedings. I shall try not to abuse this indulgence and to be as brief as I can in the few observations that I wish to make on this occasion.

"Divided Interest.—I have the honour to sit in this Council as the representative of the University of Calcutta, which embraces the entire Province as it used to be before October, 1905. There are various questions of great importance connected with the Educational Administration of the several Provinces on which I would wish to speak, but that may not be, not until the 'settled fact' of official parlance is unsettled by the united effort of an entire community.

"Re-organization Scheme.—Sir, the re-organization scheme of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services has been published, and I must thank the Government on behalf of my unhappy countrymen engaged in the work of Education for the relief, however inadequate, given to them: but the number of appointments in the Provincial Service which begins with the grade of Rs. 200 rising to and ending with the grade of Rs. 700 a month, is only 112, distributed over 8 grades. The lowest or the eighth grade was fixed in Bengal at Rs. 150 a month as one of our distinguished Directors of Public Instruction thought that we in Bengal would get plenty of good graduates for Rs. 150 a month, though the grade carried a salary of Rs. 200 a month in the other Provinces where graduates were not so plentiful as in Bengal: in restoring to the grade, the pay originally intended for it, the Government has done what is after all tardy justice.

"Leaving the Provincial branch of the Education Service and going down the ladder into the Subordinate Educational Service, we find 615 appointments distributed over 8 grades, beginning with Rs. 50 a month and ending with Rs. 250. The only relief to this branch has been the creation of a few more appointments, which, so far as the lower grades are concerned, will serve to retard promotion.

"Coming further down to the lower Subordinate Educational Service, we have 950 appointments distributed over 5 grades, commencing at Rs. 15 and ending at Rs. 45. This is the improved state of things in the western division of the old Province. A first class M.A., if he is very lucky, begins in the Subordinate Educational Service on Rs. 75 a month, that is to say, in the sixth grade. He must go through 14 grades before he can attain to the highest grade of the Provincial Services, viz., Rs. 700 a month. Human life, specially in service in this country, is too short for this weary journey. No one has yet done it, and the highest that one can aspire to is Rs. 250 a month, the first grade in the Subordinate Service.

"Is it any wonder that our brilliant University men shun the Educational Department like the Upas tree? If the prospects of this branch of the service are bad, and bad enough they are in all conscience, what is the position of that unfortunate class who pass their lives between Rs. 15 to Rs. 45 a month in the education of our children? They are like miners entombed, shut away from the warmth and radiance of life, though set to extracting much richer ore than any that a mere mine can yield. Does Your Honour expect any display of energy from men whose life is one uniform and unredeemed drudgery? These are the teachers in our Secondary Schools.

"Coming to the guru teacher in our Primary Schools, we find that he receives the magnificent emolument of Rs. 4-10-0 a month. Says the Inspector of the Dacca Division: 'It is important to note that this sum is probably doubled in any cases by the performance of other duties, the copying of deeds, etc., by agriculture or by free board extended to him by the villagers.' And the same Inspector remarks: 'Even this remuneration would hardly attract a coolie'. Such is the lot of that humble class of officers who are supposed to teach our little children the elements of all the sciences known to men, biology, physics, chemistry, botany, hydrostatics, geology, etc. Your Honour could not get a peon for the salary offered to these teachers. I am quite sure the Government must feel as keenly as any one interested in the work of Education that such a state of things cannot be allowed to continue.

"We are grateful to Government for the assurance it has held out in answer to some questions of my hon'ble friend, Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, that the lot of the lower subordinate class will receive consideration. I hope the teachers in our Primary Schools will not be forgotten when the scheme is revised.

"If the lot of the officers in the lower ranks is deplorable, the prospects of those who are in the upper ranks, in the branch known as the Provincial Educational Service, are not very inspiring or encouraging. They will now begin on Rs. 200 and end, after passing through 8 stages, with Rs. 700. In these ranks are found some of the most brilliant men amongst us; men who have obtained high academic distinctions in Oxford or Cambridge or the Scottish Universities; men who would shed lustre on any educational institution with which they may be connected.

"Many names would at once occur to Hon'ble Members who have the privilege of knowing some of the officers employed in this branch of the service. Here we find Dr. P. C. Roy, who is an ideal teacher idolized by his students and who has done original work in chemistry, of which his countrymen and the Government which employs him may feel justly proud. Here in a lower grade we find Mr. Mahalnobis who has given to the Presidency College its Biological Department, and here too, in a grade further lower down, is that eminent Chemist, Babu Chandra Bhusan Bhaduri, to whose devoted co-operation with Dr. P. C. Roy, we owe those promising and well-equipped Chemical Works, known as the Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Works, which for organization, economy and efficiency, would be an object lesson to many departments of State, and who after 22 years of service was pining in the grade of Rs. 250 a month until the reorganization scheme, which gave him an extra Rs. 50 a month. Other names equally deserving might be mentioned, but I have only selected a few to show what prospects are held out in the Educational Service to our most distinguished graduates.

"Provincial vs. Imperial—Sir, in former years any distinguished Indian graduate who had taken to the Educational Service might aspire to rise to the highest position in that Service. A separate Indian Service, known as the Imperial Service, where the grading begins on Rs. 500 and goes on to Rs. 1,500 a month or more to be recruited in England was unknown in those days, and Indian Educational Officers have occupied high places and discharged their duties with conspicuous ability. The spirit that the native of India must be kept down had not then manifested itself and he was welcomed as a colleague, but during the last 12 years a change has come over that spirit, and a system of recruitment has been adopted by which Indians were practically debarred from the higher branch of the Educational Service.

"Callow youths, not always distinguished graduates of the Home Universities, have been recruited at Rs. 500 a month and have speedily risen to the grade of Rs. 1,000 a month, whereas older men, who had made their mark as teachers and had achieved distinction in the subject of their choice as original workers, wearily struggle against the bars of colour and race.

"Sir, an aspiring Lawyer whose education may have been confined purely to an Indian University may rise to be a Judge of the highest Court in the country; any enterprising young man who may secure a place after a course of preliminary coaching, in the Civil Service may rise to be a Commissioner of a Division, or even a Senior Member of the Board of Revenue, and I trust the day may not be far distant when one of my countrymen may occupy the exalted seat which Your Honour is now holding. And it is surprising that in the domain of education, when the Indian has a traditional and inherited aptitude, he should be forcibly relegated to a back seat. I am not one of those who would for a moment advocate that the emoluments offered to purely English graduates should be curtailed. I am still old fashioned enough to believe that the association of the west and the east in the field of knowledge has been productive of great good to ourselves, and that for many years yet to come this association must continue; but what I do urge is, that my countrymen should not be excluded from the higher ranks merely because they are Indians.

"In putting this claim forward, I believe I am not addressing an altogether unsympathetic Government. Evidence is visible on all sides that the spirit which would keep an Indian down, merely because he is an Indian, is giving way to a juster appreciation of the claims and capabilities of the Indian. No less a personage than His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has re-stated the principle that should guide the Englishman in the Government of India, and our present Secretary of State has emphasized the adoption of that principle from his place in Parliament. If, Sir, this just grievance is not removed in the present regimé, we shall have little hope of this wrong being remedied within a measurable distance of time.

"Neglect of Education.—Sir, if the prospects of our officers engaged in the Education Department are so gloomy, the prospect of education itself is not very hopeful. I cannot believe that those interested in the work of Education in the country will share the gratification of the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary at the progressive increase of expenditure on the head of Education. We do not like the probable saving of Rs. 3,41,000. The grant now stands practically at 43 lakhs. Is this a sum adequate to meet the educational needs of a population of 50 millions? The result is, that every department is starved.

"In all Bengal, until lately claiming to be the premier Province of India, there is not a single Technological Institution, there is not a single colleger properly-equipped, not a single school properly-housed and furnished. This is a sweeping statement I admit, but absolutely true. There is no Technological Institution in the country and there is no more to be said about it. As regards Colleges, take the first College in Bengal, the Presidency College, cabined, cribbed, confined,—overcrowded class rooms, inefficient and insufficient laboratories, an inadequate staff, absence of a gymnasium or play ground, that is the verdict of Government Officials. As specimens of Government schools, take the foremost, either the Hindu or the Hare School,—ill-lighted, ill-ventilated, incommodious, unattractive, that is the verdict of the Committee appointed by Government.

"If the Government is anxious to promote education, it is not enough to pass measures of officialized legislation and rest content; it must pour forth plenty out of its treasury to find the means which are considered essential towards a sound system of education. We cannot rest, while all the world is progressing. Sir, for the information of my Colleagues, I shall place certain figures as to the scale of public expenditure in civilized countries and in Bengal.

"Puny little Portugal, with a population which is roughly $\frac{1}{10}$th of Bengal, spends nearly Rs. 10 per head, so does Switzerland; and we, in Bengal, with an Excise Revenue which would intoxicate even a German Chancellor of the Exchequer, spend how much do you think? One anna, three pies, per head on Education. Here are the figures:

"It will appear from the above table, that where Your Honour's Government spends Rs. 207 per student in the Presidency College, Manchester spends Rs. 1,070 and Liverpool Rs. 1,050; and of this sum of Rs. 207 spent in the Presidency College, the student himself contributes Rs. 144, the Government spending the magnificent sum of Rs. 63 per annum per student for Collegiate Education in the Premier College in Bengal. Talking of contribution, it will be interesting to observe that while the public revenues of Japan contribute 83·2 per cent. of the cost of education, Bengal contributes only 42·9; and while a Japanese student pays only 9·8 per cent. of the cost of his education, the Bengali student pays 38·91 per cent.

"Sir, in a recent debate the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary, controverting some observations which I had made in this Council, contended that the Government of Bengal had a conscience. Sir, I do not venture to follow my hon'ble friend, who hails from a country which has given birth to some of the most astute metaphysicians whom the world has known, into the intricacies of such a recondite and abstruse proposition. But this much I can safely say, that if the Government which my hon'ble friend has so courageously vindicated had any lineaments, the figures that I have quoted would raise a blush even in the grave and sedate countenance which would befit such a Government as ours.

"Sir, I if cannot move the Government on the question of Education for the whole of the Province, I can plead with confidence the cause of the 1st College in Bengal, if not in India. I do not propose to place before the Council the many shortcomings which have been pointed out in the report of the Commission appointed by the University, and admitted and confirmed by the Director of Public Instruction in his admirable annual report. Whatever Your Honour's Government may do, it must at once decide on the future of the College. If it is decided to keep it where it is, lands should be taken up at once and laboratories and class-rooms should be built and equipped without delay. The new University Regulations impose a serious and heavy responsibility on the Government and unless the Government is prepared to see the College disaffiliated in science, it must do something to put the College on a satisfactory basis; but if these improvements require time, no time need be wasted in strengthening its staff, where there is much room for improvement.

"I believe I am not overstating the case when I say that, in many subjects, missionary and private colleges in Calcutta can show a stronger staff than the Presidency College: this is a state of things which ought not to be. I speak with some assurance when I say that at least 20 lakhs would be required for the improvement of the Presidency College, money which could not be better spent, and we have Rs. 46,000 allotted to the College! Truly, an offer which would try the patience of a saint much less of an expectant nation.

"Hindu and Hare Schools.—I have already referred to the condition of the Hindu and Hare Schools. The class-rooms are badly lighted, the upper classes are overcrowded, the lower classes are huddled together, the sanitary arrangements are defective; and the Hindu School has no play-ground at all. This is a state of things which the Government should not allow to continue in its premier schools in Calcutta, and I earnestly commend the condition of these schools to the attention of Government. Might I suggest for the consideration of Government that, instead of two first class Government schools being located in the same place, the Hare School should be removed to a more southerly situation in Calcutta for the benefit of the Indian population in the southern and outlying division of the town.

"Sibpur Engineering College.—Speaking of removals, would it be desirable to remove the Sibpur Engineering College far away from Calcutta? The Government has in contemplation the addition of Technological Departments to this Institution on a large scale. Would it be to the interest of such departments to be removed far away from industrial centres, where boys could have practical lessons and training? That is an aspect of the case which I would respectfully ask the Government to consider.

"Female Education.—If the education of our boys is still neglected that of our girls is hopelessly backward. In the western part of the old Province of Bengal, the proportion of male scholars to the male population of school-going age is 28·47, whereas the proportion in the case of girls is 2·92. In the eastern part of the same Province, including Assam, the proportion is 30·62 in the case of boys and 3·21 in the case of girls. Under Your Honour's jurisdiction, private institutions of an advanced type for boys number 17,191 against 160 for girls, and the elementary private institutions number 37,261 for boys against 2,409 for girls. This indicates, I am afraid, the national apathy to the education of girls. But Government is hardly more sympathetic: it has got 157,055 secondary schools for boys against 5,593 secondary schools for girls; and as regards primary schools, there are 888,598 public institutions for boys against 107,021 for girls. There is a growing desire, a growing necessity for the education of our girls, and if our marriage laws and social customs make higher education of our girls difficult, there may be a much larger number of upper and lower primary schools for our girls.

"Training of Lady Teachers.—While on the question of the education of girls, we are thankful to Government for the facilities it is seeking to provide for the training of lady teachers, for the advanced classes of female students. It is a move in the right direction, and has been inaugurated none too soon. The scheme owes its initiation to Mr. Earle, and we are particularly grateful to him for the energy and ability with which he has pushed it forward. Your Honour was pleased to inaugurate the scheme, and may I request Your Honour to put it into operation in Bengal at once, even though private contributions have not come up to the amount anticipated. Only a very small margin has to be made up, and I am sure Your Honour's Government will readily come forward to cover the margin, especially as the Budget anticipates a probable saving of Rs. 3,41,000 under the head of 'Education.'

"Training College for Teachers.—I may inform Hon'ble Members of the Council that, while such a necessary measure of reform is hanging fire for want of funds, we have in our midst, for more than six months, a complete staff of teachers for the projected training institution for male teachers. This institution is not in existence, and from all accounts will not be ready until the next two or three years. In the meantime, the curious are asking as to the expenditure incurred in the salary of the staff already brought out? I am told the expenditure will not be less than Rs. 3,0 0 a month for a staff which has no work to do.

"Diminished Scholarships.—Sir, both myself and my immediate predecessor in the representation of the University have called attention to the diminution in the value of scholarships, causing great hardship to our poor but deserving students who find that their college fees exceed their scholarships. Last year, we only spent Rs. 1,50,000 out of a total revenue of over six crores. I congratulate myself that the matter has drawn the attention of Mr. Earle, and I have no doubt that the grievance will soon be removed.

"Muhammadan Education.—Sir, while dwelling on the question of Scholarships, which means facilities to poorer students, I cannot pass over the question of Muhammadan Education. In the old Province, the Muhammadans represent a percentage of 17·2 of the general population, but unfortunately this percentage is not borne out in the school-going population. In the primary schools, the percentage of Muhammadans is 13, while in the higher stages of instruction it is still less. Thus in secondary schools, the percentage is 8·7, in Arts Colleges 6·3, while in Professional Colleges it is only 4·3. This is a state of things which requires careful investigation, and if special facilities are needed to help the spread of education amongst the Muhammadans, I am certain the educated Hindu community will not grudge.

"Direction.—Last year, I had taken objection to the appointment of an outsider as Director of Public Instruction in Bengal. My objection was on principle and, as such, it still stands good: but while maintaining my objection on the ground of principle, I must frankly and freely acknowledge that outside the ranks of the Education Department no selection could have been better than that of Mr. Earle. His energy and enthusiasm in the discharge of his new and onerous duties and his devotion, are worthy of all praise. He has carried out changes and reforms which had become stranded on the way for want of motive power, and if his want of experience has led him into occasional errors, we can exonerate him from all blame in connection therewith, for those who have carefully followed the Educational Administration of the Province, can easily trace them to their source.

"Sir, the re-duplication of the administrative machinery necessitated by the dismemberment of our Province has not been fraught with beneficial results, so far at least as Education is concerned. Mr. Sharp, the Director of Public Instruction in the Eastern Division, finds it difficult to bring the Assam system into line with the advanced methods of Bengal; and the narrowness of the East has come into conflict with the broader ideals of the West, leading to the downfall of one Provincial Ruler.

"Mr. Earle has rightly asked for able and worthy assistants to watch over and foster the different departments into which the education of the people must necessarily be divided, primary, secondary and technical, and in the compass of what was originally a single province we shall find two sets of Assistant Directors doing the same work. The grant which should enrich the streams all along the line will be stored and bunded up at the head and the cause of Education will suffer.

"Sir, I have pointed out the lines in which the Government of Bengal, except in the matter of the exclusiveness of the Imperial Service, might work without the initiative of the Government of India.

"Primary Education.—I had taken the liberty, on a previous occasion, to suggest that Primary Education should be made free, and that it might be made compulsory in certain areas. We are all thankful to find that the Government of India, under the inspiration of the Secretary of State, is trying to remove one of the greatest blemishes in the administration of the Empire, the levying of fees for the Primary Education of the poor, and I trust it will not be long before the aspiration to which I have ventured to give expression in Your Honour's Council will be realized.

"Interpellations.—Sir, I am afraid I have put the patience of my Colleagues to too severe a strain. The subject with which I have been dealing, though technical, is of the most vital importance to the nation, and my only excuse is, that there is no other occasion when I can discuss it in this Council. From the placid waters of a non-political subject, I am drifting into the eddies of controversy and politics. Sir, the right of interpellation is a highly-valued privilege; it is intended for the purpose of directing inquiry and eliciting information. It serves as a great check upon erratic Officials, whose wanderings abroad are promptly brought to the notice of the Government and the Public. But some recent answers in Your Honour's Council have created profound disappointment.

"While innocent men holding honourable positions in life have been humiliated by being enrolled as special constables, not for the legitimate purpose of strengthening the Police Force but from political and other motives, Your Honour's Government has pleaded ignorance of the abuse of the powers vested in Magistrates of enrolling special constables. Such an answer defeats its own object and creates a feeling that the Government is neither prepared to correct its officers, nor to deny the charge.

"The indifference of Government to popular sentiment has evoked such a strong sense of resentment that when it was proposed at the last Berhampore Conference to bring this matter to the notice of Government for the purpose of rectifying the abuse, the subject was dropped, because it was felt that the abuse was so flagrant that it was hurtful to the cause of agitation in the country against unpopular measures.

"Specific instances were given in questions put in this Council of the interference by a Magistrate in political matters; and while they were not denied, as in fact they could not be, the conduct of the Magistrate was sought to be justified as a perfectly legitimate exercise of his right of private and confidential intercourse with local zamindars. An unheard-of prosecution is started for the theft of benches, which never were stolen or intended to be stolen, but were used for a theatrical performance, at the close of which some youngsters delivered Swadeshi speeches, and the solemn farce of a trial is gone through in the lower Court at the instance of the District Magistrate to be relegated to the regions of ridicule by the District Judge, and the incident is dismissed from consideration in Your Honour's Council as one of the common-places, as it unhappily is, of our judicio-executive Magisterial Administration.

"These and things like these do not tend to allay the public irritation which is still manifest. If Lord Curzon did the greatest disservice that he could think of to the Bengali people, he also unwittingly did them the greatest service that man could do to man; he evoked in them a life of which they themselves were not conscious; he inspired in them activities which they had not realized before. That this life, these activities may lead us onward and forward to a higher platform, where the people and the Government can meet on terms of mutual respect and mutual goodwill, is the earnest desire of all well-wishers of our country; but if the Government goes on clinging to the baneful traditions of the late administration, it will hardly be the fault of the people if the spirit of discontent goes on growing, if belated concessions to popular rights and popular demands are received with sullen discontent, if not, with positive disapproval; and if, in the end, the people and the Government stand absolutely divorced from each other. I am aware that Your Honour does not wish for such a consummation. I am also aware that much lies in Your Honour's power to prevent it, and I earnestly appeal to Your Honour to exercise that power."

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA NATH MUKHARJI said:—"Your Honour, the Budget for the current year, although in form and method it follows its predecessor and, in so far as it does so, shares with it the lucidity which is no doubt a matter for congratulation, yet it must be confessed that in certain respects it affords grounds for disappointment The last Budget was ushered in shortly after the Partition of Bengal had been effected, and one might suppose that it was then too close upon its heels to be associated with any practical undertaking on the part of Government for a better administration of the divided Province, based upon a more thorough attention to detail, such as had been foreshadowed by it on the eve of the Partition. The promises with which the Partition of Bengal were proclaimed raised hopes that the Budget for this year would be somewhat different in form and character from its predecessors. It seems to me, Sir, that the Budget for a great Provincial Administration like that of Bengal should not only present in a clear and intelligible form its expectations as to the different sources of its revenue and the reasons upon which they are based, as well as the allotment of that revenue to the ordinary charges of the administration, but it should also clearly set forth a plan for reforms and improvements that it proposes to undertake or carry on during the year. In other words, the proposals for the year's administrative operations in so far as they are not permanently recurrent as well as the policy which forms the driving power for such operations should, to my mind, be stated and explained with a clear outline.

"The Financial Statement should also, in my judgment, note the stages which pending projects for improvement and reform may have attained, and if, owing to some cause or other, this progress has been arrested, it should indicate the cause which has led to such arrest. It should further state the circumstances under which and the manner in which Government proposes to stop, if possible, the operation of such interfering elements, if any, and, as a matter of consequence, it should state how and when it expects such projects to resume their onward career. The Financial Statement should also show how and to what extent the amount allotted to any head of disbursement connected with a project for reform or improvement is calculated to serve the object in view. Such statements, Sir, the public have a right to expect.

"The Government of this country is carried on by a body of Officials whose tenure of particular offices is constantly changing, and the Heads of Departments, also, form no exception to the rule. The subordinate and permanent body of Officials are mainly, if not entirely, interested in the settled routine of their official duties, and they cannot be reasonably expected to take anything like a sustained interest in the policy actuating a measure of reform. The Budget or the Financial Statement appears to me to be a medium through which the facts indicated above can be conveniently made known not only to the general public, but to the subordinate officials as well, whose duty it is to carry out measures of improvement and reform. The omission of these facts and statements from the records forming the basis of a Budget debate leads very often to the result that a measure conceived by one Head of the Administration is imperfectly realized or perhaps altogether lost sight of by another. Reform and improvement under these circumstances tend to become shallow and fitful, the public sometimes get mystified for want of information in an easily accessible and clear form, and they lose the thread of what has gone before. It is needless to say that the administration loses in this way a great deal of the vitality which must always be kept up in order to make it fruitful of permanently good results.

"I will try to make my meaning clearer by reference to an item of considerable importance in the Budget for the last year. In that year, a sum of Rs. 1,35,000 was allotted by this Government to the establishment and maintenance of a Central Weaving School at Serampore. The Financial Statement for the current year has kept the public entirely in the dark as to how this projected institution has progressed, if at all, and what further steps the Government proposes to take this year towards realizing this educational idea. The matter is of the utmost importance to the country at large, yet the Financial Statement does not contain the faintest reference to it. No doubt the fact is mentioned in the Financial Statement for the year that Rs. 35,000 is allotted to Technical Education, but the detailed estimate contains no mention of it even, and we have no means of discovering whether the whole of the allotment of Rs. 1,35,000 in the last year's Budget was spent in course of the last financial year or only a portion, and if so, what portion, and whether the sum of Rs. 35,000 provided in the current year's Budget merely represents the unspent balance allotted to the maintenance of the proposed institution and which could not be spent last year as the school was not opened at all?

"Further, there is nothing to indicate whether Government intends to follow up the policy of fostering Technical Education; if not, what causes prevent it from so doing and whether any portion of the Rs. 35,000 in the current year's Budget will go at all towards the maintenance of this technical school? The people may therefore very well wish to know whether the Government is very serious about encouraging Technical Education of such a character as would result in the Indians succeeding to a greater extent in manufacturing articles of everyday use? The total increase of expenditure of Rs. 1,28,000 under the head of 'Education,' on the figures for the last year in the Provincial and Local accounts, may not after all mean anything substantial so far as the encouragement of the weaving industry is concerned.

"If other instances of a similar, though not of so important, character are to be cited, I can refer to the charges amounting to Rs. 23,000, on account of Smoke Nuisance, and an allotment of Rs. 14,500 as a provision for starting Training Colleges at Hooghly and Bhagalpur. Neither the former nor the latter item is associated with any explanation as to the manner in which these sums are proposed to be spent. With reference to the latter item it is to be noted, however, that the figure appears for the first time in the current year's Budget; and although an explanation has been added to the effect that this sum of Rs. 14,500 is meant as a provision for officers who come from England, yet for all that, unless one took the trouble of diving into the archives of the Education Department he would not know what officers arriving from England would get the benefit of the training to be secured at this expense of money. I do not propose to pursue the point any further. I feel sure the instances I have quoted above place my argument in a clearer light.

"Sir, I recognize that to meet this demand, a more careful, protracted and reserche thinking out of a plan of action is necessary than is accorded, under existing circumstances, to questions of this character. But if older conditions rendered such a course difficult, the lightened cares of the fifteen districts separated from this Province ought to make the task easier. On the part of the non-official Members, I may venture to say that they would gladly share with the Government any responsibility in connection with the Budget that the Government might allow them. I take it, of course, that the brief opportunity that was given to some of us this year was, to my mind, not sufficient for the purposes of any substantial assistance.

"I beg now to pass on to the subject of the 'normal expansion' of the Revenue. Last year I had the honour to indicate how by the system adopted in connection with the preparation of the Budget there was some danger of converting the so-called 'normal expansion' of Revenue, with regard to assessed taxes into a somewhat forced expansion. My arguments were disposed of by the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary and the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary with remarks to the effect that the Subordinate Executive Officers cannot know in the ordinary course of their work, and do not therefore take into their consideration, the Government estimates for the whole province which are repeatedly altered in course of the year in the light of information received, and further that no attempt is made to split up the total finally adopted into figures for each district. The process indicated is no doubt what actually takes place. But no criticism was offered as to the course suggested by me, namely, of scrutinizing the details as to the differences between the figures for receipts in the original estimate and the revised estimate for the expiring year, and instead of adding something more to the actuals for the expiring year, of carefully eliminating from them those items which betray any result of irregular or over-assessment.

"I am indeed somewhat concerned to note with reference to Assessed Taxes that a sum of Rs 2,40,000 has been added this year to the figures in the revised estimate for the year that has just expired. Further, the figure in the sanctioned estimate under this head for the last year was exceeded in the revised estimate by a sum of Rs. 1,90,000, and the excess is no doubt based upon the actuals for that year. How much of all this is due to progressive growth and how much to undue zeal on the part of assessing officers it is difficult to say. From whatever point of view, however, the matter may be looked at, there cannot be any reasonable doubt that the officers entrusted with the levying of the Assessed Taxes know that the actuals for any particular year in his own district form the basis of the figures in the Budget for the next year, and that unless they pull up their own figures for the current year to the level of those sent up by them and already adopted without challenge by Government during the previous year, they stand the chance of being censured, no matter whether their own figures are the results, in part at least, of irregular or over-assessment. This is a point to which I would invite the serious attention of the Government.

"Sir, an increase of more than five lakhs of rupees on the figure in the revised estimate for the year that is just out is noticeable in the current year's Budget on the receipt side, under the head of sale of Court-fee Stamps. There is a further sum of two lakhs of rupees provided for on account of the sale of plain paper to be used with Court-fee Stamps. The increase with reference to the figures for the two preceding years appears to be somewhat extraordinary and seems to require explanation. This sudden increase cannot be normal, for we already know the normal rate of increase in the preceding years.

"Sir, there is one other feature of the Budget on its receipt side to which I beg to request Your Honour's attention, and it is the mixing up of some of the minor heads of the Provincial Rates. The only rate mentioned in the Budget under the head of 'Provincial Rates,' apart from the general rates for the management of Private Estates, is the Public Works Cess. The words 'Road Cess' seem to have altogether disappeared and one may wonder why it has so done. Whatever may be the cause of such disappearance it is certain that it causes a student of these figures some trouble to find out what amount of Road Cess is collected in this Province.

"Passing on to the disbursement side, I beg to notice, in the first place, that the budgetted total receipts from the sale of Court-fee Stamps and plain papers as stated above amount to Rs. 1,09,62,000, and the forecast of the total expenditure for the current year under the head of 'Administration of Justice' is only Rs. 74,19,000. It seems to me that there is good ground for the complaint that the revenue obtained from this source ought to prove an incentive to a great many reforms with regard to the Administration of Jusitce, both Civil and Criminal.

"In course of the debate in the Council of His Excellency the Viceroy, the necessity for the separation of the Judicial and Executive functions has been pointed out with great force and clearness, and I beg to accord my heartiest support to the demand for this much-needed reform. So long as this canker which is eating into the vitals of the Administration of Justice is allowed to do its work unchecked, it is hopeless to expect any abiding improvement. Want of funds, at any rate, cannot be pleaded in this case. Considerable sums are now being devoted to the reform of the Police for which we all feel grateful to the Government. But even a fraction of the money spent under this head will not find an adequate return if this proposed reform remains unaccomplished.

"The administration of the Civil Justice also requires strengthening, and the large annual surpluses in the Court-fee Revenue with a vigour and progressive growth of its own should, I venture to submit, be applied in part at least towards relieving congestion of the file where it exists, and in taking out the administration of Civil Justice in the comparatively backward places from the hands of the Executive Officers who, generally speaking, do not have a grip of the Civil Law.

"As an instance, I beg to refer to the administration of Civil Justice in the Sonthal Parganas. I had lately occasion to submit a few questions relating to this matter, drawing the attention of Government to the serious grievances of the people inhabiting the area and particularly of those whom trade and enterprise as well as the reputed healthiness of the locality have attracted to it. About two-thirds of the entire population of the Sonthal Parganas are of non-aboriginal origin, yet the system of administration of justice which obtains there is of such a primitive and paternal character that it hardly fails to cause abhorrence in the majority of its population. The preamble to the Regulation which constituted the Sonthal Parganas in the year 1855—only a year after the Sonthal insurrection—contains the following recital:—

'Whereas the General Regulations and Acts of Government now in force in the Presidency of Bengal are not adapted to the uncivilized race of people called Sonthals, and it is therefore expedient to remove from the operation of such laws the district called Damin-i-Koh and other districts inhabited principally by that tribe, &c.'

"The Sonthal Parganas of to-day, it will appear, are not the Sonthal Parganas of half a century ago, and I fail to see any reason why the Civil Law should not be administered in much the same way there as it is administered in any other part of Bengal. My questions, however, did not relate to any proposal for reform in the trial of suits below Rs. 1,000 in value, although reform is very much needed in these cases also, but they were confined to those above that limit, and suggested that in view of the hardships, delays and miscarriages of justice and in view of the fact that in the vast majority of cases the law administered in such instances is the ordinary law of the country and only occasionally slightly admixtured with the Sonthal Law, a whole-time Subordinate Judge should be appointed for the Sonthal Parganas with powers, if need be, to visit every one of the head-quarters stations in the six sub-divisions of the Sonthal Parganas, or if that was impracticable, with powers to hold his sittings only at Dumka, Rajmahal and Deoghur, or at similar convenient head-quarters stations. My questions had the misfortune to be disallowed on the ground that they were in contravention of Rule 9 in the Bengal Council Manual. But whatever the technical objections might have been, the fact remains that the delays, unnecessary expenses and hardships from which the people of the locality suffer are very great indeed.

"The Sub-divisional Officers of the six subdivisions of the Sonthal Parganas who have all been vested with the powers of a Subordinate Judge, have to spend a large portion of their time generally in receiving and disposing of petitions, to pass orders as the Executive Heads of their sub-divisions, to hear criminal cases and do other work in connection with the administration of their sub-divisions, before they are in a position to take up civil cases. For want of time a Sub-Judge case there has to be postponed very often, and a well-contested Sub-Judge case is seldom heard by the Sub-divisional Officer unless it has been postponed a great many times. Further, owing to the fact that Pleaders in the Sonthal Parganas have no right to appear in any but the Sub-Judge cases, there are only a few of them practising in the whole area, and there are no Pleaders at all in some of the sub-divisions, while in others there is not more than a single Pleader. The parties have therefore to get Pleaders from Bhagalpur and other places at great expense and trouble, and this fact coupled with the frequent adjournments in the trial, prove ruinous to the litigants.

"Where in a Regulation District the trial of a contested Sub-Judge case takes only a few days to finish, its trial in the Sonthal Parganas takes months, if not years, and I know of cases which have taken only the moderate space of a decade to be heard and determined. We have no Charles Dickens to make fun of these things, so these Sub-Judge cases have been pursuing their slow and unobstrusive career. I wish, however, the troubles of the litigants ended here. These Sub-Judge cases are very often tried by the Sub-divisional Officers on tour and in the midst of jungles and on hillsides far away from human habitations, rendering it extremely difficult for litigants' Pleaders and witnesses to follow them about from place to place as also to find a shelter during the day or at night while attending them. The consequence very often is, that the litigants have to pay heavy fees to their Pleaders, and often owing to the worry to which they are subjected witnesses desert the parties. I would respectfully but strongly request Your Honour's attention and that of Your Honour's Government to these serious grievances which exist in the Sonthal Parganas.

"While on this question, I would beg leave to place one or two other points in connection with the administration of the Sonthal Parganas before Your Honour for consideration. One of them is, that lawyers are not allowed to appear and represent parties in either civil or criminal cases (excepting, as already stated, in the cases triable by a Subordinate Judge). But the Sonthal Law at the same time declares that such permission, as a rule, should not be given. This rule denies to the suitor what is considered as his birthright in every civilized country, and as I have stated about two-thirds of the entire population in that area are non-aboriginal. It is proper therefore that the Sonthal Laws and administration should be reformed by making them suitable for advanced communities or by exempting the non-aboriginal races from the operation of the Sonthal Laws, by declaring that in respect of transactions and suits between themselves (the vast majority of them are between non-aboriginal people) they are to be governed by the laws prevailing in the adjoining Regulation districts. Of course, the Paharias or hillmen of the Damin-i-Koh who are still in a very low scale of civilization, should still be governed by the special laws prevailing there.

"If the Government be not, however, willing either to reform the Sonthal Laws and administration so as to make them suitable for the civilized communities living in the district, or to make the law a personal one, following in this respect the ancient precedent of the Regulating Act of 1773 and the more recent precedent of the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act as regards Mundari rights, there are two other courses, so far as I can see, which the Government can safely adopt, viz., either to include some of the outlying portions of the Sonthal Parganas in the adjoining Regulation districts, or to declare the laws prevailing in those districts to be in force in the Deoghur Sub-division which may still be retained as part of the Sonthal Parganas. The Government may be pleased also to inquire what other portions of the district can fitly be transferred to the Regulation districts. In this connection, the claims of the whole of the sub-division of Deoghur, excepting perhaps a small strip on the east, the western portion of the Godda Sub-division, and those portions of the sub-divisions of Rajmahal and Pakaur that lie to the east of the Loop Line of the East Indian Railway may be mentioned with a view to consideration by Government.

"I believe that the Sonthal population is sparse in these tracts and almost nil in portions of them. Deoghur with its population of 300,000 souls contains only 37,000 aboriginal inhabitants who live mostly in the eastern portion of the sub division. Ranchi, and portions of Hazaribagh, Manbhum and even Bankura contains, I believe, a higher percentage of aboriginal inhabitants than most parts of the Deoghur Sub-division. A major part of the western portion of the Godda Sub-division is included in Parganas Bhagalpur and Colgong, and while this tract is inhabited almost exclusively by non-aboriginal races, they have no marked difference from the adjoining portions of the district of Bhagalpur. The eastern portions of the Rajmahal and Pakur Sub-divisions are inhabited mostly by a population of well-to-do Muhammadan cultivators, largely immigrants from other districts profiting by the cultivation of jute and the sale of lac, while large slices of these parganas wherein these portions lie, are situated in the adjoining district of Murshidabad. If all these tracts, with the exception perhaps of some small bits in the south, were excluded from the Sonthal Parganas, there would still be left to that district (Sonthal Parganas) an area of about 4,000 square miles and a population of about one and-a-half million souls, which comprise more than the average area and population respectively of a Bengal district. It will be a wise step if the Government reforms the Sonthal Administration in any of the ways indicated above.

"Another defect in the Sonthal Administration which calls for reform is the system of making laws by means of circulars, letters and the like. The rules and circulars, moreover, which do duty for laws are meagre and insufficient, and in several instances against the principles of sound legislation. If the Sonthal Law is to be reformed, the machinery for making laws should not be left untouched.

"Sir, at first sight it might be taken as a relief by some of the Members of Your Honour's Council that the Army Estimates do not form the subject of their deliberations; but looking more deeply into the matter, one does not altogether feel sure that the Military does not live disguised in the ranks of the Police. Large grants have from time to time been made with the object of bringing about reform in the Police. Last year, the total amount allotted to the Police in the revised estimates was Rs. 68,80,000, the figures in the original estimate for that year being Rs. 63,67,000, and this year it is Rs. 71,00,000. It is also stated that there is an increase of Rs. 5,13,000, due chiefly to the re-organization of the department. We have no means of discovering from the Budget how much of this amount is proposed to be spent in maintaining the Military Police in each district.

"After all one is tempted to ask, is the strength of this branch of the Police Service maintained in deference to the great armaments kept up by the great Powers of the world or are they maintained with a view to meet the exigencies that may spring up in relation to a singularly peaceful population? If the latter be the case, it seems to me to be possible that considerable saving may be effected by reducing the Military Police in the country, and thus it may be rendered possible for the Government to apply the savings to the improvement of Technical Education and Sanitation in the country.

"I find, Sir, that there is a saving of Rs. 8,35,000 under Civil Works in charge of Civil Officers, and the cause of the saving is chiefly ascribed to the non-utilization of a number of special grants. And, further, there is a saving of Rs. 6,28,000 under Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department, owing to the abandonment or postponement of certain projects for which special provision was made at the time of framing the Budget.

"In this connection I beg to draw the attention of Your Honour's Government to the rule of the Government of India which requires that all articles of European manufacture above the value of Rs. 50 should be imported from England direct through the Secretary of State for India. In my experience I have found that this very objectionable rule not only causes in numerous instances a loss to the Government and therefore to the public, owing to the prices that have to be paid for such articles being dearer than if they were obtained in Calcutta, but that the time that is taken, between the sending out of a requisition from India and the arrival of the goods in India, is simply intolerable. I have seen buildings under construction by the Public Works Department which after it had its walls and woodwork, etc., completed and finished, standing roofless for months in expectation of the joists and T-irons for the roofing from England. It seems to me, Sir, that many of the delays and lapses in connection with public buildings and bridges are due to this cause, and I hope and trust that Your Honour will not find it difficult to move the Government of India with a view to bring a more reasonable rule into existence in place of the one now in force.

"I beg to offer my congratulations to Your Honour's Government for the allotment of Rs. 3,500 for the collection of Sanitary Statistics. I find there was no such allotment in the two preceding years, and therefore it may be concluded that this grant contemplates a departure from the practice now observed in the Sanitary Department of Government. The public would have felt still more gratified if they were allowed to know at the same time the objects towards which the efforts in connection with the collection of Sanitary Statistics are, in the first place, to be directed.

"Last year, the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis was pleased to observe in reply to my plea for sanitary improvement of the country at large, that he wondered why I should describe the Magra Hât Drainage Scheme as a comparatively small project, the scheme providing, as it does, for the drainage of 290 square miles of country at a cost of about 20 lakhs of rupees, and he wished to know what sort of drainage scheme would satisfy me on the score of extent and cost. Sir, the ideal which I should like to work up to is one that aims at the solution of the sanitary problems which exist in relation to the entire Province, and not in relation to any comparatively detached area, however important such questions may be from a local and detached point of view. I do not depreciate the value of such works of great utility, but I want a great deal more to be done.

"The drainage scheme of Calcutta, as for instance, is no doubt a very important thing in itself, so far as the sanitation of Calcutta is concerned, and the execution of a plan regarding drainage in respect of this great City may entail an expenditure of several crores of rupees; yet it will not in any way improve the general sanitation of the country, nor can the expenditure of several crores of rupees on Calcutta be pleaded as an excuse for neglecting the sanitation of rural areas. I am therefore thankful, even for the very small expenditure under the head of 'Collection of Sanitary Statistics,' because I hope and trust that this small grant will prove to be the first step towards the formation of a general and comprehensive scheme by which the Province of Bengal as a whole may be benefited.

"I recognize that it is not possible to transform insanitary Bengal by one stroke of the magician's wand. It is possible, however, to work out a comprehensive and systematic plan gradually and steadily. In this view of the matter it is not difficult, for instance, to adopt a fixed line of action with reference to rail-roads and raised-roads in general, and the waterways to be kept free in connection with them. I regret to observe that the tendency to contract waterways is unfortunately so general and patent that one is led to infer that the services of the Sanitary Engineer are seldom, if ever, requisitioned in the construction of railways and embanked roads; but that, very often, the sole aim in such undertakings is the saving of cost, even at the risk of the railway or roadway being swept away during the floods, to be built again at a duplicated cost.

"Apart from the insanitary conditions which such a course brings about, the havoc caused by the back-water during the rains in areas traversed by a railway or raised roadway and going across the natural fall of the country, is incalculable. The recent floods in Darbhanga, North Bhagalpur and Purnea, as also the destruction pestilence and famine caused thereby, are still fresh in our minds. Speaking for myself, I believe that, so far as the south eastern portion of the district of Purnea is concerned, the new Katihar-Godagari line now under construction is responsible for a great deal of our troubles of last year. I would respectfully ask Your Honour to consider whether, in the construction of railways and raised roads in general, Sanitary Engineers should not be associated with Civil Engineers. This is, however, only one out of a great many points which may be brought to light when more attention is paid to sanitary matters, but many of the questions about Sanitation are already before Government, and they are well worth its serious consideration. There is hardly any doubt that the sanitation of the districts in Bengal has been neglected.

"I am thankful to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Local Self-Government Bill and to Your Honour's Government for the sympathy which has been extended to certain proposals which I have had the honour to make, and our special thanks are due to Your Honour personally for the announcement just made that steps will be taken for introducing measures for the improvement of sanitation in the Local Self-Government Act about to be amended. I hope the Government will pay to the question of Sanitation the attention that it justly deserves, and introduce efficient legislation in this connection. It is hardly necessary to point out that it is impossible to expect much substantial progress, agricultural, commercial or otherwise, in a nation more dead than alive with Malaria, and with its ranks thinned by thousands, owing to the prevalence of epidemics.

"Passing on to the allied subject of Famines, I must acknowledge our thanks to the Government of India for relieving this Government of the charges under this head, completely at least for the current year. Famines have now become chronic in this country, and every year, almost without a break, Government has to face this dreadful calamity in some province or other. It is necessary, therefore, that the central Government should have some means like the one organized by it, whereby it can deal with the evil directly and relieve the Local Governments as much as possible.

"While on the expenditure side, it is noticeable that there was no allotment under the head of 'Inspector of Mines' last year and none this year again; the public should like very much to know how and why such expenses have become unnecessary.

"The improvement of the Ministerial Service recently formed the subject of interpellation in this Council, and the Government was pleased to state in reply that the question was still under consideration. We do not know what the ultimate decision of Government in this matter will be. But the fact may be brought forward once again that, the high prices which have been continuing for some years past have rendered it extremely difficult for this poorly-paid but extremely useful class of public servants to make both ends meet. In any attempt to improve the administration of the country, it should be the first duty of the administrators to place its ministerial officers above all struggles for a mere living.

"Sir, this year has brought into existence some important measures of legislation, and the most important among them is the Bill to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act. One very important aspect of this Bill is the improvement which it has introduced in the procedure relating to the preparation of records-of-rights. I say that this part of the Tenancy Act is one of its most important features, because it authorizes the State to interfere in the private relations existing between landlord and tenant; and while working it, the State has very often to meet the possibility of bringing into existence strained relations and even disputes between landlord and tenant, where there was none before. The Settlement Officers charged with the duty of preparing the record-of-rights have, by the very nature of their operations, to wake up dormant claims, and by attempting to define that which was indefinite before, bring into existence a state of things which, under other circumstances, one could not but deprecate.

"The community has to put up with these difficulties and inconveniences, knowing as it does that the ultimate object of the Legislature in this matter is good—to take it through eddies and shoals and over bars into the calm sea beyond. But this rather difficult voyage requires that the man at the helm and the men at the oars should be all good men and true, able to pull long and to pull straight, and able to steer the boat through the dangers that lie in her course.

"I may be pardoned, therefore, if I venture to make one or two suggestions on certain points which have come to my notice in course of my experience—suggestions which appeal to dry men of business like myself; and I hope, therefore, that Hon'ble Members will bear with me when I make them. I venture to think that the officers engaged at all the stages of the record-making process should be well-picked, well-paid and experienced men. It will never do to say that if at the earlier stages of the process inexperienced and ill-paid officers are engaged, their errors and perversions may be rectified afterwards. For the sake of a little saving, therefore, Government should not lose sight of this all-important fact. It is impossible to my mind to eliminate all errors and misdoings by better treatment of the record at a later stage. Some of them at any rate will stick to the end.

"In the next place, it seems to me that the officers should not be either overworked or hurried. The attestation is an important stage in the process, yet, if I mistake not, originally about 1,000 plots had to be attested in a day. Now, though the figure has come down to about 800, yet, along with this work, certain others, such as inspection and testing of trijunction stones have to be done by the attestation officers. This inspection and testing is rather a difficult piece of work. It requires detailed knowledge and often takes time, and so practically the attestation officers are now where they were before.

"I have to refer to another matter which appears to me to be an anomaly. It is this, that a junior officer, sometimes even of very short standing, sits in judgment over a senior and well-tried attestation officer, in the decision of objections under section 103A of the Act. I do not propose to tire the patience of Hon'ble Members with any more details. Suffice it to say, that in a matter of such grave and far-reaching consequence, a rigorous selection of able and tried officers is necessary, that their work should be very carefully watched, and that everything should be done to encourage in them a spirit of absolute fairness and a thoroughly judicial frame of mind. It seems to me that the suggestions made above if adopted, will prove to be some of the principal means by which the suspicions ordinarily attaching to an Executive Officer when made to discharge judicial functions can be allayed, and by which confidence in the record-of-rights insured.

"I have detained Hon'ble Members more than I intended to do. I have done so, however, in the hope that there will be found some points at least in what I have said which may prove worthy of the attention of Your Honour's Government. I am under the belief that although what we non-official Members say, from our place in the Council, may not succeed in changing the policy of Government in many matters, yet in matters of administrative detail our opinion, when based upon actual experience of men and events, carries some weight."

The Hon'ble MR. ALLEN said :—"I have only a very few remarks to make regarding some of the observations of my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, who alone, of all the Hon'ble Members who have addressed the Council to-day, has referred to the affairs of the Corporation. The first two matters on which he has spoken, namely, the question of Court-fees payable on appeals to the Small Cause Court of Calcutta and the recent orders of the Government of India on the subject of Loans are already under the consideration of the Corporation, and I think it unnecessary to trouble this Council with them.

"I have, however, to take strong exception to the language which the Hon'ble Member has used regarding the Municipal Magistrate. I think, Sir, some of his observations are unfortunate and I regret that they should have been made. The Municipal Magistrate was appointed in 1901 for the reason that at that time when Municipal cases were tried by Presidency Magistrates, and to a very large extent by Honorary Magistrates also, the cases took so long to dispose of that the matter became a public scandal. It was for that reason and in order to facilitate the disposal of these cases, that one Stipendiary Magistrate was appointed to whom all these cases were made over. The appointment of the Municipal Magistrate has proved thoroughly satisfactory and the result has been an efficient and prompt disposal of these cases.

"One would imagine from what my hon'ble friend has said that the receipts of the Corporation from fines were very large and increasing. I am happy to inform the Council that such is not the case. Since 1902-03, these fines dropped from Rs. 66,000 to Rs. 52,000. This result has been attained by the education of the people in the requirements of the Municipal Law; they infringe the law much less frequently now because they know if they do so a prosecution will be instituted which will be effectively dealt with. I think that is a very satisfactory result of the working of the Court, and everybody connected with the Corporation will hope that these fines will go on decreasing. My hon'ble friend says that the people, rightly or wrongly, believe that they cannot expect in this Court that independent administration of justice which is the proud privilege of the meanest British subject. My friend knows perfectly well that as a matter of fact the people do obtain impartial and even-handed justice in the Municipal Magistrate's Court, and I think he would have been better occupied in removing any misconceptions which ignorant people may have formed as to the administration of justice in that Court, than in coming here and repeating gossip of this kind before Your Honour's Council. I think gentlemen of my hon'ble friend's position should disabuse the minds of the people of misconceptions of this character, and I may say that these misconceptions are probably caused to a large extent owing to loose statements made in the course of debates in the Corporation on this very subject, and I think it is very much to be deplored that such observations should have been repeated in this Council to-day.

"With regard to what my hon'ble friend has said as to Primary Education in Calcutta, although this is not perhaps the time of taking up the time of the Council with its consideration, I think there is a good deal to be said for his suggestion. From one point of view, at any rate, the Corporation may be regarded as the Cinderella of Calcutta, her two grown-up sisters—the Government of India and the Government of Bengal—performing all the showy functions and all the attractive duties of the administration of the City. They maintain, for instance, magnificent Hospitals, a University, Colleges, a Library, and also places of recreation, like the Zoological Gardens, the Maidan and so on, and it is certainly the case that a great many of these duties, if not all of them, would, in many English and Continental towns, be performed by the City Corporation. The Corporation of Calcutta, however, sits at home like Cinderella, and does the dirty work of mending and cleaning the roads and drudgery of that kind. I think it is very likely that service on the Corporation might be more popular, if the duties were more attractive; and I would suggest for consideration as a good beginning that the duties of Government, in connection with Primary Education and Technical Education in the City might very well be made over to the Corporation; the Corporation being given a substantial grant to enable it to carry out these duties. I merely throw out this suggestion for the consideration of Your Honour's Government.

"On the subject of the District Committees, my friend has said that these District Committees are illegal. My friend is not a lawyer and neither am I. It is certainly incorrect to say that these District Committees have no legal existence; they have a legal existence, they were appointed under the law, and as a matter of fact they are now carrying out their duties under the law. It is quite true that the legality of these Committees has been questioned, but the matter has not yet pressed to an issue, and I am glad to see that my friend has borne testimony to the fact that these District Committees are doing good work, and I hope they will continue to do so."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink and the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji have asked for information as to the work of the Smoke Nuisance Commission, and, as President of this Commission, I will, with Your Honor's permission, briefly explain what has been done. The Commission was constituted in January, 1906, and the first thing necessary was to frame Rules under the Act, as the Act itself gives no powers for carrying out its objects. This is to be arranged for by rules, and when the Act was passed, it was understood that the work of framing them would have to be carefully scrutinized. It is true that there has been some delay in bringing out the rules, but for this the Commission is not responsible. As provided by the law, the rules were published for three months and public criticism was invited. The public, however, at first took no interest in the rules, and the time for considering them had to be extended to enable the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and other Local Bodies to submit their criticisms. The Draft Rules were, on the whole, favourably received, but some revision was found necessary to meet the wishes of the local Chambers. This has now been done, and it is hoped that they will be shortly published.

"In the meantime, the Commission has no powers to act effectively towards the abatement of the smoke-nuisances. The old Act is repealed, and the rules under the new Act have not been passed. The Commission, however, has not been idle. Two Inspectors have been at work since last April and, thanks to the cordial co-operation of the Mill owners, they have already effected considerable improvements. During the year they have made nearly 4,000 observations of smoke emission from chimneys, and over 1,800 inspections of furnaces. In 350 cases they have tested the appliances for stoking, and on their advice, mechanical stoking arrangements and smoke preventive appliances have been introduced in 71 Mills. In 14 Mills, the chimneys have been lengthened. The general result of the year's work is that, whereas in April, 1906, black smoke was, on a general average, emitted for nearly 13 minutes per hour, the time has now been reduced to 3½ minutes.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has suggested that the attention of the Inspectors has been specially devoted to the smaller industries. It is true that in the Oil-mill districts, whereas in April last 8 tons of black smoke was daily discharged into the air, at the present time there is a discharge of 2 tons only. But the Howrah Mills have not been neglected. I have before me a diagram prepared by the Inspector for the Howrah district, and it shows that in the first quarter of last year black smoke was, on an average, emitted for 14 minutes per hour; while in the last quarter, the emission lasted 4½ minutes only.

"As I have said before, the Commission has been working without the necessary powers which the rules will give them. It has not been possible to deal effectively with some of the worst offenders, and the absence of improvement in certain Mills may give an erroneous impression of the work of the Commission. Good results, however, have been attained, and this is largely due to the courtesy and co-operation of Mill owners, who have, in a large number of cases, gladly accepted the advice of the Inspectors employed by the Commission. I would specially acknowledge the services of Mr. D. Ferrier, Manager of the Lower Hooghly Jute Mills, and Mr. E. Dewar of the Baranagar Jute Mills.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has suggested that Diamond Harbour could be converted into a Sea-side Health Resort. This place, with its Railway communication and fine frontage on the Hooghly, is particularly favourable for the purpose. I have already discussed the subject with the Hon'ble Member, and am in consultation with the Magistrate of the 24-Parganas regarding the erection of a Dâk Bungalow there. If this experiment succeeds, a scheme for the provision of building-sites will be considered.

"I was glad to hear the reference made by the Hon'ble Member to the settlement at Frasergunge, and I desire to emphasize the great advantages of this place as a Sea-side Health Resort. This Settlement is situated on the sea face, and it is in every way suited for the objects so eloquently put forward by the Hon'ble Member. Government has already done much for its improvement, and all who have visited Frasergunge are loud in its praises. Land is available there for building-sites on very favourable terms, and I would urge the Hon'ble Member and others to make early applications.

"Before I sit down, I would ask Your Honour's permission to thank Your Honour's Government on behalf of the people of the Presidency Division for the liberal help which has, in recent years, been extended to it for the execution of Drainage Works and Schemes of Water-supply. During the last two years large sums, in addition to loans, have been given to a number of Municipalities for drainage and water-works, and applications for help always receive sympathetic consideration from Your Honour's Government. The Budget for the current year contains a provision of over 7½ lakhs for contribution to Municipalities, and it should be the business of the Local Bodies of the Division to secure a large share of the grant by the preparation of well-considered schemes.

"I would also refer to the help which has been given to Districts. A scheme for draining the water-logged area of the 24-Parganas is being carried out with the help of a grant of five lakhs from Government. The work already done was most beneficial to the crops of last year. Help is also promised to a Drainage Scheme in the Jessore District, and a large sum was recently expended in improving water-communication in Khulna. During the recent cold season an important Commission have been inquiring into the causes of Malaria in the Division, and their inquiries cannot fail to produce good results.

"I desire, therefore, to thank Your Honour for the help given to the Presidency Division."

The Hon'ble MR. GAIT said:—"I have undertaken to reply to the remarks made by Hon'ble Members regarding the Judicial and General Departments which were, until quite recently, in charge of Mr. T. W. Richardson. I have had very little time to study the questions dealt with; and I hope, therefore, that I may be pardoned for any shortcomings.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has referred to the growing income from Jail Manufactures and to the competition of Jail Industries with private enterprise. This matter is engaging the attention of Government, and the opinions recently received from the Associations that represent the persons most interested are now under consideration. The question is a complicated one, and a final decision has not yet been reached. But I can assure the Hon'ble Member that every effort will be made to ensure that private traders shall not suffer unfairly, owing to the competition of convict labour.

"Meanwhile, I may explain that of the receipts from articles manufactured in Jails, nearly four-fifths are on account of articles supplied to other Jails and to various departments of Government; and that a considerable part of the remaining one-fifth is on account of chaukidari uniforms, quinine sold at post-offices and articles supplied to District Boards and Municipalities. The value of articles sold to the general public is very small, and probably does not exceed two lakhs.

"The Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has been pleased to express his approval of the provision for the construction of residences for Munsifs. It is hoped that in time these officers will all be properly housed, especially those serving in the more unhealthy parts of the Province. In this connection, I would invite attention to the allotments of Rs. 75,000 for the Civil Court building and Record-room of the new Judgeship of Darbhanga, and of Rs. 61,000 for the Civil Courts at Jessore. The question of providing a separate Judgeship for Khulna is now under the consideration of Government.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal takes exception to the appointment of a Fourth Presidency Magistrate on the ground that it will tend to deprive the Honorary Magistrates of their legitimate share in the administration of justice. Government is fully aware of the excellent services rendered by these public-spirited gentlemen, and it is desired to employ them as much as possible in the disposal of simple cases, which can be finished at one or two hearings. On the other hand, it is not fair to ask them to spare from their private concerns the time needed to deal with highly contested or complicated cases, in which there must be several adjournments. Experience has shown that it is best for all concerned that cases of this kind should be heard by whole-time stipendiary Magistrates. The need for a fourth such Magistrate is very great. In September last, the work of the Police Court had become so congested that a Fourth Magistrate was appointed as a temporary measure. The Government of India have been asked to sanction his appointment for a further period of six months, pending a final decision on the question of making the appointment a permanent one. This course has been recommended by the two Hon'ble Judges of the High Court, who recently made an inspection of the Police Courts. The necessity for taking some such step for keeping the work up to date has also been indicated in communications received from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and from the Pleaders practising in the Police Courts.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji has referred at length to the system of the administration of justice in the Sonthal Parganas. The Hon'ble Member is perhaps not aware that the subject is under the consideration of Government and that the Commissioner of Bhagalpur will shortly submit a full report on the subject. Pending receipt of that report, it would be premature to make any definite pronouncement. I may notice, however, that the portion of the Hon'ble Member's argument which refers to the alleged delays in the Courts of the Sub divisional Officers who try Sub-Judge suits is based on a misapprehension The Hon'ble Member says that suits, which in Regulation districts take only a few days to try, take months or years to finish in the Sonthal Parganas. The Civil Administration Reports for the last three years, however, show that, in the Sonthal Parganas, Sub-Judge suits lasted, on an average, for only a little more than five months, whereas in the Regulation districts their average duration was more than eleven months.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram asks that more active steps may be taken to secure the destruction of man-eating tigers. To avoid delay in the offer of rewards, Commissioners of Divisions were empowered two years ago to offer rewards up to a limit of Rs. 500, without reference to Government. The Deputy Commissioner and Divisional Forest Officer of Singhbhum have also been empowered, of their own motion, to grant rewards up to Rs. 100. Unfortunately, the destruction of a man-eating tiger is not such a simple matter as it may seem to the Hon'ble Member. These animals are peculiarly cunning, and they wander over a large tract of country. The Koderma tiger was not killed until some months after the maximum reward had been proclaimed; and, at the present time, another of these brutes is still wandering at large, in spite of the numerous efforts which have been made to earn the price put upon his head.

"I now turn to the most important subject of all—Education. The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh criticizes the increased expenditure on the directing and inspecting staff of the Education Department, and suggests that the staff has gained at the expense of objects worthier of State support, such as the University and Government Schools. I wholly disagree with this view. The grants made by Government for Educational purposes have increased considerably during the last few years; and it is obviously necessary, if these sums are to be well and wisely spent, that there should be an adequate directing and supervising staff. The increase under the head 'Direction,' referred to by the Hon'ble Member, is due to the appointment in the year 1902-03 of an Assistant Director. The work in the Education Department has, however, become so onerous that a further addition to the directing staff is urgently needed. I trust that the time is not far off when a special officer will be appointed to supervise Technical and Industrial Schools. The Hon'ble Member is mistaken in his figures regarding the expenditure under the head 'Inspection.' The expenditure under this head in the undivided Province was Rs. 3,58,000, and not Rs. 2,57,000. The latter figure represents the expenditure in 1901-02, in respect of the Province as now constituted. The subsequent increase to Rs. 4,78,000 is not due, as the Hon'ble Member seems to think, to the appointment of an additional staff, but to the taking over of the Sub-Inspectors serving under the District Boards. It will be seen that there is a corresponding decrease under the head 'Local.' Fresh appointments to the inspecting staff are now being made in accordance with the scheme sanctioned by the Secretary of State; and in this direction there will be a large increase of expenditure during the year 1907-08. As already stated, the first step, if any real progress is to be made, is to have an adequate and efficient inspecting staff.

"The Hon'ble Member complains that all sums paid to Primary Schools and Secondary Schools are lumped together against the head 'Grants-in-aid.' In future the amounts will be shown separately for each class of schools. Another complaint is that Secondary Education is being disregarded in favour of Primary Education. There is no foundation for this suggestion. Special efforts are being made to foster the spread of Primary Education, but this does not mean that the claims of Secondary Education are overlooked. Steps are being taken, wherever possible, to increase the grants to high and middle schools. The Hon'ble Member is mistaken in thinking that such grants are being 'unsparingly reduced.'

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose, dissenting apparently from the views expressed by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, complains that Primary Education has been neglected. It is true that the additional grant sanctioned for the current year was not fully spent. This, however, was due to causes which will not recur; and even this year there has been progress. The number of Primary Schools for boys increased during the year by 1 per cent., and the number of pupils attending them by 2 per cent.; while in the case of girls the total number of schools of all kinds increased by 12 per cent., and that of pupils by 10 per cent. I bring these latter figures to the notice of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, with reference to his remarks on Female Education. We admit the magnitude of the task before us, but we claim that steady progress is being made towards the desired goal.

"I cannot understand the objections to the training of gurus, put forward by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose. Surely this is one of the most necessary reforms with which the Education Department is concerned; and I am glad to see that the action taken in this direction meets with the full approval of the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad. The Hon'ble Member also seems to take exception to the proposal to train female teachers, and to argue that Middle Vernacular Schools can be started with male teachers. The middle standard, however, takes pupils up to the age of 14, and I am not yet convinced that it is possible for girls of this age to study under male teachers.

"I am glad to learn from the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu and the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal that the contemplated grant of Free Primary Education is a measure that has given general satisfaction. When the time comes, the suggestion that any assignment of funds due to Calcutta should be made over to the Corporation will receive due consideration. It is satisfactory to learn from the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad that the provision for maktabs has met with the approval of the Muhammadan community.

"The subject of Technical Education has been adverted to by several Hon'ble Members, and in particular by the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal and the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. The question was fully considered last year at a Conference presided over by Mr. Oldham, Director of Agriculture. The conclusion arrived at was, that the best plan would be to provide further facilities for instruction at the Sibpur Engineering College, and steps have already been taken to carry out this recommendation. A special Educational Officer has recently been appointed to hold industrial chemistry classes there.

"It is, however, a very difficult matter to provide for all the different kinds of technical training at one single educational centre. What is needed is a number of separate Technical Institutions in the places where the industries connected with them are carried on. It is for this reason that the weaving school will be established at Serampore, which may be regarded as the head-quarters of the weaving industry. I understand that the Director of Public Instruction intends shortly to address Government with a view to further action in the direction of developing Technical Education. The first step would possibly be to place some one on special duty to make a general study of the industrial position and possibilities, to collect information regarding the various industries, and to endeavour to ascertain the causes of their rise or decline, and so pave the way for the establishment of the requisite technical schools.

"Several Hon'ble Members have urged that the grant of Rs. 35,000 for Technical Education is far too small. This sum, however, only represents the grant to the weaving school at Serampore There are numerous other items of expenditure on Technical Education which are entered in the Budget, such as those for the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur and the Bihar School of Engineering at Patna. I may add, with reference to the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji's remarks, that Rs. 63,000 has already been spent on the acquisition of land for the weaving school at Serampore, that buildings have been hired, and that the project will be in full swing as soon as the Principal and his Assistant arrive from England. It was not considered advisable to spend money on the erection of buildings, until expert advise was available. The allotment of Rs. 35,000 in the Budget for the coming year is to meet the recurring expenditure.

"I now turn to the remarks made by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, other than those with which I have already dealt in connection with the speeches of other Hon'ble Members. The Hon'ble Member has quoted statistics to show how small a sum is spent on Education in India, as compared with European countries. I am unable, on the spur of the moment, to follow him through all his figures, or to examine them in all their bearings. It is, however, obvious that the expenditure must depend on the income available; and it is quite clear that the Government of India cannot rival Switzerland in spending more than Rs. 9 per head of the population on Education, when its total revenue from all sources is not much more than Rs. 4. I would add that the expenditure on Education shown in our Budget is only direct expenditure from Provincial Funds. It does not include the expenditure incurred by District Boards and Municipalities The point of view from which this question should be regarded is the proportion of the total revenue which is devoted to Education in India, as compared with European countries. Even then, the comparison is vitiated by the varying educational needs of the two communities, owing to the different stages of industrial development reached by them.

"The Hon'ble Member, while thanking Government for the Re-organization Scheme, complains that it does not afford adequate relief. It is admitted that the scheme, though it involved an additional expenditure of nearly two lakhs a year, was not all that could be wished. It was impossible at the time to do more, owing to financial considerations. It cannot be gainsaid, however, that the measures already taken represent a substantial step in advance. I have recently stated, in reply to a question put by the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh, that the question of the re-organization of the Lower Subordinate Educational Service will be considered in connection with the letter of the Government of India regarding Secondary Education. I may add that the first favourable opportunity will be taken for considering further improvements in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services. As regards the relative position of the Indian and Provincial Educational Services, I am unable to make any definite pronouncement at present. I may say, however, that Government hopes shortly to have an opportunity of considering the question raised by the Hon'ble Member, and that, if that opportunity occurs, his remarks will receive careful and sympathetic attention.

"The Hon'ble Member refers to the small pay given to gurus in Primary Schools. I am well aware that the pay of these men is not what it should be. It must, however, be remembered that the great majority of them are not Government or District Boards' servants, but that they are employed in aided or unaided schools. Their remuneration depends on circumstances over which Government has no control. Another reason why they are paid at such low rates is, that their educational equipment is extremely modest. Steps are now being taken to train gurus, and there is no doubt that the trained men will secure a higher rate of pay.

"The Hon'ble Member complains of the smallness of the grant of Rs. 46,000 for the improvement of the Presidency College. The grant is admittedly small, but it is impossible for the Director of Public Instruction to submit schemes of improvement until the question of removal is settled. On this point, many interests have had to be considered and numerous persons have been consulted. It is hoped, however, that a final decision will soon be arrived at.

"The Director of Public Instruction will be requested to consider the Hon'ble Member's remarks regarding the Hindu and Hare Schools The accommodation at the Hindu School is insufficient, but it is not certain that this is the case at the Hare School. The want of play-grounds is of course felt, but this is not a matter which admits of solution at the present time. No application has hitherto been put forward for a new school in the south of Calcutta. I cannot agree with the objections taken by the Hon'ble Member to the removal of the Sibpur College to a place distant from an industrial centre. It is not necessary or desirable that a College which imparts advanced technical education should be at the head-quarters of any particular industry. The primary function of the Sibpur College is to provide higher technical training in Civil, Mechanical, Electrical and Mining Engineering, and to supply Experts and Teachers for the use of the leading industries of the country. No one centre can be selected which will be equally in touch with all the industries; and, as I have explained above, no one institution will supply all the various kinds of training for the different industries. For this purpose it is necessary that separate technical institutions should be established, as opportunity arises, in the districts in which large industries prevail.

"The Hon'ble Member has referred to the delay which has occurred in bringing into effect the scheme for providing a training college for teachers.

The delay is due to the fact that Mr. Varley, who was brought to inaugurate this scheme, strongly disapproved of the manner in which it had been drawn up. A fresh scheme has now been elaborated by him in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction, and it is hoped that this will be sanctioned without much further delay. Meanwhile, Mr. Varley will be employed in inspecting Secondary Schools on behalf of the University; one of his assistants will be employed as Inspector of Schools in the Patna Division and another to assist the Head Master of the Patna Collegiate School. The remaining one will assist the Head Master of the Hindu and Hare Schools. I am glad to be able to inform the Hon'ble Member that Government has fulfilled the promise made last year to restore the number and value of the senior and junior scholarships to the amounts at which they previously stood. I am also happy to be able to state that Government will provide funds to make up the deficit in the private contributions towards the Calcutta Women's Training College Scheme."

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS said:—"I desire to notice some suggestions, to afford some information which has been asked for, and to meet some criticisms which have fallen from Hon'ble Members in the course of this debate, regarding the Department of Public Works and the Marine Department which I have the honour to represent.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram has stated in connection with the Hospital Port Dues Fund that complaints have been made by the Shipping that European sailors cannot get accommodation readily at the Presidency General Hospital, and he has suggested that the balance at the credit of the Fund might be utilized to build a separate block for the use of Seamen, which should also subsequently be maintained from the Fund.

"No specific complaints in this matter have been preferred to Government by those directly interested, but the Chamber of Commerce at the end of November last made a similar general complaint. On a reference to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, that Officer replied that it was only in rare instances that there was a difficulty in admitting European sailors at the Presidency General Hospital when there were no vacant beds, and that no difficulty was experienced at the other Hospitals. This was intimated to the Chamber in a letter of the 4th of March, and at the same time the Chamber was furnished with a statement of the number of seamen treated at the various hospitals and of the payments to the hospitals from the Fund on their account; while it does not appear that there is any serious difficulty in meeting the present requirements of the Shipping, the suggestion that a separate block or ward should be built and maintained from the Fund is certainly one deserving of the fullest consideration which will be given to it.

"The Hon'ble Member also says that he understands that the Mayo Hospital gets no grant from the Fund, and he suggests that the Port Act be amended, so that hospitals treating sick lascars may be assisted from the Fund. The Hon'ble Member appears to be under some misapprehension, and he has not perhaps made a reference to the Act. As a matter of fact, the word 'seaman' as used in the Act is in no way restricted to European seamen, and there is nothing in the way of grants being given to hospitals for the treatment of lascars. In the year 1905-06, Rs. 32 were paid to the Mayo Hospital; and as in all cases payment is made not as a fixed grant but as an allowance per man treated, this would indicate that at present not many lascars make use of that hospital.

"As regards the investment of the balance at credit of this Fund, I may say that this is being arranged for, and it is proposed at present to vest Rs. 1,75,000.

"The rate of the due was reduced last April, and it is intended that in future the income shall not be materially greater than the normal outlay. The accounts for the year 1906-07 are not yet complete, but as far as believed they would seem to indicate that some further reduction in the rate of due may be possible.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram has alluded to the periodical withdrawal of the Steam Pilot-vessel, the Fraser, from the Sandheads, and has stated that this causes great inconvenience to the Shipping. Now I wish to point out that it was never contemplated that the Fraser should be employed alone as a Pilot-vessel. A steam-vessel is required mainly during the Monsoon, when there is a risk of a sailing-vessel being driven off the station by bad weather. In fine weather, the vessels are supplied with Pilots just as easily from one of the sailing-brigs as from the steam-vessel. The authorities of the Dockyard, who are the responsible Advisers of Government in matters relating to the repair of the steam-vessel, consider it necessary that as far as possible it should not remain at the Sandheads for more than six to eight weeks, according to weather, without coming up for coaling and for petty repairs, which occupy usually a period of about half a month. One item alone which requires regular attention is the painting of the surface of the hull at the water line, which from the constant boat work is specially liable to injury. The visits to town are necessary both for efficiency and for economy.

"The fact that the steam-vessel can be used for wireless telegraphy is an incident and it is not the reason for which the vessel was obtained. It is no doubt a pity that it is not practicable to fit one of the sailing-brigs with a wireless installation, but after all the trade of Calcutta appears to have got on very well in the past without this adjunct.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink asks that Government will take steps to improve the Water-ways of Bengal, and he suggests that a larger expenditure on these might help to facilitate trade and to reduce the prices of raw materials and food-stuffs. I think that the Hon'ble Member has not perhaps realized what a large trade there is at present on the water-ways. I would refer him to the Annual Reports on the trade carried by Rail and River in Bengal, compiled by the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence. In this Report, there is an immense amount of information on the subject of the transport of goods. In Tables VI and VII, are given the figures for the various articles imported into and exported from the Calcutta trade block by the various methods of carriage. If the Hon'ble Member will refer to these, he will see what a large share of the total trade is now carried along the water-ways by boat and by inland-steamers. As a matter of fact, I believe that the water-districts have very good communications. I do not say that they are not capable of improvement, and as a matter of fact the question of such improvement is receiving attention; but I think there are very few places now left in Bengal, and certainly none in the Eastern Districts, where the price of raw materials or of food-stuffs remains at a low level for want of communications with a larger market.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram urges the importance of the proposed Canal between the Bidyadhari and the Hooghly, known as the Tolly's Nullah Scheme. As I said at this time last year, it is a matter of £ s. d. The Government of India will not give any favour to the scheme unless it can be shown that it will pay its way; that is, that it will earn at least 4 per cent. on its capital outlay, after paying working expenses. We have not been able to do this yet. But we will try again. The Hon'ble Member has quoted from a speech of the Chairman of the India General Navigation and Railway Company. It is only natural that a Carrying Company should wish the public revenues to be expended on schemes which would benefit itself, whatever the result might be to the tax-payer. But this raises a general question of policy, which is beyond the range of this Council.

"The Hon'ble Member suggests that the Local Government should raise its own loans. Such a procedure, as Agent for the Government of India, is already provided for in the Regulations of the Government of India, which are generally known as the Public Works Code; but if this were put in practice, it would not in any way affect the subordination of the Local Government.

For all projects of whatever nature likely to cost more than 10 lakhs for works only or 12½ lakhs for all charges, the sanction of the Secretary of State is required before the project can be taken up. And it is here and not in the particular method of raising funds, that the control is exercised. As regards the present state of Tolly's Nullah, it is certainly bad; but I do not know that it is worse than it has been any time in the last 50 years. In 1883, Mr. Buckley, when reporting on an earlier scheme of canalizing the Nullah, wrote:—

'Experience has shown that any improvement to the Nullah is almost entirely a waste of money; if the bed is deepened it silts up again in a few months to its normal section, and it deteriorates very slowly, if at all, after it has done so. The Nullah has been a navigable stream for more than 100 years; but if the bed in the most shallow part be deepened three feet, it will fill up again in six months.'

"The recent experience is an exact confirmation of this. Last year we closed the Nullah, and spent about Rs. 36,000 in deepening the bed at the shallowest part; and within a very short time it was just as bad as before. Nothing but making it a locked Canal, like that at Chitpur, would do good; while the cost of this has been held to be out of proportion to the volume of traffic.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram also suggests canalizing the Damuda River, by which I understand he means providing the river itself with weirs and locks, as has been done on the Thames and on several of the rivers in France. The cost of doing this would be enormous, and it is altogether out of the question. The Damuda is a large river when in flood, to which a river such as the Thames is a mere trout-stream. As far back as 1866, a project was considered for a Canal from the Damuda near Raniganj to lock into the Hooghly at Serampore, with the object of conveying coal. Detailed plans and estimates were prepared for such a Canal which was also to supply water for irrigation. It was, however, held that there was no prospect of the scheme being a success financially, and it was therefore dropped. Colonel Strachey wrote then on behalf of the Government of India, what is equally true now. He said:—

'With regard to the coal traffic, it must be recollected that the rail in every case can be carried to the pit's mouth. In the case of the Canal on the other hand there must be land carriage from the pit's mouth to the bank, and transhipment is therefore inevitable.'

"The Hon'ble Mr. Bertram asks that the Eastern Bengal State Railway may be pressed to provide better facilities for Fish traffic. The Hon'ble Member is doubtless aware the Bengal Government does not control or intervene in the working of the Railway. The Manager of the Railway has, however, favoured me with some information on the subject. In 1903, it was decided, in consultation with the Agents of the Linde Refrigerating Company, that refrigeration vans were not suitable, but that the fish traffic could be carried more conveniently and safely packed in ice and in ventilated wagons. A low wagon rate for ice was introduced in January, 1904, and ten properly ventilated fish-wagons were placed in the line in the half-year ending December, 1906.

"The Hon'ble Member has asked that the marbles, brasses and historical tombs in St. John's Church may be renovated by Government. I am informed that these are at present held to be private property; but that it is under consideration to bring those of importance or interest on the register of Historical Monuments which are maintained from the public revenues.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose has drawn adverse attention to the fact that a sum of Rs. 75,000, which was provided in last year's Budget, for a navigation scheme on the Bhairab River at Jessore has not been utilized. I may explain for the information of the Hon'ble Member that it was found that the scheme, the object of which was to deepen the river in the interests of navigation, would cost not less than four lakhs; while it would be of small value. The Bhairab is at present navigable up to Singhia, about 10 miles below Jessore, where there is a direct connection with the Railway. The scheme was not one to improve drainage, and the fact that it has been decided not to go on with it, in no way affects the scheme which is under the consideration of the District Board, for the drainage into the Bhairab of certain bheels in the vicinity of Jessore town.

"The Hon'ble Member suggests that the charge for the establishment of the Public Works Department employed on Civil Works, and which in the present Budget he shows to be equivalent to 14 per cent. on the outlay on works, is excessive. He has not given any reasons for his belief that the establishment might be reduced. However, I may say that a rate of 14 per cent. for all charges, direction and account as well as executive, is a very low one. We obtain from the Government of India a rate of 23 per cent. on outlay on Imperial Works, and this is the rate which has to be provided in all schemes for Productive Works. As lately as 1903, the Government of India reviewed this charge and adhered to the rate as being generally fair. So far as figures are an indication, they indicate that our present establishment is too small for the work to be done and not too large.

"The Hon'ble Member also draws attention to the reduction in the tollage receipts from the Nadia Rivers. He has perhaps omitted to read the note in the margin in the Financial Statement, page 23, which explains that the reduction in tolls is due to a reduction in the rate of tolls, and to the bad rice-crop in certain districts which caused a diversion of traffic. It had nothing to do with the state of the channels.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji takes exception to the orders of the Government of India, which regulate the purchase in this country of stores of European Manufacture. This is of course not a matter in which the Local Government has any jurisdiction, but I may perhaps explain, for the information of the Hon'ble Member, what the present conditions really are, as he appears to be under some misapprehension. Under the present rules, which have been in force since July, 1904, an Executive Engineer can use his discretion within a limit of Rs. 200 for individual articles. A Superintending Engineer can authorize purchase in this country up to a limit of Rs. 1,000, and a Local Government can authorize purchase in this country without any limit as to amount. That this discretionary power is made use of, the following figures will show. In 1905-06, European stores to the value of Rs. 2,53,595 were purchased in this Province, and in 1906 07 the purchases amounted to Rs. 3,62,500 approximately.

"It is of course as a rule preferable to get such stores by indent from England, because they then cost less and there is a wider market to draw from. On the other hand, it is often not convenient to wait, and it is necessary to purchase in this country. It is a matter in which discretion is required, and in which it is used. It cannot be said that there is anything to complain of in the rules as they now stand.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has drawn a sad picture of the ill-doings of the Port Commissioners with respect to a part of the riverside lands. I think that what he describes as apparent ruin is really the temporary dislocation due to advancing commerce, and I hope it will be soon remedied. I may, however, point out to the Hon'ble Member that not very long ago he was himself a Port Commissioner, and as the state of affairs he has so vividly pictured can hardly have arisen in a day, I am sure he is willing to receive himself the censure he wishes conveyed to those who were lately his fellow Commissioners, for their default.

"The Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has asked that something should be done to improve the volume of water in the Bhagirathi River as a source of water-supply for drinking. So far as my present information goes, although there is not sufficient depth of water in the Bhagirathi for navigation during the dry season, there is no lack of water in the river to meet the requirements of the people on its banks for drinking or for watering cattle. If, however, it is the case that the supply is really deficient in this respect, it would not be a very expensive matter to increase it as we have done in the present season for the Bairab-Jellinghee, by dredging at the intake from the Ganges.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Spink has asked for some information with respect to the addition which is being made to the buildings of the High Court. The present addition provides a waiting-room for the Jury; it also provides separate waiting-rooms for ladies and gentlemen, both Indian and European; but it has not been found practicable within the space available to provide refreshment-rooms.

"Now, Sir, I desire with your permission to say something on a subject which is rather of the nature of a perennial than an annual in this Council—I mean the connection between obstructed or defective Drainage and Malarial Fever. It is a large and complex question, and I wish it to be understood that in the remarks I am about to make, I am expressing my personal views and that these are not necessarily the views of Government. I have, however, been recently engaged as a Member of a Committee on an inquiry into the matter in the districts of the Presidency Division, and it may be of some interest if I state very briefly the conclusions that we have arrived at.

"This is not the place, nor have I the knowledge required, for a dissertation on the cause of Malaria. I speak subject to correction, but, as I understand, Medical Science is at present unable to say anything definite about the original source of the germs which cause the sickness. What is known is, that the germs are communicated from man to man through the agency of a certain variety of mosquito. The mosquito for its development requires moisture in some form, either in the form of water or in damp soil and undergrowth. It would seem then clear that drainage, so far as it will deprive mosquitos of their breeding-grounds, must be beneficial.

"It is, however, of great importance to know what we really mean when we talk of drainage and of obstructed-drainage. I think from what Hon'ble Members have said to-day and from what has been said on former occasions in this room, that there is a somewhat general impression that it is desirable to restore to their former state, as flowing effluents of the Ganges, those channels which have by the operation of natural causes ceased to distribute its waters to the part of the delta in which they are situated. There appears also still to be an impression, which is perhaps less general, that the banks of roads and railways have caused and are causing some general obstruction to the drainage.

"As regards the former of those ideas, it is I daresay the case that if the operations of nature could be altered it would do good to one part, though in all probability at the expense of another. However, for practical purposes it must, I think, be accepted that it is not possible to fight with nature in this matter, and that what is necessary is to try to improve the existing conditions. I would also just point out that drainage means drawing water off land and not bringing water on to land, which is what it is desired to do in restoring the dead rivers. Then as regards the Roads and Railways. There may of course be places where small areas are affected by the want of sufficient water-way and which can be remedied if brought to notice; but there does not appear to be anything to show that there is any serious obstruction from this cause.

"The serious obstructions appear to be due to two chief causes,—first, the pits and holes in and about the sites of villages; and, second, the cultivation of the winter rice. The former provides the best of breeding grounds for mosquitos; while the latter, which requires the holding up of the water close to the villages up to the middle of November, supplies more mosquitos and aids in keeping the village damp. Another factor which in the eyes of the Medical Officers is a very large factor is, the dense undergrowth which there is in so many villages. I am very glad to see that the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has spoken so clearly about his matter, because it seems to be of the greatest importance.

"There is a large extent of swamp-land in the bheels, which undoubtedly is prejudicial both to cultivation and to health; but as regards the latter, it does not appear to be of such great importance as the obstructions in and immediately around the village sites. We are beginning to know something about the conditions under which the fever is most prevalent; but there is probably still much to learn. One thing that strikes me as interesting is this. In Orissa, which is a country growing almost nothing but rice, there is comparatively little malarial fever. The recorded ratio of mortality from fever in the Orissa Division, as a whole, is much less than in any other part of the Province. I think it is well deserving of inquiry whether there are reasons to be found which can explain the difference.

"Now although the lands in the delta of the Ganges are necessarily low, there is still no physical difficulty in draining them, that is in drawing off the water from them. I suppose there is no part much worse than that on which the town of Calcutta stands, and one has only to look at the Maidan to see what can be done.

"On the other hand, as this would imply the abandonment of the cultivation of winter rice near all village sites, it may be said that this is quite impracticable. I said last year that judging from the experience in Italy on this question, I thought it would be found impracticable in India to restrict the irrigation of rice near inhabited places, and it might be still more difficult to restrict the cultivation when only the natural rain-water is used.

"At the same time this is a question that must be thought out by the zamindars and cultivators themselves, and they must consider the question with their eyes open to the fact that, at all events in some situations, rice cultivation close to the villages means Malaria.

"What is certainly practicable is, to drain swamps as has been done in the Hooghly and Howrah districts, which improves cultivation and at all events gets the land dry by January. I am afraid, Sir, that my friend, the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, will tell you that drainage-works of this class are expensive luxuries to the zamindar, whatever they may be to the cultivator. There are, however, many places in which the works would be much less expensive than those draining to the Hooghly, where the great rise and fall of tide necessitate expensive sluices. Here, again, we want the fully-considered opinion of the landholders and representatives of cultivators, whether such measures can be left to the parties directly interested to take action under the Drainage Act or the Sanitary Drainage Act, or whether Government should exercise the powers it possesses to compel action under the Embankment Act.

"As regards the improvement of the village-sites, I hardly know what to say. The Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad would apparently invoke the direct action of Government. He says: 'Government must step in to do for us what we cannot do ourselves.' But think what it would mean to have a Government Department interfering directly with the surroundings of the homes of the whole rural population. Surely, this is a matter in which the cure must commence from within. We cannot make people moral by law or edict, and I doubt if we can make them healthy by compulsion.

"We hear, Sir, much at the present time of the very laudable desire of Indian gentlemen to take a larger share in administering the affairs of their country. I can imagine no better way of taking such a share than for the landholders and representatives of the peasantry to co-operate with Government in this matter. What we require is their aid in suggesting what can be done, and not mere demands to do something which is impossible. Is it possible to restrict cultivation of winter rice? Can we compel villagers to clear undergrowth through the agency of District Boards or Union Committees? These, Sir, are questions which I think it is for Government to ask, and for Hon'ble Members and their friends to answer.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose advocates spending crores of rupees and doing great deeds with borrowed money. When dealing with the report of the Irrigation Commission which had recommended that Loan Funds should be applied to the construction of protective, that is of unremunerative, works of Irrigation, the Government of India who did not accept the recommendation said: 'We do not affirm that there are no circumstances in which it would be justifiable to spend Loan Funds on non-productive purposes. That course may occasionally be unavoidable as in the case of a great work or of urgent military preparations.'

"I can understand the Hon'ble Member arguing that a war against Malaria is a better cause than a war against another State, and the argument might possibly be held sound if it could be shown that we know exactly what we want to do and what the effect will be. But we are very far from this. We are at present only in the stage of rather fruitless theoretical discussion. I think it is time that we entered on the stage of experiment which is the only way of testing theory.

"I quite sympathize with the Hon'ble Member in his desire that something should be done, and I hope that it may be found possible to set aside each year, from Provincial Revenues, a certain sum for expenditure on experimental measures of Rural Sanitation.

"I must apologize to you, Sir, and to the Members of the Council for the length of my remarks."

The Hon'ble MR. CARLYLE said:—"Your Honour, I do not propose to inflict on the Council a long speech. I will touch mainly on a few points relating to the Departments specially under my charge, but I will also briefly refer to a few remarks of the previous speakers during the debate.

"As regards the Agricultural Department, I have laid on the table a Note by Mr. Oldham, showing the main items of progress during 1906-07.

"The first thing that has to be done before the Agricultural Department can really do all that an Agricultural Department should do is, to get its Experts. We must, at starting, be dependent on Experts from Home, but I hope this will not last long. We have pressed on the Government of India the importance of giving such terms to men who entered the Department, as to enable us to enlist men of the same class as those who now enter the Provincial and Subordinate Executive Service and the Subordinate Judicial Service. Till we have a sufficient number of Experts, progress must necessarily be comparatively slow; and we cannot turn out our Experts in sufficient numbers until our Agricultural College has been started for some years.

"Land has been purchased for the Provincial Agricultural College, which is to be established near Bhagalpur. I hope the building will be ready next year.

"Over 200 acres of land have been acquired for an Agricultural Experimental Station near Bankipur, and the necessary establishment has been appointed. A tassar-silk farm has been opened at Chaibassa. At the Cuttack and Burdwan stations, practical demonstrations have been given, showing that paddy and jute can be grown in the same year and on the same land in rotation with much profit. This is a matter to which, I think, you will agree with me in attaching very great importance. Important results have been obtained as regards sugarcane and cotton in various districts. Another very important step in advance that has been made during the year is, the issue of leaflets in the vernacular, describing the results of work done at Agricultural Stations, and indicating important methods of cultivation of certain of the most important crops. Important proposals are under consideration which would enable us to supply a much larger quantity of good seed to the silk-rearers than is at present the case. These proposals were framed after a careful inquiry into the subject by a Committee, over which the Director of Agriculture presided and of which the Maharaja of Cossimbazar was a Member. We are awaiting a reply from the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam as to the amount they are prepared to contribute, as the scheme, if fully carried out, will benefit both Provinces.

"The Hon'ble Members will, I think, agree with me that Mr. Oldham's Note shows that a very satisfactory start has been made by the Agricultural Department in its first year under a separate Chief.

"The expenditure during the year was Rs. 4,09,000. It is hoped to spend over 2 lakhs more this year, namely, Rs. 6,15,000.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remarks regarding Agriculture I hope my remarks on general questions have already made clear that there are limits to what it is possible to do at present. We must have our competent men to place in charge of Model Farms, and I believe that Mr. Oldham has done all he can to utilize the staff now at his disposal. To appoint incompetent men, would be worse than useless. It would lead merely to results which would be untrustworthy, and which, if pressed on the Agricultural population, would discredit the Department.

"I entirely agree with the Hon'ble Member as to the necessity of improving the local type of Cattle. This is a matter which is being specially attended to at the Sibpur Farm, which is maintained by the Hathwa Estate under the advice of the Agricultural Department.

"With regard to Forests, I am glad to see the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remark that the matter is one in which the non-official circles take interest. With reference to the suggestion that a more vigorous policy might be adopted, I would inform the Hon'ble Member that the matter has had the constant attention of Government and of the Conservator of Forests. I believe the Conservator of Forests is spending every rupee that it is possible for him to spend to advantage with his present staff. I hope the staff will soon be strengthened.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's remarks regarding the inquiry into the possibilities of developing the Fish Industry in Bengal, this Government is fully aware of its importance. It is hoped that the Secretary of State will agree to the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta being deputed to the United States and Canada to investigate some of the measures adopted in those countries, and that on his return an Expert from Home will be associated with him in his labours.

"As regards General Administration, I would notice the criticism of the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose on the expenditure of large sums for the Sundarbans reclamation. He objects to it on the ground that it violates the principle hitherto followed that, Government should not compete with private capitalists in such work to the detriment of the latter. The question, of Government undertaking the reclamations in the Sundarbans, was forced on us by the very unsatisfactory relations between the lease-holders and the raiyats in many of the cases where reclamation leases have been given, and it seems very desirable to try the experiment of Government dealing direct with the raiyats. In connection with this main object, when reclamations commenced in Fraserganj, it was found it might at no very great cost also be made a Sanitarium for residents of Calcutta, especially during the hot weather and after the rains.

"The Hon'ble Member has criticised at some length the Government policy in connection with the prevention of Malaria. This is not a matter dealt with by any of the departments under my charge, but, as an old District Officer, I would ask the Members of Council to bear in mind the extraordinary difficulty of dealing with the matter, not merely on account of the expenditure involved but also on account of the great difficulty in carrying with us the masses of the population (and it is necessary to carry with us the masses if any real improvement is to be effected) where any questions of sanitary reform are concerned. I believe there are many parts of the country, where to suggest that jungle should be cut down round the villagers' houses would cause a rising of the population. The jungle has been planted to secure privacy, and no amount of arguing on our part as to its insanitary nature would, in the smallest degree, reconcile the mass of the population to any attempt on the part of Government to deal with the question on sanitary lines.

"I know of no ground for the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji's allegation as to mortality in Darbhanga. The death-rate is and has for some time been unusually low. Famines are no more a terror than they used to be. Distress is now at once brought to notice where in former days no remedial measures would have been adopted, and outside the local area no one would have known.

"With regard to the remarks that have fallen from the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, on the subject of the necessity of careful work in connection with Survey and Settlement Operations and the appointment of more experienced men for decision of objections under section 103 (a), this is a matter which has constantly been drawing the attention of Government. In future, as soon as a sufficient number of Sub-Deputy Collectors have received sufficient training to enable them to do Settlement Work, no outsiders will be appointed as Settlement Officers, and I hope it may hereafter be possible to get a certain number of officers with more judicial experience. It must, however, be remembered that a more highly-trained staff involves as a rule larger expenditure, and Government has always to consider the question of preventing the costs from bearing too heavily on the people.

"Police Department.—Steady progress has been made in carrying out the reforms sanctioned by the Government of India. A Deputy Inspector-General has been appointed in special charge of the Crime Department and of Railways, and a third Range Deputy Inspector-General has been appointed. These reforms are of great importance, as it is necessary to have a senior Officer-in-charge of the Crime Department which has now become a very heavy and important one, and Railways also need special attention. The third Range Deputy Inspector-General was necessary to enable the Deputy Inspector-General to deal properly with other matters than office inspection. A very important departure has been made in the appointment of Deputy Superintendents. These appointments can only be given to Indians or Statutory Natives. A number of additional Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, Head Constables and Constables have been appointed, and 500 town chaukidars have been replaced by constables. Grade promotion has been given to a number of officers. Local and house-rent allowances have been granted to officers stationed in Howrah or Calcutta.

"Two lakhs of rupees have been spent on improvements to Police Buildings in the Mufassal and on quarters for Officers. The Police Commission specially noted the very unsatisfactory accommodation provided at many of the thanas in Bengal, and the expenditure under this head is most urgent.

"The work of the Criminal Investigation Department continues to develop, and it has during the past year achieved much success in dealing with organized crime.

"I notice that the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has criticised the allotment of funds to the District Police and the Subordinate Police Force, respectively. Out of the Government of India's grant for the years 1905-07, Rs. 11,67,000 has been given for the Provincial Police. Of this sum, Rs. 2,18,580 has been given to the Superior Force, and Rs. 9,48,420 to the Subordinate Police Force, i.e., the grant is being divided in the proportion of 18·7 to the Superior Force, and 81·3 to the Subordinate Force. This is in accordance with the ratio of the present grant to the total sum to be finally given to this Province. A comparatively large grant has been given this year to the Superior Force, as the reforms commenced with the Subordinate Establishment. In 1905-0-6, only Rs. 80,000 were spent on the Superior Force as against Rs. 7,1.,000 on the Subordinate Force. A larger grant of Rs. 1,37,700 to the Superior Force this year was necessary, in order to give the same rate of progress to that branch of the Force. I would also point out to the Hon'ble Member that the grant to the Superior Police Force this year includes provision for 16 Deputy Superintendents of Police.

"Before leaving the subject of Police, I would notice a rather singular suggestion by the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji, regarding the reduc, tion of Military Police. I think that instead of having too large an Armed Force it is perhaps too small. The Armed Reserves in each district are not in any sense of the word a Military Force. They merely consist of a few armed men, contantly shifting in personnel, taken temporarily from the general Police Force of the district. Their numbers vary from 20 to 50 in a district, e.g., a district like Midnapore with a population of over two million and-a-half has only an Armed Force of 50 men to prevent disturbances. Law-abiding as the population no doubt is on the whole, there are times when serious trouble is possible, and it must be remembered that these small armed bodies are only reinforced, so far as the Police are concerned, by three companies with more or less Military training. Should at any time serious trouble arise, we would have to fall back upon our troops, and I think the Hon'ble Member will recognize that it is most undesirable that troops should be, except on the most pressing emergency, called out to deal with internal troubles.

"With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram's criticism of the item of Rs. 25,000 for House allowances to Officers of the Criminal Investigation Department, I would point out that the allowances are given to all the Subordinate Officers attached to the Criminal Investigation Department. It is a Department which is steadily increasing in importance, and it is most necessary that we should get for it the very best officers available, and we can only do so by compensating them handsomely for the extra expense involved by their appiontment to the Department and also for the more important nature of the work.

"Co-operative Credit Societies.—Mr. Gourlay, the Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies, has supplied me with a Note on the subject, from which it appears that progress during the year has been very satisfactory. The number of registered Societies has increased during the year from 57 to 151, while the unregistered Societies have decreased from 34 to 25. This is exclusive of grain banks, of which there are about 20, not including the large grain business which is being carried on in the Sonthal Parganas. A capital of 25,000 maunds is being dealt with in that district on co-operative lines.

"Mr. Gourlay has during the winter visited over a hundred villages in which Societies exist, and has gone into details regarding some 4,000 loans. He is of opinion that the movement has made great progress, and he believes the number of members in the old Societies will greatly increase when more capital is available. He is of opinion, however, and I entirely agree with him, that it is not desirable that the numbers should increase too fast. He remarks that it is better that the few should thoroughly learn their lesson rather than that many should be given a little assistance.

"A matter of very great importance is the formation of a Co-operative Central Bank, of which the village banks should be share-holders. Mr. Gourlay holds, and here again I entirely agree with him, that outside capital should rather be raised with certain Government concessions than that it should be supplied by the State. The ultimate object is to make the Co-operative Credit Societies entirely independent of the State. I believe it would be a great mistake to introduce in Bengal anything like the system of the Egyptian Land Banks. I refer to this, as it has been mentioned in the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram. Merely to facilitate borrowing would have no permanently beneficial results on the raiyats. The only effect would be to encourage them to borrow large sums of money at lower rates of interest than is now the case, but their indebtedness would remain the same. What is wanted is to provide the check of fellow-villagers on the improvident borrower. Men who know thoroughly the resources of every fellow-villager will not allow excessive borrowings by any member of the community who belongs to the bank in which they are concerned. A Central Bank, however, is necessary in order to provide capital at the time when it is needed, and to take it back at those seasons when business is slack.

"I think, in conclusion, no greater mistake could be made than to try to force the pace too much. It is essential that the banks should be built up on a solid basis. If this is done, I have no doubt that in 10 or 15 years Co-operative Societies will have afforded incalculable benefits to the rural population of this Province.

"Registration.—In connection with the Registration Department, the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh has spoken of an increase of 2 lakhs in Registration Fees. About two-thirds of this increase appears to be due to the normal growth of revenue. One-third is probably attributable to the abnormal increase in sales and mortgages of property of small value and in obligations for payment of money due to a bad year. The total increase, therefore, due to an unusally bad year is only about Rs. 66,000. The increase is regrettable, but is not so serious, I think, as the Hon'ble Member imagines.

"Appointment Department.—As regards the Appointment Department, effect has been given to the scheme for increasing the cadre of the Provincial and Subordinate Executive Service. This is a reform which has been pressed on the Government of India for several years, and it is very satisfactory that it has been possible to give effect to it during the year. The immediate effect on the administration will not be apparent, as it will take two or three years before the newly-appointed officers are fully qualified for their work. As they become available, the present strain on the administration will be sensibly reduced.

"I may perhaps refer to the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu's attack on the unsatisfactory nature of the answers given in Council. The Hon'ble Member reminds me of the benevolent Roman who shouted with the crowd: 'The Christians to the lions', not because he himself desired to see any one eaten alive but, to please the populace. So too the Hon'ble Member would like to see a certain section of the Indian Press gratified by the daily sacrifice of a District Officer. The temper of that section of the Press which he would gratify revealed itself lately in its ready acceptance of a palpably forged letter, notwithstanding the District Officer's denial.

"I may note I do not accept the Hon'ble Member's version of the Sultanganj incidents derived no doubt from one of the papers belonging to that section."

'BRIEF NOTE, DATED THE 3RD APRIL, 1907, OF THE MAIN ITEMS OF PROGRESS IN THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, BENGAL, DURING 1906-07.

'1. Administration.—The separate appointment of Director of Agriculture was created with effect from the 3rd of April, 1906, and the Department of Agriculture finally established as a distinct Department of Government.

'2. Mr. H. H. Corbin, B SC., joined the Department towards the close of the year. This Officer, after undergoing the necessary training, will, it is proposed, undertake the duties of Principal of the Provincial Agricultural College.

'3. Experiment and Inquiry.—Four special Jute Farms were established during the year under the direct supervision of the Deputy Director of Agriculture for the production of specially-selected seed. Three hundred maunds of jute-seed were selected from these farms, and the demand for the seed was so great that it was all distributed by February, 1907.

'4. Some 340 acres of land were acquired at Sabaur, in the Bhagalpur district, for the construction of the Provincial Agricultural College and connected buildings, and for an Agricultural Experiment Station in connection therewith. Considerable progress was made during the year in aying out the land for the farm, in fencing, construction of cattle-sheds, clearing of trees and basti, ploughing of the land and growing fodder crops for the farm stock, and providing implements and machinery. The construction of the Superintendent's quarters was started by the Public Works Department.

'5. More than 200 acres of land were acquired for an Agricultural Experiment Station near Bankipore. The necessary establishment was appointed. The whole area ploughed up during the year and a considerable portion put under crops. Much progress has been made at this station in the construction of roads, erection of fencing, construction of cattle-sheds, manure pits, special canal distributary, etc. The farm has been fully stocked with cattle and implements. The construction of the Superintendent's quarters was started by the Public Works Department.

'6. In all, 156 bullocks were purchased at different fairs during the year for working the Departmental farms.

'7. A tassar-silk farm was opened at Chaibassa, an area of more than 50 acres being acquired for the purpose. Cattle were purchased and the necessary farm buildings and Superintendent's quarters were almost completed during the year. The land is being planted with Asan seedlings for the rearing of the tassar moths. Meanwhile, the land was ploughed and utilized for the growth of suitable crops.

'8. Special measures were taken at two centres in the Singhbhum district and in the Sonthal Parganas for disseminating a knowledge among the cotton-growers of the value of the cotton known as buri kapas. These measures have been so successful that the lint has found a ready sale, and more than 50 maunds of seed have been obtained for the Departmental Seed Store, and the cultivators were even loath to part with the seed.

'9. At the Cuttack and Burdwan stations, practical demonstrations were given that paddy and jute can be grown in the same year on the same land in rotation, with much profit. This is a matter of the utmost importance to the Bengal cultivator. Important collections were drawn as a result of the experiments on paddy at the Burdwan stations, and instructions issued in regard to the varieties, method of cultivation and manuring to be adopted in that district. Important experiments were carried out in connection with jute at the Burdwan station. All these results have been published in special leaflets which have been widely distributed both in English and in the Vernaculars.

'10. Similar action was taken in connection with jute at the Cuttack station, and an impetus given to the cultivation of jute in Orissa.

'11. At the Cuttack station, it was demonstrated that ground-nut could be profitably and suitably grown on a poor sandy loam, and seed was distributed to many districts.

'12. At the Dumraon station, it was demonstrated that the khari variety of sugarcane can be most successfully grown, and that this variety resisted the attacks of pigs, jackals and white-ants much more than the local varieties.

'13. At Jagdispur, in the Shahabad district, an important experiment was conducted through Mr. E. Mylne with a flood-resisting variety of sugarcane, known as the ikri variety, obtained from the Faridpur district. The importance of this work lies in the fact that large areas in the canal-irrigated tracts of Shahabad are liable to water-logging, and the local variety of cane, known as mango, will not stand such water-logging.

'14. At the Cuttack farm, demonstration was given of the working of a good sugarcane press, and some dozen presses were lent out in neighbouring villages for actual use.

'15. At this station, a number of apprentices were housed on the farm and given practical instruction in our farm methods.

'16. At this station also, an impetus was given to the cultivation of potatoe in the Orissa districts by practical demonstration of the cultivation of approved varieties on the farm and the distribution of tubers therefrom. There was evidence during the year of the result of this work, and that the cultivation of this valuable crop is being taken up in the Orissa districts.

'17. Measures were taken to disseminate a knowledge of the value of mangolds, field carrots and cattle parsnips as cattle-food, by having the crops grown in different parts of the Province through selected correspondents.

'18. Agricultural Education.—The plans for the Provincial Agricultural College, hostel, residences, workshop, quarters, etc., were prepared during the year and the manufacture of bricks started.

'19. A syllabus for the teaching of Agriculture in the higher classes at certain selected zilla and collegiate schools was drawn up, and a scheme prepared in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction for the preparation by competent authorities of a suitable text-book for such teaching.

'20. Two more selected students who had passed through the Sibpur Agricultural Classes were deputed to the Cornell College of Agriculture in America for two year's further training.

'21. Distribution of Literature and Information.—A great advance was made during the year in connection with the preparation of leaflets describing the results of the work done at the several Agricultural Stations and indicating approved methods of cultivation of certain of the most important crops. The distribution of information in this way was placed on a systematic footing during the year. Some ten leaflets were prepared and published during the year and distributed. Vernacular translations were made, where required, and distributed.

'22. Supply of Seeds, Manures and Implements.—The work in connection with the above at the Departmental Seed Store increased to such an extent during the year that the accommodation in the large godown in Pollock Street hired for the purpose, was found to be scarcely sufficient and it is possible that further accommodation will be required.

'23. Ten tons of Russian flax seed were received by the Department from Russia under the orders of the Government of India, and the greater portion of it distributed to all parts of India for experimental cultivation.

'24. Agricultural Associations.—District Agricultural Associations were established in nearly every district and Divisional Agricultural Associations in all Divisions, except Bhagalpur. Pecuniary aid was afforded to these Associations to start them in their work.

'25. The Divisional Agricultural Associations were provided with a small collection of standard-books on Agricultural subjects to form the nucleus of an Agricultural Library. Copies of all the reports, leaflets and printed papers issued by the Department were distributed to all the Associations, both divisional and district. Instructions were drawn up for the guidance of these Associations and a list of items of demonstration work recommended by the Department was drawn up and distributed to them.

'26. The kinds of seeds to be stocked in the Departmental Seed Store was decided by a Sub-Committee of the Provincial Agricultural Association, and a list thereof printed with the earliest date of sowing, latest date for receipt of indent, seed-rate per acre, etc., and a form of indent and a form for reporting the results of experiment circulated.

'27. The formation of the Provincial Agricultural Association Library was pushed on during the year. The books arranged and a provisional catalogue prepared.

'28. Divisional Agricultural Inspectors were appointed for the Patna, Orissa, Burdwan and Presidency Divisions during the year. A Supernumerary Inspector was also entertained to fill vacancies caused by illness or leave.

'29. Agricultural Exhibitions and Shows.—Mr. N. G. Mukherji was placed on special duty for some four months in connection with the Calcutta Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, and a very fine collection of Agricultural exhibits was made by him and exhibited in a special shed, the whole cost being borne by Government. A model cattle byre was also exhibited by the Department. A complete catalogue of the exhibits was printed. All the best specimens have been carefully packed away, to form the foundation of a collection for the museum at the Provincial Agricultural College.

'30. Local Exhibitions and Shows were much encouraged by the Department, and suitable financial assistance given to them.

'31. A special staff of two Travelling Overseers was entertained to attend such shows and demonstrate the uses of approved implements, seeds and manures. These two men were specially trained for their duties. A list of all fairs was prepared in correspondence with the local officers and circulated to all District Officers, so that they might arrange that no two Exhibitions will be held on the same date, if possible, and all the fairs in the Province were divided between the two Travelling Overseers.

'32. A special grant was made to the Bihar Indigo Planters' Association to enable them to obtain the services of a Flax Expert from Europe, to teach them the best methods of treating the fibre and placing it upon the market. The Expert joined during the year.

'33. Sericulture.—A Commission was held under the presidency of the Director of Agriculture to inquire into the causes of the decline of the silk industry in the Province. The Committee submitted a report to Government, recommending certain measures for improving the condition of the industry. These recommendations are now under the consideration of this Government and of the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam.

'34. A Manual of Arboriculture was drawn up by the Director for the guidance of officers dealing with tree-planting operations, which is now in the Press.

'35. A handy list of the Chief Economic Plants grown in the Province, with their English, Botanical and Vernacular names, was drawn up by the Director for the use of Revenue-officers and Members of the various District and Divisional Agricultural Associations.'

The Hon'ble MR. K. G. GUPTA said:—"Your Honour, I propose to make a few observations with reference to the remarks made by some Hon'ble Members regarding the administration of those branches of Revenue with which I am directly concerned.

"Income-tax.—As regards Income-tax, the Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji repeats his complaint about the conduct of the assessing agency. He adduces no new facts or arguments, but simply states his belief that some portion at least of the increase of Revenue must be due to the undue zeal of the subordinates. He is sceptical about 'normal expansion,' but is it not a fact that in the absence of any great and widespread calamity such as famine, war or pestilence, there is in every civilized country such a thing as normal growth of population and normal increase in its commercial, industrial and agricultural resources? And as revenue represents the tax on the aggregate productiveness of a country, it stands to reason that an increase of one must be accompanied by an increase of the other.

"Since the raising of the taxable minimum, the number of persons who are dealt with by the assessors is now less than 30,000, and the work of assessment is so closely supervised that there is little reason for the display of any undue zeal in the interest of revenue. Those who are engaged in the actual work of Administration are aware what difficulties are thrown in the way of the staff by various subterfuges assessing that are often had recourse to, to conceal the real income, and that many of the present complaints would disappear, if the assessees on their part always met the Revenue-officers frankly and honestly.

"Excise.—Coming to Excise, I fully endorse every word that has fallen from the lips of the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad and concur with him in thinking that an expansion of the revenue, which is the direct result of increased consumption, is much to be deprecated. Before proceeding further, I wish to assure my hon'ble colleague that the opening of spirit depôts need not cause any alarm, as they are a necessary part of the Contract Distillery System and that they will only supply liquor to the retail shops.

"Excise Revenue, as Hon'ble Members are aware, is made up of various items, but the three principle sources are Country Spirits, Hemp Drugs and Opium, the three together yielding about 85 per cent. of the total revenue, the share of the first being nearly 50 per cent. Figures of consumption are known in regard to hemp drugs and opium and in regard to country spirit in distillery areas, and during the 9 months of the year just closed, for which I have seen the figures, although the receipts show a heavy increase, there is a falling off in the consumption of both ganja and country spirits, opium alone exhibiting some increase. In pursuance of the policy of checking consumption by raising the tax, the duty on opium has this year been enhanced in the Orissa Division, in which the drug is very largely consumed.

"Complaints against Excise Administration are generally confined to spirit, not only because its consumption is more general but also because the evil effects of indulgence in it are more conspicuous.

"I do not think that those who advocate the closure of all liquor shops intend that they should be taken seriously or that they realize what the consequences of such a measure would be. It is well known that in countries where such an attempt has been made and under conditions more favourable than could be expected here, it has ended in sad failure. The craving for stimulants is universal and is as old as the human race, and so long as this craving exists, it is futile to attempt any measures of absolute repression. If unduly checked in one direction it will find vent in others, and the sudden and widespread growth of the cocaine habit and increased consumption of morphia pills ought to furnish a sufficient warning.

"As regards the object aimed at, viz., the promotion of temperance and sobriety, there is no difference of opinion. Everyone is agreed that all intoxicants are poisons of various degrees of potency and that their habitual use is seldom beneficial and is often most harmful. But since it is not possible to stop consumption, the wisest course is to check it by raising the cost and by regulating sale, and this, in short, is the principle upon which the Excise Revenue is raised. There have been errors and omissions, but those who have carefully studied the Excise policy of Government will admit that it has not been influenced primarily or chiefly by revenue considerations.

"In Bengal, I frankly concede that the great blot in our Excise Administration is, that outstills still prevail in a considerable part of the Province. But this is the unfortunate outcome of the endeavours made to carry out the recommendations of the Bengal Excise Commission of 1883, having for their object the establishment of a system of regulated outstills. It was, however, soon evident that the task undertaken was an impossible one and the attempt had to be given up, but it put us back for several years. Even sometime before the appointment of the recent Excise Committee, the gradual abolition of outstills was decided upon, and now that that Committee have definitely condemned the system, the process of abolition will be greatly accelerated, and it is hoped that in a few years' time they will practically disappear.

"The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh has spoken strongly on the evils of drink in Chota Nagpur. The subject has received much attention, and he will be glad to know that outstills have been abolished in Manbhum from this year, and that the question of extending the Contract Distillery System to other parts of the Division is under consideration. It is unnecessary, therefore, to take up his criticisms in detail; for it is hoped that with the disappearance of outstills and better regulation of sites and number of shops, much of the present complaints will lose their force. The opening up of the country by railways, the exploiting of its mineral resources, the starting of new industries and the extension of collieries have all tended to bring in a sudden influx of wealth, which has had its inevitable effect upon an ignorant and simple people naturally and greatly addicted to drink.

"The Excise Committee have completed their labours, and their recommendations have on the whole met with general approval. It is confidently anticipated that when under the orders of the Supreme Government effect is given to them, the Administration of Excise will show further improvement. But after all, when all is said and done, the craving for intoxicants, like any other evil proponsity, cannot be eradicated but only kept under check, and that to a limited extent, by any measures of Government. The real reform must come from within, from the people themselves, by the spread of education, by the growth of a healthier public opinion and by the efforts of voluntary associations

"I have not considered it desirable to weary the Council with a mass of details, however much they might have been necessary to elucidate or support my remarks, but I have ventured to touch on a few of the more salient aspects of Excise Administration, in the hope that they may tend to remove some at least of the misconceptions that seem to exist on the subject."

The Hon'ble MR. McINTOSH said:—"Your Honour, I will not detain the Council for more than a moment at this late hour. I think the Members of Council for what, I think, I may call the appreciative manner in which they have received the Budget, and for the many interesting suggestions they have made.

"Most of the points raised have been answered or touched upon by the Hon'ble Members who have spoken immediately before me, and I do not propose to go over the same ground again.

"I have listened with close attention to all the speeches, and there is one point that strikes me forcibly. On all sides, there are many urgent and pressing demands for more expenditure in one direction or another. These are a common feature throughout the debate. Here and there I heard a quiet suggestion for reducing the revenue from Income-tax, Excise or some such source. But I heard few suggestions as to where the money is to come from to meet the largely-increased expenditure which is demanded on all sides. This is a matter of much practical importance, which must always be borne in mind when making proposals for fresh expenditure.

"There are one or two points to which I may perhaps make special reference. The Hon'ble the Nawab of Murshidabad and other Hon'ble Members have pressed upon Government the need for greater activity in promoting Sanitation throughout Bengal. This is a large and important question which will receive special attention this year when the Report of the Presidency Drainage Committee is received. The difficulties are great, and I think it must be admitted that the matter is one in which Government cannot act alone. Without the aid and co-operation of the great mass of the people and of the local bodies throughout the Province, it can hardly be that the direct action of Government will serve to do all that is required. Meanwhile it cannot be asserted that Government stands idle and does nothing. Large sums have been and are being spent on the improvement of Drainage and Water-supply, mostly, but not all, through grants to Municipalities and District Boards. Our Loans Budget also makes large provision for loans to local bodies for such objects. The report of the Drainage Committee will show what further action it will be practicable to take in the near future.

"Several Hon'ble Members have referred to the improvement of the pay and prospects of Ministerial Officers. As to this, I need only repeat what I have already said in this Council. The details of the scheme are still under consideration, and there is no intention whatever of dropping it. Pending the final scheme, provisional arrangements have been made for giving a large number of officers increments in the shape of personal allowances. The provision on account of this is distributed over many heads in the Budget.

"The Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh observes that under the head 'Civil Works', some of the provisions made last year have been carried over to this year. This is undoubtedly the case. The reason is, that the schemes were not sufficiently matured to admit of the expenditure for which provision was made, being incurred. Among others, the Puri Drainage Scheme was not ready. Government proposes that both the Drainage Scheme and the Water-supply Scheme at Puri should be proceeded with.

"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has referred to the rate of interest charged on Loans to Municipalities, District Boards and Cultivators. I would remind him that the Local Government is responsible to the Government of India both for the interest and for the principal, and that the rate of interest charged by the Local Government covers such part of the principal as becomes irrecoverable and has to be written off.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Nath Mukharji is of opinion that the Financial Statement is not prepared in such a form as to give him all the information he wants. I will bear his remarks in mind. But it must be remembered that the first function of a Financial Statement is a Budget function. The various departmental reports issued by Government will, I expect, if read, be found to give, much if not all, of the information he seeks for in the Financial Statement. As for example, I think he might refer to the Income-tax Report for facts and figures regarding the detailed administration of that Department. I do not admit that there is any justification for the supposition that the expansion of the receipts from Income-tax is due to improper action on the part of the Assessing Officers.

"As to his remarks about the absence of details for the 'Road Cess,' I would remind the Hon'ble Member that the Budget under discussion deals only with Provincial receipts and expenditure, and not with local receipts, such as the Road Cess, which is the principal source of income of the District Boards and District Road Committees and is applied to local works and needs.

"The Hon'ble Babu Jogendra Chandra Ghose draws attention to a number of projects for which Budget provision was made last year, but which have not been executed yet. The Hon'ble Mr. Inglis has explained about the Bhairab Valley Drainage Scheme. None of the other schemes mentioned, so far as I recollect, have been abandoned, though progress was not made with them owing to their not being ready. It frequently happens, especially when we provide for grants to Municipalities and District Boards for particular purposes, that the schemes take longer to elaborate than was expected. The alignment of the drains for the Presidency Jail refers to the new Jail now under construction and not the old Jail."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I congratulate my hon'ble friend, Mr. McIntosh, on the approval with which his Budget has been received in the Council, and Hon'ble Members generally on the manner in which they have presented their views. I do not propose to follow Hon'ble Members through all their criticisms of the Budget. It must not for a moment be presumed from my silence in regard to any of these criticisms that I do not attach importance to the matters discussed. But the Hon'ble Members who represent the various Departments of Government have given such information and explanations as appear to me to be necessary; and I need not repeat what has been already said. I shall confine my remarks to a few only of the subjects which have been brought before us.

"The high price of grain has been referred to by more than one Hon'ble Member. It is not attributed in any way to the action of Government; and no specific measures on the part of Government have been advocated. It is undoubtedly a matter which seriously affects certain classes of the community; but it is very difficult to see what action can reasonably be taken. It is desirable, however, if possible, to ascertain what are the causes that have led to these high prices We hear of the great benefit which is accruing to many of the cultivating class; and that can only be regarded as cause of congratulation. We hear also that in many places cultivators, by taking the opportunity to replenish their stocks, are doing what necessarily conduces to high prices; but this also must be regarded with satisfaction, as it is dictated by wise regard to their interests. The crop in Eastern Bengal was a good one, but by no means a bumper crop; and the mere fact that the cultivators are keeping a certain amount of grain out of the market would tend to keep up prices. There is no doubt also that the amount of money that has come into the country has to do with this result. There are other causes which are at work, and which we are endeavouring to ascertain. We believe that, if there is a good monsoon, prices will undoubtedly fall. Meanwhile, however, Government will continue to make inquiry, and will gratefully welcome any sound information in regard to this matter.

"It is with satisfaction that I see the attention given by many Members to the important subject of Sanitation. I especially congratulate the Hon'ble the Nawab Bahadur on his practical contribution to the discussion. What we want in this matter, more than anything else, is the dissemination of correct views in regard to Sanitation among the people. However anxious Government may be to secure sanitary improvement, its efforts must be futile without the co-operation of the great mass of the people. Government can direct and advise. It can undertake a few large schemes. It can give contributions to District Boards, Municipalities and other local bodies, to assist them in carrying out schemes of their own. But for real and effective progress throughout the Province reliance must be placed, as has been already said by the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis, mainly on the people themselves. Government cannot possibly take in hand schemes for cleansing and freeing from jungle every village of the Province, or for filling up or otherwise dealing with all the little breeding places for mosquitos, which exist without number in certain districts. Government may be able to conduct here and there experiments on approved lines as an inducement to the people to take the matter up for themselves; but after all, it is to the people that we must look for carrying out detailed sanitary work.

"In regard to the action that Government is taking, it is scarcely a fair way of putting it to say that 'beyond half a lakh provided for sanitary improvements in Darjeeling and certain allotments to Municipalities for Civil Works, there is no provision in the estimates for the general improvement of the sanitation of the Province.' Apart from the total provision for the maintenance of hospitals and dispensaries, leper asylums, medical and vaccination staff, and the like, which are all more or less directly connected with sanitation, there are Rs. 96,000 provided for expenditure during the prevalence of epidemics, besides allotments for experiments in connection with anti-malarial work. There are also several grants, ranging from Rs. 10,000 to Rs. 75,000 each given to various localities for water-supply and drainage. There is a large provision in the Loans Budget for advances to local bodies on account of sanitary schemes. There are five and three-quarter lakhs provided on account of the Magra Hât Drainage Scheme. And there is a reserve of about one lakh for contributions, the greater part of which will probably be devoted to grants for the improvement of sanitary schemes. Besides this, there is at work the Drainage Committee, whose report is still awaited; and it is probable that some action will have to be taken on that report.

"Altogether, I think that a careful examination of the Budget will establish that this Government is by no means indifferent to this most important subject. But, as I have said, Government can advise, lead the way, and give some assistance in regard to sanitation generally, and in regard to Plague and Malaria in particular; but the great bulk of the work has to be done by the people themselves. I think that I cannot do better here than quote an allusion to this subject in the Presidential Address at the Conference recently held at Berhampore. Mr. Deep Narain Singh said:—

'Another urgent work that the people must take in their hands is the sanitation of the Province. Facts, as disclosed by Government reports, show that there is fearful mortality in the Province. * * * * * * If one were to ask what may be the foremost factor of national life, the inevitable answer comes—the physical powers of the nation, its numbers and effective fertility, its health and sanitation, the energy, vigour and absolute strength of individuals. Depreciated vitality does not help in the growth of nationality; and I appeal to my countrymen to take up the question of sanitation and hygiene in right earnest. And in this direction, I may suggest that much may be done by a band of Missionaries going into the interior, educating the people in the ordinary principles of hygiene and taking such sanitary measures as the destruction of mosquitos and rats, the cutting of jungles, the digging of tanks and wells and starting practical schemes of drainage.'

"I naturally pass from this subject to the remarks that have been made in regard to Hospitals. I am glad that the improvements that are being effected in the principal Calcutta Hospitals have attracted attention and met with approval. It appears to me that in a very short time it will be possible for this City to regard with great pride such Hospitals as the Presidency General, the Medical College, the Campbell Memorial and the Sambhunath Pandit Hospitals. The improvements that are being effected in these are altering them almost out of recognition. The subject of the paying-patients' wards in the Medical College Hospital, again referred to by my hon'ble friend, Raja Ban Bihari Kapur, has not, as he is very well aware, been neglected during the past year. It was necessary carefully to consider and to consult Indian gentlemen about the plans for these wards. It has also been found necessary to acquire new lan for them, inasmuch as there was no suitable site available on the land at present occupied by the Medical College Hospital. This has caused delay; but the land is now being acquired; funds for the construction of one ward are at my disposal; and I expect through private liberality soon to have the funds for another. The work is being pushed forward as fast as possible.

"I note the suggestion of the Hon'ble Mr. Bertram that some of the balance of the Hospital Port Dues might be utilized for providing special accommodation for sailors. That suggestion will receive my careful consideration. I am glad to be able to add that the improvement in the accommodation and equipment of hospitals is not confined to Calcutta, but is to be found throughout the Province. In this connection, I would solicit the co-operation of the wealthy and benevolent, so that the liberality of Government may be worthily assisted. There is surely no object of benevolence that should appeal more forcibly to men of means than the provision of well-equipped hospitals for the sick.

"I should like to say one word in regard to the Calcutta Improvement Scheme, which has been referred to by more than one Hon'ble Member. There is no doubt that great delay has taken place in coming to a final decision in regard to this matter. But it must be borne in mind that the whole scheme, both in regard to the measures of improvement to be adopted and in regard to the method of financing them, has had to be referred to the public, and to be discussed by the Local Government, the Government of India and the Secretary of State. All this takes time; and it is not an easy matter, in regard to so great a scheme, to arrive at a decision which will commend itself to all these authorities. I am glad, however, to say that, with the consent of His Excellency the Viceroy, I convened a Confidential Conference at Belvedere on the 22nd of January last, which consisted of the Hon'ble Members and Secretaries in the Finance, Home and Commerce Departments of the Government of India, the principal Officers of this Government, and representatives of the Corporation and of the non-official community of Calcutta. We had before us all the opinions that had been received; and the result of that Conference I was able to submit the scheme to the Government of India in a form which will, I trust, lead to early orders being passed in regard to it. I cannot at present give information in regard to the details of the scheme on which the orders of the Secretary of State and the Government of India must be awaited.

"I sympathize with the impatience of Hon'ble Members in regard to the action to be taken in respect of the Smoke Nuisance in Calcutta. The Hon'ble Mr. Collin, however, has explained to the Council how the case stands. Nothing effective can be done until the rules under the Act have been passed. They are still under consideration; but they have advanced so far that I do not anticipate any delay in having them finally approved by the Government of India. Meanwhile, the Inspectors have been working; and I am glad to say that they have found the Mill authorities ready to accept the advice they offer. Real improvement, however, cannot be expected until the Inspectors have authority under the rules to enforce their advice.

"I do not propose to say much in regard to the Presidency College, although it is a subject to which I attach very great importance. Opinions are still being received; and I heard only this week that one of our leading Associations has some difficulty in coming to a conclusion. Like the public generally, the Members of this Association are divided in opinion on this matter. Subject to anything further that may be laid before me, I am of opinion that the Presidency College ought not to be removed from its present site, and that we ought to improve it where it stands. I cannot enter on a scheme of improvement, however, until this question is finally decided. I propose to take it up as soon as I reach Darjeeling; and I hope that before many weeks are over we shall have framed a complete scheme and shall have begun to carry it into effect.

"In regard to Education generally, I have first of all to invite attention to what has been said by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gait. I do not intend to repeat what he has said in answer to the criticisms of Hon'ble Members in regard to our educational policy. I do think that considerable progress is being made. Our object is to afford sound education in all departments and to push this forward as fast as we can. One important requirement in securing efficient education is a sound system of inspection and direction; and I am entirely in accord with what Mr. Gait has said on this subject.

"Hon'ble Members are aware of the scheme which is under consideration for providing free Primary Education. In regard to this scheme, public bodies and gentlemen interested in the subject have been consulted; and a report will be submitted to the Government of India with as little delay as possible. I hope that the schools at which this free education is given will be efficient institutions.

"We are anxious to secure good teachers; and as you have heard, we are establishing training colleges for the training of teachers who teach through the medium of English and training schools for vernacular teachers. I cannot avoid mentioning here the generous endowment provided by Syed Badshah Nawab Razvi of Patna, for the training of female teachers at Bankipore. That scheme has already been submitted to the Government of India; and we expect to be able soon to submit a similar scheme for Calcutta.

"The Government of India have called for proposals for the improvement of Secondary Education; and our report will be submitted as soon as possible. In this connection, I may mention that my hon'ble friend, the Vice-Chancellor of the University, has made, on behalf of that body, a very urgent request for four Inspectors to assist the University in the work of inspecting recognized schools. My hon'ble friend has assisted this Government in the difficult task of finding in our depleted establishment the officers to conduct this inspection; and I trust that the work will be begun within two months from the present date. I think that we ought to acknowledge gratefully the great work which is being done by the University in regard to the Colleges. In this matter, the Government will render all the assistance that it can; and I trust that it will be found that something will also be done by private liberality.

"In regard to Technical Education, the conclusion at which we arrived after full discussion of the subject by experts, is that our best plan is to provide further facilities for education at the great Engineering College of the Province; and steps have already been taken to carry out that decision. Besides this, as Hon'ble Members are aware, schools for technical education generally or for particular industries are being established throughout the Province. This Government is quite prepared to go, as fast as it can, in regard to this matter; for I yield to none in regard to the importance of technical education in the development of the country. Finally, on this subject, I would say that I hail with great satisfaction the efforts that are being made by private liberality to assist in the work, both of general and technical education. I hope that those who are taking part in this good work will co-operate with the Government, and that we shall be able also to assist them. We are aiming at the same object; and it will be well for the cause that we should work in harmony together.

"In regard to the Ministerial Officers' salaries, I must say that I cannot understand how there should be any idea that there was any intention whatsoever of withdrawing from the scheme which Government had worked out. The whole subject is, however, still under consideration in connection with the report of the Committee appointed to make inquiry. At present, we are awaiting a reply from the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court whom we have consulted on the report of that Committee. It is no doubt unfortunate that there should be delay in carrying out this scheme; but it is absolutely essential that it should be fully considered in every detail before final orders issue; and in the meanwhile we have given provisional increments of pay to a large number of officers.

"I do not propose to add anything to what has been said by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gupta, in regard to Excise. The policy of Government has been frequently stated. A Commission has been appointed by the Government of India to consider the whole question for all Provinces. Orders on the report of that Commission are in course of issue; and I trust that defects which have been found to exist in our Excise system will be remedied. The circumstances of Excise Administration in certain districts of this Province are receiving special attention. The matter is not one in regard to which this Government is indifferent. The action of Government must always be cautious and circumspect; but I am very far from viewing with dissatisfaction the earnest advocacy of temperance principles. It has my entire sympathy.

"I take the keenest interest in the development of Agriculture. A separate appointment of Director of Agriculture was created with effect from the 3rd of April, 1906. But for some months before that date my friend, Mr. Oldham, who was then appointed Director, had been on special duty during the cold weather, maturing plans for the organization of the department. In my opinion, Mr. Oldham has very fully justified my selection of him for this important office. I commend to the attention of Hon'ble Members the 'Brief Note' prepared by Mr. Oldham, which has been laid on the table by the Hon'ble Mr. Carlyle. It is indeed brief, and contains only the barest statements of fact. But it well deserves perusal. Among the points to which I especially invite attention is, the acquisition of land at Bhagalpur for the construction of the Provincial Agricultural College and connected buildings and for an agricultural experiment station in connection with the college. Plans for the buildings have been prepared and materials are being collected. In addition to this, steps have been taken for the teaching of agriculture in selected schools. Farms or agricultural experiment stations have been established in several centres already. Valuable experiments have been conducted. The results are published in special leaflets which have been widely distributed in English and Vernacular.

"Excellent work has been done in the distribution of seed and in the dissemination of knowledge of the value of certain crops and vegetables. Exhibitions and agricultural shows have been encouraged by the department; and trained officers have been especially employed to demonstrate the use of approved seeds and manures. The Provincial Agricultural Association has been put on a satisfactory footing; and Divisional and District Associations have been created throughout the Province. These are some of the facts which you will find stated in Mr. Oldham's note; and they indicate in how thorough and business-like a manner the work of this most important department has already been inaugurated.

"I may in one word refer to the Fishery inquiry, which has been conducted by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Gupta. It has had such favourable results that proposals have been made to the Government of India and the Secretary of State which may lead to great development of the fish supply of the Province.

"I do not consider it necessary to discuss the expenditure on Police after what has fallen from my hon'ble friend, Mr. Carlyle, who has fully replied to the criticisms that have been made. As the President of the Police Commission, I am of course deeply interested in carrying out such of the measures of reform recommended by that Commission as have been accepted by the Government of India and generally approved. A great deal has already been done in this Province; and we are introducing the reforms as fast as possible. The Government of India has generously aided us, as well as other Provinces, in meeting the financial burdens which these reforms have entailed; and I gratefully acknowledge the liberality with which we have been treated.

"This leads me to say that I do not quite understand what the Hon'ble Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji means by speaking of the precarious nature of the assistance to be rendered to us by the Government of India in regard to Famine. What has been decided on is this, that the Government of India shall assist this Government in building up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government, on which it will be at liberty to draw when it becomes necessary to incur expenditure on famine relief. To form this reserve of credit an assignment of Rs. 2,60,000 is to be made annually up to a maximum of twenty-five lakhs. When famine occurs, the Local Government will draw upon the amount standing to its credit to meet its famine expenditure; and the expenditure will thus be Imperial expenditure. If the reserve of credit is exhausted, any further expenditure on famine relief will be shared between the Imperial and Local Governments. Thus, in ordinary cases, the expenditure will be Imperial; in more severe cases one half of the excess over the amount to the credit of the Local Government will be Provincial; and in extreme cases, the Government of India have intimated their intention of rendering special assistance. This constitutes a very considerable safeguard against dislocation of finance by famine, and leaves any great burden to the Provincial revenues only, in case of unprecedentedly severe distress. This has certainly placed us in a far better position than we were in before, and seems to me to be for us a very satisfactory arrangement. My hon'ble friend advises that we should save for famine; but the position is that the Government of India have agreed to save money for us, and that is better.

"I cannot pass over the speech of my hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, without one or two remarks. His remarks regarding Education (though not always well considered) have not fallen in this Council on unsympathetic ears. It is not possible, at a day or even a few years' notice, to accomplish all that one would desire to accomplish in regard to Education. But as I have already said, we are making marked progress; and I welcome the appreciative language in which the Hon'ble Member has referred to the good work which is being done by the present Director. Mr. Earle is putting the Education Depart-

Department of this Province on a sound footing; and his success in this work is due both to his special administrative capacity and also to the fact that the sphere of his operations is now such as may be dealt with more effectively by one man. I trust that the era of progress which has been inaugurated will continue to the great advantage of this Province.

"In the second part of his speech the Hon'ble Member refers in caustic language to some of the replies to interpellations in Council. It has been the object of this Government to make these replies in Council as clear and full as possible. The law, as it stands, does not allow a meeting of Council purely for the purpose of interpellations; but as most of the Hon'ble Members know, this Government has sometimes even adopted the device of announcing purely formal business, so that there might be a meeting at which the right of interpellation might be exercised; and it has been the object of Government to give courteous and clear answers to questions put. Occasionally, however, the answer must of necessity be unsatisfactory, if the object of the question is one which the Government cannot approve.

"Of the cases particularly referred to by the Hon'ble Member, one was a prosecution which led to a conviction before a Magistrate and to an acquittal by the Appellate Court. It seemed altogether unnecessary for the Government to intervene in this particular case. If the conviction was wrong, it had been set aside. If the acquittal was wrong, the Government was not justified in criticising it unless it desired to make an appeal to higher judicial authority. The other case was one in which what professed to be a report of certain confidential conversation between the Collector and some gentlemen of the district was published; and the Government was asked whether it would deal with the Collector in respect of these conversations. The Government refused; because it is considered very inexpedient that there should be any interference with the confidential relations that naturally exist between zealous and kindly officers and Indian gentlemen.

"The Hon'ble Member himself has not infrequently, either on my invitation or on his own motion, discussed with me privately the propriety or wisdom of certain courses of action which he has followed. I have frankly given him my advice. He has sometimes taken it; and he has sometimes rejected it. I should have considered it a grave breach of confidence if, in either case, he had published it, and had attributed his line of action to me. I hold that these gentlemen were justified in seeking the advice of the Collector, and the Collector was justified in giving it. The Collector had no desire to enforce his advice; and the Government has no desire to prevent him from giving friendly and confidential interviews to gentlemen of the district.

"With reference to another remark of the Hon'ble Member, I may add the expression of my satisfaction that there has been no abuse in this Province of the important provisions of the law regarding the employment of special constables; and I decline altogether to follow the Hon'ble Member in his somewhat distorted review of the recent history of another Province.

"The suggestion has been made by some Hon'ble Members that the Budget might give more adequate information as to what is being done. I think that there has been some confusion of idea. A Budget is not an Annual Report. All the same, I think myself that it would be a very good thing if the Head of each of the principal Departments would draw up, in time for the Budget discussion, a brief statement showing its actual expenditure and the work that he has done during the past year, and also briefly indicating what he proposes to do during the coming year. I do not mean that this statement should indicate only any changes that are to be introduced, but the general work of the department. I shall think this matter out; and I shall also consult non-official Members of Council before deciding as to the orders which I shall issue on the subject. Our object is to make our position, as indicated in the Budget, intelligible to the ordinary reader; and I trust that we shall be able to do something in this respect.

"I am glad to hear the acknowledgment made of the informal action which I took this year in inviting non-official Members of Council to meet with the Secretaries in the various departments of Government and discuss the Budget before it was submitted to the Council. This was the first experiment in this direction. I hope that next year I shall be able to take measures which will make this even a more effective means of ascertaining opinion in regard to the work of Government. I shall certainly allow Hon'ble Members who attend the Conference to have an opportunity of studying the Budget, beforehand; and I hope that the advice and assistance which they will give me will be of no mean value.

"I should like to see the Province, in its different parts and its diverse interests, more fully represented in the Council than it is at present. It is a great regret to me, for example, that I have no non-official representative of the Patna or Orissa Divisions in the Council. This is due to circumstances over which, in the present constitution of the Council, I have really no control. I am very anxious that this difficulty should be removed; and as you are aware, I have, in this matter, the entire concurrence of His Excellency the Viceroy and the Government of India."

The Council was then adjourned sine die.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL AND IN EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM FOR THE MONTH OF MARCH 1907.

THE weather in the Provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam was during the month of March 1907 dominated, as in the preceding month, by a series of depressions that entered India from Persia or Baluchistan, and moving in an easterly direction gave rise to disturbed conditions in the area under report. In the first week rain fell in the northern districts of the reporting area and skies were cloudy during the prevalence of unsettled weather, but were nearly clear during the remainder of the week. Temperature was normal or in defect except from the third to the fifth, when it was in slight excess. In the second week of the month some rain fell on the 8th and 9th and general rain over the greater part of the reporting area was recorded on the 12th and 13th. In each case the disturbed weather was caused by the approach of a depression from the west. Skies were cloudy, while the two depressions were affecting the weather, but were clear or only lightly clouded on the remaining days. Temperature was normal or in excess up to the 13th, when a fall took place, and it was in general defect on that day and on the 14th. In the third week weather was again affected by a depression, which gave rain from the 16th to the 21st. Rainfall commenced in the western districts and spread eastwards over the whole reporting area, being most general on the 18th, after which it decreased, and on the 20th and 21st was confined to a few falls in Assam. The skies were more or less heavily clouded from the 16th to the 19th. The most remarkable meteorological feature of this period was the abnormally low temperature that prevailed. In South-West Bengal day temperatures were 20° below normal at some stations. Weather of the last week of the month was again affected by depressions approaching from the west. Rain fell in the western districts on the 22nd and was general on the 23rd. On the next two days weather was dry, but on the 26th rain occurred in Orissa, Deltaic Bengal and Assam, and on the 27th on the Orissa and Bengal coasts. Some of the amounts recorded were fairly heavy, on the 23rd Saugor Island and Cherrapoonjee recording about 5 inches each and Calcutta 2¾ inches. Skies were cloudy on the days of rainfall. Temperature was in defect during the whole period, more particularly on the 23rd, when very low temperatures were recorded.

A notable feature of the month was the development of a cyclonic storm in the extreme south of the Bay—a very rare occurrence at this time of the year. This disturbance probably commenced to develop to the south-west or south of the Andamans about the 6th or 7th of the month, and ultimately moving in a westerly direction crossed the coast of Ceylon on the 10th. It is reported to have caused considerable damage on land and to one or two ships that found themselves in its neighbourhood.

Summary of Temperature.—Mean temperature was in defect over the whole reporting area, as might have been anticipated from the usual association of defect in temperature with excess in rainfall. The highest temperature registered during the month was 100·9 at Cuttack and the lowest was 51·2 at Sibsagar.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Provinces of Bengal and of Eastern Bengal and Assam for the month of March 1907:—

Summary of Rainfall.—The rainfall work of the Province has been placed in the hands of the Director of Agriculture, Bengal, and the usual data regarding the actual and normal rainfall during the month are published by that officer. A short table, however, is attached to this report, giving the rainfall recorded during the month at the head-quarters of the various districts of the Province.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and fi eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any da for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

PROSPECTUS FOR ADMISSION.

THIS school is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Majesty the King when Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The school was formally opened on the 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60. Preference is to be given to Biharis. Failing, however, a sufficient number of Bihari applicants, students who are natives of other provinces may be admitted, preference being given to Bengalis domiciled in Bihar over non-domiciled Bengalis or other applicants.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final "B" class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference again being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

3. The school, as at present constituted, is chiefly engaged in training students for appointments as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of elementary mathematics.
(2) Careful training in survey work.
(3) Drawing both free-hand and engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice, with hand tools and machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department. The necessary additional buildings have now been completed; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this school, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next session will commence on 1st July 1907.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8, except for non-domiciled Bengalis, who shall pay Rs. 4. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the school, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below :—

(1) The Entrance examination of an Indian University in English and mathematics
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests, and who are otherwise eligible, will have to pass an examination in English and mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 4th and 5th July, respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars :—

(a) Name, address, and occupation of father or guardian.
(b) Race and religion. (A domiciled Bengali must produce evidence to show that his father with his family have taken up their residence in Bihar.)
(c) A certificate of good moral character from last head-master.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age).
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.
(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin-student is taught elementary surveying with a corresponding amount of mathematics and of geometrical drawing. He will not be admitted to the workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department, who fails to pass the examination, for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of elementary surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class may, at his option, leave the school with an Amin certificate.

Candidates for Amin class, who have not passed the middle English or middle vernacular examination, will be examined at the school on the 4th July; candidates failing at this examination will not be admitted.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the session that commences from 1st July 1907, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1907.

10 All candidates for admission to the school should present themselves personally at the school on 1st July.

11. There is a hostel in connection with the school. The fees are Re. 1-8 for room and Re. 1 for light. Students make their own mess arrangements. Students joining the Overseer classes must reside in the hostel unless they are residents with parents or with nearly related guardians whose homes are near enough to enable them to attend the school at the required times. The Principal of the College will decide whether a student should reside in the school hostel, or whether the guardian proposed can be accepted as such.

REVISION SETTLEMENT OF THE BANKI GOVERNMENT ESTATE IN THE DISTRICT OF CUTTACK.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

READ—

The Final Report on the revision settlement of the Banki Government Estate in the district of Cuttack, and a note of the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, dated the 15th August 1906, submitted with letter No. 308S., dated the 24th January 1907, from the Director of Land Records.

THE Government estate of Banki was originally one of the Tributary Mahals of Orissa, but was forfeited to Government in the year 1839 owing to the misconduct of the Raja who was convicted of murder and imprisoned for life.

2. The estate was last settled in 1891 for a period of fifteen years which expired in September 1905. The operations which form the subject of the present Report were commenced in December 1904. The estate was surveyed by the professional Survey Department in 1891, and a staff has since been maintained continuously to keep the records up to date. It was, therefore, assumed that all that would be necessary on the present occasion would be a formal revision to bring the records into harmony with the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, certain portion of which have since been extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore. An inspection made by the Director of Land Records in January 1905, however, disclosed the fact that alterations had taken place in sixty per cent. of the plots since the previous settlement, and that in many cases the changes reported by the sarbarakars had not been incorporated in the record. A plot-to-plot enquiry and revision were therefore made, with the result that the number of plots was found to have increased from 115,775 to 140,978, and the number of tenancies from 30,479 to 34,820. The attestation of the revised record and the assessment of rents were then carried out simultaneously. The settlement was completed in December 1905, but the Settlement Officer was unable to submit the final Report till June 1906, owing to the pressure of other duties.

3. The estate comprises an area of 117 square miles, with a population of 58,314 persons according to the census of 1901, as against 57,451 a decade earlier. Since the previous settlement, the total cultivated area has risen from 37,211 to 42,594 acres, which is equivalent to 66·6 square miles. Out of the total uncultivated area of 50·6 square miles, only about one-sixth is reported to be culturable, the bed of the Mahanadi alone covering about half the remainder. The holdings in the possession of settled and occupancy raiyats number 20,313, or about three-fifths of the total number of holdings (34,820) in the estate; their average area is 1·63 acres. There are only 369 non-occupancy holdings, the average area in their case being 1·04 acres.

4. The assessment of rents has been made on a very simple system, the enhancement being based solely on the rise in the price of rice, the staple food-crop of the estate, which had taken place since 1891. This would have justified an enhancement of annas 2·7 in the rupee, but it was limited to two annas on the recommendation of the Director and Commissioner. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to learn that this leniency has been appreciated by the tenants. No appeals or objections of any kind were preferred during, or after, the confirmation of the settlement rent-roll; and the new rents were collected in full in the first year of the new settlement (1905-06).

5. The gross rental of the estate (exclusive of raiyati rents paid for revenue-free lands) has been raised from Rs. 32,658 to Rs. 38,218, or by 17 per cent., of which 12½ per cent. is due to the enhancement of rates and the balance to the extension of cultivation. The incidence of the settled rents per acre is Re. 1-0-4, as against annas 14-8 at the previous settlement. The low rates of rent do not mean that the lands are infertile; and as evidence of the prosperity of the tenants, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that, during the settlement which has just expired, the few holdings sold, have fetched an average price of Rs. 113-4 per acre, or more than a hundred times the yearly rental. In addition to the rent, there are various miscellaneous receipts from fisheries, trees, etc.; including these the gross assets secured by the present settlement is Rs. 39,404. The net Government revenue, after deduction of the commission payable to sarbarahkars and others, comes to Rs. 34,389, as compared with Rs. 28,820 at the last settlement, an increase of 19 per cent.

6. This substantial increase has been effected at a cost of less than three annas an acre, and without any friction. In the calculation of costs the share of pay and establishment of the Director of Land Records, the pay of the Settlement Officer, who was also manager of the estate, and certain minor items have not been included. Even so, the settlement operations must be regarded as having been carried out very economically; and the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in confirming the settlement for a period of fifteen years from the Amli year 1313 (September 1905).

7. The Lieutenant-Governor is gratified to learn that the three Co-operative Credit Societies started in the estate are much appreciated by the tenants. The Board of Revenue are requested to draw the attention of the Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies to the suggestion made in paragraph 33 of the Settlement Report that the capital of the Societies in the Banki Estate should be increased. The Settlement Officer has brought to notice the unsatisfactory state of communications which has prevented the people of Banki from deriving any great benefit from the opening of the East Coast Railway. The attention of the Public Works Department will be drawn to the remarks contained in paragraph 12 and to the comments of the Collector recorded in the following paragraph of the Settlement Report. His Honour regrets to find that the assignments of lands made by the former Hindu proprietors of the estate for the maintenance and worship of idols are being grossly mismanaged by the sebaits, There are however legal difficulties in the way of the Settlement Officer's proposal that the power to sanction the institution of suits under section 539 of the Civil Procedure Code should be delegated to the Collector of Cuttack.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor acknowledges the excellent work done by the Settlement Officer, Babu Balmukunda Kanungo. The services of this officer have recently been rewarded by promotion to the rank of Deputy Collector. His Honour's thanks are also due to the Collector, Mr. A. Garrett, I.C.S., for the valuable assistance he rendered to the Settlement Department in the concluding stages of the operations.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. A. GAIT,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

▲, dew; o, overcast; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers.

Writing (neatness, clearness, and rapidity) ...	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.) ...	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (the whole)	60	30

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping," by Ball and Hamilton.
"Book-keeping," by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers' Educational Course).

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in July. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Assam and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed; but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it; but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character, signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth) not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ.

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing.

NOTE.—A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates. The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts. This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination, the fee paid will not be refunded.

6. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the Province or Railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

7. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

9. Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination, at the Sibpur College centre only; but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department.

10. Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College not later than 30 days previous to the examination; the application to be accompanied by the fee of rupees ten.

BIHAR SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

PROSPECTUS FOR ADMISSION.

THIS school is under the management of the Principal of the Patna College, assisted by a Board of Visitors. It owes its origin to a fund raised by residents of Bihar to commemorate the visit to India of His Majesty the King when Prince of Wales. The object of the fund was the promotion of technical instruction in Bihar. The school was formally opened on the 11th July 1896 by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

2. The number of students admitted to the first-year class of each year will be limited to 60. Preference is to be given to Biharis. Failing, however, a sufficient number of Bihari applicants, students who are natives of other provinces may be admitted, preference being given to Bengalis domiciled in Bihar over non-domiciled Bengalis or other applicants.

As far as accommodation is available, students who have passed the final "B" class examination will be admitted to the second-year class, provided they are not over 21 years of age, preference again being given to Biharis and domiciled Bengalis.

3. The school, as at present constituted, is chiefly engaged in training students for appointments as Sub-Overseers and Overseers.

The curriculum includes—

(1) A sound study of elementary mathematics.
(2) Careful training in survey work.
(3) Drawing both free-hand and engineering.
(4) Elements of road-making and the construction of simple buildings.
(5) Workshop practice, with hand tools and machinery.

Students are prepared for the Overseer certificate of the Public Works Department. The necessary additional buildings have now been completed; and Government has agreed to reserve one appointment annually for a qualified student from this school, who must be a Bihari by race.

4. The next session will commence on 1st July 1907.

5. In the Overseer Department, which corresponds to the Apprentice Department of the Sibpur College, the monthly fee is Re. 1-8, except for non-domiciled Bengalis, who shall pay Rs. 4. All scholarship-holders, however, receive free tuition. Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 7 a month, tenable one year, are awarded each year on the results of the annual examinations, eight being tenable in the second-year class, six in the third-year class, and six in the fourth-year class. Of the scholarships attached to the school, 75 per cent. of them are to be reserved for those students who are Biharis by race. The teaching is in English.

6. Candidates for admission to the Overseer Department must be under 20 years of age, and must have passed one of the tests mentioned below:—

(1) The Entrance examination of an Indian University in English and mathematics
(2) Standard VII of the Code of European schools.
(3) Students who have not passed either of these tests, and who are otherwise eligible, will have to pass an examination in English and mathematics (of about the same standard as the Entrance examination of the Calcutta University in these subjects) to be held by the Principal of the Patna College on the 4th and 5th July, respectively (from 6 A.M. to 9 A.M. each day).

7. Candidates for admission must apply to the Principal not later than the 30th June. Their application must give the following particulars:—

(a) Name, address, and occupation of father or guardian.
(b) Race and religion. (A domiciled Bengali must produce evidence to show that his father with his family have taken up their residence in Bihar.)
(c) A certificate of good moral character from last head-master.
(d) An attested certificate of age (showing that he is under 20 years of age).
(e) A medical certificate showing him to be fit for employment in the public service.
(f) A certificate of having passed either of the first two of the three tests mentioned above, failing which the application will be kept pending till a certificate showing that the candidate has passed the third test is given to the Principal.

8. There is also an Amin class, admission to which may be obtained by students who do not know English. In the Amin class the course of study is for one year, and the monthly fee is Re. 1. An Amin-student is taught elementary surveying with a corresponding amount of mathematics and of geometrical drawing. He will not be admitted to the workshop. A student in the first-year class of the Overseer Department, who fails to pass the examination, for promotion to the second-year class, but who has shown an adequate knowledge of elementary surveying and the other subjects taught in the Amin class may, at his option, leave the school with an Amin certificate.

Candidates for Amin class, who have not passed the middle English or middle vernacular examination, will be examined at the school on the 4th July; candidates failing at this examination will not be admitted.

9. Except in very special cases, a student will not be admitted to the Amin class for the session that commences from 1st July 1907, unless application for admission is made before 30th June 1907.

10. All candidates for admission to the school should present themselves personally at the school on 1st July.

11. There is a hostel in connection with the school. The fees are Re. 1-8 for room and Re. 1 for light. Students make their own mess arrangements. Students joining the Overseer classes must reside in the hostel unless they are residents with parents or with nearly related guardians whose homes are near enough to enable them to attend the school at the required times. The Principal of the College will decide whether a student should reside in the school hostel, or whether the guardian proposed can be accepted as such.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; t, thunder; <, lightning; K thunderstorm; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; ⁄ strong wind; ⊕, solar corona.
